Firm Accepts Garbage Pact

After months of negotiations, Laseke Disposal Co. has agreed to collect Arlington Heights garbage at a monthly rate of $2.85 per residential customer.

Commercial collection will remain at the current rate of $3.20 per month.

The Laseke Co. announced its decision to accept the contract Tuesday afternoon, less than 24 hours after it had informed the village board that it could not collect refuse for less than $3.00 per month for residential service.

LASEKE CO. spokesman Edward J. Urbanski said that the firm had made the sudden about face on its rate position because the village had the company over a barrel.

He said it was a matter of accepting the offer or going out of business. The current contract expires Nov. 30.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson said that the refuse collection would be made on the same basis as it has in the past, with no reduction in service whatever.

Hanson said that he had agreed to review any problems that might exist in the storage and pickup of commercial refuse from food establishments, and also any that exist with regard to pickup of refuse from apartment buildings.

"The only way that we will be able to live with this contract is by watching our commercial pickups more carefully and charging the commercial customers the full allowable charge," said Urbanski.

THE LASEKE accountant noted that the negotiations had been conducted on the basis of a year-old audit. He said that the audit used projections that were at best an educated guess.

Business Supports Museum Fund Drive

Museum chairman Virgil Horath reports that 77 of 156 Arlington Heights businesses contacted have contributed to the museum fund.

"I have called on every business house except six Realtors and doctors and a few dentists," Horath said Monday. He said that the car dealers and Realtors had stepped in to help the drive within the past week.

Horath said that despite the recent boost from the local merchants, some people he had talked to had said it was unfortunate that the community had not gotten behind the project.

IN THE PERSON to person part of the drive, Horath said that out of 800 letters sent out, only 28 had been returned. He said there are now a total of about 400 Friends of the Museum.

Museum fund raisers have maintained that 100 cents of every dollar contributed to the fund drive will stay in Arlington Heights. One recent donor, Horath reports, told him that she was contributing to the museum because "this is the first time something is going to stay in Arlington Heights for all of the people."

Horath said that the museum drive needs the support of more service clubs as well as individuals. Very few service clubs have contributed, he said. One recent donor is the Auxiliary of Lady Elks with a $100 gift.

Horath said that he is encouraging businesses and clubs that have already used this year's budget to sign a pledge for 1967.

Mrs. Z. R. Rogozinski, 1219 Woodford Place, is working with Horath to wind up the business drive. Mrs. Eugene Schlickman 311 N. Derbyshire Lane, is contacting the local lawyers.

"WE'RE ALMOST over the top," Horath said. No definite fund drive totals have been announced.

In addition to the money raised, the museum has received several historical items as contributions. Miss Adeline Mueller, who sold the museum property to the historical society, has donated a number of pictures, some pieces of furniture, carpeting and curtains to the museum. The local Inter-American Friendship Program, Comas, has discussed donating all papers and artifacts including a flag of Peru to the historical society.

Organize School Caucus

The machinery of the School Caucus—which will choose candidates for four District 25 School Board positions—was set into motion this week. Letters were sent to approximately 50 civic groups asking that they appoint delegates to the caucus.

The School Caucus will select candidates for the election in April, 1967 when the terms of Robert Bukowski, Howard Sjogren, Charles Bennett, and Victor Myer expire.

Myer, who is filling a vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Dennis R. Malcolmson, will serve only until the April elections.

NOMINATION, or endorsement, by the School Caucus has in past years amounted to election.

The caucus, formally known as the "Nominating Committee," has successfully nominated candidates in District 25 school board since 1954, when

Park Board Seeks Support For Navy Housing Objection

Arlington Heights Park Board decided Tuesday to officially oppose the U.S. Navy's plans to construct housing units on the Nike site.

Park Board Pres. Charles B. Cronin said the district's objection is that the proposed development would take away open land that the area needs.

The park board also agreed to contact the school districts and other parties that might be interested in joining in opposition to the project.

A FORMAL resolution stating the district's opposition is being drafted by park attorney Charles Bobinette. Copies of the resolution will be sent to elected representatives in Washington, D. C., and the Department of Defense after the resolution is given formal board approval.

Cronin said the combined effect of the local protests might be enough to alter the Navy's plans.

"We have nothing to lose," he said.

Cronin also said that he had talked to Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson to see if the village would join in the opposition. Hanson, he said, had questioned the advisability of opposing something which the local authorities knew so little about.

Park Supt. Tom Thornton, who had recommended the board opposition, said he felt the construction of the housing units was undesirable for the community and could not be justified as necessary for the defense of the country.

CALLING THE housing construction "a crime," Thornton said he felt it was ridiculous for the Navy to build housing 20 miles away from the Glenview Naval Air Station where the men would be performing their duties.

Thornton also questioned whether or not the Navy would use the land for housing. He suggested that the Navy move might be an attempt to tie up the land until more definite plans could be made for it.

The Nike site was included in the park district's development plans as a possible golf course until the Naval request was filed this October. The Navy's request for approximately 24 acres of the site superseded the park district's bid for the surplus land and squelched park development hopes.

At the time of the 1965 park land acquisition referendum, Cronin had described the Nike site as the last large piece of land that the park district would be able to acquire at a price Arlington Heights could afford.

THE SITE, however, was not declared surplus in time for the referendum and was therefore not included in it.

Current Navy plans call for development of 24 acres, and possibly more, on the western edge of the 137.5-acre Army base.

1968 Opening For St. Edna

A new parochial grade school will soon go up on a 14-acre site in north Arlington Heights owned by St. Edna's Catholic parish.

Rev. James Doherty, pastor of St. Edna's since its organization a year ago, says he is interviewing architects.

The new school, designed to accommodate four grades in eight classrooms, will open in September, 1968. Included in the structure will be an auditorium where the Catholic parish's 370 families will worship.

Permission to start construction of the school-church building came from Chicago area Archbishop John P. Cody.

IT REPRESENTS the first lifting of the building ban imposed after Bishop Cody took over the Chicago archdiocese.

Our Lady of the Wayside parish serving south Arlington Heights has also requested a building project—an expansion of its crowded school—awaiting the bishop's signature during the construction freeze.

Rev. Harold T. O'Hara, pastor of Our Lady of the Wayside, told the Herald Tuesday that the archdiocese had not yet acted on his request but that he expects a decision shortly.

"In just a couple of weeks, perhaps," he said.

In the meantime, two classes of Wayside pupils are attending school in mobile classrooms under a one-year special use permit granted by the village.

By mid-December, Father Doherty says, he hopes to have an architect chosen and first sketches of the church-school project available.

ALSO STARTING soon will be the parish's first building fund drive.

Till now the parish has relied upon regular collections to cover operational expenses and costs of their $98,000 site purchase.

The 14-acre church property where St. Edna's first school unit will go up is located south of Hintz Road between Arlington Heights and Vista Roads.

A future Arlington Heights public school junior high school site lies almost directly across the road to the west.

Rev. Doherty lives on the school-church site now, in a farmhouse purchased with the acreage.

Cost of the new St. Edna's building—first in a construction program that Father Doherty expects to see extended over 15 or 20 years, has not yet been determined.

Father Doherty said he expects that Bishop Cody will announce cost figures after final building plans receive archdiocesan approval.

THE CATHOLIC archdiocesan school board will make the decision as to which grades to offer, Father Doherty said. That decision—not likely to be made much before school opens in the fall of 1968—will be watched with great interest by three public school systems.

The parish draws its school children from an area bounded on the east by Schoenbeck Road, on the north by Dundee Road and on the west by Wilke Road. The southern parish boundary follows Rand Road from Wilke to Chestnut, drops down Chestnut to Palatine Road and then goes east on Palatine to Schoenbeck.

Districts 25, 21 and 23 all serve parts of the parish.

Arlington Heights elementary District 25, with its nearby junior high site, has already been notified of the parochial school plans. The citizens committee headed by Norval Stephens has been instructed to take the new school into account in planning public school needs.

Hint Disbandment Of Comas Program

Arlington Heights' role in the Inter-American Friendship Program may be terminated soon, the Herald learned Monday.

The local group, known as Comas, the name of Arlington Heights' sister-city in Peru, has discussed disbanding and tentatively offered all of its papers and artifacts to the historical society for the new museum collection.

A SPOKESMAN for the Comas group did not deny plans, but said the group was not ready to make any formal statements at this time. At such a time as disbandment is agreed upon, the group will make a formal announcement in an open letter to the community, the spokesman said.

No reasons for the group's plans to discontinue have been made public at this time.

The village's Inter-American Friendship Program was set up in October, 1961, at which time the board of trustees of the village formally adopted the area of Pampa de Comas. The Comas group was organized with a constitution in early 1962.

THE PROGRAM was guided by an eight-point plan:

Take Advantage of the Money-Saving Combination with the Sunday Suburbanite

Meanwhile, Back in the Kitchen . . .

More Than the Spoon Was Greasy

By DAVID HOYT
News Editor

Restaurants and greasy spoons can be "sisters under the skin."

This was pointed up by a recent tour of two Arlington Heights establishments taken with village sanitarian Richard Dawson.

See Editorial, Page 6

The tour was taken to observe just what a sanitarian does when he makes an inspection, but the highlight of the trip proved to be what was seen in the two establishments he checked.

The "greasy spoon" was impressive for the following unsavory reasons:

Dawson estimated that the grease traps hadn't been cleaned in six months. Mold was found growing everywhere in the walk-in cooler area. The door on the cooler could not be closed.

A SEWER PIPE in the kitchen dripped liquid into a filthy pan filled with a yellow bubbly brine. Three feet from this exhibit was a rat or mouse hole with some poison scattered about. The area was littered with mouse droppings.

Filth — including grease, bits of meat, potato salad and just plain dirt—was layers thick beneath the food preparation area. There was trash in every nook and cranny and under every appliance.

The refrigerator doors could not be closed and banged ajar every time the back door was opened. The refrigerator itself had an almost soupy feel to it, so thick was the grease.

A quick survey of the serving area turned up piles of trash

Record

A record 12 pages of legal advertising appears in today's paper. Included among the notices which are published according t state law, are village ordinances, hearing notices and annual financial statements of area school districts. Paddock Publications Vice Pres. Robert Y. Paddock said the unusual volume of legal notices reflected the expansion and growth of the suburban area.

Drug Charge To Be Faced

An Arlington Heights man, Dario Hernandez, 1404 W. Kirchhoff Road, was one of three men arrested Nov. 18 on charges of conspiracy to smuggle and sell marijuana and ordered held for the federal district court.

OTHERS ARRESTED by federal narcotics agents were Jose Ayala, 126 E. Railroad Ave., and Rudy Perales, 37, of 50 N. Orchard, both of Bensenville.

If convicted, they could receive a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison and $20,000 fines on each of six counts. The men waived preliminary hearings.

PERALES ALSO was arrested Sept. 27 in Downers Grove after narcotics agents found 128 pounds of marijuana under the floorboard of the car in which he and his wife, Rose, were sitting.

He was released on $1,000 bond at that time, and a hearing in the office of the U. S. Commissioner of Customs was continued. The narcotics were believed to have come from Mexico. The car in which the marijuana was found had a Laredo, Texas license plate. (A

Lighting Contest Prizes Donated

Gift certificates worth $100 have ben donated by local merchants as prizes in "Operation Sparkle," Arlington Heights Christmas Outdoor Lighting and Decorating Contest.

Gil Krohn, contest chairman, reminds residents not to wait too long before submitting entries. The contest deadline has been set for Dec. 10, so that judges can arrange their visiting schedules.

A contest early-bird, whose entry received the earliest postmark, is Mrs. William J. Parker of S. Vail Avenue. Though she has never entered a decorating contest before, Mrs. Parker has entered the home exterior category.

Judging will be based on ingenuity, artistic merit, lighting techniques, and originality. (A

Stull Seeks Radio Tower At Office

Things are going up in Arlington Heights these days.

Realtor Barton Stull will petition the Plan Commission Wednesday to build a 60-foot radio antenna in the rear of his real estate office, 750 W. Northwest Highway.

Stull said the antenna will provide two-way communications between the central office and his salesmen's cars.

He is required by village ordinance to obtain a special use permit before constructing the free-standing antenna. (A

60 Acres Is Annexed At Rand-Wilke Roads

The Arlington Heights Village Board gave formal approval at its Nov. 22 meeting to annexation of 60 acres of land lying south of Rand Road and East of Wilke Road.

The property, 28 acres of which is to be used for a development of 344 units for people over 45 years of age, and 32 acres of which is to be zoned R-3 single family, is split in two sections by Commonwealth Edison power lines. The Edison right-of-way strip will have to be zoned R-1, for legal purposes, even though no houses will be built there.

Trustee Frank Palmatier insisted that the number of units for the R-5 property on the north be stipulated in the ordinance. The board voted unanimously in favor of the annexation and zoning.

IN OTHER ACTION the board okayed R-3 single family zoning of 13 acres of land east of the Nike Base and south of the property on Central Road, recently zoned for a Nursing Home and medical center.

Also approved by the board was the final plat of Thomas Cantino's unit number five on Kirchoff Road. The plat had been approved by the village Plan Commission and involved four lots of land.

The board approved a special use permit to allow the construction of a service station at the southwest corner of Rand Road and Kennicott Drive.

A provision was made that the village give the owners of the property 10 days notice before enttring the property to take down the station should it be abandoned.

THE ABANDONMENT clause had been insisted upon by the board to prevent the facility from becoming an "eyesore" should the owners close it up.

Final approval was given by the board to an ordinance creating zoning for a medical center across Central Road from the Northwest Community Hospital. Trustee John Walsh voted against the zoning.

He told the Herald that sufficient office space already existed in the village, and noted that since the hospital staff is currently filled, new doctors would be unable to practice at the nearby facility. (A

PRIZES AT the state level include a $700 U.S. Savings Bond and an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., for the finals to the first place winner; a $500 bond to the second-place contestant; and a $300 bond to the student finishing third.

Students in the 10th through 12th grades are eligible to compete. (A

Wheeling Twp. Meeting Date Is Changed

Wheeling Township Board of Auditors will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday in the township hall at 1818 E. Northwest Highway.

The meeting will take the place of their regular December meeting, which would have been next Tuesday.

The change was made at the request of an auditor, Mrs. Ethel Kolerus, who expects to be out of town next week.

Citizens' Committee Defines Its Duties

"We are not a sales campaign manager for District 25!"

That was the response echoed by several members of the citizens' committee studying the operations of Arlington Heights Elementary District 25.

The reaction came when committee members told of the public's "misinformed" view of what the citizens' group was doing.

"We are not a window dressing for the district," Richard Cowen, 124 N. Gibbons Ave., said. "If we find that a tax referendum is not needed, we won't recommend a referendum."

BUT "IF" THE citizen's group comes up with a recommendation to hold another referendum, administration and school board officials said, the group would be asked to participate in the campaign.

Chairmen of four subcommittees exploring specific areas reported they have submitted lists of questions to Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh.

Committee chairman, Norval Stephens, added that each subcommittee is gathering all available, and free, resources of the community into its study.

Reports indicated the breadth of study done by the citizens' group.

Joseph Wanner, 404 Larkdale Lane, explained the scope of the building and construction subcommittee.

"The committee hopes to develop a project to show the date that District 25 will reach its plateau of enrollment, and the size of this enrollment," he said.

Wanner's committee will review the superintendent's building proposal made to the school board Dec. 12. It also plans to observe bonding power and enrollment projections, and village building permits. Wanner said the committee hopes to project building and classroom needs to 1975.

THE OPERATING fund subcommittee, headed by George Beacham, 1516 N. Kennicott Ave., is investigating the budgetary system of the school district.

Its four-point goal includes:

—reviewing the basic information and projections of student population for the next three years.

—estimating the cost of the program to educate this population.

—relating this cost to the available funds and the tax base.

—projecting the tax rates.

The consequences of the September tax referendum defeat are the main concern of another subcommittee, chaired by E. Joseph Cole, 33 N. Donald Ave.

His committee, he said, will check into the effect of the tax hike defeat on students, teachers, the administration, the current curriculum and the existing facilities and equipment.

Richard Cowen, chairman of the subcommittee to analyze the vote, said he hopes to isolate definite factors in the Sept. 24 referendum failure.

QUESTIONS HIS committee is posing include:

—was the need seen by the school board and administration also seen by the average voter?

—what were the publicity techniques used?

—how efficient was the precinct organizational structure?

The committee plans to analyze the September "Dispatch" which contained facts and figures relating to District 25's tax need. Cowen said the subcommittee also will contact precinct chairmen, the people who could give a "pretty good reading" of the public's feelings.

Stephens summed up his time schedule for completing the lay committee's work. He said both the consequence and vote analysis committees should conclude their studies by the end of December.

In January, the 22-member committee will tour District 25's building facilities. The group will also hold an all-day session that month to finish up the work.

Stephens said that by February the committee should report to the citizens and recommend a course of action to the school board. (A

The Over 50 Club Plans Activities

The Arlington Heights Branch of the Over 50 Club of Wheeling Township plans to work on kits for the men on Skid Row today and tomorrow.

The club will hold its regular Drop-In-Center Day at Recreation Park today from noon to 4 p.m. Club members have been asked to bring toilet articles, used razors, blades, shaving cream, tooth brushes and paste, shoe laces, new handkerchiefs and other small articles for the kits.

THE KITS will be packed on Friday and be given out by the Chicago Christian League.

The club's 90-mile tour of Chicago will be Wednesday. At that time the group will take 10 quilts to the Chicago Christian League. There are only a few places left on the tour bus. The bus will leave Pioneer Park at 8:45 a.m. and will be back by 5 p.m.

Reservations for the club's Dec. 15 Christmas party must be in by next Friday. The party will be held at Recreation Park beginning at 10:30 a.m. A catered dinner will be served at noon. (A

Sign Plan Withdrawn By Morton

Morton Pontiac announced at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board that it would not erect a 22-foot-high sign on their used car lot.

The new sign had been opposed by residents of Davis Street, across Northwest Highway from the Pontiac agency. Residents said that the new sign would result in an objectionable amount of additional light on their front lawns.

The sign seemed set for approval by the safety committee at the time that Morton withdrew the request.

A spokesman for the Davis Street group, David Rettberg, expressed his thanks to the village board and Morton Pontiac for resolving the matter in favor of the residents. (A

Arlington Crusade Is 'Over the Top'

Arlington Heights has been declared "over the top" in its local drive for Chicago area's largest charitable organization, the Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy.

Locally, the United Fund drive was held during U-Nite in October.

"Campaigns in the remaining nine suburbs are well under way, bringing to 98 per cent ($205,825), Northwest Cook County's goal of $210,800," said Harold B Smith Jr., Crusade's regional chairman for the area.

He also announced that Park Ridge is 121 per cent over its goal.

Northwest Cook County's gains have boosted the total Suburban Crusade, also conducted in four other regions, South Cook County, West Cook County, the North Shore and DuPage County to 87 per cent ($981,100) of the $1,128,050 goal.

The metropolitan campaign now stands at $14,715,492 or 65 per cent of the Crusade's $22,750,000 goal. (A

Contractors Under Study For Library Construction

The Arlington Heights Library Board is scheduled to consider the qualifications of one and possibly more potential bidders for the library construction contract at an "adjourned" meeting Tuesday night.

Eight prospective bidders have been pre-qualified by the board. Four additional contractors failed to submit sufficient qualifying evidence at the special board meeting Saturday. A thirteenth contractor is being reviewed.

Commenting on the number of prospective bidders, library director Norval Stephens said the board was "very much" encouraged that eight bidders had prequalified. He said the board could not be certain that all eight of the qualified bidders would bid on the project.

Library attorney R. Marlin Smith said that despite the cact that the board had pre-qualified those contractors who had indicated an intent to bid, any contractor who wished to bid on the project would be free to do so.

HE SAID the most common reason for denying qualification was that the prospective bidder had never handled a project of the magnitude of the $1,683,055 library.

Smith said that, by law, the library board is permitted to refuse to award the contract to the lowest bidder should he not meet the qualifications of a "responsible" bidder.

The local board used the size of jobs the contractor had done previously, the speed with which the contractor would complete the job, the quality of construction, the contractor's financial ability and credit references as criteria in qualifying the potential bidders.

According to Stephens, the board decided to pre-qualify those bidders who wished to be pre-qualified to spare unqualified bidders the expense of preparing a bid which would not be acceptable to the board. The pre-qualification step, he said, would also insure the board's chance to get good bidders.

Earlier the board had considered a Dec. 7 bid opening with no pre-qualification of bidders.

CONTRACTORS' BIDS on the project will be accepted until 8 p.m. Dec. 20 when the bids will be opened at the village hall.

The eight contractors who have been pre-qualified to date are:

A. A. Rose, Chicago; J. C. Harris and Sons, Inc., Chicago; A. J. Maggio, Chicago; Joseph J. Duffy, Inc., Chicago; Wil-Freds Inc., Chicago; Telander Brothers Construction, Inc., Chicago; Chell and Anderson, Chicago; and Four Contractors, Inc. A

Home-School Assn. To Meet Dec. 6

"What the School Can't Do" will be the topic of discussion at the second meeting of the Home-School Association of St. James School Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. in the school basement.

Guest speakers will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dowd of Chicago, selected by the Chicago archdiocese as "Parents of the Year."

The Home-School Association, formed this year, is a counterpart of public schools' PTAs. The association this year is working under a "package" deal with the Chicago archdiocese, with speakers and discussion topics provided.

"Hopefully next year we will branch off, choose our own officers and work on our own," Sister Charles, principal of St. James School, said.

SHE SAID A standing-room-only crowd attended the Oct. meeting when Father James Voos of St. Mary's Seminary at Mundelein College spoke.

The purpose of the organization is to bring parent and teachers together. "We feel communication between parents and teachers is essential," Sister Charles said.

"Too often parents are not aware of how a child reacts in a classroom," she continued. "Also, teachers don't know how children act in the home situation."

During discussion sessions and after meetings, both teachers and parents can meet and discuss mutual problems, she emphasized.

AT MEETINGS, the audience is divided into small "buzz sections" to discuss the selected topic. Afterwards, the guest speaker presents the lecture and follows up with a question-and-answer period.

St. James is the only Catholic school in Arlington Heights with the parent-teacher organization.

Motivation for setting up the group came from the archdiocese school board. "We have been encouraged to form a Home-School Association for the past three years," Sister Charles said.

The group got started this fall under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Mockenhaupt, 420 S. Belmont Ave.

Quarterly meetings are planned for the school year. (A

Latter Day Saints Church Plans Chapel

The Northwest Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has purchase land near Arlington Heights and plans to begin construction of a chapel sometime next summer.

Bishop George L. Naylor said the church's five-acre tract of land is located on the east side of Buffalo Grove Road, just north of Palatine Road and north of the Story Book Homes area. He said his church is petitioning for annexation to the village.

No architect or builder has been chosen yet.

THE NORTHWEST Ward, established just two years ago, has a membership of about 425 persons from Arlington Heights, parts of Barrington, Wheeling, Rolling Meadows and Des Plaines, according to Bishop Naylor.

Presently the Ward is holding its church services in the Dempster Junior High School, Dempster Street west of Route 83. The church's youth groups meet in a masonic lodge, a Wheeling school and a Prospect Heights church.

Bishop Naylor said the Arlington Heights chapel would be the church's first chapel in the Northwest suburbs. Before the Northwest Ward was formed, northwest suburban members of Bishop Naylor's church worshipped in Wilmette. (A

Park District Acts To Fulfill Promise

The Arlington Heights Park District decided Tuesday to begin proceedings to fulfill a promise made this September just prior to the park development referendum.

At that time the park board promised residents from the Hasbrook subdivision that it would "do everything in its power to solve the problem of obtaining safe and adequate access to and from the proposed community park located at the northeast corner of Palatine Road and Kennicott Avenue."

PARK DISTRICT attorney Charles Bobinette advised the board, "We're obligated to these people to go on record and push this thing and get the ball rolling. At least start beating the drums for some sort of means for giving these people access, whether it be an overpass or underpass or whatever."

The park board instructed park Supt. Tom Thornton to find out exactly what can be done, who the proper authorities are and what has been done in similar pedestrian problem areas.

The board also discussed compiling facts and figures on the need for a pedestrian walkway over the road. (A

Park Boards Plan Joint Meeting

The Arlington Heights Park Board decided Tuesday to meet with members of the newly formed Prospect Heights Park Board to discuss development of several parks that lie near the boundary between the two districts.

Both park Supt. Tom Thornton and park attorney Charles Bobinette recommended the joint meeting.

BOBINETTE said that he had spoken to John Haas of the Prospect Heights District. Haas, Bobinette said, indicated that he felt something could be worked out between the two districts.

Thornton said there are three existing park sites right on the boundary. (A

Water Basin Is Back In Court

Arlington Heights' ownership of the storm water retention basin at Hickory Avenue, Marion Street and Douglas Avenue was challenged in court again this week.

John Minneci, 1311 N. Hickory Ave., who lost a court fight for ownership of the basin last month, took his case back to the same Circuit Court judge, Judge Daniel Covelli, and asked that the case be reconsidered. Minneci maintained that Covelli's ruling in favor of the village was in error.

"I DO NOT recognize village ownership of the retention basin," Minneci told the Herald. "I hold the deed."

Minneci said that he was fighting for ownership of the basin on the grounds that the land is not being used as a storm-water retention basin.

He said the basin is being used as an ice rink in the winter and as a cesspool for Arlington Terrace the rest of the year.

Minneci's scheduled Tuesday court hearing was resumed yesterday. (A

Zoners Get Preview Of Bank's Plans

A zoning hearing turned into a preview of the First Arlington National Bank's plans for downtown development Monday night.

Douglas Dodds, second vice president of the bank, revealed the bank's proposed plans for a five-story office building in the central business area, when he testified before the zoning board of appeals in two off-site parking cases.

In the first case, the board granted the bank's request that the property at the southwest corner of Eastman Street and N. Arlington Heights Road be designated as a legitimate off-site parking area for the bank. The zoning variance was needed because the land lies, in part, outside the 1,000-foot distance stipulated by the village code for off-site parking.

THE 56 parking spaces afforded by the 132-by-132-foot lot will more than satisfy the parking area required of the bank by the village. Without the increased parking area, the bank could not proceed with the second phase of its expansion program for its main building located at 14 E. Campbell St.

The possibility that the two N. Arlington Heights Road lots would not be used for parking was made clear in a second request for a parking variance for bank off-site parking.

The second petitioner, Carl Ewert, owner of property at 208 S. Arlington Heights Road asked that his property also be designated as an appropriate off-site parking area for the bank. The Ewert property, like the two N. Arlington Heights Road lots, lies outside the 1,000 foot limit set in the village code. In addition, the Ewert property is located outside of the central business district.

Dodds said that the bank and Ewert had a verbal agreement that the bank would lease the land from Ewert should the variance be granted. He said there had been no written agreement.

"WE WOULD like to use the parking to the south rather than the north because I would consider that less desirable for a high-rise development," Dodds said.

Dodds said that there was a possibility that the parking requirements of the proposed five story building would be met through underground parking areas.

Ewert satisfied the zoning board that the present use of his property as a rental property was unprofitable. The parking variation was granted with the stipulation that the village board be guaranteed the power to oversee the substitution of one parking area for the other.

Sanitarian Makes Impromptu Check

under the counter, including filthy napkins, puddles of spilled malted milk, forgotten plastic spoons and a moldy hamburger bun.

The washroom was a salute to grime.

Leaving via the back door provided little relief. The rear of the greasy spoon looked like a "before" ad for Lady Bird Johnson's beautification program. Trash from unguarded cans had blown everywhere. Rodent burrows abounded.

It hardly seemed possible that this restaurant was representative of the area in general.

"Pick any one in the village," countered Dawson, "and we'll go make an inspection. I'll bet you things aren't much better."

A SEEMINGLY impeccable establishment was chosen, and off we went. The serving area sparkled, waitresses were trim. Surely Dawson was wrong this time. Not so.

This well-respected eating place crawled with horrors.

Followed by the manager we descended the stairs and toured the food and dry goods storage area of the basement. Food sat in sacks on the floor or on low pallets. The manager said this was good procedure, but onion skins were packed thick beneath the pallets and an old potato with a collar of fur rotted right next to the food, and one onion had managed to sprout green stalks a foot long.

Much of the basement was littered with old machinery and discarded kitchen equipment. A dead mouse was found in an ancient, grease-encrusted french fry cooker.

IN ONE SECTION of the area a stream of water wound through filth on the floor, creating a small "swamp" which clung tenaciously to the shoes. A manhole cover was lifted to disclose a shallow hole full of water — the source of the stream.

Further examination disclosed a shelf full of mouse dung. Underneath the shelf were open boxes of plastic hors d'oeuvre spears, waiting for use.

Dawson explained to the manager that all the food would have to be 18 inches above the floor. The manager protested, but the sanitarian held his ground and set off to inspect the kitchen.

Parts of the kitchen were spotless, and Dawson expressed his pleasure, but he was not always pleased.

A large tray of hamburger patties sat atop a truly foul garbage can which was caked with a half inch of unidentifiable residue along the edges. Another such can sat on the other side of a food preparation table. Again Dawson plunged into explanation and persuasion. Again the manager argued.

On a rack above the table dangled some 25 meat-laden wish bones.

THE SANITARIAN turned and walked into the big food cooler. There, on open shelves or knee-high pallets sat eight to 10 large bowls of potato salad, cottage cheese and other condiments. The shelves themselves were coated with rust and covered with tidbits of old food, either of which could drop into the food.

A mildewed, moldy half-pumpkin sat atop a shelf. The manager said an employee had put it there. He threw it out.

The milk machine was appalling, with rancid milk curds hanging from it, inches away from the rubber spouts. The underside of the machine was a quarter-inch deep in sour hardened milk deposit.

Mouse droppings were found even in the cooler itself and could be seen on one high shelf containing an uncovered plate of bacon.

Dawson issued his list of deficiencies to the manager and left.

"You know," he said, "I didn't even begin to scratch the surface of that place." Not even scratching took an hour-and-a-half.

Protecting the Public

Residents of Arlington Heights have always assumed they are protected from disease when they eat in a restaurant. They take it for granted such establishments will be as clean as the homes in which they live. Certainly, they expect public kitchens to meet public health requirements.

For the first time in village history, the customer will be guaranteed such protection.

Thanks to the board of trustees, village manager and director of public health, Arlington Heights has been provided with a qualified sanitarian.

Armed with a flashlight, a case of chemical testing devices, and a sure knowledge of what is safe handling, storage, preparation and display of food, Richard Dawson is inspecting food stores and restaurants throughout the village.

He brings a new standard of public health enforcement to the village and has gone out of his way to explain deficiencies and to suggest remedies.

Dawson is here to correct and to educate. He has been hired to protect us, and is doing his best, not only at inspecting but at providing pest control and other vital services.

Actions taken by the village sanitarian are important to the public welfare. It is important for the public to be made aware of health hazards and steps taken to correct them.

We applaud the trustees and village officials who brought about the position of village sanitarian and share the public's appreciation for his work.

Boost for Downtown?

New Parking Rules Aimed at High-Rise

A "relaxed" parking ordinance proposed for downtown Arlington Heights got approval Tuesday of a special parking committee and the blessings of the Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed ordinance will have to weather public hearings by the Plan Commission and Board of Trustees before going into effect.

The parking committee made the proposals with the hopes of spurring highrise development in the downtown area. Six unrevealed developments, price-tagged at nearly $10 million, await a loosening of present parking requirements, according to village officials.

William Griffith, spokesman for the Chamber, agreed there was need for an inducement for downtown developers.

BUT, HE cautioned, municipal parking must be provided to balance the relaxed requirements.

A major change in the ordinance would be a parking requirement based on a sliding scale. A builder, with plans to construct an office highrise, would have to provide one parking space for every 500 feet on the first floor; one space for every 600 feet on the second floor, and one space for every 1,000 feet on upper floors.

A similar scale would apply to construction of retail stores, banks, restaurants, and furniture stores in the central business district.

A developer could provide parking anywhere in the central business district. Presently parking must be provided within a 1,000 foot distance of the building.

IN LIEU OF land, a builder could contribute $1,600 (presently it is $1,200) for each required parking space to the village. He could pay immediately or by installments over a 10-year period.

With these contributions, the village could build parking facilities, preferably in a central location.

A developer would also have the option of leasing parking from the village to meet his requirements.

In its recommendations, the Chamber stressed the importance of "security" measures to the village in the 10-year leases and village leases.

Village Attorney Jack Siegal will look into safeguards relating to lease procedures and security.

THE SPECIAL committee, which has been meeting for more than a month, is composed of representatives of plan commission, village board, and zoning board.

According to John White, committee chairman, the group will continue its work by dealing more specifically with methods of purchasing land to build parking facilities.

Presently the village can use several methods. One involves condemnation of land (as in the VanDusen property) and buying it on a 10-year lease purchase system. Other methods include —holding a special assessment; issuing revenue bonds without a referendum; buying land outright and paying for it from the village's general corporate funds.

Committee members have also expressed interest in setting up a Public Buildings Commission — a body which could issue revenue bonds to construct buildings and parking facilities. Such a commission could have 20 years to pay its bonds.

Laseke Disposal Accepts Contract

the audit, works out to a net profit after taxes of some $25,428, or about a five per cent return on business operation. But, charged Urbanski. the audit was based on the assumption that there are 12,400 families in Arlington Heights, and both the village manager and members of the board of trustees affirmed that there are only 11,500 families in town.

Urbanski said if this lower base figure is used, the net profit to the company is well below the 5 per cent level demed adequate by the trustees at Monday night's special meeting of the village board.

At that meeting Henry Laseke Sr. told the board, "I can give you good service for $3.00 a month with no questions asked, but I can't do it for any less."

The board had objected to the $3.00 rate because it included provisions for a mechanic at $10,000 per year which had not previously been asked for.

BOTH VILLAGE Manager Hanson and the trustees pointed out that the company had asked for the rate increase to support a mechanic without deducting the savings in repair costs the mechanic would provide from the previous figures for repair and maintenance.

The board was also unhappy that the cost of a mechanic had been suddenly added to the audit of Laseke costs performed in November of 1965 by the Arthur Anderson Co.

The trustees learned from Laseke that negotiations between the scavengers association and the teamsters who man the trucks are currently deadlocked. The teamsters are holding out for a $14 per week wage hike, while the scavengers have offered $9.50. The current weekly wage for drivers is $177, while helpers receive $167.

AT THIS point the board offered Laseke a $2.75 cent rate, —25 cents above the current monthly figure—with a provision for more, should the scavengers have to meet the teamsters higher wage demand. Laseke refused the offer, citing rising costs of equipment, the need for a mechanic and higher labor demands.

"It seems to me," put in trustee Carl Mees, "that we are only a mechanic and a nickel away from settling this thing."

The board noted that the increased labor demands currently amount to about $13,000 per year or 10 cents per home per month. On this basis they offered Laseke $2.85 per month, again with the understanding that the village would renegotiate if higher labor demand had to be met. This was the offer that Laseke turned down, with seeming finality, and then accepted the next afternoon.

URBANSKI asserted that the profit under the new contract will not be enough to provide for purchase of new trucks which will be needed for the expanding operation of the company. According to the Arthur Anderson report, a new disposal truck costs $29,000.

Urbanski said that the company was anticipating hiring a mechanic even though the present contract does not cover the projected cost of hiring one. He said that the company had experienced two recent breakdowns in equipment totalling $6,000 which might have been prevented by the services of a full-time mechanic.

Hanson told the Herald that if the number of families served by Laseke is less than anticipated, then the operating expenses would also be less, thus balancing the profit picture.

He also denied that the village had Laseke over a barrel. He said that although the contract was due to expire, it had expired in the past with no ill effects either to the company or the village.

The trustees decided to reject a proposed lease-purchase arrangement by which the village would have bought Laseke's equipment and then leased it back to him.

ALTHOUGH THE arrangement would have resulted in an estimated $24,000 savings to the village by way of reduced costs of gasoline, interest on purchased equipment and license fees, it would have increased the village's bonded indebtedness by $250,000.

The trustees felt that this was too much of a drain on the village's bonding powers, noting that there might be a need for this kind of money for other important projects.

Council to Hear Juvenile Expert

Juvenile Court Judge Walter Dahl, 16 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, will discuss the problems of juvenile delinquency at a meeting of the Community Council (COMMCO) tonight (Thursday).

Judge Dahl will talk on the responsibility of parents for juvenile offenders; charges of police brutality; and the need for a juvenile court in Arlington Heights.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Miner J. High School.

Comas May Discontinue Its Program diplomacy.

—Provide material aid.

—Establish industry and a market in Arlington Heights for Comas' products.

—Provide educational supplies.

—Provide medical supplies.

—Provide any and all means to deter the advancement of Communism in Comas.

—Undertake any other activity which would promote the general welfare of the people.

THE ARLINGTON Heights group has undertaken the collection of school supplies; the shipment of hand tools, clothing and $1,400 worth of vitamins and medical supplies given by Abbott Laboratories to Comas; shipment of a repaired Ford dump truck filled with canned goods and clothing; the purchase of nine sewing machines for Comas; the donation of $300 raised at a benefit basketball game; the gift of 10 subscriptions to the Spanish edition of the Reader's Digest; and the shipment of more medical supplies.

The Comas group had a financial setback in 1964 when a "Fun-Raising" fiesta resulted in $2,500 in debts rather than the planned $10,000 profit.

Since that time, the debt has been paid off.

LACK OF community support for the program was noted over a year-and-a-half ago by Comas chairman, Mrs. John Hutchison who asked in a public letter:

"Is there room in Arlington Heights for this program? Do the people want it? Someone made the remark that they would be glad to help when we are back on our feet. That day may never come if the townspeople don't act, a sad state of affairs for Arlington Heights and the little town of Comas, Peru."

The Comas spokesman said the group would not meet again to discuss future plans until after Christmas.

Set Reception For Teachers

An annual reception for teachers will be held Sunday by the Arlington Heights Elementary District 25 Board of Education from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Thomas Junior High School cafeteria.

District 25 teachers will have an opportunity to meet and talk with school board members during this yearly get-together.

School District 25 Caucus Starts Work

the organization was founded. Candidates proposed by the committee generally run unopposed.

Each organization is asked to send two delegates to caucus meetings. The first meeting is scheduled for Jan. 5. At that time, delegates will be made familiar with the work of school board members.

At that meeting, a caucus secretary will be appointed. The former secretary, Mrs. Carol Israll, resigned in November because of illness.

At the second meeting, scheduled for Jan. 19, delegates will nominate candidates and set up an interviewing subcommittee. That subcommittee will report to the delegates who will choose the final caucus candidates on Feb. 16.

RULES OF THE caucus allow none of its nominees to serve more than two consecutive terms. Bennett will complete his second three-year term in April. Bukowski and Sjogren are finishing their first three-year terms.

Organizations represented on last years' nominating committee were the school units of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher Council, American Association of University Women, American Legion, Arlington Heights Womens Club, Chamber of Commerce, Community Concerts, Community Council, Daughters of the American Revolution, Jaycees, Lions Club, Newcomers Club, Rotary Club, VFW, VFW Womens Auxiliary, Village Theatre, Arlington Heights Garden Club, and several homeowners associations.

NEIL D'ARGO, chairman of the School Caucus, encouraged other organizations to petition to seat delegates.

Qualifying groups must be non-political, non-religious, civic or educational in interst, have duly elected officers, and have been in operation during the two previous years.

All qualifying organizations not represented may select delegates and notify D'Argo before the Jan. 5 meeting.

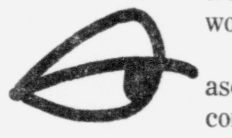
A Question Of Value

By DAVID HOYT
News Editor

"The end," cried Alice, seizing the Jabberwock's tail. "Yes," replied the Jabberwock, "But not the living end."

Fellow destroyers of American society—I address all those who have moved to Arlington Heights, especially those who will move out—take heed of your condition.

You have gained new freedoms. In entering that segment of Americana known as the mobile set, you have become part of the purest democracy known to man. This is especially true if you live in Arlington Heights and work elsewhere.



You are not hampered by the status ascribed to a family in traditional self-contained communities.

In Arlington Heights there is nothing to keep a person from social acceptance or positions of leadership, because in the suburb nothing counts but ability and money.

You will be free from people unlike yourself in Arlington Heights and are likely to meet a great many with beliefs and values in common with your own. This is simply because there are so many just like you living here. This mechanism is built into the suburb.

It is built in through the fact that suburban homes are desired mostly by the child rearing set, by the comfortable set which has the education to hold the job which makes ownership of a suburban house possible, by the mobile set without ties to any community.

You will be free of anonymity in the suburbs. You needn't say merely that you are from Arlington Heights but within a labeled subdivision of Arlington Heights. You will always be aware of the desirability of your subdivision as opposed to others. You will know that the Virginia Terracer salutes first when he meets a Stonegater on the street. Solid values here. Community spirit.

You will be free of relatives. They are left behind and seen only on rare occasions. Their morals, children, and welfare need no longer bother you. Out of sight, out of mind.

You can be certain that your children, taking after their parents, will leave you—with the exception of those occasional holiday visits—for good when they leave the nest. They certainly will not expect to be asked to care for you in your old age. Horrors. The federal government will do the job, since the family is no longer willing.

You are free from the necessity of remembering the last names of those you meet, for in the frantic fight for suburban acceptance everybody becomes Chuck and Nancy and Karen the first time they shake hands. You can be equally certain that your last name will be forgotten the instant you leave and you will be remembered as "Jack Whatchcallit."

You need never worry about having friends. In the suburbs every casual acquaintance is elevated to the status of friend.

Quite likely you will have no long-standing feuds. You haven't been here long enough and won't stay long enough.

You don't have to worry about watching your friends grow old because it is quite likely they or you will move away before that happens. You need not worry about entertaining them; they will all be in "retirement communities," where everybody is just like everybody else.

Freedom of action, movement and acceptance are truly a part of life in Arlington Heights. But we who live this life should not think of ourselves as gypsies or nomads. That would be far from accurate.

Actually we are more a form of migrant worker, a new, educated model, rushing desperately from place to place as the lure of higher salaries is waved in our faces.

Gypsies, after all, traveled in large groups with their families, while we leave ours behind, visiting via that painful instrument, the Christmas card.

Area News

WHEELING—Trustee Richard Frederick waged a one man battle against Wheeling firemen Monday in an effort to get more space for administrative and police offices on the second floor of the village hall. Firemen complain that they are being crowded out of the space they once held the reins on.

ROLLING MEADOWS—The library board this week approved the low bid of Frederick Quinn Construction Co. of Des Plaines for the new library building. The city council is expected to officially award the $205,496 contract for the 14,000 square foot building on Dec. 13.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE—The village will probably have a full-time mechanic Dec. 13 to service village vehicles. A recommendation will be made to the village board to hire a man at a salary between $6,180 and $7,890.

PALATINE—The Winston Muss Corporation files two suits against the village concerning builders' fees "paid under protest" and municipal leasing of land.

MOUNT PROSPECT—Residents will be asked to vote in four separate elections next April. Eleven seats will be up for election on the village board, park district board, library board and district 57 school board. Behind-the-scenes activities have already started to determine who is going to run for what office.

PHYSICAL FITNESS may not be everything, but it is all important at the Arlington Heights park district's exercise and training room. Here Mrs. Donald Wold, 505 N. Windsor Drive, tries out the new exercise machine while Bill Appleby, park superintendent of recreation, works out at the weight station. Over a thousand dollars worth of new equipment has been added to the room this winter. (Staff Photo) (A

Park District Opens An Exercise Room

Arlington Heights residents can now shape, reshape, build up or reduce their physiques to their heart's content.

The park district's training and exercise room is in operation with most of the new equipment ready for adult users.

A total of $1,812.50 has been spent in equipping the room which is located in the basement of the Recreation Park fieldhouse at 500 E. Miner St.

THE EXERCISE facilities are available free of charge.

Bill Appleby, park district superintendent of recreation, said the district has added the exercise room to its facilities so that adults will have a place to work out. Similar facilities are available to the public only at a prohibitive price, he said.

He said the facilities have been created for adults rather than children because the school system provides high school age students with a great deal of exercise equipment.

If youths are allowed to use the room, Appleby said, it will only be under supervision.

The room is now open to the public from 9 a.m. to noon, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on weekdays.

The exercise facilities include a weight station, an exercise machine, abdominal exercise apparatus, an eight-speed belt massager, sets of 110 pound combination weights, a punching bag and gloves, a wall pulley machine, stall bars, a wall chinning bar, jumping ropes and miscellaneous weight lifting equipment.

Appleby said that park plans for recreational programs using the equipment had not been completed. Currently the only organized group using the room is the "Move-it-and-lose-it" women's reducing group which meets on Tuesday nights.

The exercise room should be in full operation by Jan. 1, Appleby said. He said that the park district was still waiting for a rack for some of the equipment and that exercise charts explaining the use of the equipment have yet to be posted.

He estimated that as many as 15 persons could work out in the room at one time, depending on which equipment they wished to use. (A

'Guardsmen' Corps Attracts Area Youth

by BARBARA MacEACHRON
Staff Writer

In the center of the gym, boys with shirttails hanging out, girls with knee socks drooping, focus their attention on the director and give forth on their horns with a volume that would drown out any attempt at conversation by an observer.

From the locker room at the far end of the gym comes the syncopated rat-atat-tat of the drums, beating a message independently of the brass section.

Parading back and forth on the sidelines and on stage, pert young girls march with their flags. In the hallway, a patient instructor tells a group of beginners to try again.

When aggregated, their various components spell Guardsmen Drum and Bugle Corps.

An organization of 70 youths from the northwest suburban area, the corps thrives on disciplined practice. It is known as a group that does things.

For Tuesday night practice sessions in Schaumburg School, the young people work in special groupings.

More than one third of the Guardsmen are from Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg. Other youngsters come from Arlington Heights, Carpentersville, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Rolling Meadows. Members are from 12 to 20 years old, with the average age about 14.

The Corps was organized in 1961 to provide a constructive program for area youth. Attempting to provide a wholesome, active and broadening program for teenagers, the program is based on qualities of Americanism, teamwork and importance of cooperation by each member to achieve a goal.

THESE ARE TEENAGERS who don't have time to get into trouble because they are too busy, said Mrs. Robert Hansen, 325 Azalea, Hoffman Estates, mother of three participants in the Corps. They have the opportunity to go places and see things, she added. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen usually accompany their children on Corps trips.

This is the slow season for the Corps, the hard practice time. Looking forward to the outdoor season in the spring, the group is adding new songs to the repertoire, new faces to the ranks.

Fall and winter, however, are not without activity. In October, the Corps marched in Chicago in the Pulaski Day parade honoring the Polish millenium. On Veterans Day they were scheduled at the Charles Bruning Co. in Mount Prospect and also played for Illinois Bell Telephone in Chicago.

A group of a dozen "crack" color guard members practice separately during the winter for competition events of the Midwest Color Guard circuit. One was held last Saturday in Streamwood.

During the summer season the group makes frequent trips to Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin for appearances, as well as throughout Illinois. New uniforms purchased last summer include the new shako (or Bobby-type) hats.

THE FIRST wearing of new heavy jackets last summer in Peoria proved too much for several Guardsmen who fainted in the blazing summer heat. Last spring the youngsters marched in a downpour for the Lombard Lilac Festival and lost their feathers.

To preserve the valuable ostrich feathers on the shakos, the marchers were instructed to in inclement weather remove and pack them. The box of feathers carefully packed in a car trunk got lost in Lombard.

It was two weeks before the Lombard police traced the car to a dealer and the feathers were returned. The car had not been one of the Guardsmen group.

This incident was recalled by Mrs. Fred Buenger, 499 Devonshire, Hoffman Estates, the mother of two boys who have played with the Guardsmen for three years. The Buengers spend several nights a week and any weekends with Corps activities.

"It is hard work," says Doe Buenger. "But it gets in your blood."

It's like the line in "Music Man" where the mother exclaims, "My Johnnie's playing the horn!" explained Mrs. Bernard Johnson, Hoffman Estates, whose eighth grade son participates.

THE JOHNSONS, of 202 Aspen St., have perhaps one of the most thankless tasks of quartermasters. Johnson paints and repairs drums, checks over instruments and stores them in the Corps' panel truck. Mrs. Johnson mends uniforms and hats, sews on stripes and alters garments.

A panel truck carries instruments and uniforms on trips, but the Corps members ride a charter bus. It has a special banner on the outside. One of the most remembered trips was a Canadian jaunt in 1965. Plans are under way for a trip in August, 1967, to Boston and Washington, D.C.

None of these activities would be possible without the strong booster group behind the Guardsmen. Comprised mostly of parents, the boosters do organizational work and much of the fund raising. The Corps is big business, with an operating budget of $1,000 a month or $12,000 annually.

Aid of sponsoring organizations and businesses has been enlisted. They include Schaumburg Township VFW Post 8080, Chicago American Legion Post 242, Mount Prospect Lions Club, Charles Bruning Co. of Mount Prospect, Schaumburg Transportation Co. and Keyes Plumbing of Arlington Heights.

WARREN WILLE of Des Plaines, booster officer, explained that instructors fees (six experienced teachers) comprise a large part of the budget besides uniforms, instruments and travel expenses. For this reason, Boosters continually sponsor fund-raising projects, such as bake sales, dances and, at the moment, a candy Christmas wreath sale.

Guardsmen were recently given an empty store building to use in Mount Prospect, which has been aptly named Guardsmen Hall. It will become the business headquarters and may provide room for small practice sessions.

Their next goal is to find an armory or large indoor arena for marching practice before the outdoor season begins.

Membership in the Guardsmen Drum and Bugle Corps is open to any interested youngster 12 years or older. Musical experience is not essential. The Corps provides competent instruction in all instruments.

Richard Ledig, Corps manager, indicated he wished the group would grow to 90 youngsters. Information about the Guardsmen may be obtained from Ledig at 827-1409.

THE CENTRAL BUSINESS district (shown by the boundaries of the map) will soon have a relaxed parking ordinance. Village officials are changing the present ordinance to a sliding scale requirement—to encourage highrise development downtown.

Erickson Appointed 214 Board Member

RAYMOND ERICKSON

Raymond Erickson of 601 S. Burton Pl., Arlington Heights, was officially welcomed to the High School District 214 board of education Monday.

Erickson replaces another Arlington Heights resident, insurance man William Griffith. He resigned Nov. 1 citing pressures of business.

Griffith was a vigorous opponent of local school use of federal funds, often challenging administration proposals for more federally-backed education projects.

Erickson is likely to take a more moderate approach.

He told Paddock Publications Monday that he views federal aid to education as a "fact of life."

"If you want to oppose it, it is a battle you fight at the national level — through your senator and representatives," Erickson said.

"AS A SCHOOL board, we must be informed of the availability of federal funds — and realize that these are tax funds too and we ought to be as careful as possible in spending them," he added. Development of "meaningful" education programs with federal funding is a local responsibility, Erickson said.

The new board member may get his "trial by fire" soon. Boundary lines for 1968-69 — when Hersey High School will join the current five schools — are expected to be announced Dec. 12.

Some of the maps tried out by administrators, attempting to even attendance throughout the district, call for assignment of the south Arlington Heights area to another school other than Arlington High.

ON MOST OF the school board problems he will face, Erickson is inclined to reserve judgement. He says, for example, that he has not yet "made up his mind" regarding the feasibility of remodeling Arlington Heights High School.

Those needs must be weighed against the population pressures throughout the district, he asserts.

As vice president and then president of Arlington's Teacher-Parent Council, Erickson has had more opportunity than many to hear Arlington High remodeling needs discussed. Principal Bruno Waara has kept TPC and Boosters Club leaders up-to-date on both building needs and proposals made to meet them.

"Sometime, he uses us as a sounding board," Erickson said of the principal.

Erickson is a sales coordinator for United Oil Products in Des Plaines, and has lived in Arlington Heights' Scarsdale subdivision since 1952.

Self-denial is a virtue we can appreciate most in our next door neighbor.

All of us have little faults—especially when we are taking inventory of them.

The best way to handle people is to heart-handle them.

Recitalists Get Awards

Awards were presented to three outstanding piano students from this area during a recent recital held at Randhurst Town Hall.

Mrs. James B. Roberts of Elk Grove Village, their teacher, gave Brahms plaques to Rita Pritchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Pritchard, 609 Sycamore Drive, and Janet Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Hamilton, 534 Grosvenor Lane—both of Elk Grove Village—in recognition of their high ratings in the 1966 National Guild auditions.

Sharon Meier, daughter of Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meier, 1237 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, was given a musical bracelet after being named outstanding student of the year by Mrs. Roberts.

Trailer Show Opens Sunday

Camping enthusiasts in the Chicago area will get a first look at new 1967 models of major camping trailer manufacturers Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Sherman House, Chicago.

It will be the first national public exhibition to be held by the Camping Trailer Manufacturers' Association. Free admission tickets can be obtained from camping trailer dealers or at the door.

"The spectacular increase in the use of camping trailers is largely a suburban phenomenon," said John F. Dearwester, president of the association. He estimated that two out of three campers are now purchased by suburbanites.

THE ECONOMY, comfort, convenience and enjoyment of family camping for vacation travel has opened a new era of opportunity for many suburban families, according to Dearwester.

He cited four reasons for the new camping trailer boom in the suburbs:

1. The age group that purchases most campers, dovetails with that of suburban families (25-45). By 1970, most research authorities agree, 70 per cent of the family population in this age group will live in the suburbs.

2. Suburban home owners have more storage room (in or out of garages) for their camping trailers.

3. Suburbanites are the ones who get the long weekends off and the longer vacations.

4. The bulk of the nation's hunters, who are big camping trailer users, come from the suburbs.

AMONG THE innovations to be seen in 1967 camping trailer models at the exhibition Sunday are pressurized water systems with hot and cold running water, electrically operated tops that raise or lower in seconds, wall to wall carpeting, and indoor lavoratories with chemical toilets.

For the benefit of outdoor lovers who are just getting interested in recreational travel vehicles, Dearwester offers this definition of camping trailers: Expandable "tents on wheels" that families buy because of their economy, light weight (light enough to be towed by a compact car), roadability, ease of parking inside the family garage and safe towing qualities on fast freeways. Costs range from $350 for a cut-down model with no frills to $1800. (A15

SUNDAY'S SERMON

THE SPOKEN WORD

One of the strongest weapons in the human arsenal is the spoken word. With a careful choice of words, it is possible to greatly aid a friend — or do irreparable injury to an enemy.

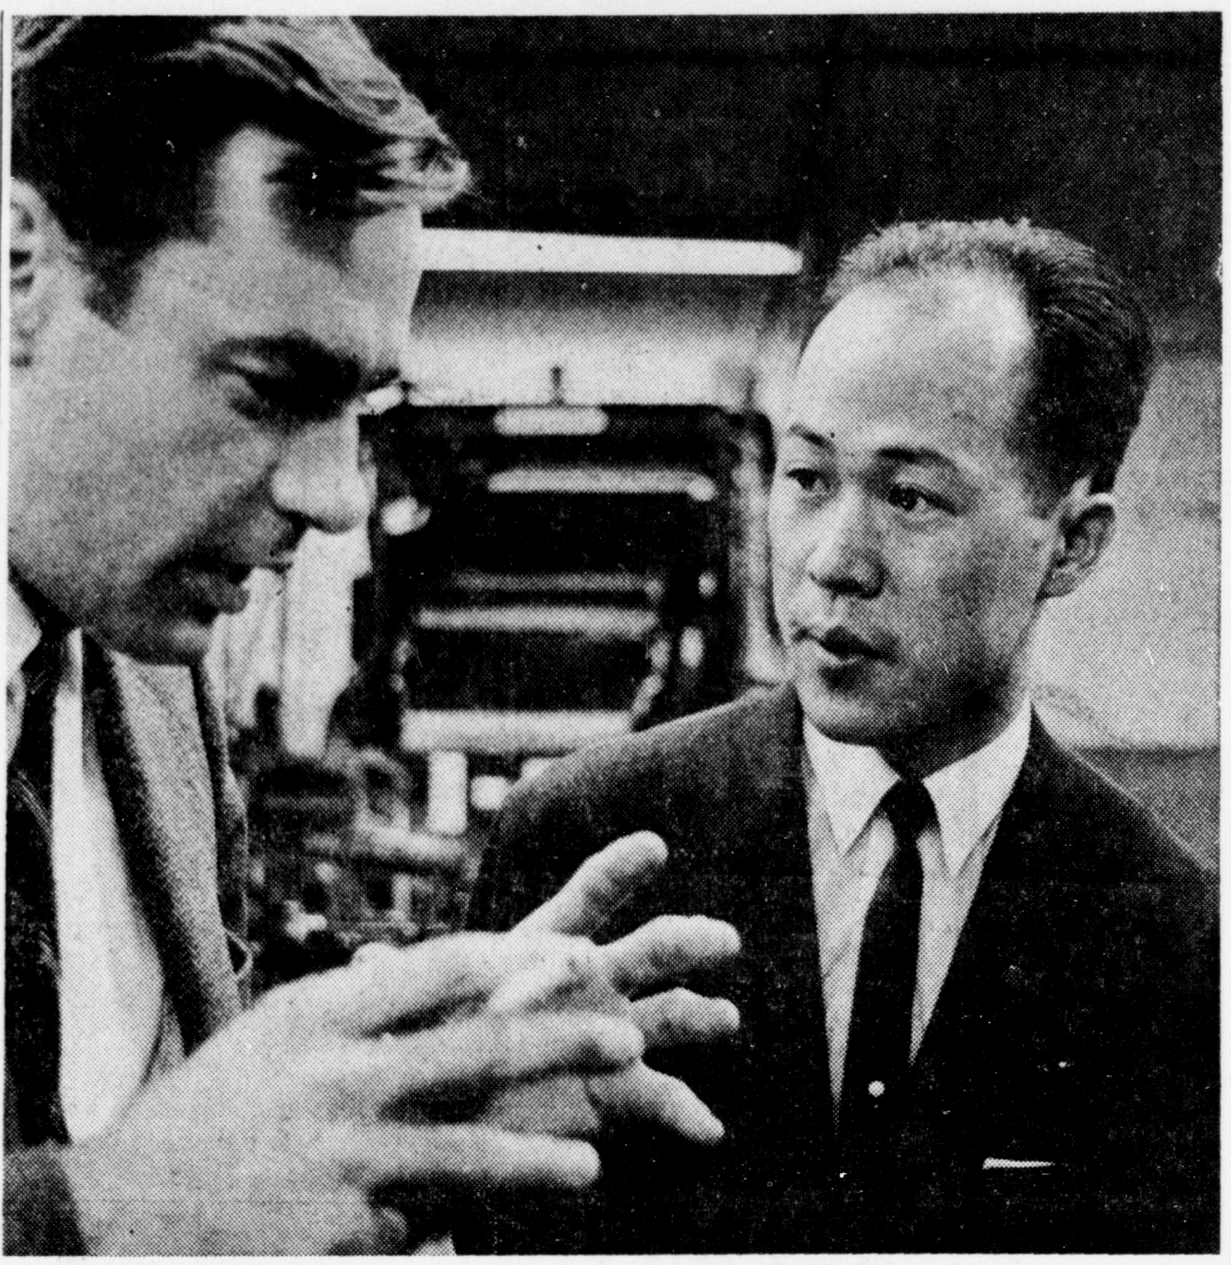
There is a modern admonition that may be paraphrased thusly: "Put your brain into gear before your tongue goes into action."

This is well worth remembering.

Before you speak, remember the finality of the spoken word. That which is said, is said forever. To say, 'I didn't mean it that way', is only to say something else again. Nothing can dilute the original statement.

Speak well, speak truth, or speak not at all. Always be sure that what you are saying reflects sincerity of thought and attitude.

Do not let the opportunity to help, or to cheer, pass you by when all you need do is say a word or two of truth.



LISTENING INTENTLY to explanation by Eugene Nojek, a news editor for Paddock Publications, is Tadashi Satsumabayashi of Mainichi Newspapers, Tokyo, Japan. The Japanese newsman, currently touring the United States, spent Friday at the Arlington Heights headquarters of the 17 newspapers to study Paddock's approach to suburban journalism. While in Chicago, he also visited the national headquarters of Suburban Press Foundation. The Mainichi daily newspapers, with a circulation over 6 million, are among Japan's largest. Hospital Opens New Children's Clinic

A new clinic for children of medically indigent families is open at St. Alexius Hospital in Elk Grove Village.

The new facility will serve residents of the following communities: Elk Grove Village, Itasca, Bloomingdale, Roselle, Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mount Prospect, Wood Dale, Bensenville, Addison, and surrounding communities as well as unincorporated areas.

PATIENTS WILL be referred to the clinic from outside agencies such as clergymen, doctors, school and county nurses. The social service department of the hospital will screen all applicants to determine eligibility, ability to pay, if any, and will schedule all appointments.

Records will be kept on the patients so those eligible for the outpatient clinic may be seen in the emergency room if the need arises. The records, to include past histories, then will be available to the doctor on duty. Mrs. Ruth Helbig of the hospital social service department, said volunteer drivers will provide transportation, when needed, for patients on regularly scheduled outpatient facility days.

Brother Ferdinand, director of nursing at St. Alexius, said the clinic will be expanded in the immediate future to include the entire family. In addition, plans for a similar dental outpatient clinic currently are being studied.

BROTHER Ferdinand pointed out that efforts of the social service department and various community agencies confirmed the need for this type of health service in the area, for the care of patients requiring medical attention but not hospitalization. Department members found there is a need for the service for all age groups, especially in the pre-school and school age groups.

Included in the clinic service are all the available facilities of the hospital such as the laboratory, pharmacy, x-ray, and other departments, as well as inpatient hospitalization.

Youth Forum Gets Big 'Yes'

An emphatic "yes" answer was given Tuesday to Wheeling Township officials asking if they should try to form a township committee on youth.

It came from John Lacey, active in the Cook County Township Officials Association and initiator of a township on youth in Bremen Township.

Bremens Committee on Youth functions as a pilot organization for local youth councils and committees in seven municipalities in that township.

"We started this seven years ago and we were really groping in the dark," Lacey said.

THE PROGRAM that Bremen Township has evolved — and funded with $10,000 in excess tax commissions — is a diverse one. It provides support for a number of local programs ranging from rehabilitation projects and science seminars, to providing counselors to shepherd youths in trouble through Juvenile Court and any probation following. It runs monthly "see how bad it can be" bus tours to state detention homes.

Lacey counseled the Wheeling group against putting too much emphasis on teen centers.

"The type of youth that attends this is already going to the YMCA. What have you accomplished?"

"I understand that," auditor Robert Cagann said. "But what have you found for the rebellious set — the ones with time on their hands who are most likely to get in trouble?"

"IF I HAD an answer to that, I'd come to you tonight from Washington," Lacey laughed.

"There are no panaceas. You just gotta keep trying and remember that by the time that young man starts standing on street corners he's had 15 years to reach that point," he added.

The discussion of formation of a youth committee was shared by two Illinois Youth Commission officials, the township board of auditors, township attorney Robert Cowen, and representatives from several interested organizations.

The auditors will continue the discussion at a meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. in the township hall, 1818 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

Probable next step, should they decide to consider formation of a township committee on youth, will be to appoint a citizens committee to make recommendations to next April's annual town meeting.

OF 7-MINUTE COMMUTING
READ ON:

(and if the following doesn't apply to you, tell an appropriate friend)

We'd like a chance to prove to you that The Big Opportunities aren't all in The Big City.

In fact, we may have the very opportunity you have hoped to find — if you're experienced in industrial engineering, industrial engineering management, production management, design engineering, application engineering, budget management, drafting, metallurgy, industrial relations, contract administration, systems and data processing, foundry management or foundry sales.

We're a major division of a large, progressive industrial manufacturer. Many of the positions offer exceptional advancement potential. Some require appropriate educational backgrounds, some don't. Where necessary, we will train. Age? Not necessarily a problem. Salaries, of course, are appropriate to experience and educational background.

But back to the non-commuting: we're located in a very pleasant upper-midwest college community. Commuting runs from 5 minutes to 20 minutes, depending upon residential preferences which range from close-to-downtown-tree-lined neighborhoods of considerable charm to a variety of suburban and rural areas. We're surrounded by plenty of golf, we're several hours closer than Chicago to top recreational areas, yet accessible to major cities. The college is top grade, and we're near several others.

If balanced living is what you crave, and you have some of the experience mentioned above, don't wait. Write fully now. We'll reply promptly.

Police Bill Covers County Areas

A bill giving the townships the right to purchase police protection for unincorporated areas will be introduced at the next session of the General Assembly.

John Lacey, a leader in the Cook County Township Officials Association, says he thinks the bill will "almost certainly pass.'

Lacey discussed the bill during a meeting Tuesday at the Wheeling Township hall.

"Probably only three people outside this room know now this bill is going to be introduced," he told the group.

IT WOULD make it possible for townships to contract with municipalities for police protection on terms agreeable to both governmental units.

Sponsor of the bill, Lacey said, will be State Rep. John Moore, who authored a 1963 legislative act giving the townships the right to form youth committees.

The bill, to be dropped in the hopper Jan. 18, would require that any budgeting of funds for police protection to the unincorporated areas be approved at th April town meeting along with other township fund allocations.

"This will give us another way to put township excess funds to use," Lacey told Paddock Publications. "It will give township government another reason for justifying its existence."

Lacey said that the bill would also make it possible to provide better police protection to unincorporated areas, now served almost wholly by the undermanned sheriff's police force.

March of Dimes Volunteers Told

A number of volunteer leaders from this area will aid in the March of Dimes campaign to benefit the 250,000 babies born each year with disfiguring, retarding, disabling or deforming birth defects.

Representing such youngsters at a recent volunteers leaders' meeting was 3-year-old Patrick McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McCormick, 270 Bode, Hoffman Estates. From his home town, Mrs. Bert Egan, 105 Apache Lane, has signed up as Hoffman Estates Mothers' March chairman; and Mrs. M. Tipper, 188 W Berkley Lane, will be zone colonel.

In Arlington Heights, Mrs. Albert G. Steffens, 6 W. Noyes, wil be captain for the march, assisted by zone colonels Mrs. Rose Marie Duffy, 818 S. Ridge; Mrs. D. E. Duncan, 14 W. Noyes; Mrs. Joseph B. Higgs, 731 S. Ridge; Mrs. E. G. Gratzer, 735 S. Ridge; and Mrs. Gabriell Katovich, 728 N. Dunton.

ROSELLE volunteer leaders are Mrs. Patricia A. Nebel, 403 White Oak Drive, captain; and Mrs. Evy I. Cloonan, 344 Berkshire, march chairman.

In Bensenville, Emanuel Fivek, 247 S. Center St., is general chairman; Mrs. Jean Dudesek, 423 S. Mason St., Wood Dale, is co-chairman. Mrs. Beyer is president, and Mrs. Dudesek junior vice president of Tioga VFW Post 2149 Auxiliary, which is supporting the Mothers' March as a special project.

Salary Talks Resume Monday

The High School District 214 board will bring a counterproposal to an 8 p.m. meeting Monday for the board members, the administrators' salary committee and representatives of the Teachers' Association.

Rough points of the salary proposal were ironed out at a board meeting Tuesday.

Final figures will be worked out over the weekend, Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, superintendent, said.

Campbell to Head National Seminar

ALAN B. CAMPBELL

Alan B. Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, will serve as presiding officer of the day Dec. 6 during a four-day national seminar. The seminar which begins Dec. 5, is sponsored jointly by the American Hospital Association, the American Institute of Architects and the American Association of Hospital Consultants.

Some 120 hospital administrators, architects, and consultants are expected at the meeting, held at the American Hospital Association headquarters building, 840 N. Lake Shore Drive.

Panels of experts will discuss topics such as long range planning, design and construction, building codes, research projects and the role of computors.

Zoners Change Ruling on Lot

The Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals executed a partial turnabout Monday on its Oct. 24 decision denying a Glenview businessman a variance for construction on an undersized lot on Lincoln Lane in the Scarsdale Subdivision.

Asking the board to reconsider the petition, board member Anthony Tomaso said that although he previously had not felt that Stewart Matthews, owner of the land, had demonstrated a hardship, he felt that a present hardship was apparent in the fact that Matthews had been unable to sell the land.

TOMASO SAID that if the variance were denied the land would be useless.

Other board members said they thought that, should the matter be taken to court, the odds would be strongly on the side of Matthews.

The zoning board then granted the variance with the condition that Matthews offer the lot at a price of $7,200 to the two adjacent property owners for a period of 30 days. The board further stipulated that the offer be written and sent to the two parties by registered mail.

The variance will go into effect automatically 30 days after the two neighbors receive the offer should both reject the $7,200 figure.

MATTHEWS' zoning case was complicated by the fact that he had failed to comply with the village ordinance in disposing of three contiguous substandard lots (two to the south of the one for which he was requesting a variance) in Scarsdale.

According to the village code, the present lot automatically became one with the lot adjacent to it to the south when Matthews built on the two south lots. He sold both of the southern lots and maintained ownership of the northern lot which legally did not exist except as part of the lot next to it.

State Liquor Body Plans Newsletter

The Illinois Liquor Control Commission will begin a new service to all local Liquor Control Commissioners and law enforcement officials, it was announced last week by the chairman, Howard S Cartwright of the commission.

Cartwright said that "a news letter will be mailed every 90 days to all local Commissioners which will inform them of all actions of the state commission."

Every local official will have a complete record of revocation and suspension orders issued by the state commission; of action taken on appeals from orders issued by the local commissioners and with other pertinent activities concerning the highly successful "Operation Minus 21" program of the state commission on enforcement of the law concerning consumption of liquor by persons under 21 years of age.

CARTWRIGHT said, "The state commission will continue its close cooperation with local liquor control commissioners and law enforcement officials and will extend these activities as follows:"

(1) By acting as liaison agent between local liquor control commissioners of our state and the F.B.I. identification section.

(2) By expediting fingerprint and identification report service for local liquor control commissioners who do not have a direct contact with the F.B.I.

(3) By providing information and advice to local liquor control commissioners regarding new amendments to the liquor control act; new rules which this commission may adopt, and upon request new amendments and recodification for local liquor control ordinances and county resolutions.

The Drama of Democracy

Simon's Show Closes; Ogilvie in Wings

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Political Editor

'Twas a lesson in democracy. A drama — a little bit of Americana unfolding and reaching for a place in history.

It was Monday's meeting of the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

Though it went like an ordinary meeting, it wasn't an ordinary meeting. Monday was the last day Seymour Simon was to preside as the board's president.

The meeting had been hailed as the possible time for naming a new county state's attorney. Dan Ward has been elected to the Illinois Supreme Court.

SIMON WOULD not speculate on the possibility that he would call sometime this week a special meeting to name Ward's successor.

Next Monday, president-elect Richard B. Ogilvie takes office. Though commanding a Republican minority, Ogilvie will have the veto power if the Democrats come up with an unacceptable successor to Ward.

All the "insider" reports say the Democrats now feel they have as good a chance of naming a successor with Ogilvie, maybe more so, than they would have had with Simon, the dumped Democrat.

But, things should be told from the beginning, it being the last time Simon was to preside:

Fourteen commissioners, including Simon, were present. Frank Bobrytzke, 32-year veteran commissioner who was also dumped with Simon, was absent, reportedly suffering from a bad cold.

THE MEETING moved along smoothly with numerous items and much money being spent in the usual record time.

It should be noted that the county board often spends more money at any given meeting than most municipalities spend in a year; it takes less time to vote on the items than a village board takes to discuss buying new shovels for the public works department.

After spending money here and there and there and here, the first great issue of the day arose.

President Simon proposed naming 1,803 acres of forest preserve land in Palatine Township after Democratic U.S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, conservationist.

The five Republican commissioners, including Gerald Dolezal who was dumped by the GOP to make room for Ogilvie, rose to the occasion.

THEY OBJECTED to the naming of a forest preserve in a Republican township after a Democrat. You can see, it was the natural ready-made issue of which county board meetings are made.

The forest preserve tract in question is bounded by Roselle Road on the east, Algonquin Road on the north, Ela on the west and generally Central Road on the south.

Senior GOP Commissioner Bill Erickson objected vigorously and threatened that the Republicans could very well produce names of worthy Republicans who should have forest preserves named after them.

He mentioned such GOP conservationists as Teddy Roosevelt and Everett Dirksen.

THE DEMOCRATS would have none of that. Simon called for a voice vote. It seemed the "ayes" had it over the "nays" but the Republicans weren't sure.

-They asked for a roll call.

No! No! No! If you want a roll call, you've got to ask for one before the president calls for a voice vote. Too bad, Republicans. Palatine Township now has the Paul H. Douglas Forest Preserve.

So things moved along normally and at quick-pace.

Each principal commissioner, by virtue of the Simon democracy, gets a chance at making a motion for passage of something or other or deferral of something or other or recommendation for something or other.

So as the meeting droned on; Simon droned on, "The chair recognizes Commissioner So-and-So." The "So-and-So" might be Dunne, Bonk, Piotrowski, Bonk, Chaplin, Fulle, Bonk, Piotrowski, Bonk, Dunne, Chaplin, Bonk.

POOR MRS. Lillian Piotrowski was asleep at the switch on one item.

"The chair recognizes Commissioner Piotrowski," Simon droned.

Mrs. Piotrowski was shaken from her lethargy and looked quizzically at Simon. He told her the third item on page so-and-so was up.

"Oh, I move for approval of . . . " droned Mrs. Piotrowski.

"Seconded by Commissioner So-and-So," Simon droned on, though the commissioner who just seconded the item might have been talking to a friend or out of the room altogether.

BUT ISSUES cannot easily be avoided. It was time to vote pay increases for commissioners, assessor and board of appeals members.

The same board which haggled and fought over pay raises for county nurses and couldn't fully understand how overworked nurses could ask for more money now moved quickly.

Republican Commissioner Charles Chaplin several times remarked to nearby reporters, "Haven't had a pay raise in 12 years, you know. Really, haven't had one in 12 years."

When the vote came, even Commissioner Charles J. Grupp Jr. spoke up loudly. Grupp, a Republican, is best noted, it seems, for never saying anything at board meetings. He just dutifully votes Republican. Despite this, it is important he gets a pay raise.

Same for Ruby Ryan and Josephine Sneed, the most silent of the silent Democrats.

OF PRIME concern to those surely concerned was the pay hike for the board president. (These pay hikes take effect Dec. 1.) The salary was $15,000 a year. Now it'll be $25,000.

The "concern" comes that Ogilvie, as sheriff, was getting $20,000. With no pay hike for board president, Ogilvie faced a pay cut. He had noted this problem in a pre-election interview.

Interestingly enough, after the board meeting Monday, he commented that the pay raises were right and just.

The commissioners' salaries go from $10,000 to $15,000 except the finance chairman's. He, George Dunne, Democratic leader, will get a hike from $10,000 to $17,500.

The $17,500-a-year assessor is now a $25,000-a-year assessor and the fellows on the board of appeals will be getting $17,500 instead of the old measly $12,500.

It pays to serve the public, even if like most commissioners you're only a part-time servant of the public weal. On this, Democrats and Republicans unite.

The really great issue of the day came up when Democrats with Dunne as leader wanted an immediate vote to start renovation of the City Hall-County Building.

For Dick Ogilvie, it must have been a great lesson in parliamentary procedure, County Board president style. Simon exercized his well-known perogatives as board president.

OGILVIE HAD asked Simon to delay the vote until Ogilvie takes office next Monday. Simon said he would. Dunne didn't want to wait.

First, Dunne made a motion for approval to allow renovation bonds to be issued via the Public Building Commission which would hold title to the twin-building.

Simon said "no." He said he wanted to honor the Ogilvie request and that he did.

After Dunne attempted to get a vote, Simon stalled and stalled, putting the matter off for half an hour at one point. Then, after more Simon filirbustering, he asked for someone to make a motion to table.

Republican Charles Chaplin obliged with Republican Floyd Fulle seconding the tabling motion. Simon quickly called for a voice vote.

"Aye," Republicans called weakly. "Naye!" shouted the Democrats.

"THE AYES have it," Simon declared. "The matter is tabled."

Dunne made nasty cracks about Simon's poor hearing; Simon assured all that his hearing was perfect.

Dunne called for a roll call, and Republican Erickson quickly reminded Dunne of the rules.

If you want a roll call, you've got to ask for one before the president calls for a voice vote. Too bad, Democrats.

Simon indicated several times he wasn't against passage of the measure but merely was honoring the Ogilvie request.

IT WAS A nice gesture by a strong Democrat for a strong Republican.

While all the momentous doings were being done, a Simon secretary passed among the press members and quietly announced, "Right after the meeting, Mr. Simon is calling a press conference."

Simon, the dumped Democrat, used his press conference to attack City Finance Chairman Ald. Thomas Keane. He accused Keane of appearing to be backing out of an open housing agreement made last summer with Dr. Martin Luther King.

Did that mean Keane was being hypocritical? Certainly not, stated Simon.

Before the press conference was called, why hadn't Simon talked to Keane to find out what Keane was up to?

"I HAVEN'T spoken to Mr. Keane since March," stated Simon. It was around that time that Simon was dumped and former Chicago Postmaster Harry H. Semrow was picked to be Democratic candidate for the board presidency.

Was Simon accusing Mayor Daley, via Keane, of duplicity?

Certainly not, stated Simon. Simon hoped Keane was speaking only for Keane when he said any open housing agreement made was not binding on Chicago.

"AS LONG AS I'm county president, I'll see that the agreement is enforced," Simon stated.

But, Mr. President, you'll only be president until Monday.

"That's right," smiled Simon.

So, it seemed, ended the career of Seymour Simon as county board president.

Enter Mr. Ogilvie.

Rumanian Minister To Speak Friday

The Rev. Richard Wurmbrand, a refugee Rumanian Lutheran minister who spent 14 years as a Communist prisoner will speak at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) at the Flick-Reedy Auditorium, Bensenville. The first of a four day series of addresses, his appearances are being sponsored by the Church of Christian Liberty, Prospect Heights.

According to Pastor Paul D. Lindstrom, the Rumanian was whipped, beaten with chains, cut with knives, and forced to sit erect in a chair for 17 hours at a time, while a loudspeaker continuously blared "there is no God."

Testifying last year before the Senate internal security subcommitte, the Rev. Mr. Wurmbrand told committee members he was bewildered by the pro-communist sympathies that he had encountered in this country, especially among the clergy.

He is also expected to comment on the National Council of Churches, which the Church of Christian Liberty holds to be a "deeply entrenched socialist political party."

The Rev. Mr. Wurmbrand is currently overseas director of Underground Evangelism, an evangelical non-denominational ministry helping Christians in Communist countries where open evangelism is forbidden.

Sunday morning, he will speak at the Church of Christian Liberty, now holding services in the West Park Fieldhouse, Des Plaines and, in the evening, at the Bethel Community Church in Chicago.

Longer Postal Hours Planned Before Holidays

Extended window service hours at the Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Village Post Offices for the Christmas period will be 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. beginning Dec. 3.

Sunday service will be available noon to 4 p.m. Dec. 11 and 18.

Regular hours will resume on Saturday Dec. 24. (A(E(K

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Yaeger, Lancaster, on the recent death of Mr. Yaeger's father.

IT WAS A BUSY Thanksgiving weekend at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Vinikour, Meyer Road. Thursday they dined at the home of Ben's nephew and family, the Benjamin Vinikours in Skokie. Sally and the children visited former Mount Prospect neighbors, Mrs. Marge Bush and children in Elmhurst on Friday and on Saturday, Ben's nephew, Gary Spector, visited while en route to his home in Rock Island from college.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Vinikour attended a surprise birthday party for Dr. Erwin Cowen

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

Kathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bracki, Hatlen Avenue, celebrated her seventh birthday Friday with a birthday luncheon for Carlene Baardsen and her sisters, Cindy and Debbie. Kathy also brought cupcakes to her second grade classmates.

Thanksgiving was a festive occasion for the junior Carl Baardsens, Estates Drive, when they dined at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lura in Elmwood Park.

Saturday the Baardsens, Roy Swensons, Bill Teskes and the Bill Werners were among those attending the Church of the Cross dedication banquet held at St. Simon Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights.

SUNDAY the Ken Kazmars and the Baardsens attended a confirmation party for Gloria Kazmar's brother, Warren Kuhles in Chicago.

Thursday afternoon Paul and Marvis Kazmar, Jim Nelson and Marilyn Fairfield, all of Jamestown, N. D., arrived at the Kazmar home on Lonnquist Boulevard. Friday the senior Paul Kazmars of Chicago joined them for Thanksgiving dinner a day late.

Sunday the Kazmars attended a belated wedding reception for Paul and Marvis at Heck's Hall in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Anderson, Kim Avenue, were Sunday guests of the Ted Zielens in Chicago.

Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Werner Jr., Rusty Drive, celebrated his ninth birthday Nov. 27 with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Werner Sr. of Berwyn, as guests.

THERE WAS extra excitement at the Colamatteo residence, Estates Drive, as Donna arrived home from college for the long weekend.

Donna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald W. Nelson, Martha Lane, celebrated her ninth birthday recently with a family party.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill, 1721 Rusty Drive, their daughters, Lynda, Leslie, Joyce and Heide, and Jack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Hill of Chicago, celebrated Leslie's fifth birthday Sunday with a dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schlatter. and son, Ronnie, Robbie Lane, spent last weekend in Delavan, Wis., at Lake Lawn Lodge, enjoying swimming in the indoor pool, bowling and dancing.

MR. AND MRS. John Long and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Douglas, Martha Lane, attended the opening of "La Traviata" at the Lyric Opera House Friday evening.

Lynette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sinkler, Carol Lane, celebrated her 10th birthday on Thanksgiving with her grandparents and other relatives.

Russell Sinkler spent the weekend with friends in Thienesville, Wis.

Get well wishes go to Ed Treder, who is in Northwest Community Hospital.

Cheryl Dunker came home for the holidays from Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo., and her brother, Bruce, came home from Northwood Institute in Michigan.

State Speech Post To Lyovonne Trad

Lyovonne M. Trad, 505 W. Euclid Ave., Arlington Heights, has been elected to a three-year term as executive secretary and treasurer of the Illinois Speech Association, the nation's largest state speech association.

The group's 3,500 speech teachers and coaches in elementary and secondary schools, colleges, and universities are concerned with the advancement of speech and drama at all levels of education.

Miss Trad is an instructor in speech and English at Arlington High School, where she also serves as director of speech activities (extra-curricular drama and forensics).

SHE EARNED the A.B. degree in English and speech from Eureka College and M.A. degree in speech and theatre from University of Illinois. Prior to joining the Arlington faculty, she was instructor in speech and English at Coal City, Ill., Township High School.

From 1961 to 1964, Miss Trad served on the speech advisory committee for the Illinois High School Association.

In addition to ISA, her memberships include Speech Association of America, American Educational Theatre Association, National Council of Teachers of English, and Illinois English Association.

Appointment of another Arlington High School faculty member to an ISA post was also announced by the new president, Dr. Charles White, speech department chairman at Illinois State University.

Wayne Wagner, instructor in English and speech and varsity debate coach at Arlington, was named chairman of the state association's secondary school committee. (ACM-E

Minorities Given Boost from Church

A wave from Chicago's summer "summit conference" on open housing is having a delayed impact on suburban parochial schools.

A new positive militant emphasis on acceptance of Negroes and other minority groups has been urged by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. McManus, superintendent of schools for the Chicago archdiocese.

Though neither of the village's Catholic schools have received word yet, letters telling of the new Catholic emphasis on the practical applications of brotherhood have reached Arlington Heights residents who teach in schools in other suburban parishes.

THE TEACHERS have been told that their supervisors from the chancery office are to have "documentary evidence" to prove that steps are being taken to improve teachers' and students' attitudes toward Negroes and other minorities.

The human relations education approach is the Catholic church's part in the "bargain" made between civic and political leaders and civil rights workers at the "summit meeting," the teachers were told.

McManus reportedly told the archdiocesan school supervisors, "We made a deal; we have to deliver. This will be a big order."

He told the parochial school teachers that if necessary they were to de-emphasize the new math or new religion series, to make human relations their major emphasis. (A

Long Grove Church Holds Ground Breaking Ceremonies

Despite Sunday morning's biting rain, Long Grove Churchgoers held ground breaking ceremonies for the new $90,000 campus-type building which is to serve as a youth center, general fellowship hall and fill needs for more church school room space.

Only the more vigorous stood by in the rain as Consistory Pres. Jack Schaum and Vice President Harry Oppegaard wielded the first shovelfuls, the first steps toward material realization of the structure which as Schaum expressed it "was three years ago only a gleam in the eyes of our youth and adults."

Plans for the building, drawn by Architect Robert Coffin, also the village president, provide for a two-story structure which will in addition to the fellowship hall, include room for an office, library areas, kitchen and lavatories.

Sunday's outdoor groundbreaking, in which the Rev. and Mrs. Bert Helm and some of the congregation's leaders took their turn at the shovel, was preceded by a ceremony in the sanctuary, following the 10:30 service.

"EVERY BUILDING must proceed with the first shovel of dirt," said Schaum, addressing the congregation. "May this building be a launching pad for us to make the world a better place. May it be a fountainhead for new action, a place where all our people may come together. Your dollars and cents have given arms and legs to our ideas and plans so that we can go forward— —"

Taking part in the indoor dedication were Building Chm. Frank Bivins and co-assistant, Richard Ireland, Rev. and Mrs. Bert Helm, Harry Oppegaard and canvass heads, Art Edmunds, Stewart Richmond and Glenn Miller. Appearing for the Women's Guild were Mrs. William McCann and Mrs. Robert Pruitt: for the church school, Mrs. Orville Held and Mrs. Richard Ireland; Mrs. James Korbelik and Mrs. Arthur Edmunds represented the music departments and Tom Turner and Walter Erickson, the youth.

Schaum read a telegram from Rev. Alfred Williams, expressing good wishes for the venture. Three trumpeters sounded a solemn note, dismissing the impressive occasion.

"PEOPLE walking and driving with vacant stare; learning lines and unaware of all but the show that is going to be. And, have they forgotten anything?" So went some of the lines of a poem which Muriel Wulff was moved to write recently, describing the mood that hovers over our community as our Kildeer Players make the final preparations before the curtain goes up this Friday and Saturday on their "around the world" revue, "We Deliver."

The Long Grove Area Committee for Family Guidance announces that it is redefining its boundaries to include all residents of the village of Kildeer. At the invitation of the group several meetings were arranged by representatives in the village of Kildeer to acquaint residents with the counseling facilities available through Family Service of South Lake County. At a meeting held Nov. 14, our local board amended its by-laws to make possible the inclusion of Kildeer village.

Mrs. Roberts Hannegan of Kildeer has accepted an invitation to serve as a member of the board. She and Mrs. Joseph Klemeyer have been appointed to fill recent vacancies.

LONG GROVERS have received invitations to attend the annual meeting of Family Service of South Lake County to be held today, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m., at Highland Park's Recreation Center, 1850 Green Bay Road. The meeting, open to the public, will include an annual report and election of officers. Staff members will introduce new aspects of the current program at the agency. On the board of directors from this area are Mrs. Robert Riley and Herbert Collyer.

A yearly allocation of funds from the Long Grove group provides for the services received from the Highland Park agency.

There's never a dull moment for our Newcomers. On Nov. 15, the women's bridge marathon brought forth a large response. The play took place at the homes of the Warren Pankaus, Robert Andersons, Arthur Bakers and the Sheffield Campbells. Awards went to Mrs. R. Graebe, Mrs. Richard Schultz, Mrs. Robert Schneider, Mrs. Lou Hoffman, Mrs. M. Fitzimmons and Mrs. Marie Keehan.

This Saturday evening Newcomers will gather for dinner and dancing at Old Orchard Country Club.

KILDEER seventh and eighth graders don't want snow. At least not until a Wisconsin hobbyist delivers a collection of doll houses which they've ordered for their Dec. 6 holiday bazaar. Proceeds from the event, to take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Glenn Miller home, will finance the bus fare for the students' annual class trip in spring, when they'll journey to Dearborn, Mich., to tour Henry Ford's Greenfield Village.

Stuffed toys, marshmallow castles and a varied assortment of holiday decorations will be displayed, Ruth Miller and her co-hostesses serving coffee. Contributing to the mood will be two silver Christmas trees the students have decorated, which will be offered for sale.

On Friday, the girls met at the Miller home to address invitations for the event; Tuesday the boys gathered at the George Schneider home to make gift items. Also serving as meeting centers were the Harold Bauer and Eugene MacIntosh homes.

Women's Guild volunteers met at the Arthur Reimers' home on Wednesday of last week to make table favors for senior citizens, to be delivered at Christmas.

Long Grove Church school kindergartners, too, are making plans for Christmas. Sunday Ceramist Mrs. Albert Kaufman showed them how to make gifts from clay for their mothers, both sessions enjoying their lessons, which included use of the rolling pin.

IN PREPARATION for the Christmas Eve service at Long Grove Church, the four choirs are meeting regularly to put that extra holiday polish to their pieces. The angel choir, whose voices were heard coming from the balcony during the Thanksgiving songs, are rehearsing every Sunday with their director, Sara Webster, whose mother servts as accompanist for the fourth, fifth and sixth graders. The cherub choir of first, second and third graders, are meeting at the same time with Mrs. Arthur Edmunds in the sanctuary.

The junior choir will prepare their holiday numbers during Wednesday after-school sessions, Mrs. James Korbelik and Mary Jo taking charge. Next meeting of the adult group will take place at the Robert Hill home Dec. 7 at 8 o'clock. More participants in each group are always welcome.

OUR KILDEER basketball team is getting in trim for its first game Dec. 2. We're told the school has a total of 27 potential players, 13 seventh graders, with Mr. Mason as coach, and 14 eighth graders who practice with Coach Fennelly.

When the seventh and eighth grade boys aren't brushing up on their skills at making baskets, they're likely to be trying the Lindy Hop, the Watusi, fox trot, the Monkey, the Ska or the Cha-Cha! All these, plus many points of etiquette which they and the girls have learned during the semi-monthly dance lessons.

On Dec. 15, the dance group will hold a Christmas party.

Kildeer first graders and their teacher, Mrs. Virginia Weston, are reminding you to watch for them on Bozo's TV Circus Dec. 8, the day they plan to "take in" the show.

Word has been received from Susan Loeffler that she has pledged Delta Delta sorority at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

ONE OF THE highlights of the Ray Millers' two-week Hawaiian holiday was to play 18 holes on the fabulous Moana Key Beach Country Club on the island of Hawaii. They also toured Maui, Kauai and Oahu, soaking in the atmosphere of the subtropical ocean waters and white sand beaches. Flying both ways saved time; for Ray the trip was preceded by a five-day business commitment in San Francisco. Having tasted of the true Hawaiian pineapple, we'll doubt they'll ever be satisfied with the kind we buy here at home. For there's a world of difference, according to Jessie.

Remaining long enough to greet Ray and Jessie home from Hawaii, his parents, the Max Millers, made their departure for their winter home in Englewood, Fla.

When Mrs. Bernice Taylor recently took her mother, Mrs. Mary Sayner, to O'Hare to see her off for Tucson, she received a pleasant surprise. Whom should they meet but Dr. and Mrs. Armin Haeussler. Mrs. Haeussler was boarding the same plane, en route to visit her sister in Tucson. Changing the seating arrangement, she and Mrs. Sayner enjoyed a visit on the plane.

The Haeusslers have purchased a house in Glenview, at 2018 Dewes St. Long Grove's former interim pastor is now filling in at Franklin Park, where among regular pastoral duties he teaches a confirmation class of 30.

THEIR DINING on roast beef rather than turkey on Thanksgiving Day wasn't the reason for the Fred Kathreins' lack of enthusiasm for the holiday's observance. Making the most of their daughter, Nancy's visit, they held a joint Thanksgiving and Christmas celebration Nov. 13. Having completed her training as a flight nurse at San Antonio, Tex., Nancy spent two weeks at home before departing for Washington. A recent call from Nancy, a first lieutenant in the air force, told she will be stationed in Anchorage, Alaska.

At the premature holiday open house celebratipn, the Kathreins hosted 25 relatives and friends from Chicago, North Lake, Elmwood Park, Arlington Beights and Schiller Park. Also sharing the family occasion was their daughter, Mrs. Mary Poynor and children, Mark, Brian and Tony, of Barrington.

Driving 375 miles to the Fred Dahlbergs' cottage on James Lake, beyond Iron River, Mich., Fred, Lee Massey and two out of town friends spent three days deer hunting. Though the foursome brought home no game, they agree the adventure was well worth it.

Friday evening's treat for the Fred Dahlbergs and the James Korbeliks was to see "Half a Sixpence," Jim and Esther's anniversary present from the Dahlbergs.

The Fred Frenches' Thanksgiving guests included her mother, Mrs. Fred W. Sargent of Evanston, and Agate Martin who did not make the journey to Grand Rapids, as planned, to spend the holiday with his daughter and family, the Dean Kelleys.

The Harold Turners drove to Glenview to eat turkey with their relatives, the Joe Corbuses, formerly of Long Grove.

SHARING THE bounty of the Elden Gadkes' holiday table was their aunt, Miss Ann Wickersheim of Chicago. Raymond was also home from the University of Chicago.

Making it a family gathering at the Andrew Sims' were their son, Andy, home from Plymouth, and their daughter and family, the Eimo Hinrichs.

Saturday the Martin Wulffs and Muriel's parents, the Arthur Malms of Half Day, attended the golden anniversary celebration of the Theodore Loefers at the American Legion Hall in Lake Zurich.

We're glad to hear that Mrs. Stewart Richmond's father, Wesley Becker, is recovering favorably following surgery. Both parents are visiting here.

Our hearts are with Mrs. Sylvia Locke of Checker Road, whose son, Bud, died suddenly from a heart attack Nov. 17 at the age of 42.

The William Morgan home in Long Grove Valley was the scene of a Thanksgiving gathering for 15 relatives from Morton Grove and Glenview.

Happy wedding anniversary wishes go to the Glenn Millers, Dec. 6; and birthday wishes for Carol Ann Kieser, Dec. 5.

A group of Craig McCann's boyfriends were invited to make it a birthday supper gathering Nov. 16.

THOUGH OUR November adventure of the open road was exciting, your reporter and her husband found there's a certain satisfaction in coming back home.

Starting out the first of November, we took the long route that wound through the Kentucky hills and led through the Smokies, stopping long enough to savor the flavor at points such as Gatlinburg, Tenn., and Cherokee, N. C., considering ourselves to be fortunate to see the trees wearing their vivid fall colors.

Journey's end for awhile was St. Petersburg, Fla., which, as the travel folders describe, is a city of sunshine. While guests of Orv's sister and her husband, the James Ryans, we visited the beaches, picked baskets of shells at Lido Beach, toured towns along the Gulf coast, among them Sarasota and Bradenton, loafed at Tarpon Springs and visited the curio shops, enjoying the flavor of the Greek village as much as the red snapper for lunch. We rode a glass bottomed boat down one of Florida's jungle routes and saw the underwater mermaid show Arthur Godfrey talks about and on a St. Petersburg nature trail saw Ugly Henry, while listening to Floridians tell us "he is one of the largest alligators alive and can move his 13 foot 1,000 pound body in a flash and catch a bird with his 86 teeth."

LEAVING ST. Petersburg, we followed the Tamiami Trail through the Florida Everglades to West Palm Beach and visited with the Harold Evanses who have spent the last eight winters in the area. Here we found the weather even more ideal. Driving along the ocean, we also toured the famed and lush Miami strip.

Homeward bound, we drove through acres of orange groves in central Florida, being told there's been a record crop. Rest of the way included stops in Chattanooga, Tenn, and Atlanta, Ga., still finding the autumn foliage beautiful.

After a few days at home, we drove to Grand Rapids, to visit our son, Dick, who has been making it his home. He and his friend, Lyle Laux, took us on a tour of the city and dined us royally on platters of fish they had caught in nearby lakes. Sitting around their table, we decided the food matched that of any of the Florida oyster houses at which we had eaten. (WP

Name Preserve For Paul Douglas

A 1,083-acre forest preserve tract in southwest Palatine the Paul H. Douglas Forest Township Monday was named Preserve after the Illinois senator.

The forest preserve is generally bounded by Roselle Road on the east, Algonquin Road on the north, Ela Road on the west and Central Road on the south.

The county board vote was 9-4 with all Democrats voting for the name and all Republicans voting against it.

Republicans hoped to stall or kill the measure by referring it to committee. They opined that many Republicans with records as conservationists deserved consideration. (B10

Notes from Arlington Acres

Thanksgiving week is traditionally one to spend at home preparing for the holiday feast, but to Mrs. Jack Curtin, 420 S. Forrest, it meant spending all her time at Northwest Community Hospital with her husband. Jack was admitted as an emergency heart patient the Friday before Thanksgiving and was in the intensive care unit until Wednesday of last week. At that time he had improved enough to be transferred to the medical floor and is now in room 337. Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended.

Jack spent not only the Thanksgiving holiday in the hospital, but their wedding anniversary as well. They were married 31 years Sunday.

The best wishes of their friends and neighbors go with the Dale Hinchliff family, who moved from Arlington Acres to an apartment in another area of the village Friday. Mrs. Hinchliff, her daughter, Carol, and Grandma Matthews had lived at 428 S. Forrest for the past four years.

ANOTHER family leaving the area is that of Lyndon Wharton, 408 S. Prindle, Arlington Acres residents for two years. They left last weekend for Springfield.

Joyce Wharton was showered with the best wishes of many of her neighbors on S. Prindle at a coffee Nov. 17 given by Mrs. John Shure who lives on the same block.

The Ralph Verleys and their son and daughter, Bill and Teresa, 436 S. Prindle, drove to Iron Mountain, Mich., to spend Thanksgiving with Irene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Ambrosia.

The Raymond O'Donnells, 405 S. Gibbons, started the holiday week off by driving to Lafayette, Ind., to spend a weekend with their oldest son, Dennis, a student at Purdue. The occasion was the dedication of the new Theta Chi fraternity house on the campus and enough events were planned for the guests to keep them busy for a week. Two outstanding events which the O'Donnells covered were the traditional "Old Oaken Bucket" football game with the University of Indiana and a Robert Goulet concert. Dennis's brothers, Kevin and Jim, accompanied their parents.

Gary Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook, 525 S. Forrest, made a quick trip home from the University of Wisconsin at Madison, to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, and on Friday flew to Green Bay to spend the weekend with friends.

MR. AND MRS. Tony Farina, 421 S. Forrest, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Thanksgiving Eve. Having recovered from the surprise party given them by relatives and friends earlier in the month, they decided to "do the town" by themselves. After dinner in the Loop, they visited Kontiki-Ports in the Sheraton-Chicago and wound up the evening at Trader Vic's.

Instead of being a single holiday, Thanksgiving usually means a triple header at the home of the Burton Soderbergs, 436 S. Phelps. Lorraine and Burt were married 20 years on Thanksgiving Day and their son, Doug, celebrated his 18th birthday Saturday. Combining festivities for all three events, they hosted a dinner Thursday at Old Orchard Country Club. Among the guests were Doug's grandparents, the Sig Bufnos and the Elmer Theimanns of Chicago, and several aunts and uncles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Post, 2105 E. Park, celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary Nov. 19 at the home of close friends in Chicago who had planned a get-together in their honor.

THE FOLLOWING day Betty and Bob helped their daughter, Karen, celebrate her 11th birthday at a family party at home. Joining the Posts for a festive dinner were Grandma Post and Great-grandma Molt of Evanston.

Congratulations on their Nov. 27 wedding anniversary were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amann, 540 S. Phelps, on Sunday. Four of the five children, married and living in the area, dropped in with their families to be part of their parents' happiness.

Congratulations also went to Mr. and Mrs. David Roy, 425 S. Prindle, on their 16th wedding anniversary Nov. 23. They celebrated quietly at home with their twin daughters, Diane and Denise, and young son, Michael.

SCOTTY MOLLER, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moller, 416 S. Prindle, began the celebration of his Nov. 21 birthday the day before. His parents took him, his sister, Julie, and brothers, Keith and Jimmy, to the Museum of Science and Industry. For 5-year-old Scott, the day was not long enough to investigate everything that fascinated him and he was particularly interested in the trip through the coal mine.

After school Monday, Scott's friends, Cindy Wright, Konni Knutsen, Dean Briscoe, Frankie Gryzik, Alan Cerva, Ricky LaVeau and Robbie Wharton, gathered at the Moller home to join him, his sister and brothers in an afternoon of party games climaxed by a party supper.

Kathy Wright, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright, 413 S. Forrest, was given her choice of a celebration of her Nov. 19 birthday, and since she is interested in hockey, asked to be taken to a game. Her parents took her and her sister out to supper that night and then to the Stadium to see the Blackhawks play Detroit.

IT WAS A second day of celebration for Kathy, as her maternal grandparents, the A. Bayerles of Downers Grove, had taken her out to dinner the night before, and the senior Wrights had dropped in to add their love and best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Knutsen, 432 S. Prindle, hosted the traditional Thanksgiving dinner for the family this year and added a double birthday celebration to the day's festivities. Birthdays being noted were Margi's, Nov. 12, and Kristi's, Nov. 20. The guests included the girls' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huber, and their Uncle Jack of Chicago.

A young lady whose 12th birthday was twice celebrated is Nancy Cerva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cerva, 425 S. Forrest. Nancy, whose big day is Nov. 22, was guest of honor at a family dinner at the Cerva home on the Sunday before and was toasted by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Buchwald of Chicago, and a host of aunts, uncles and cousins.

ON THANKSGIVING, the Cervas were dinner guests of Don's brother and his wife in Franklin Park and Nancy's birthday was again taken note of along with those of two cousins.

Barby Jenko, 440 S. Prindle, celebrated her 14th birthday Nov. 18 having a pizza supper at Shakey's in Mount Prospect with her parents Frank and Betty and attending a square dance session with them after, where she was serenaded by the dance group.

On the following Wednesday, Barby had one of her best friends, Carlene Schmidt of S. Gibbons, for dinner and to spend the night. In the morning the girls enjoyed preparing a gay Thanksgiving breakfast.

"No, madam, we're NOT sending a man to report on Washington."

LBJ Has Not Invited Us

Besides, our budget would not permit us to have one of our men covering the Washington newsbeat, though you have to admit we have accomplished a lot within our own sphere of influence.

We are one of the few suburban newspapers that had on-the-scene coverage of both the Republican and Democratic national conventions in '64. We were also one of the few suburban papers to send a man to Springfield recently to cover the Republican conference.

Our readers are interested in these things, particularly when they involve local personalities and we are constantly striving to give our readers what they want.

It's things like this that won the Will Loomis Trophy in '64, symbolic of the best suburban newspaper in the state.

The Reformation 'Revisited' In Ecumenical Discussion

"We agree to disagree agreeably," Rev. Edward Cardinal, C.S.V. told the audience at St. Viator's Tuesday evening.

Speaking on the subject, "The Reformation Revisited From An Ecumenical Perspective," Fr. Cardinal lent his own experiences as a historian from the time of his ordination in 1924 as a vehicle for revisiting the reformation.

"Historians have told us how far we have deviated from the truth," he said. "It was only through my own experiences in examining the papers of Henry VIII's England and the Vatican archives of the time that I became aware of the complexities of the issues of his divorce."

Fr. Cardinal said he suspected that if Henry's case were retried today, a different verdict might be forthcoming and the split between the churches of England and Rome might never have come about.

In a manner both informal and scholarly, Fr. Cardinal roamed over ancient "truths" he had learned as a Catholic, only to discover later that much of what he had learned about Luther, for example, was drawn from the inspired writings of a single man, a onetime friend of Luther who became his bitter enemy.

Tracing some of the problems of the early church which led to the Reformation, Father Cardinal laid some of the blame at the door of the church's involvement in the State. "Popes were chosen to be kings more than spiritual leaders," he said. He noted that the solution of the poet Dante to this problem was to consign all Popes who accepted temporal power to the Inferno.

With the state in the Church's pocket, historians of that time and later were inclined to gloss over some harsh facts, things like the Inquisition, massacres and burnings, he said.

"Today we no longer feel we have to justify the Inquisition or anything like it — thank God," Fr. Cardinal said.

Panelists Rev. Roger Pittelko, Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit in Elk Grove Village; Rev. William Robinson, Christian Church, Rev. Roland Koch, Congregational United Church of Christ, and Rev. Leaon Haring, of First Presbyterian Church, all in Arlington Heights joined the discussion later.

Each panelist traced the geneolgy of his own congregation from Reformation days.

The Rev. Mr. Pittelko said that understanding others in their own terms is an important aspect of ecumenism. "It is necessary to know, for example, that the Lutheran Church considers itself the Old Church reformed," he said.

Responding to a Catholic listener's question about Calvin, the Rev. Mr. Haring told the group that the doctrine of Predestination is no longer held as Calvin formulated it. "He was a lawyer, we must understand. But he was also very ecumenical, and after establishing the church at Geneva, wrote many letters to leaders of other denominations seeking unity," he said.

The Rev. Mr. Robinson said that while the Christian Church began as a kind of ecumenical gathering of people of several worship patterns, it has a danger of disintegrating for the same reason. "There are problems with baptism, and with Bible interpretation, for example. But I feel that soon some of our problems will be solved. It's a wonderful time to be alive, to hold such good conversations with one another," he said.

The Rev. Mr. Koch said the best hopes for immediate unity lie in action and dialogue for the ordinary layman as well as local clergymen.

"The last five years have brought changes I never expected to see in my lifetime," he declared. "Let the Biblical scholars do their work. We can do ours another way."

Biblical scholars are the most ecumenical of all, according to Fr. Cardinal's estimate. "It was the Bible that divided us. It may be the Bible that will bring us together again."

St. Viator's New Horizons series continues next week with a film, "The Seventh Seal," considered by some to be the greatest film of all time. In two weeks, on Dec. 13, a lecture will follow on "The Brutal Mirror of Modern Drama."

$7,000 Authorized For Water Study

The water commission representing Des Plaines, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine Tuesday took formal feasibility study of costs and means of increasing the supply of water to the four communities.

Commission members agreed to hire Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers, to make the study of four plans to provide more water to the communities.

To be completed by the spring of 1967, the feasibility study will explore only one new avenue not considered in two other studies made since 1959.

THAT WILL BE the proposed acquisition by the DAMP Water Commission of existing supply facilities of member facilities.

Although none of the communities represented on the commission have agreed to acquisition of their facilities, all have expressed interest in a study of the plan's possibilities, according to Commission Chairman Howard I. Olson.

Under the first proposed plan, the commission would act as a wholesale seller of well water drawn from a system of mains and booster pumping stations connecting the communities.

The feasibility study will include preliminary layouts and estimates of cost of interconnections of transmissions facilities between the member municipalities and "needed" new pumping stations which would fit in with a possible alternate major future source of supply.

Also included will be a survey of existing facilities, and a preliminary project estimate for a purchase by DAMP of supply facilities together with bond table and annual financial charges for future years and preliminary rate schedule.

MOST OF THE feasibility study will be geared to updating information on older and alternate plans:

—Securing an independent supply of water from Lake Michigan.

—Obtaining a supply of water from Lake Michigan with the Tree Commission.

—Purchase of water from the City of Chicago for resale to Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

The fee set for the study is the ceiling cost of the study.

72 Bi-lingual Drivers Graduate from Course

Classes ended Tuesday for 72 Spanish-American drivers who learned the state rules of the road under the instruction of a bi-lingual Palatine police officer at Fremd High School.

The class was given visual tests by an employe of the secretary of state's office at the last of five weekly sessions this week.

But the pupils will not be graduated until they pass written drivers examinations at area testing stations.

Officer Gordon Mosby, who taught the course, said that his classes showed improvement in quizzes on state driving regulations.

"WE ARE VERY happy with the classes. Many pupils were illiterate, driving with a Texas license, or both," Mosby said.

Judges believed that repeated offenders among Spanish-Americans were driving without licenses because of a language barrier that prevented them from taking written tests, Mosby said.

Mosby, who learned Spanish in South America where his parents were missionaries, agreed to take over the classes in Palatine after observing a similar school for drivers in Chicago.

"We're already getting inquiries about our next sessions, which are planned for next spring. The persons who attended classes were very grateful for help," Mosby said. (B-10

Caucus Launches Man (Woman) Hunt

The Arlington Heights village Caucus is currently seeking a secretary, four precinct representatives — and some candidates.

Scott Ball, chairman of the candidate selection committee, held his first committee session Wednesday evening in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building. At the closed meeting he planned to ask that a sub-committee be named to fill four precinct vacancies.

Not yet represented on the selection committee are Precincts 1, 3, 9 and 25.

CARL PASQUALE, vice-chairman of the Caucus and its publicity chairman, says the executive board will probably wait a few weeks before filling the secretary's vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. R. J. Schlott.

"We don't really need a secretary until January," Pasquale said. He suggested interested persons contact him or Mrs. Alice Harms, who has served as secretary the last four years.

Mrs. Harms has been urged to continue for a third two-year term but has said she is reluctant to do so.

Main purpose of the Caucus is selection of candidates for the village elections next April.

Open this time are three trustee positions now held by Jack Walsh, Tom Hanlon and Carl Mees. None have indicated so far whether or not they wish to seek another term.

Ball said that nominations for the trustee positions can be accepted at any time. Persons wishing to suggest possible candidates have been asked to call him at CL 3-2677. (A

Pure Water Supply Is a Sure Thing

65 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, Dec. 7, 1901

The fire and water committee made an official test of the village well Monday. They had a sewer pump that pumps three gallons of water to each stroke . . . the test showed that this well will furnish 20,000 gallons of pure water per day and probably the flow would be increased by use.

50 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, Dec. 1, 1916

The ways are now being greased for the launching of the new movement for the readjustment of postal rates in the next session of Congress . . .

A survey of the situation indicates that sufficient changes will be made in the various rates to permit the granting of a one cent rate on local delivery letters.

25 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, Dec. 5, 1941

Arlington Heights people who have been awaiting the opening of the new theater with anticipation will be glad to hear that the date of the British War Relief Society's Benefit will be announced in the next issue of this paper.

When completed and open for business Arlington Heights will have a theater designed particularly for the community with all modern innovations to make it attractive and comfortable.

10 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Herald, Dec. 6, 1956

Cooperation among four northwest suburbs to secure Lake Michigan water seemed assured Wednesday.

In a long awaited development the Des Plaines city council voted to join with Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect to form a northwest suburban water commission.

17 Lots Zoned For Business

A grant for B-1 commercial zoning upon annexation for 17 lots on the west side of Arlington Heights Road between Magnolia and Cyprus Streets was given approval at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Arlington Heights Village Board.

Attorney William Moore, speaking for the Loos, Nilsen, Johnstone, and W. E. Gould and Company, the owners of the property, said that a flow-through parking lot would be provided for the 95 by 400 foot strip of land, and introduced Jack Whistler, who told of the plans for the land.

WHISTLER SAID there is a need in the area for small stores such as hardware, sporting goods, bakery, and laundry facilities.

He said there is also a need for office space, which might be occupied by sales representatives, real estate companies and other small business firms.

Moore assured the board that he would be willing to abide by all the provisions of a planned development, even though the property did not qualify for planned development restrictions.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT prompted village president John Woods to comment, "The holiday spirit is getting to you a little early this year."

Moore replied that his clients intended to be in the area for a number of years and only wanted to be good neighbors.

"Whee," shot back Woods, "Who's writing your scripts?"

THE BOARD voted in favor of the requested preannexation zoning and the village attorney was directed to draw up an annexation ordinance.

At this point village manager L. A. Hanson said that he wished to go on record as being opposed to the development of any restaurants on the location. He noted that the property did not have access to an alley and said he feared that there would be problems of garbage disposal and storage. (A

Four Are Injured

Four persons were injured in accidents on Arlington Heights streets during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend.

An eight-year-old Arlington Heights boy Thursday suffered head lacerations in an accident at U. S. 14 and Evergreen Avenue.

Police took William Olson, 224 S. Highland Ave., to Northwest Community Hospital where he was treated and released. The car he was in was operated by his mother, Mrs. Jane Olson. The Olson car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Venusto Malca, 43, of Chicago, police said.

POLICE ticketed Malco for going through a red light.

Seventeen year-old Michael Carpenter, 2101 Thed Lane, Palatine, was injured Friday evening when his car skidded into a car driven by Donald J. Witt, 18, of Oak Lawn. The accident occured on U. S. 14 near Wilke Road.

Police cited Carpenter for following too closely and Witt for no safety belts.

A five-car collision at U. S. 14 and Wilke Road resulted in one injury and one arrest.

Police said a car driven by Lindsay R Meister, 42, of Morris, Ill., collided with a car operated by Robert E. Armour, 19, of 1339 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights.

Meister's car traveled several hundred feet and ran into a line of three cars turning into the McDonalds parking lot.

A PASSENGER in the Armour car, Barbara Feldman, 17, of 201 S. Dwyer Ave., Arlington Heights was taken to Northwest Community Hospital. She was treated for a whiplash injury and released.

Police arrested Meister for not having his vehicle under control.

An accident at Kensington Road and Hickory Avenue Saturday afternoon caused an injury to John Holmes, 117 S. Windsor Ave., Arlington Heights. He was riding in a car driven by William D. Carlisle, 1 N. Chestnut Ave.

Police said the Carlisle auto struck a car backing out of a driveway. The driver was Stanley J. Fasci. Fasci was cited for improper backing. (A

School Speech Therapist Weds in Prospect Heights

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Borchardt of Wausau, Wis., announce the marriage of their daughter, Judith, to George D. Eckardt, son of the George F. Eckardts, 103 N. Schoenbeck Road, Prospect Heights. The bride is the speech and hearing therapist for the Prospect schools.

The ceremony was performed by Pastor Noll at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 19 in Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights.

Mrs. Eckardt received both her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin. Mrs. Eckardt is a graduate of Arlington High School and of Northern Illinois University. He is an accountant for the Ickes-Braun Glasshouses of Chicago.

After a trip to New Orleans, the newlyweds will reside in their new home at 427 Stone Place, Wheeling.

Sidelighters are caught up in the rush of Christmas Shopping and planning now that Thanksgiving is behind them. A few local residents are returning to Arlington Heights after their Thanksgivings away-from-home to find the air steadily filling with Christmas carols, the streets and stores decked with holiday decorations and the first evidences of Santa Claus and his helpers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 645 N. Douglas, and their son, Stephen, spent Thanksgiving weekend at the home of Gerald Stanley in Worthington, Ohio. During their Wednesday-to-Sunday stay, they visited Mrs. George Kinchloe, whose late husband was former assistant minister at the First Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights.

JAMES CLABAUGH, OCF, spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly. James is currently attending the officer's training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Celebrations for the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire, filled a delightful three-week span. The Bredehofts and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kain took a plane to Madrid and from there proceeded on an automobile tour of Spain and Portugal, which enabled them to see not only the traditional tourist spots, but also to observe, at close range, the countryside and villages and the village people. The trip was a sort of follow-up to the couples' trip to Puerto Rico last year, when they celebrated the Kains' 25th anniversary. The Bredehofts returned home two days before Thanksgiving and spent a relatively quiet holiday at home.

College juniors Jim Gutru and Peggy Hays spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gutru, 531 Pine. Both are students at Upper Iowa College in Fayette, Iowa.

MR. AND MRS. Alfred Wilcox, 210 Brighton, drove to Independence, Mo., to spend Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wilcox, the parents of A. L. Wilcox. Four generations of Wilcox clan were represented.

The R. W. Daeschner family, 310 Mayfair, spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Krabbenhoft. The Daeschners, together with their daughter, Becky, home from William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., son Dick, home from University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana campus, and daughter, Martha, celebrated the 20th anniversary of the co-celebration of Thanksgiving with the Krabbenhofts.

It was "California here we come" for Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schreiber, 123 Brighton. Three weeks ago they took a train to California, which took them through Glenwood Canyon in Colorado and Feather River in California, both of which were scenic routes. Mr. Schreiber rode through the mountains in the engine and spoke with the engineer, who had had that same route since the early 1920's.

THE COUPLE visited friends and relatives in San Francisco and Los Angeles and in San Diego visited their son, David, intern pastor at Our Savior Lutheran Church. The Schreibers spent Thanksgiving with their son and then returned home with lots of pictures and pleasant memories of the trip.

Miss Carol Auer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Auer, 202 S. Stratford Road, spent Thanksgiving in Denver, as the guest of a sorority sister, and then flew to Wyoming for a week of skiing. Carol is a junior at Colorado State in Fort Collins, where she lives in the Gamma Phi Beta sorority house. (A

Pre-Christmas Park Plays Are Planned

Youngsters from the Arlington Heights Park District drama classes will present three one-act plays in a pre-Christmas program at the Bristol Theatre at 2 p.m. Dec. 17.

Two of the plays, "The Least Gift" and "Hand-Me-Down Hildy," will be staged by grammar school children in the fourth through eighth grades.

About 30 high school students will take part in Teen Theatre's portion of the program, "Star of Bethlehem."

There is no admission charge for the program. For further information call the park district office, CL 3-0620. (A

Prospect Skater Wins Pekin Race

The Mount Prospect Skating Club won one championship and eight medals in the Class A events in a meet last week in Pekin.

Skaters in the novice classes won 14 award ribbons and two of the skaters graduated to the championship Class A divisions.

IN THE championship class Mary Cunningham won the 440 yard junior girls events. Barbara Westlake placed fourth in the junior girls half mile race, Theresa Griffin took third in the 220 yard event and her sister Loretta took fourth in the 440 yard event.

Gary Jonland, the 1965-66 National outdoor juvenile champion, celebrated his graduation into the junior boys class by winning two races and the individual championship. He won the quarter and half mile events.

Bobby Knight, winner of last year's National Juvenile boys indoor championship, finished a good second in the half mile event. Jim Zuckermandel added a third in the senior men's mile to complete the scoring for the Prospect Club in the championship classes.

IN THE NOVICE division Prospect's Rich Vehe and Keith Westlake won championships in the Pony and Midget classes and graduated into the tougher Class A competition for the remainder of the skating year. Jim Ketter took two firsts and Andy Lindstrom and Erik Jonland won seconds in the Bantam boys class. Other award winners were Denise Scranton, who won two ribbons, sister Debbie with one, and Amy Westlake and Tom Grunnah each with two second place awards.

The Mt. Prospect Skating Club will present its winter carnival program of speed skating Dec. 31 at Lions Park, starting at 11 a.m.

Red Cross Recording Greetings to GIs

Local representatives report that the Red Cross is currently making and sending recordings of Christmas greetings from their families to servicemen and women overseas. There is no charge for this service.

Bernard Seltzer, Arlington Heights' representative to the North Cook County Regional Committee of the American Red Cross, together with Eugene J. Segin, representative from Mount Prospect, and Robert A. Kuchar from Prospect Heights, remind area residents that home and Christmas seem far away to service personnel stationed in Viet Nam and other outposts. Red Cross "Voices from Home" records can help bridge that distance.

THE SEVEN-MINUTE recordings are being made through Dec. 16. Appointments are available by calling 864-9000, the North Cook County Regional Office at 1700 Central St., Evanston. Recording hours are Monday through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.; Monday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9; and Sunday, Dec. 11, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Red Cross supplies the record, mailing envelope and recording facilities. Families are required to supply only the message, in whatever form they may wish.

Foreign students also are invited to send Christmas greetings to their families back home.

TELEVISION GHOSTS

by ED LANDWEHR

Folks often ask us at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights about ghost images on their TV screen and want to know how to correct it.

Here's what happens . . . Your antenna receives a continuous signal directly from the TV sending station. A nearby high object like a hill or building can reflect this same signal a thousandth of a second later to follow the direct signal into your antenna. The result is two images on your screen. Low cloud formations during bad weather will cause this, too.

In many cases a better antenna with more directivity can solve the problem of nearby reflection. Sometime the lowering or raising of your antenna will correct the problem. Wind will shift antennas out of position over the years, too.

Keep calling that TV number CLearbrook 5-0700 about your TV problems. You'll like our kind of maintenance services.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

A Look At The All-Staters . . .

The supreme compliment that can be paid a high school football player for a season's work is when he is judged All-State.

Four newspapers in Illinois undertake the task each year of picking an All-State football team. It's a challenging task for obvious reasons.

Newspapermen and coaches —the men who have a say about these All-State teams — are so area-conscious in football that they often have little idea on the top performers in other sections of the state.

That's not the case in basketball. Because of the tournaments, basketball buffs develop, even seek, a knowledge of the many outstanding teams and players throughout the state. Sportswriters and coaches see a good cross-section of schoolboy talent over the long season. And it's much easier to evaluate.

The football season, deemed too short in this corner many times, just doesn't afford any opportunity for watching, for example, athletes from East St. Louis, Moline, or Rockford. We don't even have time to see the Chicago Public League entries only a few miles away.

Because of these obvious difficulties, just what does make an All-Stater in football? Some people say it's strictly the boy's ability that counts. Others claim it's nothing more than above-average ability and a good press agent.

Four newspapers select All-State teams in Illinois — the Champaign News-Gazette, Chicago's American, Chicago Daily News, and the Rockford Morning Star and Register Republic.

Only the Chicago Daily News uses a board of coaches. The others rely on their own sports departments, sending out letters, pouring over newspaper clippings and game films, in an attempt to come up with a list of the finest players in the state.

We thought it would be interesting to examine these major differences and to come up with a 1966 Consensus All-State aggregation (see list below). If a boy made at least three of the four recognized teams, he was placed on the Consensus All-State.

Ninety-five high school football players in Illinois can honestly say they made All-State this fall. But only 21 are consensus All-Staters, and only five boys were unanimous, making all four honor teams.

For many years coaches have labeled the Champaign News-Gazette team as the "one to make" above all others.

Until recently the News-Gazette placed heavy emphasis on coverage of high school sports in Illinois and did a decent job in this respect. Their policies concerning prep coverage seem to have changed, but their All-State teams still command respect.

The News-Gazette is centrally located in the state, has coaches and reporters constantly feeding them information on the top high school athletes, and their sports staff does take the time to examine game films of the boys they select on their All-State squads. And they treat the boys to a fine banquet.

However, one good way to judge an All-State team is to compare their choices with the consensus. Under that evaluation the two All-State teams that showed the most merit this fall were selected by the Champaign News-Gazette and Chicago's American.

The Champaign paper selected 33 All-Staters. Nineteen of their selections were on the consensus team. The only boys they missed were tackle Larry Session of Centralia and halfback Thurman Jelks of Decatur Eisenhower.

Chicago's American named 44 All-Staters. They also honored 19 of the 21 consensus picks, failing to cite only halfback Bill Barz of Rich Central and quarterback Bob Burns of Ottawa.

The Chicago Daily News named 44 All-Staters. Sixteen were on the consensus team. The Rockford papers honored 44 boys, and only 14 were named to the consensus squad.

To take this examination even further, we wanted to find out how many boys were picked by only one newspaper.

Looking at the papers that each honored 44 boys, we found that the Chicago Daily News was the "leader" in the single selections. The Daily News honored 16 boys on their All-State team who weren't mentioned on any of the three other outfits. Chicago's American and the Rockford papers each had 13 in this category.

Although the News-Gazette only picked 33 boys, they did show only four selections that failed to make any of the three other teams.

The Chicago Daily News had the dubious distinction of failing to place two boys — quarterback Steve Allen of Arlington

Falcons Battle 'Cats

by KEITH REINHARD

Last year on the Wheeling basketball floor, the pendulum came to a halt and began a slow steady swing in the opposite direction.

When the new cage season commenced earlier this month, it was still in motion, bringing the Wildcats out of the doldrums of an opening year disaster and a mediocre second season.

This weekend, for coach Mike Owens and company, two tests could either bring that pendulum to a stop or give it added thrust as the Wildcats engage in combat with squads they have never beaten before.

The Friday night fracas brings Forest View to Wheeling to raise the lid on the 1966-67 Mid-Suburban League season. Saturday, the Wildcats bus to Deerfield to do battle with the Warriors in a non-conference tilt.

AFTER FOUR successive losses to the Falcons in two years, Wheeling could be just about ready to reverse the momentum. Demonstrating an abundance of speed and the ability to find the basket, Wheeling brings a 2-0 slate into the contest despite their relatively small size.

COACHES
Forest View, Ken Arneson; Wheeling, Mike Owens

They will find Forest View also lacking in height and even hungrier for a win after dropping one-sided exhibition frays to hard-hitting Elgin and Proviso West.

A graph of their previous outings would have to give Wheeling the nod in a tight go. The first year Forest View won 82-54 and 54-32. Last year they gained 66-42 and 51-47 decisions. This shows point spans steadily decreasing from 28 and 22 down to 14 and then a slim 4.

FOREST VIEW, the defending MSL co-champs, hope to get good performances against Wheeling from Bucky Jones and Howie Brasch to pace their attack. Jones hit 13 against both Elgin and Proviso. Brasch, a returning letterman, saw limited action against Elgin and could be ready to hit his stride this Friday.

Coach Ken Arneson should also get good mileage from Ted Lambert, who registered 11 against the Panthers.

Owens views his first opponent of the weekend as a good, quick ball club, just about ripe to rebound from their initial drubbings.

HIS BIGGEST problem could be repairing the hole left in his starting lineup by an injury dealt to 6-3 center Phil Smith.

Smith has a dislocated finger but will probably see limited action. Slack could easily be taken up by Jeff Winterburg, who spelled Smith handily in Wheeling's win at Highland Park.

More aid came in the form of sophomore Jack Bastable, joining brother Tom at the varsity level this past week.

Cardinals to Visit Cougars

Arlington Carries 3-0 Mark Into League Debut

by Bob Frisk

There's agreement among the Mid-Suburban League basketball coaches this season.

The teams to beat in the race for division honors are Arlington and Prospect. Take your pick.

Nothing in the non-conference engagements altered that analysis as Arlington swept to three victories and Prospect took two of three against some formidable opposition.

There were some creditable efforts by other league members in the non-league scuffling, but the Cardinals and Knights still loom as the most serious title contenders until someone proves otherwise.

The league chase begins Friday at three sites. They'll count the final returns on Friday evening, Feb. 24, just before tourney competition gets under way.

WHEN ARLINGTON'S Cardinals made their Mid-Suburban debut in football, they demolished Palatine, 48-6, at the Pirate field and proceeded to march to a share of the league crown.

The Cards make their league debut Friday evening in Hoffman Estates against Conant, another District 211 representative.

And the Cougars are intent on giving Arlington a much stiffer assignment in its hardwood debut than it received in that first Mid-Suburban football outing.

CONANT HEAD man Chic Anderson, who is in his first year at the varsity helm, has seen Arlington play and he respects them. But he isn't dismissing the possibility of a Cougar victory over the favored Cardinals.

"We must hit the boards," Anderson says, "and play defense a lot more if we're to have a good chance. The intangibles can beat you in a game like this, the poise and experience of the teams involved."

At Conant

	ARLINGTON (3-0)		CONANT (1-0)

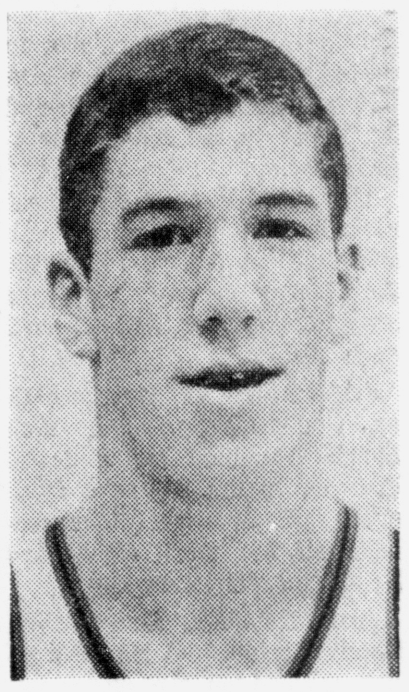
COACHES
Arlington, Ted Wissen; Conant, Chic Anderson

Anderson realizes that his squad has areas where improvement is needed despite that one-sided 83-44 conquest of Addison Trail last Saturday.

"THE BOYS could have had first game jitters," he points out, "but they reacted well to their first varsity game together. They were mature on the court. They didn't look like it was their first varsity year."

Although Anderson started an all-senior alignment Saturday, the boys were lacking in varsity game experience.



STEVE CONLEY
Shows Promise

Ed Johnson, a 5-9 guard who is a good ball-handler and shooter, banged in 26 points against Addison Trail, dialing 12 field goals.

Other probable starters for the Arlington game will be forwards George Schenck (6-2) and Gary Goorsky (5-11), center Brian Bethke (6-4), and guard Larry Robertson (5-10).

Chris Shadwell, a 6-4 junior who can play center or forward, looked good in reserve against Addison Trail with 15 points. He rebounds well and can climb up on the boards and may get a starting assignment Friday.

Jeff Larson, a 6-2 junior forward-guard, also showed to advantage in a relief role, giving Anderson some additional bench strength.

ARLINGTON comes into the league opener with three straight victories, two over highly regarded opponents. They staged second half rallies to conquor both Maine South (58-50) and York (70-64).

The opening trio of games showed tremendous promise for the season ahead.

Especially encouraging was the play of 6-3 senior forward Steve Conley in the win over York.

Although he had shown some rebounding in the first two outings, Conley didn't add much scoring until an 18-point barrage against the Dukes.

CONLEY WILL battle with anybody on the boards and if he can mix in some scoring with capable defensive work he'll be

Rugged Weekend

Knights Launch Loop Play With Warriors

by KEITH REINHARD

A seasoned rivalry and a significant precedent go on the line this weekend as Prospect's varsity cagers take to the road to battle with Maine West and Evanston.

At the Warrior bastion Friday night, Dick Kinneman's highly-touted Foundry Road quintet will revive an eight-year battle that has produced many surprises and inevitably a tight tussle with the ever-competent Maine West unit.

The following evening, the war zone shifts to Evanston, where another perenially tough group will strive to erase Knight supremacy.

The Friday bout, in the Maine East gym, which opens the 66-67 Mid Suburban League campaign for both sides, will feature two clubs with 2-1 exhibition records and high aspirations this winter.

If the past offers any indication of the outcome, it will be tightly contested and contain a bit of insight into the final MSL standings.

PROSPECT, WITH a strong front line dangerous at every post, hopes the trend will stay on their side. Their hosts, like Prospect with just a pair of returning lettermen, are smaller but just as solid and just as mature.

In 15 outings since both schools first opened their doors in 1959, Prospect holds a 9-6 edge. But neither side has ever really been routed by their opponent. Prospect's biggest winning margin was 20 points their first year of play, while Maine West produced a 55-34 triumph during the 64-65 season.

Four of the matches have been decided by one or two points and in better than half of them, the point spread has been less than ten.

MOREOVER, whichever team is declared the winner this Friday will most likely win the rematch as well and be a basic contender for the loop throne. In every year except 62-63, either Prospect or Maine West has swept the annual two-game series and in all but two campaigns, the double winner was also conference champ.

Prospect picked up both wins in 59-60 and 60-61 and went on to a first place finish. The Warriors did the same in 63-64 and 64-65. Last year the Knights captured both games and tied for the circuit championship.

Strangely enough, the one season when these two combatants did split, they were offered a rematch in the regional playoffs

Arlington Second

St. Viator Tankers Dominate 3rd Relays

St. Viator's superior depth, as expected, was the difference Saturday afternoon as the Lions splashed to an impressive team victory in the third edition of the St. Viator Invitational Swimming Meet.

Coach Charles Mondi's outfit so dominated the tank headliner that it registered victories in each of the 10 events and established five new records before a capacity crowd.

St. Viator piled up 120 points for a 46-point bulge over runnerup Arlington (74) in rolling to its third straight Relays championship.

Rounding out the five-team alignment were Forest View (42), Notre Dame (40), and Prospect (34).

ALTHOUGH there were three other teams in the field, the meet actually featured eight 1-2 finishes by St. Viator and Arlington.

Forest View got past Arlington for a second place slot in the 200 yard open relay, and Notre Dame was second behind St. Viator in the 200 yard butterfly relay.

The host Lions set new meet records in the 200 yard frosh relay, 200 yard soph relay, 200 yard open medley, 200 yard breaststroke relay, and 400 yard open relay.

JIM CAMPANA, George Halas, Gene O'Hara, and Rich Lynch combined for a 1:45.9 clocking in the 200 yard frosh event, taking almost four seconds off the mark established by a Lion quartet in 1964.

Alan Kanabay, Don Weber, Randy Bocian, and Marty Wendell worked on the record-setting 200 soph relay, fashioning a 1:44.8 clocking as against the old mark of 1:47.6 set in 1964.

The Lions added their third record in the 200 yard open medley (1:52.1) with a team of Bill Saigh, Rick Kalinowski, Fred Schmidt, and Bill Richardson. The old record of 1:52.7 was set last winter and Kalinowski was also a member of that quartet.

ST. VIATOR took one and eight-tenths of a second off the mark in the 200 yard breaststroke relay as Mike Madden, Kanabay, Ed Martin, and Kalinowski splashed to a 2:13.2. Prospect set the mark in 1965 at 2:15.0.

For their final mark of the afternoon the Lions came through with a 3:48.7 in the 400 yard open relay. Working on that unit were Harry Frossard, Ed Leadley, Schmidt, and Richardson. They topped the old mark of 3:50.5 set last season.

The Lions also showed firsts

Dual Opener

St. Viator will launch its dual meet schedule this Friday evening against powerful Marquette (Wis.) High School. Competition will get under way at 8 p.m. in the St. Viator pool.

in the 200 yard open relay with Frossard, Leadley, Ed Vallely, and Richardson; 200 yard frosh medley with Paul Gorman, Lynch and O'Hara; the 200 yard soph medley with Mark Abate, Ed Martin, Neal Tarpey, and Leadley; 200 yard backstroke relay with John McMahon, Abate, Tom Murray, and Bill Saigh; and 200 yard butterfly relay with Frossard, Tarpey, Wendell, and Schmidt.

ARLINGTON, coached by John Gardner, showed eight seconds, a third, and a fourth in compiling enough points for runnerup honors.

Claiming those second place awards were the following quartets:

200 Yard Frosh Relay — Jim Hilgenfeld, Townsend, Gary Strock, and Eric Lindblad.

200 Yard Soph Relay — Craig Davis, Lighthall, Mark McGowan, Kurth Thompson.

200 Yard Frosh Medley — Hilgenfeld, Lindblad, Randy Logsdon, and Strock.

200 Yard Soph Medley — McGowan, Tom Walsh, Davis, Thompson.

200 Yard Open Medley — Lowell Christy, Jim Erickson, Scott Guilfoil, Dick Witcher.

200 Yard Backstroke Relay — Josie, Lindblad, Sarbaugh, Christy.

200 Yard Breaststroke Relay — Jim Philo, John Schuler, Callahan, Erickson.

500 Yard Open Relay — Witcher, Tony Pretto, Neftzger, Guilfoil.

FOREST VIEW'S lone second came in the 200 yard open relay as Harry Abramson, Mike Bodozian, Mike Dawson, and Brown were clocked in 1:41.5, one and three-tenths seconds behind St. Viator.

Prospect's top spots were thirds in the 200 yard soph medley relay (Herb Betts, Drew Smith, Tom Vikander, Jim Flynn) and 200 yard open medley (Al Johnson, Tom Braakman, Dave Baxter, Mike Dombrow).

200 Yard Frosh Relay—Won by St. Viator (Jim Campana, George Halas, Gene O'Hara, Rich Lynch), meet record 1:45.9 (old record 1:49.7); 2nd, Arlington 1:58.6; 3rd, Forest View 2:00.3; 4th, Prospect 2:01.5; 5th, Notre Dame 2:01.8.

200 Yard Soph Relay—Won by St. Viator (Alan Kanaby, Don Weber, Randy Bocian, Marty Wendell) meet record 1:44.8 (old record 1:47.6); 2nd, Arlington 1:48.6; 3rd, Forest View (disqualified 1:53.6); 4th, Notre Dame 1:59.3; 5th, Prospect 2:09.

200 Yard Open Relay—Won by St. Viator (Harry Frossard, Ed Leadley, Ed Vallely, Bill Richardson) 1:40.2; 2nd, Forest View, 1:41.5; 3rd, Arlington, 1:42.3; 4th, Notre Dame, 1:45.2; 5th, Prospect, 1:47.5.

200 Yard Frosh Medley Relay—Won by St. Viator (Paul Gorman, Jim Campana, Rich Lynch, Gene O'Hara) 2:08.2; 2nd, Arlington, 2:18.4; 3rd, Notre Dame, 2:25.5; 4th, Forest View, 2:27.4; 5th, Prospect, 2:32.7.

200 Yard Soph Medley Relay—Won by St. Viator (Mark Abate, Ed Martin, Neal Tarpey, Ed Leadley) 2:05; 2nd, Arlington, 2:11.7; 3rd, Prospect, 2:13.2. Forest View and Notre Dame disqualified.

200 Yard Open Medley—Won by St. Viator (Bill Saigh, Rick Kalinowski, Fred Schmidt, Bill Richardson) meet record of 1:52.1 (old record 1:52.7); 2nd, Arlington, 1:53.7; 3rd, Prospect, 2:01.7; 4th, Forest View, 2:04.7; 5th, Notre Dame, 2:05.6.

200 Yard Backstroke Relay—Won by St. Viator (John McMahon, Mark Abate, Tom Murray, Bill Saigh) 2:03.2; 2nd, Arlington, 2:04.0; 3rd, Forest View, 2:08.4; Notre Dame, 2:13.6; 5th, Prospect, 2:14.0.

200 Yard Butterfly Relay—Won by St. Viator (Harry Frossard, Bill Tarpey, Marty Wendell, Fred Schmidt) 2:00.9; 2nd, Notre Dame, 2:09.6; 3rd, Forest View, 2:11.4; 4th, Arlington, 2:19.2. Prospect disqualified.

200 Yard Breaststroke Relay—Won by St. Viator (Mike Maden, Alan Kanabay, Ed Martin, Rick Kalinowski) meet record of 2:13.2 (old record 2:15.0); 2nd, Arlington, 2:16.0; 3rd, Notre Dame, 2:23.0; 4th, Prospect, 2:30.2; 5th, Forest View, 2:32.3.

400 Yard Open Relay—Won by St. Viator (Harry Frossard, Ed Leadley, Fred Schmidt, Bill Richardson) meet record of 3:48.7 (old record 3:50.5); 2nd, Arlington, 3:57.0; 3rd, Forest View, 3:58.3; 4th, Prospect, 4:10.1; 5th, Notre Dame, 4:12.8.

Cards At Conant

Steve Allen emerged from his first week of play with a healthy 22.0 per game average, bombing in 30 against York for the second best night of his varsity career. Allen also set up numerous scores with some sharp passes.

Rounding out the probable Card alignment Friday will be 6-1 Dave Lockwood at a forward, 6-6 Jim Donchess at center, and 5-11 Terry Townley at guard.

JIM GRACEN, the 6-7 transfer who turned in some effective work against York in a relief role, remains the back-up center behind the vet Donchess.

Donchess collected 17 in the opening win over Barrington for game honors.

Lockwood, who had 33 points over the three games, showed no signs of the back problems that cut short his junior season. Dave was hitting effectively from outside and grabbing his share of the rebounds.

Townley turned in three steady performances and, as he did last winter, spent a good portion of his time at the free throw line. Terry hit 19 of 23 gift tosses over the opening week.

Also available in the backcourt are Larry Malcolmson (5-9), who saw some action last week, and Chuck Keating (5-10), a promising guard who was held out of non-league play because of a sprained ankle, Keating should be okay Friday.

Falcons, 'Cats

"JACK PLAYED well for his first game. He didn't force his shots and his showing didn't hurt us," Owens said.

Owens seems primarily concerned with the depth he feels the Wildcats need to be a consistent threat over the long gruelling season. "I tried to find out the potential of our bench in the Glenbrook encounter but definitely think we'll need more support than we've had so far."

After Forest View, the Cats will try to interrupt a three-game loss skein to Deerfield when they face off with the Warriors Saturday.

DEERFIELD contributed 48-41 and 79-56 defeats to Wheeling's opening year 1-20 showing and dumped them 72-68 last year.

Again however, the four-point spread in 65-66 shows a marked improvement over the past two years and this could be the year for a reversal of the trend.

The Warriors will go into the weekend with a 1-1 mark after downing Lake Forest 63-58 and losing to West Leyden 88-81. Before going against Wheeling they will open their conference slate at Maine South Friday.

Coached for the first time by Ron O'Conner, Deerfield has good balance but faces a rebuilding job this year to offset the losses of several key regulars by graduation.

Likely to see plenty of action when they face Wheeling will be Phil Becker, Jerry Carper, Rick Kadison, Ned Gardner and Tom Mroz. Mroz and Carper are returning letterm

Kickin' It Around

(Cont. from Preceding Page) and running back Tyrone Walls of Antioch — on their All-Chicago Area team although they were consensus All-State selections.

After we examined these All-State teams and found only five unanimous choices, we began to wonder just what a boy had to do to be a unanimous pick.

John Handy of Lockport Central, a 6-3, 215-pound halfback, was honored by all four newspapers and for good reason. He carried 141 times for 1274 yards, a 9.8 average, and scored 21 touchdowns. He had 276 yards rushing and four touchdowns in one game and also stood out on defense.

Tackle Mike Sikich of LaGrange, a 6-1, 215-pounder, went both ways for the powerful Lions, was quick and agile, and a vicious tackler and blocker. He averaged 46 minutes a game.

Center Kent Liddle (6-1, 207) of unbeaten Deerfield played offensive center and defensive tackle, averaging 13 tackles a game, in improving on his play as a junior when he was an all-conference selection.

Joel Hall of Waukegan (5-11, 201) was honored at guard on three All State teams but placed at fullback by Chicago's American. He did play fullback the last three games for Waukegan. Hall averaged almost 20 tackles per game and was a steady, effective blocker, rarely missing an assignment. He also did the punting and extra point work.

Jim Smith, a swift 6-3, 218-pounder, played for tiny Aledo (460 enrollment) but his all-round performances, particularly as an offensive back, have earned him the tag as one of the most sought-after preps in Illinois.

Approximately 800 high schools have football teams in this state so it's not too much of a surprise that only five boys would be unanimous All-State selections.

But it is interesting to note that 16 other preps — including Arlington's Allen — needed to make only one more team to earn a spot on this coveted consensus aggregation.

Only a few of these 1966 All-Staters will ever realize in college the glory equal to that accomplished in high school.

But this brief visit with fame, this coveted All-State recognition, is something that a boy will never forget in the years ahead.

Sometimes even the special mention lists on these All-State teams raise some interesting questions. Why was Prospect's Tom Lundstedt named at quarterback on the Rockford team when he was an end for three-fourths of the season? And it's even more interesting that Lundstedt, a fine receiver, didn't make all conference but was Special Mention All-State.

Ten Years Ago This Week . . .

York smashed Arlington's varsity Cardinals, 86-71, in a West Suburban Conference opener . . . The Cards did receive two strong performances from points and a standout game under the boards and Tom Jacobsen who tallied 18, eleven in the first period.

Grenadiers Stand 3-1

Palatine, Fenton to Visit Grove for Varsity Contests

Surprising Elk Grove, showing a 3-1 record in basketball action, will test two more varsity adversaries this weekend in a pair of home contests.

Coach Bob Rees' Grenadiers will entertain Palatine Friday evening and Fenton of the Tri-County Conference Saturday.

Both games will be preceded by sophomore preliminaries at 7 p.m.

Palatine comes to town with only one game on its record. The Pirates dropped a 55-40 decision to Dundee last week.

Coach Norm Jones hopes his Palatine crew will "loosen up" this weekend. He saw some potential in his charges during the opener.

"THIS ELK GROVE game is important for us," Jones points out. "The boys have to find out if they can win, and that would be the right time to start."

Jones expects to start a lineup of Mike Lea (6-0) and Dick Smith (6-3) at the forwards, 'Doug Spruance (6-4) at center, and Mike Ferguson (5-9) and Tim Sullivan (5-9) at the guards.

Fenton's Bisons have authored one victory in three outings, an 80-67 conquest of St. Francis of Wheaton last Saturday.

Mike Gorman has been the key man offensively for Fenton with a 20.0 average over three outings. He hit 27 in the win over St. Francis.

Fenton will launch its Tri-County season Friday evening at home against Ridgewood.

ELK GROVE split in two games last weekend in the Mooseheart four-team tournament.

Rees' outfit dropped a 49-42 decision to host Mooseheart and then came back to dump Plainfield 59-51.

A 14-10 third quarter pushed Mooseheart into a lead it didn't relinquish. The Grovers were playing without high-scoring John Knopf for a good part of the season half. Knopf had to depart with a blood blister.

IN ADDITION, Grove lost regular guard Jim Hofmann with fouls in the third quarter.

Hofmann still finished as the Grenadiers' top scorer with 13 points.

Elk Grove gained third place honors with a 59-51 triumph over Plainfield.

Rees' club came from behind with 11 points in the third quarter and padded the advantage in the concluding eight minutes.

Knopf collected 22 points in reaching double figures for the third time this season. Jim Oplt had 13.

Park Loop Play Gets Underway

The first week of play in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportsman's Basketball League saw the Arlington Oilers defeat Team 6, 67-50, Sellergren Sports beat Egyptian Construction, 74-49, and Klehm's Nursery beat Pure Oil, 73-44.

Jim Summers scored 21 points for the Oilers and leads the league scoring race.

Honor Brown

Craig Brown, a Forest View High School graduate and freshman at Oshkosh (Wis.) State University, was named to the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-District cross country team for the 1966 season.

Brown was one of only six boys honored on the District 14 team which included two boys from Oshkosh State, two from Carthage College, and one each from Whitewater State University and Stevens Point State University.

Knights Face Rugged Contests

THUS, IN SEVEN seasons, Prospect has won four series matches, Maine West three. Their have been no draws.

The hosts, coached again this season by Gaston Freeman, go no higher than 6-2 but they have three starters and two more likely to see action at this height.

One is Al Fritz, one of Freeman's returning veterans and probable starting center Friday. Also slated to open is 5-9 guard Dick Manny, the other letter holder back from last year.

OTHER LIKELY starters are guard Phil Murdock (5-10), forward Ken Mack (6-2) and forward Harry Tistle (6-2), while 5-9 Don Bartholomae, 6-2 Bob Banger and 6-2 Bruce Kaechele are first line replacements.

All but Tistle, Banger, Kaechele are seniors.

The Warriors promise to make up in speed and jumping ability what they yield to the visitors in height. Although they were set back once this season, it was a rugged Waukegan crew which Gaston rates among the best he has ever seen on the prep scene.

Maine's triumphs have been over Barrington and Niles West.

PROSPECT'S second game of the week will pit them against a team that has yet to topple them in three outings during the past half-dozen years.

Kinneman's cagers will be hard put to keep this mark unblemished. The Suburban League produces powerhouses annually and although Prospect toppled another from that circuit — New Trier East — last week, they will probably have even a fiercer foe by the tail in the Wildkits.

Under the direction of Jack Burmaster, Evanston leads up to the Prospect fray with pronounced wins over Niles West and Maine East. Strong and well balanced, they boast size in 6-6 junior center Farrell Jones and 6-4 senior forward John Turner, and scoring power in 6-0 senior guard Willy Jenkins to go with depth

KINNEMAN does not see it inconceivable for the Knights to register wins in both arenas. "Mental attitude is awfully important in these tough games and this is probably why there was such a strong contrast in our showings against Maine South and New Trier," the mentor offered.

He continued: "Against the Hawks we just weren't up for the match mentally while the same boys showed themselves 100 per cent better against an equally tough New Trier team. We're coming around well at all positions and if we can maintain the proper attitude, all the necessary talent will be there to give Maine and Evanston tough battles."

Only question mark among Kinneman's starters is Mike Mueller, who suffered an ankle sprain in the first half of the New Trier encounter but later returned to the game.

During the past week, it's bothered him somewhat, but he should be mended by Friday and is expected to star

Seek Second Win

Lions Home Saturday Against Pirate Five

by BOB FRISK

There's always room for the good, little player, but basketball is still a sport for the big man.

Small teams can and do win, but they must make up for their lack of size with some exceptional work in all phases of the game.

They must work for those good shots, percentage shots, and hustle from the opening tip-off until the final buzzer.

They must give that extra effort.

Nobody knows that any better than Larry Nomellini, head coach at St. Viator High School.

AS NOMELLINI prepares his varsity Lions for their third game of the season Saturday evening, he's well aware that the challenge ahead is formidable.

The Lions are small, the smallest team in school history. They're going to run into some rangy clubs over the next three months.

The challenge is demanding, but Nomellini does see some promise in the club that split in two outings last week.

"WE'RE SMALL but it's a question of learning," the head coach told Paddock Publications this week. "I thought we would be ready for those first games, but there's still a lot of work to be done."

The Lions will entertain neighboring Palatine this Saturday evening in their final non-conference tuneup before moving into Chicagoland Prep League play.

St. Viator catches always-powerful St. Patrick the following Friday in the division lidlifter.

There were some bright spots in the split last week, particularly the all-round play of senior forward Dan Collins.

COLLINS, A 6-1 returning letterman, collected 36 points in the two contests, hit 15 of 22 from the field, and pulled down 15 rebounds against Grant. Dan fools you. He's not flashy but very steady, always giving 100 per cent.

Guard Frank Hogan, as expected, was the scoring leader for the Lions with 39 points, 28 coming in the overtime win over Grant. But Frank only hit 16 of 45 shots from the field and is a much better shooter than that.

The veteran backcourt performer still exhibited his amazing driving talents, and he'll warm up from the field so there's no worry there.

NOMELLINI plans to go with Tom Epperly at the guard slot opposite Hogan. Epperly didn't score in the opener but had nine against Mundelein and 26 in a javyee outing last Saturday morning.

DAN COLLINS
Fast Start

"He wants to play," Nomellini praised of the senior who missed last season because of a leg injury. "He's aggressive, and he showed me something Saturday in that jayvee game with Prospect. He ran the club."

Bill Yaeger, a 6-2 junior who drove home the winning basket against Grant, is settled at center, and it's hoped he'll pick up in the scoring and rebounding department. He had 12 points against Grant but only collected a basket the following night.

Greg Polich, a 6-2 senior who showed 15 points in his first two games, should open at the forward opposite Collins although junior Mike Halsted loomed in more serious contention early in the week.

PALATINE'S Pirates, a Mid-Suburban League member, will have a Friday evening bout with Elk Grove before journeying to St. Viator.

Coach Norm Jones' outfit dropped its season opener last week to Dundee, 55-40.

Palatine fell behind early, went down by 11 early in the third period, then went into the press. They cut the margin to one point but lost the momentum and could never recover.

"I wasn't too displeased or discouraged with the opener," Jones said Monday. "I know we don't shoot that poorly, and we did show we could come back. I was real pleased with the press. It brought us from 11 points back, but you can only press so long."

THE PIRATES' lineup for the St. Viator game will be dictated on what happens against Elk Grove Friday, but the probable starters will be Mike Lea (6-0) and Dick Smith (6-3) at the forwards, Doug Spruance (6-4) at center, and Mike Ferguson (5-9) and Tim Sullivan (5-9) at guards.

Spruance and Ferguson are the returning monogram winners. Doug led a low-scoring effort against Dundee with nine points.

Other possibilities are Fred Bahn (6-0), Brian McCartney (6-3), and Johnny Ekeberg (5-9).

The Pirates had shooting problems in the opener, hitting only 18 of 53 from the floor and four of 12 at the line.

For Lion Five

Third Quarter Is Disastrous

by JIM FRUEHLING

What a difference a day makes. St. Viator's Lions suffered a convincing 73-54 loss at the hands of Mundelein in the second round of the Chicagoland Prep League Invitational Tournament.

This loss was in direct contrast to the Lions' exciting 65-63 win over Grant the night before.

Coach Larry Nomellini's crew began the contest as though they were determined to repeat their performance of Tuesday night.

The Lions' backcourt man Frank Hogan got the action under way by popping in a seven foot jumper from the base line. Hogan's running mate, Tom Epperly, added a basket and the Lions were off to a 4-2 lead.

A PAIR OF long jumpers by Dan Collins and a drive by Greg Polich gave the Lions an early 10-3 bulge, their largest lead of the night. Then, Mustang pivotman Bob Poglitz flipped in three quick buckets to stimulate a mild Mundelein rally as the quarter ended with St. Viator on top 17-13.

During the second quarter both squads suffered early season mistakes with the Lions experiencing the greater cold spell.

The Lions were only able to bring home four baskets and a pair of free throws during the second eight minutes of play. However, St. Viator retained the lead up until the buzzer ending the half.

Just before the buzzer sounded, Mustang guard Steve Harris lofted a thirty foot push shot that wound up slicing the nets as the horn went off.

THE THIRD QUARTER was the critical period of the contest. The Lions were unable to get their offense rolling due to their inability to function as a unit.

The inability to co-ordinate their efforts is readily apparent in the fact that the Lions were only able to corner eight points during the entire third quarter.

While the Lion offense was sputtering, Mundelein's Poglitz and Harris combined some tough rebounding with some hot shooting to break open a 15 point spread which the Mustangs held in the shape of a 50-35 lead at the end of three quarters of play.

During the final period, the Lions were unable to do much of anything about cutting into the Mustang lead due to foul trouble.

Coach Nomellini's charges not only experienced constant frustration at the charity stripe, but they lost both Hogan and Epperly on fouls. As a result, the Mustangs coasted home to a 73-54 win.

Potential

The word for the Forest View gymnastics team this year is good potential.

Coach Gay Hughes is optimistic about the outlook for the year but in a guarded manner. He knows he has good material if only some of his charges will develop their natural abilities.

As things stand right now ,as the Falcons work for their debut this Saurday with an always strong Willowbrook team, the Forest View squad has one outstanding and proven competitor.

That one individual is senior Mike Damore whose specialty is the side horse. Hughes feels that Damore is easily one of the best three side horse men in the state and is hoping for big things from this boy.

THE NUMBER ONE man on the trampoline for the Falcons is senior Bill Glab. Glab is one of those performers who is working hard and has possibilities. There is a good future for him if he reaches his potential.

Ed Wilhusen and Jim Olmon are the two best tumblers that Hughes has right now and Wilhusen is learning and could develop into a good one. Olmon, besides tumbling, is also a strong performer on the high bar and the parallel bars and is the Falcons strongest bet for the all-around at present.

Joining Olmon in high bar competition is junior Roger Kratowicz. Both boys show good potential and should prove to be capable competitors.

In still rings competition coach Hughes will have junior Rich Kees and senior Dave Cohen. Once again the word is potential with possibilities depending on how much the individual boy wants to succeed.

ON THE PARALLEL bars the top three boys to date are Olmon, Len Pergander and Mike Stargart. All three could prove to be able competitors and be valuable assets to the Falcons chances for the season.

As a whole, the Falcons can't at this time claim to have any great team strength but they do have some boys who should be outstanding.

In this sport that demands strength, grace, and coordination a great deal of an individual's success depends on attitude and hard work.

Hughes knows that this is a team that has potential. The problem is to realize that potential.

It is too early to tell how well some of these boys will develop, but there is hope for a solid team that should be a proud Forest View representative in any competition.

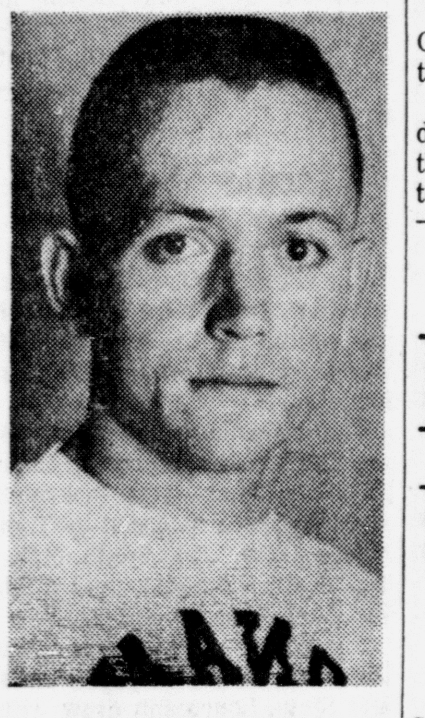
Conant Gym: Wait To See

by KEN KNOX

Scarcity amid plenty may be the story in Conant gymnastics this season.

Bob Ferguson, embarking on his third year of molding the school's gymnasts, has the quandary of the coach who isn't sure whether to smile or weep.

Preparing his performers for their first challenge of the new season—this Saturday afternoon at home against Rockford East Ferguson has the intriging problem of too many performers in some events, not enough in others. Having too many is easy to accept, but in gymnastics—where depth is so much the key — not having enough can be troublesome at least.



BOB FERGUSON
At Cougar Helm

Yet it's doubtful if Ferguson will have to do much weeping, because what he does have could carry the Cougars to another profitable campaign. Mostly, it'll be a case of waiting to see how far the carry will be.

A season ago, in the second year of the Conant gymnastics history, the Cougars won eight of 14 duals and finished third in the Mid-Suburban League. From that team, there are a half-dozen lettermen back, and one of them alone will be a plus whenever the Cougars compete.

HE'S SENIOR Gary Funke, the MSL's defending all-around champion, and sixth place finisher in the district meet. He had the team's highest average routine scores for the four events in all-around, the rings, high and parallel bars, and the side horse, including an impressive 71 average on the rings.

While Funke will be the dominant individual, Ferguson expects the team's greatest strength on the high bar and the rings.

On the high bar, there is Funke, reported much improved from last year when he averaged 62 per judge in the routine. But here is also senior letterman Butch Lochinger like Funke an all-around performer; Tim Cummings, a senior transfer from Rich Central; Denny Re, a junior who won a varsity letter; and Greg Nelsen, leading high bar man for the sophomores last year. With a limit of three competitors per event in a meet, that means abundance.

ON THE RINGS, which is Funke's strongest event, there is also Jack Meyer, a junior with varsity experience; Pete Kollias, a senior letterman; and Craig Miller, a senior of some varsity experience.

On the parallel bars, Funke has been hampered in his workouts by an injured wrist, but is still the leading returnee. Returning too, after recovery from a football injury, is junior John Armfield, who won a varsity letter last year. And there are Lochinger, Nelsen and Re, who may have to carry the event until Funke and Armfield are fully mended for competition.

Ferguson received a blow in planning for the side horse competition when two lettermen failed to come out, but the transfer Cummings may help take up the slack. The side horse is Funke's weakest event, but he's reported improved there too, and Lochinger and junior Bill Peters are also available.

THINGS ARE even thinner on the trampoline, where all the team's leading performers graduated. Ferguson does have Lloyd Powell, leading tramp man with the sophomores last year, and John Bianco, a transfer from East Leyden. But he has still to fill the third spot.

Tumbling may be stronger for Conant than it has been before, though three juniors are expected to carry the burden. One is Karl Icenogle, who had some varsity experience. Another is Dennis Biedrzycki, outstanding as a freshman but out all last season with a broken ankle. And the third, up from the sophs, is Tom Toronyi.

Ferguson, being assisted again this season by Bill Spaletto, is optimistic about the campaign ahead, though the competition in the MSL alone will be rigorous. He lists five meets as key to how well the Cougars do, because all involve imposing opponents. Two are Barrington and Niles West, and the other three—Arlington, Prospect and Wheeling—are ahead in the MSL.

For Card Gymnasts

Question-Mark Year

by BOB FRISK

Youth will be served on Arlington High School's varsity gymnastics team this winter—and the youth must produce for a successful season.

Stripped of several outstanding performers through graduation, the perennially powerful Cardinals await a question-mark campaign with the accent on the underclassmen and many new faces.

"We hope to improve as the season goes along," says head man Tom Walthouse who will send his varisty outfit into action for the first time Friday evening (7:30) at home against Maine South.

"BASICALLY, IT'S a rebuilding year. We've got some juniors coming up who have to be taught more advanced tricks, and there's only a small nucleus of experience."

Replacing boys like Jim Johannesen, Bert Schmitt, Roy Rettberg, Tom Riesing, and Doug Dattilo among others poses a formidable assignment for Walthouse who is assisted this year by Ken Riggs.

The Cards swept to league and district honors last winter and finished third in the state behind Proviso East and Willowbrook. But the personnel losses by graduation may be too severe to overcome this time.

THE OUTLOOK would be much brighter if a young man named Tommy Dunn was still around. Dunn would have been the team pace-setter this year, the all-around man, but Tom was lost to Indiana last season, and Walthouse can only conjecture now on "what might have been..."

Although the Cards were hit hard by graduation, there is some promising talent at the school which has always produced formidable gymnastics outfits.

Heading the returnees are co-captains Art Weidner, a rings specialist also slated for all-around duties, and Hank Taylor, a side horse veteran.

WEIDNER DIDN'T place among the top ten in district action, but he had some stiff opposition from teammates Dattilo, the district champ, and Rettberg, third in the state.

"I wish I had more boys like Art," praised head man Walthouse. "He works hard and has a tremendous attitude."

Taylor, working on more advanced routines, is no stranger to the pressure-packed side horse competition. He was fifth in district competition as a junior with a crisp 149 routine.

By events, here's the way the Cards stack up on the eve of their season opener:

SOPH TERRY HAINES is a definite varsity performer on the trampoline with senior letterman Rick Atwater also hoping for a big season. Junior Bob Ekstrand is another possibility.

Walthouse has five boys in his side horse plans with Taylor, who's looked good in the workouts, the number one boy. Others with possibilities are juniors Doug Atkins and Wayne Crockett (an all-around boy), and seniors Kirt Haines and Weidner.

"We're still trying to put something together on the high bar," says Walthouse. "We've got so much to learn there."

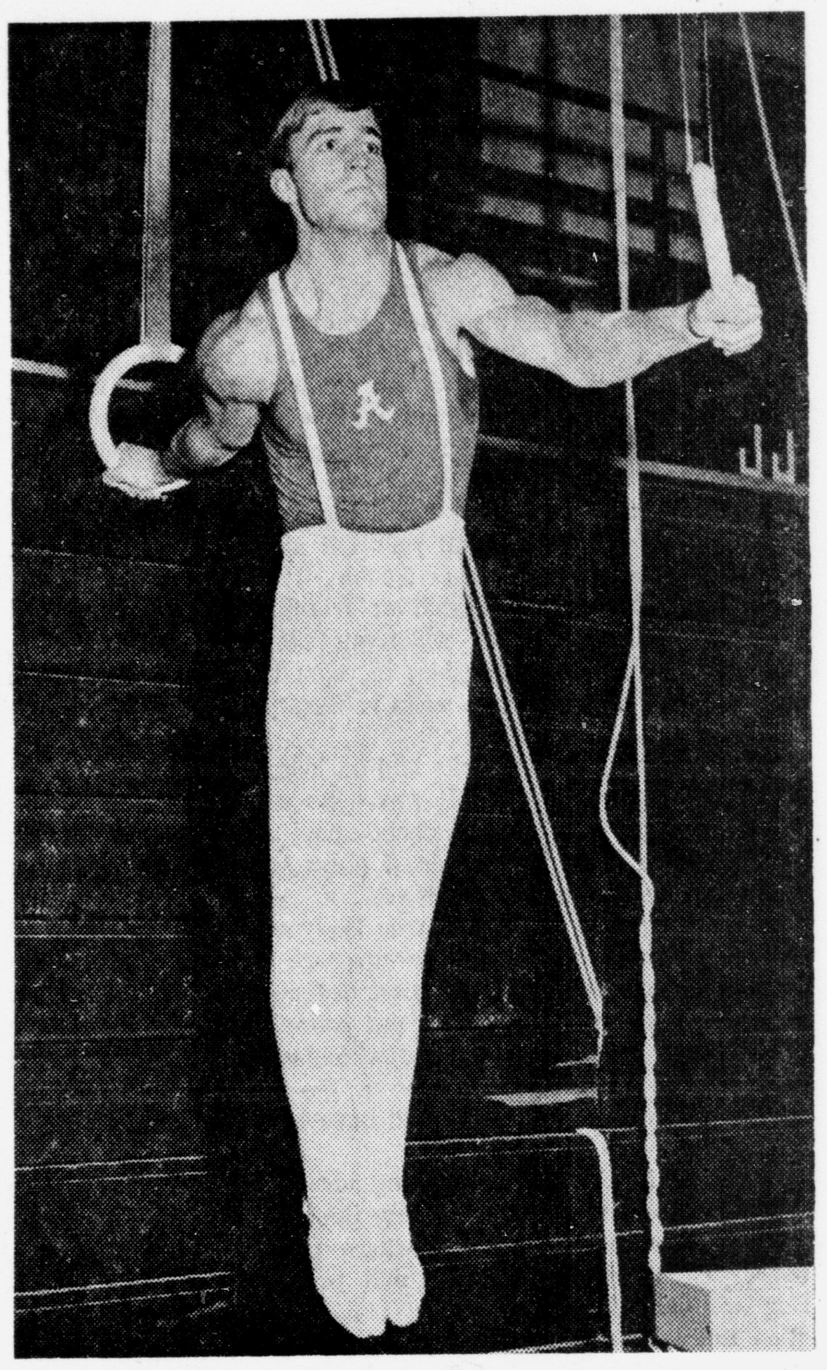
FOR THE OPENER with Maine South the Cardinal coach will choose from junior Lee Brown, Crockett, Weidner, soph Jim Brousseau, and junior Gary Withey.

Senior letterman Don Von Ebers is the parallel bars leader with juniors Jack Finch, Brown and Neal Suzuki and soph Brousseau also in contention.

Weidner, Crockett, and junior Rich Carlson are the top rings specialists with Atwater, slowed down with an injury, Ekstrand, and possibly Brown or Von Ebers in tumbling.

Although the outlook is definitely a question-mark right now, rival coaches never count out Arlington High School over the long season.

There's tradition to uphold at the oldest District 214 school.



ART WEIDNER, a rings specialist who is also training for the all-around, serves as co-captain of the Arlington High School gymnastics team. The Cardinals launch their season Friday evening against Maine South.

Selvig Guides 'Cats

Wheeling Opens Gym Season Friday Night

by KEITH REINHARD

Moving up the standings ladder is much like climbing up an Alpine peak: The closer you get to the top, the steeper the ascent.

Wheeling's gymnastics squad, under the direction of Wayne Selvig, hopes to experience this precipitous march, however, as they commence an all-out assault on the Mid-Suburban League summit this winter.

They will prep for the rugged conference road ahead by journeying to Glenbrook North this Friday evening for a non-loop lidlifter.

Selvig's band left the foothills quite awhile ago in quest of the top spot. His first year at the Wildcat helm, and the first year Wheeling fielded a varsity gymnastics team, Selvig and company finished with an impressive 7-7-1 mark in dual affairs.

LAST YEAR, THE Wildcats were runners up in both the dual circuit standings and the conference meet.

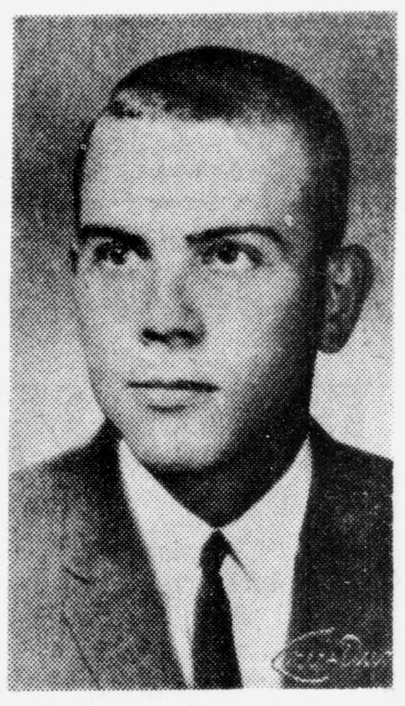
This winter, with eight lettermen returning and a gang of promising juniors waiting in the wing, the Wildcats pose a definite threat for the league crown.

Two of the Wildcat veterans are in excellent positions to gain individual titles in 66-67. Seniors Greg Shornden on the parallel bar and Mickey Dyson in tumbling were conference champs last winter and could easily repeat. Dyson is also a trampoline standout.

OTHER LETTERMEN back from last year are seniors Mike Bangs on the parallel bar, Craig Ovesky on rings, Lonny Davis on rings, Bob Johnson on the horizontal bar, Fritz Hundson on the horizontal bar and junior Mike Allen on the side horse.

Juniors Selvig is grooming for starting assignments include Dick Rainer, a sophomore standout who broke his wrist just before last season's conference meet. The mentor sees Rainer as a definite all around threat this season.

Other juniors expected to fare well are Steve Geiger and Kim Butler on the side horse, Rick Orna on rings, John Whittington on the high bar, John Grund on the trampoline and Jack Koffler in tumbling.



WAYNE SELVIG
'Cat Leader

Selvig has also been impressed by the ring work of senior Jim Sobczak, out for gymnastics the first time this winter.

In his third year at the Wheeling varisty helm after coaching frosh gymnastics at Arlington, Selvig expects the Cardinals and Prospect to maintain their traditional prowess and provide Wheeling with its biggest tests for conference honors.

Under Woodward

Palatine Gym Unit Building

by KEN KNOX

It's not an easy thing to build up a gymnastics team, so it's no easy construction job facing Jim Woodward.

Elevated this year to the man in charge of gymnastics at Palatine High School, Woodward does indeed have a building job, and he's already plunged into it.

His problem stems from a source familiar at Palatine: the school divisions that produced Conant and Fremd in the past three years, taking some good and some outstanding gymnasts away from Palatine.

It has left Woodward with a nucleus this year of five seniors and five juniors to build his varsity, and that's a besetting situation for a gymnastics coach.

"It takes depth to win dual meets in gymnastics," he pointed out, "and we don't have depth."

WITH THREE places given each team in each of six events in a gymnastics meet, the mathematics of the Palatine situation are obvious. So is the solution: make the best of this season, and work toward those that follow.

To that end, Woodward has been encouraged by the turnout of several sophomores who hadn't been out as freshmen, and of some 20 freshmen also interested in competing. They will, the coach indicated, be brought along to compete at their own level, though some of the sophomores may be elevated for non-conference duals.

Otherwise, the varsity will be on its own in a campaign that begins this weekend with a home dual with Niles North on Friday and another with West Leyden on Saturday. It's the beginning of a 13-dual slate that'll carry into late winter, featuring some of the area's toughest competition.

WOODWARD does have back five boys who lettered on last year's varsity, which ended 2-9-1 in duals.

One of those is side horse specialist Dave Chidley, considered by Woodward to be potentially the best gymnast on the team. He was seventh in the Mid-Suburban league last year and 13th in the district, and will be backed by junior Craig Winter and junior Noel Eggebraaten to give what should be one of Palatine's strongest events.

Bruce Burrow will return as

Falcons Drop Jayvee Battle

Proviso West's junior-varsity basketball team routed Forest View last week, 50-22, in the season opener for both clubs.

The Panthers built up an early lead and held on for the one-sided triumph.

Proviso held a 15-3 lead with 2:49 remaining in the opening period.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Walking—

It may be rather chilly these days, but if you don't live in the wide open spaces or have a kennel, walking your dog can pep things up for both you and the dog. Keep in mind, however, that city dogs don't need miles of walking every day. In their normal day around the house or yard, they get quite a workout —if you want to go for a walk, he will, but he will also be happy to stay inside and lie down beside you or take off for his favorite resting spot.

When you do take your pup for a walk, there are some simple rules to follow, which will quickly become good habits. In the city, the first thing to remember is to curb your dog. It is an easy matter to draw your dog to the curb when he is about to relieve himself. This habit should be taught early, and it also makes for better neighbor relations.

Another basic rule is to teach him some obedience, above all to walk quietly at heel on your left side with a loose leash. This will eliminate all sorts of trouble. It means that your dog won't jump on people, scratch or frighten them or lunge at other dogs. Just remember, when you take your dog for a walk, use a leash and don't allow him to roam at will. Train him to walk with you and curb him when necessary.

TV Show—

One of the major networks had an hour-long program on the subject of dogs on Friday. It was quite a production, however, it left your editor a little in doubt about a few things. If you want to teach your dog to talk, I guess it's your business, but such things leave much to be desired.

The program was done in true Hollywood style and touched on the many uses for dogs. The coverage of some of these was done well, however, as far as most dog men who saw the show were concerned, they informed your editor that a little less time in the doggy beauty parlors and watching people trying to get their dogs to talk and more time on the things that were more or less skipped over lightly would have been appreciated.

Winter Pups—

If your family dog is waiting out the fall months as an expectant mother, there are a few things you might do now to safeguard the health of the newborn puppies on their arrival. Winter calls for special care and preparation, states Gaines Dog Research Center.

Keep the pregnant dog well fed and exercised and keep her dry and clean. And if she is living outdoors, she will require closer supervision than in summer. As she gets heavier she will spend more time just sitting, thus there is a risk of her contracting a chill, which can be especially dangerous at this time.

Throughout pregnancy, and especially after the pups are born, the mother dog will require more nutrients than usual. Both the dam and her puppies will benefit from her "complete" diet on the soft-moist foods which provide all of the nutrients known to be needed by dogs throughout life.

Also, prepare an area for the new puppies. It must be warm, dry and draft-proof and the temperature should never be below 70-75 degrees. This means that an outdoor kennel or dog house will need some form of artificial heat, as cold is the greatest killer of newborn puppies in the winter months.

For the first few weeks of its life, a puppy is dependent for its chances of survival on the warmth of its surroundings.

Barks & Bays—

Just in case you have wondered why—the Kennel Club of England passed a rule in 1895 that no dog with cropped ears could win a prize at any show held under the club's sanction.

In Gym Meet

Knights Open With Victory

A 1-2-4 showing in the tumbling competition by visiting Prospect broke open a tight gymnastics battle with New Trier East and lifted the Knights into a 71-61 triumph in their inaugural clash.

With Rick Burger pacing the event, the Knights posted a 15-7 win in tumbling to pad a tight 56-54 advantage after the fifth round of action.

Supporting Burger were Steve Bang in second and Bruce Benard in fourth.

Coach Rick Farris' squad also fared well on the trampoline, gaining a 15-7 edge, and knotted up the side horse competition, 11-11.

THE HOSTS recorded 12-10 wins in succession on the high bar, parallel bar and rings.

Individually, Bill Wendling picked up a blue ribbon on the trampoline for Prospect with mates Jim Sesterhenn and Jon Hall finishing second and fourth. On the side horse, Knight representatives were second (Bruce Boult), third (Jim Anderson) and fifth (Bruce Boult).

Knight entrants on the horizontal bar came in second (Boult), third (John Hardt) and sixth (Roy Hardin). On the parallel bars they were second (Jeff Long), third (Boult) and sixth (Neal Wells), and on the rings the visitors came home first (Vince Franzone), fifth (Bill Van Sky) and sixth (Bob DeStephanis).

PROSPECT'S sophomores were not as successful in the Indian gym, dropping a 73-59 decision. The Knights went ahead early in the meet when Bill Tindall, Jay Bensen and Bob Todd finished 2-3-4 on the tramp and Dave Mattson captured the side horse battle.

New Trier countered, however, with strong wins on the bars and rings before Bob Todd's first helped Prospect to a 13-9 showing in tumbling.

Farris takes his squad into their next meet this Friday when the Knights entertain Glenbrook South. Although the mentor insists that his primary objective at this time is to build Prospect into a conference contender, Paddock Publication sports records provide a more telling picture.

Since 1962 Arlington and Prospect have maintained a monopoly over the district title, altenrately succeeding one another. If this pace continues, 1966-67 is Prospect's year to saunter off with the crown.

Pirate Gymnasts

a tumbler, having won a letter last year while finishing seventh in the MSL and 15th in the district. Junior Curt Morrow will back him up there.

Burrow will also try to pick up the slack on the trampoline, where the team's best boy—Dave Evans—moved away. Sophomore Ken Swoboda may be moved up to give a little depth there.

THERE MAY be some depth on the rings, where junior Gary Cook, a varsity letter-winner in 1965-66, will be supported by senior Al Lorvig and junior Bob Skolnick.

Letter-winners will also return for competition on the high bar and the parallel bars, though there's little depth in either event. Both returnees are seniors, Phil Samuels on the high bar and Jim Boughner on the parallel bars.

One of the boys most to be missed will be Randy Keller, Palatine's standout of last season, and second place finisher in the MSL's all-around competition. There is no one to replace him this year, though Woodward has an eye to the future there too.

He's planning on working two sophomores—Bob Seitz and Rich Howe—and five freshmen on the all-around blend of high and parallel bars, rings and side horse. That's part of the building for the future, the kind of training that should begin paying dividends one, two and three years from now.

Maine South	49

Highlights — Dan Willis and Bruce Timko each made good on five field goals to pace the Knight win with 13 and 12 respectively.

Arlington	11	16	11	12—50
Barrington	15	3	11	13—42

Highlights—Coach Fran Somers' Cards opened the season with an impressive win, building up a big first half lead and then holding on. Barrington closed to within five in the second half, but a steal by Dean Schmelzer sent the Cards off and running again. Schmelzer was high with 12 points. Walker and Dave Somers had eight each.

Arlington	13	9	9	12—43
Maine South	17	13	16	22—68

Highlights—A rangy Maine South team got out in front early and coasted in with the victory. The Cards came within six early in the third quarter but couldn't close the gap. Dave Somers was high for the Arlington outfit with five baskets and four free throws for 14 points. Dean Schmelzer had seven markers.

Arlington	12	10	13	4—39
York	10	14	11	19—54

Highlights—A rangy York team, sparked by the out-shooting of Jeff Dawson, brother of the University of Illinois basketball captain, needed some fourth period fireworks to get by the aroused Cardinals. Arlington held a 35-31 lead at one time but lost it in that final stanza. Dave Somers was high for the Cards with 12 points. Jim Baumgartner contributed 11.

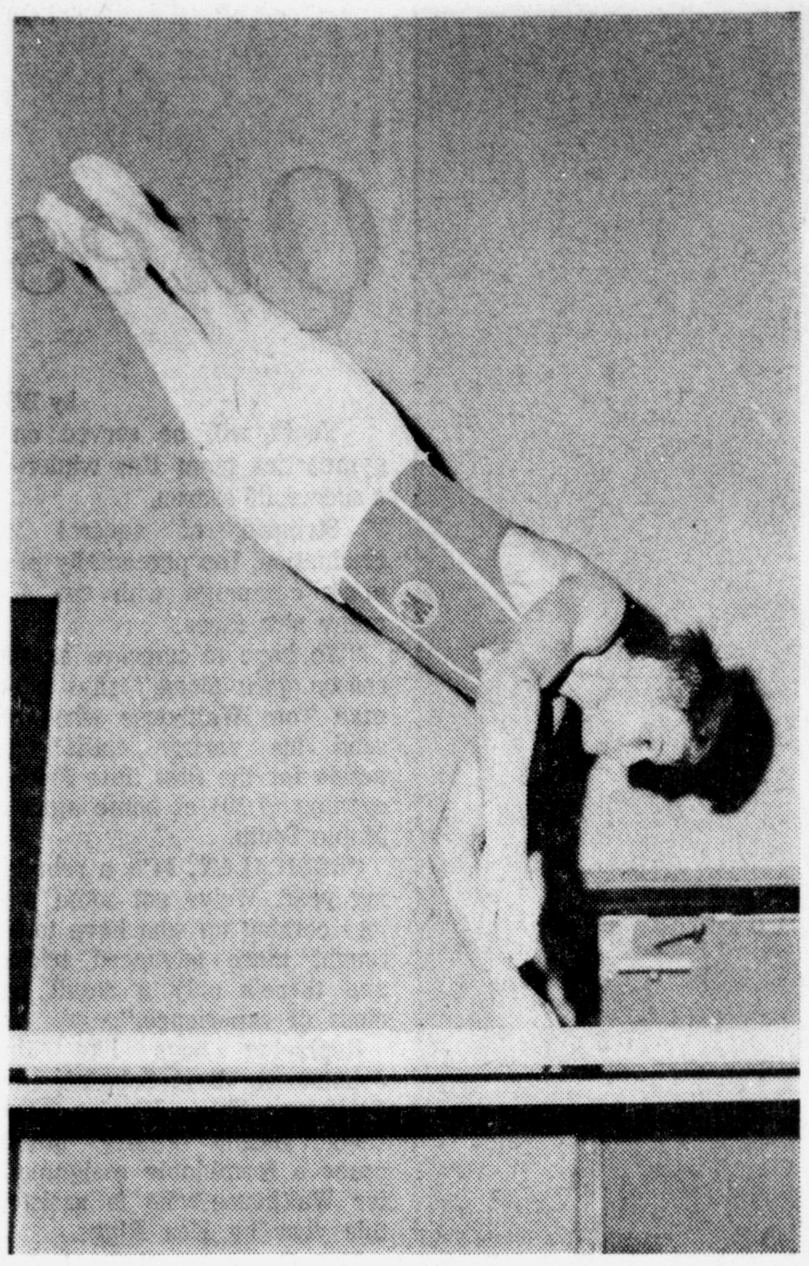
Knight JV Five Wins

With scoring attacks on both sides coming in bursts in the final quarter, visiting Prospect managed to maintain the upper hand and coast to a 48-34 junior-varsity triumph over Maine South last week.

John Green spearheaded a balanced Knight scoring attack with ten points, hitting on four of seven from the floor and two of three at the free throw mark.

Most dazzling performance of the game, however, was turned in by John Musial just before the halftime buzzer. With the crowd counting down the seconds Musial cocked and unleashed a set shot from mid court that swished as time ran out.

Leading 33-24 at the three-quarter mark, the visitors saw the lead sliced to 33-30, then bounced back into a 44-30 advantage.



GREG SHORNDEN of Wheeling High School topped the Mid-Suburban League on the parallel bars as a junior and returns this year as one of the leaders on a potentially-rugged Wildcat varsity. Shornden had a 154 routine with two 77 ratings in topping the league meet last winter.

Falcons Fall To Deerfield

The Forest View wrestling Falcons opened their 1966-67 campaign on a sour note this past week as they dropped a 25-14 decision to powerful Deerfield.

The Warriors captured the first six weights before Falcon Bob Best was able to come up with a 1-0 decision in the 138 pound class. From there the Falcons dominated the next four classes but lost the heavyweight decision.

There was only one pin recorded in the evening of varsity wrestling and that was against Clay Hadick of the Falcons as he was taken by Jay Brown at 4:30 of the 133 pound match.

IN THE 95 pound class Forest View's Don Cappelen was handled by the Warriors' Dan Sherman and lost a 14-1 decision. The 103 pound match went to Rich Slavin of Deerfield as he defeated Falcon John Martin by a 4-2 score. Senior Tom Bohac lost a 112 to Warrior Scott Jacobs 2-0 with the only points coming on a reversal in the second period.

Bob Urban was routed by Deerfield's Jeff Gable in the 120 pound battle 12-2 and Steve DeHaven lost to Steve Shoffner 3-0 in the 127 pound tilt. In the next bout Hadick lost by a pin to Brown and at that point the Warriors held a 20-0 lead in the match.

It still wasn't too late for the Falcons to come back and come back they did. Best gained his 1-0 decision at 138 and Ray Vitha decisioned Al Gilbert 3-2 in the 145 pound match. Stan Rohner and Deerfield's George Surgent worked to a 2-2 tie in the 154 pound squabble by virtue of Rohner's takedown and Sugent's escape.

AT 165 MARK Frankel wrestled one of the best bouts of the evening as he whipped Warrior Henry Moran 6-0. Frankel recorded a takedown, a predicament and a reversal for his six points. Falcon Phil Reder continued the Forest View scoring by downing his opponent, Gary Balwierz, 9-0 in the 180 pound match. The final varsity bout of the evening went to the host Warriors as heavyweight Bob Savage fell 5-0 to Eric Ghianni.

The Falcon J. V. squad had even less success than the varsity and lost by a 36-10 score. The only Falcon points came by way of a pin recorded by Bill Sundblom over Saul Belloff in the 127 pound match and a forfeit at the heavyweight bout where the Warriors had no entry.

Falcons' Soph Wrestlers Fall

The Forest View sophomore wrestlers lost their first bid of the season to the Warriors of Deerfield 28-25 on the Warrior home mats.

The Falcons won five bouts and tied one in picking up their 25 points. There were four pins and they were recorded by Tom Moore (103), Jim Smith (138), Ted Kubinski (165), and Rich Weigman (heavyweight).

The decision went to Dave Derezotes in the 120 pound class and Steve Lohrmann drew with his opponent in the 180 pound tussle.

'Cats Claim Jayvee Win

Wheeling's junior varsity hoop unit captured their second win in as many outings by coming from behind to nip Glenbrook South 42-38.

Making the best of fourth period gratis tosses, the Wildcats dissolved a 34-33 Titan lead through three periods to gain the upper hand in the closing minutes.

Earlier, both sides saw advantages fade. Glenbrook led 12-9 at the quarter and the Wildcats were on top 24-23 at the half.

Chief contributors to the winning cause were Jim Muelhausen with four field goals and five free throws for 13, and John Weber with five baskets and two free pitches for 12.

Wheeling in Jayvee Win

A balanced four-man scoring attack was the highlight of Wheeling's 42-38 victory over a visiting Glenbrook South quintet in last Friday eve's JV preliminary.

Jim Muelhausen, Jim Weber, John Cammarato and Jay Newman provided all the Wildcats point total, garnering 13, 12, 9 and 8 points respectively.

The game was tight all the way, and only when Muelhausen was successful on two free throws with 18 seconds left in the contest could the Wheeling five consider the victory as theirs.

Everyone Helps Out

Knights Flash Team Effort in Cage Win

by KEITH REINHARD

When the Pilgrims first observed Thanksgiving, Indians from the area were invited to partake in the harvest festivities.

Prospect cagers invited the Indians over a little late—the day after Thanksgiving—but their guests didn't care to stay long enough for any holiday fete.

It mattered little: Thanksgiving weekend was quite a bit more festive in the Knight camp after the visitors had departed, a 67-58 defeat tucked in their war bonnets.

The latter day Indians were the New Trier East variety, the same tribe abruptly ending Prospect's 65-66 season with a 79-63 scalping in sectional play. For this reason, coach Dick Kinneman and crew found the revenge sweeter than cranberry sauce.

NEW TRIER kept the game at an even pace up until the end of the first quarter, but found Prospect marksmanship and board control a little too much to keep up with.

The Knights opened period two with Gary Andrews sinking a 20-foot jump shot, Dave Kingman dropping in a free toss and Tom Lundstedt dumping in one from the key for a 16-10 advantage.

By the midway point, Prospect was in command 29-19 and the lead was never in jeopardy after that even though Indian mentor John Schneiter revamped his entire lineup more than once.

DICK KINNEMAN stuck with his starting five throughout most of the contest and had excellent results. Kingman patrolled the boards in such a possessive manner that he cornered the first half market, and accounted for 15 retrieves all told.

Lundstedt kept the defense off guard by hitting inside and out, and had accumulated 23 points by games's end, including five-for-five at the free throw line.

Butch Leonard was outstanding in his first starting role. The husky forward hit with near-perfect accuracy from both the field and charity stripe, also bagged his share of rebounds, and was second only to Lundstedt for game scoring honors with 17 points.

DEFENSIVELY, the local quintet was equally as effective. New Trier's big Tom Beinemann was held to just five field goals and was the only Indian to surpass the 10-point mark.

Four of five Knights hit for double figures, Kingman netting 15 and Mike Mueller 10.

The Prospect win helped ease the pain of a 62-53 loss to Maine South on Thanksgiving eve.

The Knights are now 2-1 in exhibition play with their conference lid-lifter set for this Friday at Maine West.

Wildcats Win Again; Trip Up Titan Five

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

There is an air of optimism in Wheeling High cage circles after the Wildcats emerged last Friday evening with their second win in as many starts, knocking off a visiting Glenbrook South varsity quintet 68-56.

Coach Mike Owens' cagers opened the 1966-67 basketball season with a 61-58 conquest of a much taller Highland Park squad the prior weekend, and this victory over Glenbrook South gave indications that Wheeling is not to be taken lightly by opponents this season.

This is only the third year of varsity cage action at the Wheeling school, and coach Owens' Cat squads have been involved in two dismal seasons.

In its initial season, 1964-65, the Wildcats managed only one win in 20 starts. Last season the record improved to a 5-17 reading, but this year the hungry Cats are off to their best start in history.

IF COACH Owens five is headed for a winning year, the contributions of Tom Bastable will undoubtedly play a big role. Bastable, a move-in from Michigan, gave solid indications of having shaken off most of his football muscles, as he played a fine all-around game to lead the Wildcats to this home court triumph.

The six-foot senior guard pumped in ten field goals and one free throw to account for 21 points and also chipped in with a creditable rebounding and floor game.

Both teams had a starter sitting on the sidelines watching their mates in action. Glenbrook South had to get along without its stellar (5-9) guard Jay Gregg, and Wheeling had its regular center Phil Smith (6-3) out of the lineup.

THE CONTEST was close during the first quarter, as the lead see-sawed back and forth, but early in the second period the Wildcats enjoyed a streak against the Titan zone defense that gave them a 29-16 margin.

However, Dan Sonnenberg's Glenbrook South quintet came charging back with a rally of its own that netted nine straight points and cut the margin to 29-25 at the end of the first half.

With Bastable swishing the nets for ten points, Wheeling moved again out to a seemingly comfortable lead midway thru the third quarter 43-33. However, once again the Titans came fighting back and scored the last eight points of the period to close the gap to 43-41.

At that point Scott Bischoff and Jeff Winterburg took charge for the Wildcats and broke thru the Titan defense for key tallies that gave the locals a 59-50 lead with just over three minutes remaining in the game.

The Owens men took advantage of the Titans catch-up tactics at this stage of the contest and slowly added to the margin until the final buzzer sounded a 68-56 Wheeling win.

Yaeger's Basket at Buzzer Of Overtime Decides Issue

by BOB FRISK

Bill Yaeger will never forget his first varsity basketball game for St. Viator High School.

The 6-2 junior was in the right place at the right time in the final seconds of an overtime period last week (Tuesday), and he scored from underneath at the buzzer to give the Lions a thrilling 65-63 victory over Grant.

Yaeger's heroics sent coach Larry Nomellini's outfit into the championship game of the four-team St. Viator bracket, one of four divisions in the Chicagoland Prep League Thanksgiving Holiday tournament.

THE LIONS had control for the final two minutes of the overtime period, calling two time outs to set up strategy.

They took their first time out with 1:10 left and 53 seconds later, after nine passes, they called another.

Guard Frank Hogan whipped the basketball to Dan Collins and Collins spotted Tom Epperly. Epperly shot a pass back to Hogan as the Lions continued to operate near mid-court, waiting for an opening.

That's when Hogan made his move. The flashy guard, a brilliant performer all evening, drove for the basket and put up a shot that rolled off.

Following a mad scramble under the basket, with the seconds ticking off, Yaeger came up with the basketball. He put it back up and through at the buzzer.

THE LIONS moved off to a fast start in the opener and held the advantage for the first nine minutes before 6-3 junior Lee Oler, a standout all night, connected on a six-footer to give Grant an 18-17 lead early in the second period.

It was tight throughout the remainder of the first half until Grant rushed into a five-point, 34-29 lead at the intermission.

After falling behind by seven points in the third quarter, St. Viator started to come back with Hogan engineering the assault. Frank drove, hit from outside, and personally threw in 13 third period points as the Lions climbed into a 49-45 lead.

WITH 2:02 remaining Hogan drove for a layup that gave the Lions a 61-55 cushion. But it wasn't over yet. Steve Koenig dialed a seven-footer for Grant, and the race to the wire began.

Grant tied the score at 61-all with 29 seconds remaining on the board, regained the ball with one second left and called a time out. They set up Oler whose long jumper bounced off the back of the rim at the buzzer.

Dan Collins put in a tip for St. Viator's first two points of the overtime, but 6-3 Sam Riemers matched Collins to knot the score with 1:54 left.

That's when the Lions' strategy board went to work.

Hogan collected 28 points for the winner, hitting 12 baskets and four free throws. Collins contributed 19 and turned in a strong effort under both boards against the taller Grant unit.

Yeager scored 12—but who can remember the first 10?

'Cat Matmen Open Friday

by KEITH REINHARD

Molding Wheeling's first winning upper level wrestling crew is the pleasant thought Bob Schulze hopes to change into a reality this winter as he drills Wildcat matmen for their opening fray at Deerfield Friday.

Up from the frosh level this year to assume command of the varsity unit for the first time, Schulze brings a winning record with him to mesh with six returning lettermen—three of them all-conference picks—and a host of fresh faces.

In order to better the Wildcats' dual record of a year ago, banner showings will be required again in 66-67 by senior heavyweight Ray Pace, 180-pounder Paul Berwanger and 154-pounder Rich Haddock, all circuit standouts last winter.

OTHER VETERAN grapplers Schulze, a former Arlington High football and mat star, will call upon for key performances are juniors Matt Porzel and Rex Meisenheimer and senior Jerry Hawkinson. Hawkinson will return to the 127-pound weight class while Meisenheimer moves up from 95 to 103 pounds this season.

Porzel is still trying to trim down to his 145-pound weight of a year ago. If he is unsuccessful, his toughest opponent could be teammate Haddock in the next heavier division.

At other pound levels, junior Pat McGuire will probably get the nod to square off against Deerfield at 165 and senior Tom Paturalski should go at 138. The berth in the 145- pound class is still a tossup between juniors Tom Nelson and Dan Stavros.

Thad Mickols, a junior, could be Wheeling's entry in the 133-pound event with either senior Bill Mitsos or senior Ray Weidner at 120, senior Ken Brown at 112 and senior Chuck Nute at 95.

Schulze, who posted an 8-5 mark at the Wheeling freshman helm last year, sees this season's varsity Wildcats as tough as anyone in the conference.

A year ago, they finished at 6-7-1, were sixth in the district and captured a third of eight squads in the Glenbrook South Invitational Tourney.

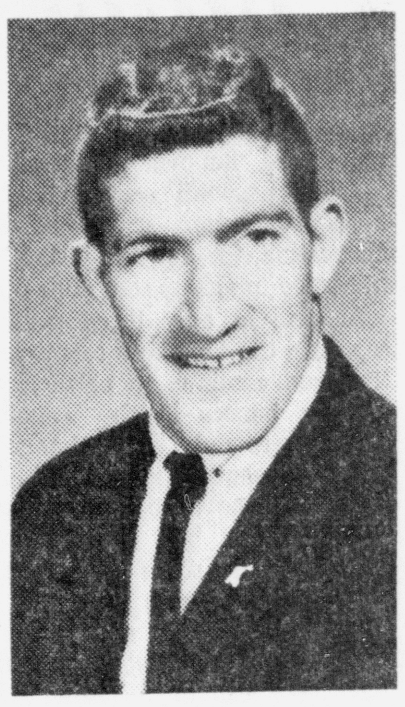
Mat Opener Friday

Myers Awaits First Year As Card Coach

by BOB FRISK

Willie Myers, who helped guide Arlington's jayvee football team to a sparkling 7-1 record this past fall, has turned to wrestling now as he prepares his First Cardinal varsity squad for the season opener.



WILLIE MYERS
Making Debut

Myers, one of the finest wrestlers in Eastern Illinois University history, will send his Cardinals against host Glenbrook South Friday evening at 7:30.

Arlington will travel to Fremd in Palatine Saturday afternoon for a bout at two o'clock.

MYERS, 28, who still takes an active part in the sport of wrestling, replaced Julius Fliehler as the Cardinal head man with Fliehler resigning to devote full time to his teaching assignments.

The new head man moves into his first season with cautious optimism. He sees some weak positions but also knows he has some promising candidates to work with.

Inexperienced is the best label to put on the Cards as a team. It's strictly a matter of wait and see how the boys develop on the mats.

THE CARDINAL experience is stacked in the lower weights with four letterman in the first five weights.

Only at 95 are the Cards without varsity experience as sophs Gary Prochaska and Jerry Brask battle for the number one slot. Prochaska has whipped Brask in a challenge bout.

Jay McDonnell, a soph who lettered at 103 as a freshman, is back in his familiar slot, and Jim Whitnell, a junior letterman, has moved from 95 to 112, a challenging transition.

SENIOR MIKE Mills, who lettered at 120 last winter, is back at 120 with junior Bob Dabbert a serious challenger.

Co-captain Tom McCarthy is the leader at 127 although he could also go at 120. Tom is a two-year letterman.

After 127 the Cards sport some promising candidates but very little actual varsity experience.

JUNIOR PAUL Douglas, who wrestled with the sophs last winter, is the current leader at 133, with all-conference football center Brad Philo bidding for the 138-pound position. Brad was a jayvee wrestler as a junior.

Junior Kelly Reid and senior Dave Bakas are the top 145-pounders with senior Clark Sims the best bet at 154.

Sims authored an impressive pin record as a sophomore but was sidelined with mononucleosis last winter. He could surprise on a varsity level.

BRAD SOMERS, co-captain with McCarthy, has been shelved with an injury and may not be able to go at 165 Friday. Somers, another all-league football selection, did some work at 180 last year.

If Somers can't wrestle Friday, soph Pat McCoy or senior Tom Barkulis may move into the number one position.

Battling for the 180 and heavyweight positions on the Cardinal varsity are returning letterman Mike Jones, district champ at 165 as a junior; senior Vern Gongol; and junior Joe Kolzak.

Jones and Gongol have the varsity mat experience, but Kolzak, a 210-pounder, is still learning as a junior.

Eighty-six boys are out for wrestling at all levels at Arlington.

Assisting Myers are John Bush with the junior-varsity, Bruce Glover with the sophomores, and Bill Svrluga with the frosh.

Elk Grove's Mat Squad in Victory

Elk Grove's varsity wrestlers showed strength in the upper weights Saturday, rallying from a two-point deficit at 165 pounds to nail down a 33-20 victory over Fenton in the season opener.

Coach Bob Walther's charges fashioned pins over the final three matches against Tri-County Conference adversary with Chuck Raffaele at 165 pounds, Mike McFarland at 180, and Bart Zeitner at heavyweight.

Rafeaele took care of Jim Fiduccia in 5:14, and McFarland won his match with a scissors pin in 1:07 against Bob Krumwiede.

Zeitner needed only 1:55 to dispose of Fenton heavyweight George Toben.

THE GRENADIERS yielded the first pin to Fenton's Mike Choronzy at 95 pounds, but took the next three bouts with a forfeit and two decisions.

Tom Mann got the forfeit at 103, Jim Veltri picked up an 11-0 victory at 112, and George Taylor posted an 8-0 conquest at 120.

Highly regarded Clar Giltner of Fenton, a state finalist as a junior, put the Bisons back on the board with a pin in 1:30 against Jim Pankow at 127 pounds.

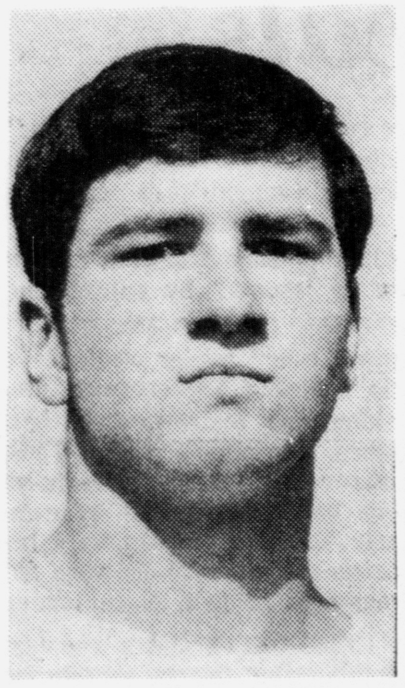
A forfeit gave Elk Grove five more points at 133, but then the Bisons grabbed a tie at 138 with John Gorajczyk and Steve Stolnack in a 6-6 deadlock, a pin at 145 with Jeff Hanwell topping Grove's Russ Finkler in 1:43, and a decision at 154 with Don MacArthur over Mike Ernst, 9-0.

On Lion Varsity

Forston Top Mat Returnee

By BOB FRISK

Although St. Viator hasn't been known as a wrestling school, there are some indications that the Lions may be building into a representative mat entry.



DENNY FORSTON
Lion Veteran

Coach John Zid, who's handling the entire wrestling program, has some experienced performers and promising new candidates to work with this year as he prepares St. Viator for a schedule of 12 duals.

"We've got some interesting battles going on at a few weights," says Zid who will send his Lions against a host Marian Catholic outfit Friday evening in the season opener.

THE KEY returnee at the Arlington Heights school is Denny Forston, the 6-4, 230-pound heavyweight who captured the district championship as a junior.

Forston just completed a banner year in football where he earned all-conference honors. He only lost two matches as a junior and finished 14-2 overall with an outstanding pin record.

Forston is the top returning letterman, but there are some other boys with promise.

SEVEN BOYS are bidding for the 95-pound position with Zid calling them "all pretty even."

Mike Cunningham, a strong, quick junior, is the 103-pound leader, and he should be a boy to watch despite only one previous year of mat action.

Twins Bill and Bob Horrell are available at 112-120 with junior Rod Ayres also in contention at the 120 pound spot.

SENIOR DON Rich appears settled at 127 with senior Mike Cooper at 133. Mike didn't wrestle last winter but did compete his first two years at St. Viator.

The 138-pound slot is listed a definite question-mark with junior Jim Spellen the leader right now. Senior Marty Hertz, a 138-pounder last winter, should go at 145 this time.

Senior Tom McDonald, another varsity vet, appears to have the inside track at 154, and two football standouts, junior John Browning and senior John Cook, are battling at 165.

Browning was a linebacker and Cook a regular halfback on the Lion varsity.

DOUG DOMIN, a senior who worked at 165 in his junior campaign, reports at 180 now with Forston rounding out the probable alignment for Friday's opener.

Following the opener Friday, the Lions will be idle until next Wednesday, Dec. 7, when they travel to St. Francis.

St. Viator's first home bout is set for Saturday, Dec. 17, against St. Patrick.

Bob Riehm At Helm

Palatine Grapplers Battle Hard Times

by KEN KNOX

A modern necessity continues to play hob with an old tradition at Palatine High School.

The necessity is the school split, an occurrence that's afflicted Palatine twice now in the past three years.

The tradition is wrestling, now in the 15th year as a sport at Palatine, many of those years memorable for the success and the champions they produced.

But wrestling — like so many of the sports at Palatine — has been wounded by the boundary changes, the siphoning off first to Conant and now to Fremd of talented boys who would have been Pirates.

Gone too is John Ellis, the man who molded the Palatine wrestling tradition and trained four state champions. In his place — trying to start Palatine back on the track to wrestling dominance — is Bob Riehm.

RIEHM, WHO brings some impressive credentials to the job, is facing no small challenge. He's been given the varsity task after the only winless year in Palatine wrestling history, the 1965-66 campaign in which the mat Pirates dropped 12 straight duals. And to complicate the problem, most of the big winners from stellar freshman and sophomore crops at Palatine were moved to Fremd with the newest split.

He has, then, ranks that are thin in numbers and in veterans, and a schedule of 12 duals, a quadrangular and the Palatine Holiday Tournament ahead of them.

There are five varsity lettermen in the group, and that should help the cause.

ONE OF THE veterans — Dirk Fuqua — is one of three boys contending at 127 and 133 pounds. He was 2-6-2 with the varsity last season, and won his only junior varsity match. The other candidates at the two weights are Bob Esmail, who was 6-5-1 with the sophs, and Kevin McGlynn, who had some sophomore experience.

Howie Tuttle will be back to wrestle at 138 pounds, while Bill Schroeder is expected at 145 and Bob Salinas at 165. Of that letter-winning trio, Salinas had the best 1965-66 standard, being 4-1 with the JV and 3-1 with the varsity, with a second in the holiday meet. Tuttle was 4-9-1 with the varsity and Schroeder 4-12-1.

Paul Dolik is the fifth returning letterman, and he's being boosted up to heavyweight with word that John Reed — who was 18-4-1 there last year — is not coming out this season. Dolik wrestled at 180, ending 5-10-1 with thirds in the holiday tourney and the district.

ALSO considered at heavyweight is newcomer Mark Engbretson, who might go in that division or at 180. But a leading candidate at 180 is Ron Stroud, who was 6-2-1 with the JV last season.

The biggest winner from the 1965 season available to Riehm is junior Pat Donahue. He was 13-2 overall with the sophomore squad. Wrestling then at 180, he's been switched to 154 pounds.

Two freshmen are being considered at 95, with Steve Silkworth and Jim Weber vying.

At 103, the choice is between sophomore Don Speer, who was 2-0 with the freshmen and 5-1 with the sophs, and junior Frank Kaiser.

AT 112, Rusty Mason, a JV vet who was 6-4-1 a season ago, is being challenged by sophomore Steve Ashby.

And at 120, the leading candidate is sophomore Bob Bailey, who's had little experience but seems to know his way around the mats.

Riehm, being assisted this year by Bill Pelkey (JV), Gary Duff (sophomores) and Tom Hillesheim (freshmen), came to Palatine in the fall after a year of varsity wrestling coaching at Omaha. The five years before that, the ex-Iowa University matman coached in his native state of Iowa.

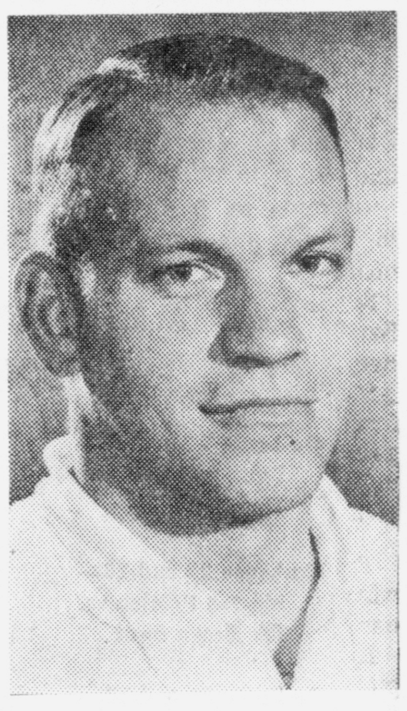
In three years of coaching at Jessup High School in Iowa, he brought one team to second in the state. And in two years at Davis County High, he had one team that won 20 straight duals and ended ninth in the state.

The season begins for the Pirates this Saturday at Glenbrook South, and Riehm should go into the debut with at least one advantage. He taught the Glenbrook Coach — Bill Fuller — much of what he knows about wrestling, for Fuller was a Riehm product at Jessup High.

Conant Mat Picture: Youth In Abundance

by KEN KNOX

June of this year was a sad time for Merv Miller.



MERV MILLER
Job To Do

It was graduation month at Conant, and commencement took from Miller four seniors who won 50 challenges for the varsity wrestling Cougars, losing only 18 and tying nine.

Those four—Fred Krempl, Dennis Skoneczka, Tom Borthwick and Glen Volkening—were among the principals in moving Conant to seven wins in 14 dual meets, and to impressive thirds in the Palatine Holiday Tournament and the Lake Park District Tournament.

June was also the month to bid farewell to a junior, for Ken Roberts—who won 10 and lost five for the varsity—moved away during the summer, and that may be sadder than the graduations, because he would have been back, and as a team co-captain.

So Miller, now entering the third year as head man in Conant's wrestling program, will approach the new campaign with a handful of veterans, a flood of young talent, and a determination to build something from it.

WEIGHING WHAT'S coming up, things look better for next year than this, because there are only three seniors who saw much action last year. And a lot of that action was on the junior varsity level. But this year is coming first, and that's what Miller is tuned to now.

The season begins this Friday afternoon at Glenbrook North, he first of 14 duals, a quadrangular and the Palatine tourney on a long schedule. The second dual comes the next day, Saturday at Crown of Dundee.

Miller was still considering his candidates at mid-week, arranging challenge bouts to finalize his opening meet performers. The choices are coming not just from the varsity, but from a JV squad that was 7-5, a soph squad that was 2-9 with its best wrestling varsity, and an outstanding freshman group that had 10 wins and three ties in 13 duals.

THE LOWER WEIGHTS—as they did last year—are expected to give the Cougars most of their strength. And at the lower weights, the leading candidates are clearer.

Reinie Vanderheyd, a sophomore, is at 95 pounds. He was 10-5-1 overall last year, 8-2-1 with the unbeaten frosh team with a first in the Barrington Freshman Tournament. He did have one varsity duel, and lost.

At 103 is one of the seniors, Tom Isenberg. He was primarily a JV wrestler last year, and 5-5-1 overall.

At 112 is Mike Ferguson, a junior who came on strong at the end of last season to finish 14-8 overall, 10-7 with the varsity, and who was a champion in the Lake Park District.

THERE'S STILL A lot of choosing at 120, with three sophomores in the competition. They include Bob Sypowicz, who was 12-4 with the freshmen, Dom Dalitto, 5-11 overall, and Marty Ramirez, 7-4 last season. But Miller is also hoping for the return of Clark Ellithorpe, who was 7-1-1 with the JV and 3-2 with the varsity.

Moving up from 120 is Bill Gluck, a junior and team captain who is to grapple at 127 this year. He had an excellent 13-4-2 record last year, all but one of those wins with the varsity, and is expected to be one of the steadies of this year's team.

Junior Mike Skoneczka, brother of the departed Dennis, is contending at 133 with Bill Lee, one of the seniors. Skoneczka was 6-0 with the JVs last year, 10-7 overall, while Lee was 9-6-1 overall, 6-1 with the JVs.

LEE could also go at 138, where the candidates include Jim Quella, a junior transfer from St. Viator who didn't compete last year, and Barry Alexa, 5-6 overall, 4-0 with the junior varsity.

Alexa is also a possibility at 145, with junior Rich Robertson an alternative. Robertson, wrestling sophomore and junior varsity was 8-5 over-all.

George Reedy is the likely candidate at 154 pounds. A junior, he was 9-2-1 overall, with a 4-1 JV mark in 1965-66. Jerry Allen, a senior who didn't compete last year, is also a possibility at the weight.

JUNIOR DICK ROGERS, who won four of 10 varsity bouts in a composite 11-8-1 mark last year, is at 165. He had a second in the Lake Park District.

At 180 pounds, the choice is between two sophomores. There is Pete Bambach, 14-2 with the freshmen and a champion at the Barrington tourney, and Mike Andrews, 11-5 with the freshmen.

Dennis Reynolds and Jim Lohff, both seniors with limited experience, are contending at heavyweight. Reynolds was 4-6 last year, 2-6 with the varsity, while Lohff was 1-6 overall, 0-3 with the varsity. Both check in at about 215 pounds.

Miller will be assisted this year by Ron Rio, in charge of the junior varsity; by Jack Dean, handling the sophs; and Rick Gerz, in charge of the freshmen. Considering how the new season will stress the future as much as the present, their roles will be no small ones. And considering the youth in the Conant wrestling program, next June should be a happier one.

Prospect High Matmen Open With Two Varsity Triumphs

Coach Dave Ziemek made his entrance on to the Prospect varsity coaching scene a memorable one this past week by leading his new squad to a pair of triumphs in non-conference mat struggles.

Opening with a pre-Thanksgiving pounding of Addison Trail, 42-10, the Knights continued along the winning path Saturday with a 31-15 win at Willowbrook.

In hosting their inaugural fray, Prospect snuffed out the Blazer fire with triumphs in all but two of the dozen weight divisions, including a trio by pins.

Three days later the Warriors came out losers in seven face-offs, while tying two and winning only three.

RICK BASCH tacked up pins on both occasions in the 95-pound bracket for Prospect, while teammates Dave Phillips (103), Mike Mohr (120), Terry Holshouser (127), Vince Curry (145) and Gary Cobe (154) were also double winners.

For Basch, the pins were recorded at 1:10 against Addison Trail and 1:03 versus Willowbrook. Decisions over the Blazers and Warriors respectively went: Phillips 6-2 and 4-2; Mohr 4-0 and 5-0; Holshouser 16-6 and pin at 5:40; Curry 4-0 and 11-2; and Cobe pin at 3:50 and 9-0.

Other Prospect winners against Addison Trail were Gary McMorrow (9-1) in the 103-pound event, Jeff Hansen (6-5 at 133, Pete Smith (8-3) at 165 and Mike Sander (pin at 1:15) in the heavyweight category.

AT WILLOWBROOK, Hansen tied at 3-3, Rick Soduski registered a pin at 5:11 in 138-pound action, and Smith worked into a 2-2 tie.

Prospect sophomores were equally as successful in premier outings, topping Addison Trail 42-10 and Willowbrook 29-21. The Knight frosh grapplers were toppled by the Warriors in their opener 45-13.

Against the Blazers, Prospect sophomore winners were Fossler (95 pounds) pin at 2:27, Cordova (103) 8-0 decision, Greene (112) pin at 1:37, Busse (120) pin at 1:02, Wendling (133) pin at 3:33, Passarelli (138) pin at 1:13, Costello (145) 3-0 decision, Lazzaroni (154) 3-0 decision, Carrol (165) 11-1 decision, Linzemann (180) pin at 1:17, and Sander (heavyweight) pin at 0:35.

WILLOWBROOK sophs were issued defeats by Fossler pin at 3:41, Cordova 7-0, Greene 3-0, Busse 2-0, Baker (127) 6-5, Costello pin at 4:31, Lazzaroni pin at 3:56, and Sander pin at 0:58.

Freshman Knight wins were posted at Willowbrook by Peterson (95) pin at 1:19, Loeffel (120) 8-4, and Brush (133) pin at 2:51.

Ziemek's next test is this afternoon (Thursday) at Maine South when he will match wits with his head coach brother for the first time. The sophomores are idle meanwhile until Dec. 9 when they join the varsity and JV units in hosting Deerfield.

Record Only 3

No more than three touchdown passes have ever been caught by the same receiver in one game in modern Big Ten history.

Fremd's Wrestlers Rip Hinsdale South

Nothing beats losing like winning, so Fremd's wrestling team found the healing remedy for the stunning loss that opened their season.

The youthful Viking grapplers rebounded last week (Wednesday) from their whipping by Proviso West by doing the same to Hinsdale South. Walt Lyszak's varsity, winning at nine of the 12 weight divisions and tying at another, handled the Hornets 39-12. They thus evened their record at 1-1.

Three of the Vikings triumphed on pins. Jim Lynch, the team's 95-pounder, took his man down in the second period. Jim Williams, at 133 pounds, recorded a fall in the third period. And heavyweight Ray Steerbo notched a second period pin.

Two other boys won on forfeits to give the team a maximum five points at their weights. Those wins went to Kent Jensen at 145 pounds and Steve Hein at 154.

Keith West blanked his opponent at 112 pounds, working out a 5-0 decision. It was closer for Gil Sanchez at 127, but he won 4-2. Chuck Goodman made short work of his man at 165, triumphing 15-6, and Tom Dohrman — at 180 — made it 9-7 over his opponent.

The tie went to Mike Lewis. Wrestling at 120 pounds, he knotted his man 9-9.

The two Vikings that lost were Don Mason (103) and Jim Lowery (138), both pinned in the second period of their bouts.

The Fremd matmen face a busy weekend. They'll engage New Trier West at home Friday evening and Arlington at home Saturday afternoon.

Big Game for Morton

PCTL Race Tightens; Chalet Leads by Two

A runaway race is never very interesting for the spectator unless he happens to have a bundle on the lead horse.

The baseball season is always too long unless there is a tight pennant race and so, just to make things more interesting, the bowlers in the Paddock Classic Traveling League tightened things up some this past weekend.

At present only three points separate the top three teams as the men continue to battle for the top honors in the league. There were only three changes in actual team standings, and all three of these were for the last three places but the league leaders made some excitement by closing up some gaps.

Sports Chalet is still in the number one spot, but their lead has been cut to a mere two points. The Brass Rail holds the number two spot but is only one point up on the Morton Pontiac team. Bill Cook Buick and Karlsen Pharmacy hold the next two spots in order, but this week Jeffery Lanes holds the number six spot, one place higher than last week.

ELK GROVE bowl has pulled itself up from the bottom of the pile and is sitting in the seventh place. City Welding now has that somewhat dubious distinction of holding down the cellar position.

There were a couple of points of high interest during the weekend when Morton Pontiac added their name to the list of those honored for high team game. The Wide-trackers combined their efforts to accomplish a 1087 score in the second game of the evening.

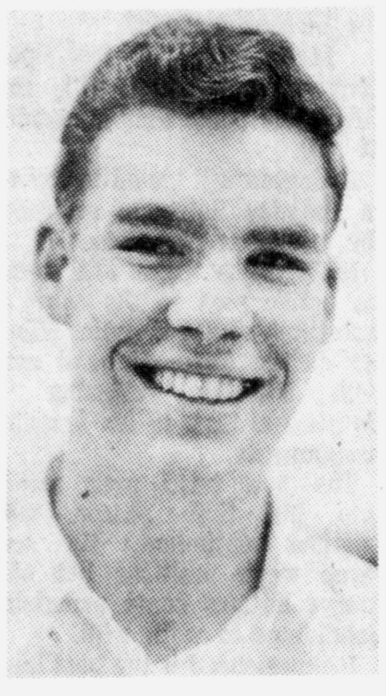
Ray Olson also has added his name to the honored group of high individual game bowlers with a 267 mark. This score was recorded in the same game as the high Morton score and no doubt helped Morton reach their new high mark.

IN GAME competition Sports Chalet was able to hang onto their lead only because of the commanding lead they had built up in the past few weeks. This week they gained only two points as they faced the hot shooting Morton outfit.

Tom Kouros was the big gun for the Chalet and had a 245 game but this could not contend with the game by Olson or by Mike Wagner who rolled a 248 for Pontiac.

The Brass Rail gained five more points this week to creep closer to the Sports Chalet as they downed the Elk Grove Bowlers. Warren Olson posted a 604 series to lead the Railers, but Gordie Richards had a real good night for Elk Grove and recorded a 623 score.

BILL COOK BUICK whitewashed City Welding and dumped the Welders into the cellar for the week. Paul Borvig had three fine games of 210, 200, and 225 for a series total of 635 as he was high man for Cook Buick. Bob Rogers of the Welders had three good games for a 620 series and was far and away the best of the evening for the Welders.



RAY OLSON

In the Jeffery Lanes — Karlsen Pharmacy battle, the Laners gained five points to the Druggists two to pull within four points in the team standings. Bill Harris and Paul Zubak rolled twin matches of 577 to lead the Laners and Warren Karlsen scored a 573 to pace the Karlsen effort.

Next week will pit the Brass Rail and Sports Chalet, Morton Pontiac will meet Elk Grove Bowl. Karlsen Pharmacy will battle Bill Cook Buick, and City Welding will face Jeffery Lanes all at Elk Grove Bowl on December 3rd.

PCTL's All-Stars Named

Six men have been selected as the Paddock Classic Traveling League's all-star team for the 1966-67 season.

Named by vote of the bowlers in the PCTL, the all-stars include two bowlers from the league's current leader and defending champion, Concourse Sports Chalet, and one each from four other teams.

From Sports Chalet, the all-stars are league veterans Joe Simonis and George Schmidt.

From the Morton Pontiac team, the all-star named was Les Zikes Jr.; from Bill Cook Buick, Al Jordan; from Karlsen Pharmacy, Ernie Koche; and from Jeffery Lanes, Don Christensen.

More than honor goes with being named to the team, for the squad will also travel for challenge matches with other recognized all-star units in the Chicago area. The Stars expect to bowl in January and February against alignments like Paul Krumske's Meister Brau team and the Cassidy Tire all-stars.

958 Game, 2744 Series

Striking Lanes Gals Enjoy Red-Hot Night

The gals, in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League were hard at it again this past weekend and in the scuffle some changes were made both in team standings and also in team and individual high marks.

The leader remains the same this week and so does the margin of advantage as the gals from Lattof continue to dominate. They remain a full seven points ahead of second place Striking Lanes, and Striking has now taken full possession of the number two spot with a two point bulge over Wheel Inn.

Sylvia's Flowers and Morton Pontiac are knotted up in the fourth place spot with both teams sporting 19 points. River Rand Bowl continues to cool their heels in the cellar position.

STRIKING LANES recorded two new season high marks as they rolled a 958 game and a 2744 series, both new team highs. Wheel Inn rolled a new team high series for themselves with a 2690 and Morton Pontiac scored new high game and high series marks with 897 and 2554 scores in each department.

River Rand Bowl also had a good night as far as individual team records were concerned as they also scored new team highs with 916 and 2668 for games and series.

Striking Lanes high game of 958 gave them the high team game of the year to date honors and Harriet Fuchs moved into the second place spot for high individual series as she scored a 624. Lucille Schoenberger recorded a 243 individual game which moved her into the number two spot for that honor.

IN MATCH PLAY Lattof Chevrolet downed Morton Pontiac and picked up three points in the process. Peggy Harris was again the leader of the Lattof crew as she gathered 534 pins. But Morton's Ruthmary Baurhyte stole the scoring honors for the match as she tumbled the sticks for a total of 587.

In the Striking Lanes—Wheel Inn action Lucille Schoenberger was way ahead of the crowd as she totaled an excellent 616 score for the Striking Lanes quintet. Delores Harris led the way for the Wheel Inn girls with a 583 total for the evening. Her high game was a 204 and she bowled consistently well for the entire evening.

Harriet Fuchs was in a class all by herself in the River Rand—Sylvia's battle as she recorded a series of 624 and a high game of 226. She also had another game of 211 to help boost her evening to an excellent mark.

FOR THE RIVER Randers, Hazel Steiger scored a 588 series to lead that teams efforts. Marge Lindenberg gave able support as she totaled a 558 score.

The schedule for Saturday, December 3 will have Striking Lanes meeting Sylvia's Flowers, Wheel Inn battling Morton Pontiac, and River Rand Bowl meeting Lattof Chevrolet.

The four top averages for the season thus far belong to Peggy Harris who has a 183, Judy Anderson who boasts a 177, and Bonnie Kuhn and Ruthmary Baurhyte who both own 176 averages.

As the season progresses Lattof Chevrolet continues to show dominance over the field but in other quarters the battles will coninue and even the seven point Lattof lead is not insurmountable. The season holds promise for further excitement.

Bowling Meet For 'Locals'

"The Paddock tournaments are restricted to 'local' bowlers," stated tourney founder Bob Paddock this week in answer to questions about eligibility of a league competing at an Elgin bowling establishment.

"We selected the idea of a team tournament, rather than individual event, so we would not be 'snowed' by entries and costly red tape. We then stipulated that 'only leagues bowling at local establishments would be eligible' on the basis of keeping the event local, instead of area-wide."

TOURNAMENT officials soon found they had to provide an opening for leagues bowling at 'distant' establishments, such as in Des Plaines, Glen Ellyn and Elgin. Decision was made to accept any league entry providing at least 50 per cent of the members of such a league could prove residency within the direct area served by Paddock Publications.

That rule still stands today. If a bowling league from Streamwood and/or Hanover Park bowls at an establishment in Elgin, and can prove 50 per cent residency in the two communities, such a league would be eligible to enter the tournament. Other leagues competing at that house, however, are not eligible for the meet.

COOK COUNTY Truck Gardeners' leagues, men's and women's, have always entered the Paddock tournaments on this basis, even though the groups never bowled at a house located 'within the direct Paddock area.' Same goes for the BRIM league which bowled in Glen Ellyn for many years.

Another thought of tourney founders sixteen years ago, was that a team tournament restricted to only the loop leaders would mean every bowler would have the opportunity to compete, providing his team was in first place Christmas Eve. Thus, more than 12,000 league bowlers have the chance to compete, but only 1,500 make it because the other 10,500 were not members of first place teams.

ELIGIBILITY dates are fast approaching. League secretaries should make their time reservations soon with Marian Phillips, tourney coordinator, at 253-1520 during the business day.

Men's — first place teams as of Dec. 24 are eligible to compete Jan. 21-22 at Elk Grove Bowl.

Women's — first place teams as of Dec. 31 are eligible to compete Jan. 28-29 at Beverly Lanes.

Mixed — first place teams as of Dec. 31 are eligible to compete Jan. 28 at Beverly Lanes.

LEAGUES competing at the following establishments are automatically eligible for the Paddock bowling tournaments: Arlington and Beverly in Arlington Heights; Gunnell's, Thunderbird and Striking in Mt. Prospect, Jeffery and Wheeling in Wheeling; Bowlwood in Wood Dale and Pioneer in Addison. Others include Rose in Buffalo Grove, Hoffman in Hoffman Estates, Elk Grove Bowl, Bensenville Bowl and Rolling Meadows Bowl.

Fremd In Soph Win On Mats

The first win was a convincing win for the sophomore wrestlers at Fremd. They whipped Hinsdale South's sophs 43-15 last week (Wednesday).

It was a dual—on the Hinsdale mats—in which every weight dispute but one was settled on a pin, and Fremd boys recorded eight of the falls. The victory evened at 1-1 the standard of the Len Fiocca-coached sophs.

Burdette Shorb started it for Fremd with a fall at 95 pounds. At 120, Chuck Porter was trailing on points when he rallied to pin his man, and start a string of falls for Fremd men.

Following with pins were John Pullman at 127, Tim Gleason at 133 and Ed Dolik at 138. Vikings also notched falls at the top three weights: Pat Byrne at 165, Tom Kaiser at 180 and heavyweight Glenn Wilson. A 5-4 decision went to Larry McPhee at 145 pounds. One Viking who did lose, freshman Don Aggerbeck, went down on a pin late in a close match at 103.

The Viking sophs—and freshmen—will be at home Friday evening to New Trier West and Saturday afternoon to Arlington.

Spartan Strength

The Michigan State gridders, in running up a 7-0 conference record last season, outscored their opponents 203-56, an average of 29-8 per game. The Spartans ranked first both in defense and in offense.

Track Clinic Set For Evanston High

A track and field clinic sponsored by the Northeastern Illinois Track Coaches Association will be held at the Evanston High School fieldhouse on Saturday, Dec. 10.

Registration will be held at 8:30 a.m. and the program is expected to run until about 4:30 p.m. Registration fee is $3.00.

Several leading track coaches will appear on the program.

The main speaker will be Bruce Waha of Redford High School in Detroit (Mich.), one of the most highly regarded prep distance coaches in the United States.

Also speaking on distance running and cross country programs will be Len Jareczek of Lane Tech and Joe Newton of York.

Other coaches on the program will be Del Swearingen of Bloomington (shot put, discus), Gene Shipley of Moline (high jump) and Jerry Slack of Oak Park and Bob Erhart of Northwestern University (pole vault).

As a special feature of the program, 2,000 feet of colored film will be shown of the 1966

Lions' JVs Top Knights

Utilizing three boys who have varsity status, St. Viator rolled past Prospect last week in a special junior-varsity contest, 75-50.

Guard Tom Epperly of the Lions fired in 26 points to lead both teams.

Bill Yaeger, who scored the winning basket in St. Viator's first varsity win of the season, and soph John Brawley tossed in 13 each.

John Green was high for Prospect with 12 points. Haney had eight.

A big third period was the difference last week as Wheeling's junior-varsity basketball team shaded St. Viator, 45-43.

The Lions held a 23-20 lead at the intermission, but Wheeling moved out in front with a 16-9 bulge in the third stanza.

Jim Mulehausen and Jim Weber each had 12 points and John Cammarato 11 for Wheeling. Bill Reising tallied 13 and Dave Erfort 12 for the Lions.

Senior Champions

Honor Colts of Mount Prospect

The Colts of Mount Prospect, who surprised everyone by capturing the Midget Football League Senior Division title with an unbeaten season, received a few surprises themselves at a banquet at the Old Orchard Country Club.

Each member of the championship team was awarded a trophy, as expected, but the boys also received autographed photographs of Baltimore Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas.

And, as a special gesture from the Baltimore organization, coaches Bill Phillips, Jack Costello, and Denis St. Denis of the Midget League Colts received a framed, congratulatory letter.

The boys also surprised the coaches and assistant mentors Henry Szala and Ray Endre with a "thank you" letter signed by every member of the team.

The wives of the coaches received charm bracelets with an engraved football on each from the team members and their parents to thank them for the large share of their husbands' time given to the team.

The presentations were made by Mrs. Louis J. Komar and Mrs. Robert Ford.

The cheerleaders presented a musical skit and movies were shown of some of the games.

Plot Changed In Old Script

by KEITH REINHARD

Prospect dug up an old script for their clash with Maine South Thanksgiving eve and found out too late that the plot had been altered on them.

Instead of pulling out of a drastic slump to slip into the winner's seat as they did a year ago against the Hawks, Prospect went into second nosedive last week (Wednesday) and suffered their first defeat of the season, 62-53.

The Hawk nest was anything but congenial.

WITH TOM Lundstedt effectively bottled up from the opening whistle on, Maine applied a vice-like press on the Prospect advance and capitalized well on the resultant turnovers. After an opening Knight field goal, the hosts never trailed and on two occasions accumulated 14-point advantages.

Deadly Mike Mueller provided Prospect with their only equalizer. Hitting on jump shots from as far away as 25 feet, he helped the visitors eclipse the first big Hawk point bulge.

Maine South however, never stopped hustling. When Prospect threatened to overtake them, the Hawks turned on the steam all over again.

DAVE KINGMAN gave Prospect a shortlived 2-0 lead after a minute of scoreless play. When the hosts countered, it wasn't curtailed until the Hawks were in command 14-2 and by the end of the quarter the scoreboard read 20-8.

Mueller started hitting long in period two and both sides were at their offensive best then. A Lundstedt layup with 2:40 left in the half was his first bucket of the evening and coupled with closeups by Kingman and Mueller's artistry, helped slightly narrow the mid-game gap to 33-24.

Kingman pulled off the best longshot of night when the second half commenced. Losing a contact lens on the jump, he was able to retrieve it without an assist and without the usual fanfare in little more than a minute from under a dozen pair of shoes and 5,000 square feet of playing area.

SHORTLY AFTER, Mueller hit on three straight to jack Prospect up to within one bucket of the foe, 37-35. When Maine moved up by two more, Mueller made good on a 20-footer to bring them back into range.

At the three-quarter point the Hawks possessed a thin 43-39 lead.

The Knights couldn't muster up another two-pointer until half the final period was gone. By that time, primarily on the handiwork of Jeff Reinke, the Hawks were well ahead, 57-43. When time remaining dwindled down to 44 seconds, Lundstedt rounded out scoring afield, but only by moving away from the key and hitting from outside.

Cards Busy At Line

by BOB FRISK

Accepting charity is a way of life for the basketball player. Charity begins at the free throw line.

Just throwing in more baskets than your opponent doesn't always insure success. Many games are won by teams that are outscored from the field.

Maine South and York found that out the hard way last weekend in visits to the Arlington High Schol gymnasium.

The Hawks connected for six more baskets than the host Cardinals Friday but skidded to a 58-50 setback.

York's Dukes showed an advantage of three baskets but a deficit of six points in a 70-64 thriller on Saturday evening.

THE DIFFERENCE was at the free throw line, a spot where proficiency is vital for any club desiring to make much headway through a demanding schedule.

Coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals hit on 24 of 35 charity tries in the win over Maine, dropping 11 throws over the final eight minutes while staging a furious come-from-behind flurry.

Arlington hit 24-for-33 in the six-point conquest of touted York Saturday, connecting eight times in a pressure-packed final quarter when every trip to the line was filled with drama.

WITH THOSE two victories Wissen's Cards concluded a very profitable opening week of basketball activity.

Arlington got by Barrington, Maine South, and York in a trio of non-league affairs that took place over four days.

There was no rest for the weary, but no one seemed too tired after three big wins.

Although the win over always-powerful York carries the most significance for area buffs, the thrilling 58-50 victory over Maine South is nothing to dismiss lightly.

THE HAWKS had whipped highly regarded Prospect on Thanksgiving Eve and gave Arlington fits for three periods before wilting.

In fact, coach Bernie Brady's club, a 64-61 victim in a bout with Arlington last winter, had the Cards down by seven points heading into that concluding stanza.

Baskets by Steve Allen and Dave Lockwood shaved four points off the Hawk lead, and Steve Conley meshed two free throws to pull the Cards within one at 48-47.

With 5:26 remaining a bad pass gave Arlington the ball. Allen drove for the basket, was fouled, and calmly dropped in two free throws to give the Cards a 49-48 lead, their first advantage since late in the first quarter.

THE CARDS didn't let that lead slip away. With Lockwood going high on a layup and Allen drilling six straight free throws Arlington pulled away for a 58-50 finale.

Maine South scored only two points in that wild fourth quarter, a 20-foot basket by Tom McClayton with 3:52 left. The Hawks missed six straight free throws, including the first shot on three one-and-ones.

Maine trailed only briefly in the opening segment, when Jim Donchess netted a 13-footer with only seconds left, and the Hawks carried a 30-26 lead at halftime. It was 48-41 Maine after three periods, and then things started going Arlington's way.

Allen was high for the winners with 20 points, ten from the charity line. Terry Townley, who gave Maine fits as a junior, contributed 13 and Lockwood 11.

THE PATTERN was similar Saturday at the outset.

York, loser of only one game last season but already a victim at Elgin this winter, flashed some outside marksmanship and effective work underneath in taking the jump on Arlington.

Dick Campbell's Dukes trailed for only 37 seconds of that first quarter and were on top for a good part of the second period in building up a 38-33 bulge.

THE CARDS didn't wait until the fourth quarter this time to stage their offensive revival. Allen started it off in the third quarter with a 20-footer and the 6-3 All-State football quarterback teamed with the rugged Conley, also 6-3, to push Arlington into a 52-47 lead with only one period left.

Conley, enjoying his finest hour on the basketball floor, was a scoring and rebounding leader as the Cards pecked away at the York lead. With 2:44 remaining in the third quarter Conley drilled a 14-footer to give Arlington a 48-46 lead. They never trailed again.

Conley scored nine of Arlington's 19 points in the third quarter and repeatedly came up with the big rebound.

THE CARDS showed an 11-point lead at one time (4:14 left) in the final quarter with some profitable work at the free throw line, but York refused to quit.

With 6-7 Chris Schweer finally coming to life the Dukes battled back within three, 65-62, with 1:42 left, but Allen canned a free throw and layup to settle the issue.

Schweer hit a layup with 24 seconds left, but Allen banked in a shot to set the final advantage at six points, 70-64.

ALLEN WAS HIGH with a 30-point explosion, just one shy of his career high set in regional play against Palatine. Conley, who had only nine points in his first two games last week, fired in 18 in a superb effort.

Next in line was Townley with 11, including nine straight from the free throw line.

Schweer had 22 for York, but the big guy, only a junior, got ten of those in the final period. Guard Derrick Grove, who with Schweer was a regular on that crack York team last winter, canned nine baskets with his long-range sniping.

Over Falcon Cagers

Tough Proviso West, Elgin Quintets Roll

by BOB NORDIN

It was hardly what you would call the ideal way to open a new campaign as the Forest View basketball team dropped its two first games of the season to Proviso West and Elgin.

On both nights Bucky Jones led the Falcon offense as he hit for 13 points in each game. Ted Lambert scored 12 against Proviso West but was held to five points against a rangy and outstanding Elgin quintet.

In either game the Falcons really had no chance as the opposition proved to be superior in play and also had a very definite height advantage. The Falcons, fielding a small team, figured to have to play a run and shoot game but early season mistakes and lack of rebounding hurt the Bird chances.

IN THE OPENING game the Falcons played host to the Panthers and they lost that bid 79-57. Jack Magiera and Tim O'Brien led the Panthers as Magiera scored 27 and O'Brien countered for 31. Between the two of them they outscored the Falcons by one point and proved to be too much for the Forest View defense.

The Elgin game was a bad dream for the Falcons. They were never in the ball game after about the first two minutes but it is not so much a matter of Forest View being that bad as it is of the Maroons being that good.

The Maroons, led by Roger Rahres (6-6), Pete Templeton (6-7), and Bob Bruns (6-4), made a shambles of the Forest View evening as they routed the Falcons 79-45 and there is no telling what the score might have been had the first Elgin team played longer than they did.

AT THE END of the first period of play the Maroons had a 29-3 lead and not a single regular remained in the game in the first half.

Throughout the remainder of the mismatch the Elgin coach was able to see what kind of bench strength his team would have for the year, and he must have been more than satisfied as even the third team showed good play. In fact all but two of the Maroons entered the scoring column for the night and showed good depth.

For the Falcons, Jones had his 13 points for the night and was followed by Frank Cavello with eight, and Ted Lambert and Mike Messer each with five. A welcome sight for the Forest View fans appeared in the second stanza when Howie Brasch made his debut for the season. Brasch has been out with a shoulder injury and his return will greatly benefit the team.

ONE PLACE his help will be quickly apparent is in the rebounding department where the Maroons held a 61-39 edge over the Falcons.

But the Falcon shooting will have to improve and coach Ken Arneson still has high hopes for his charges.

To lose is always disappointing but it is never a disgrace to be beaten by teams that are better. This is the message Arneson is trying to convey to the Falcons this week as they prepare to meet the Wheeling Wildcats this Friday night in the conference opener.

The Falcons are defending conference co-champions and they have a good deal of honor to uphold.

Easy Opener

Cards Coast Past Broncos

by BOB FRISK

It's one thing when a basketball team is cold from the field, failing to hit on a decent percentage of its shots. A coach can accept those nights every now and then.

What coaches find very hard to accept is not getting the shots, throwing the ball away or suffering some violation before even getting a chance to pop away for two points.

It's called a turn-over and coaches hate the word.

Just ask Barrington coach Jim Epperson about the turnover.

THERE WAS little doubt about which team had the class last week (Wednesday) when Arlington's Cardinals overpowered visiting Barrington, 71-45, but the Broncos did make it easy for the host five. It was strictly no contest after one period.

Barrington threw the ball away four times in the first four minutes and ten times in the first nine minutes of the Thanksgiving Eve feature.

The Broncos went nine minutes and 48 seconds without scoring a field goal in the early going and found themselves trailing 18-3 in the opening seconds of the second period.

IT WAS EASY after that for coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals who built up a 28-14 advantage at the intermission and coasted in with a 26-point victory in the season opener.

Barrington had the lead for exactly 17 seconds in this nonconference confrontation. Jim Jusits threw in a shot from the corner with 6:24 left in the first period to give the Broncos a 2-0 lead.

Arlington's Dave Lockwood, who enjoyed a fine night for the winners, matched Jusits with a jumper and when Terry Townley slipped a nifty pass to Jim Donchess for a layup the Cards had a lead they never relinquished.

Except for occasional lapses, both on the attack and on defense, the Cards didn't look bad for an opener. They were operating without injured guard Chuck Keating, who has figured in the backcourt plans, and four of the five regulars played football so they're still in a transition period.

What was encouraging was the balance on offense with three boys hitting 15 or more points. Donchess took game honors with 17. Allen contributed 16 and was a leader in the assist department and Lockwood dialed 15 with some long-range effectiveness.

Grenadiers Rip Addison Blazers In Varsity Debut

by DON LOVSE

History was made last week (Wednesday) as the Grenadiers of Elk Grove played host to the Addison Trail Blazers in the first varsity basketball game for both schools.

Elk Grove, led by John Knopf's 15 points, was victorious, 53-35.

Other leading scorers for the young Elk Grove team were Jim Oplt and Jim Hofmann, each with 10. Tom Pomey added eight points.

Oplt and Pomey also controlled the boards as Elk Grove had 67 attempts from the floor to 51 for the Blazers.

High scorers for Addison Trail were Dale Brooks, Len Oleferchik and Jim Tesch with 10, 8, and 7 points respectively.

THE BLAZERS hit on six of seven shots in the first period to take a 12-7 lead after eight minutes of play.

The Grenadiers came back with 13 straight points to lead 20-12 midway through the second period. Knopf and Gerry Pleickhardt each scored two baskets in the drive. At the half it was 24-18, Elk Grove.

The Blazers closed to four points, 27-23, midway through the third quarter. But the Grenadiers, led by Knopf's four baskets and two by Hofmann, scored 18 straight markers to lead 45-23 early in the fourth quarter and put the game out of reach.

Throughout the game Bob Rees of Elk Grove and Frank Hulka of Addison Trail substituted, freely seeking a strong combination.

The Blazers ended up shooting .294 from the floor and .213 from the line, while the figures for the Grenadiers were .313 and .440.

In the preliminary game Steve Cihock and Bob Freck both scored 13 points to lead the Blazers to a 48-36 victory. Ron Fink paced the Grenadiers with 15 points.

A PROUD GROUP. Four men who were instrumental in guilding the Colts to the championship of the Mount Prospect Midget Football League Senior Division show some of the awards that were a part of a special banquet held at Old Orchard Country Club. Left to right, Ray Endre, an assistant coach who also served as league equipment manager; and coaches Jack Costello, Dennis St. Denis, and Bill Phillips. Missing is coach Henry Szala. The coaches display the trophies that were given to the boys on the unbeaten Colt team, and St. Denis holds a special framed congratulatory letter from the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

Cards Drop JV Opener

Arlington's jayvee Cardinals couldn't recover from a cold start Saturday morning as they dropped a 43-35 decision to Maine South in the season opener.

Coach Al Allen's outfit fell behind 21-14 at the intermission and pulled within three points, 30-27, after three quarters.

The Cards actually held a lead of one point in that third stanza but couldn't keep up the momentum.

Greg Lemein tossed in 13 points and turned in a strong rebounding game for Arlington.

Arlington will travel to Conant Friday evening for the conference opener.

Kept Foot Warm

An interesting record was set in the famous "snow bowl" of 1950 against Michigan and Ohio State—the mark for most punts ever made in a Big Ten game. The Wolverines' Chuck Ortmann punted 24 times in that contest.

Northwest Village Sidewalks Studied

The Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) will take up the question of providing sidewalks for the northwest quadrant of the village at tonight's meeting.

BOLI members are scheduled to give their recommendations on the sidewalk installation plans drawn up by BOLI engineers Consoer, Townsend. Earlier this fall BOLI took a bus tour of the area to see where sidewalks are needed.

Also on the BOLI agenda are continued hearings on the improvement of Lillian Street and the installation of improvements in front of one lot on Kaspar Avenue.

BOLI ALSO plans to discuss Evergreen Avenue and street improvements on Davis and Arthur Streets and South Walnut and North Highland Avenues.

Village engineer Charles Tower said Monday that he had not received either an acceptable letter of credit or money for the southern portion of the Evergreen Avenue project. Without the money or letter in escrow, BOLI plans to proceed with the project by special assessment.

Glory is God's

"He taketh the wise in their own craftiness."
—Job 5:13

In his first epistle to the Corinthians, Paul the Apostle reminded that the Lord knew the vain thoughts of many who professed to be the wise men of the world.

Pride is a basic emotion. Every man has the right to be proud of a noteworthy achievement, in business, in education, in good works; yet pride and glory are not necessary companions.

It is wrong, as Paul explains, to glory so much in our achievements that we magnify our importance. Earthly achievement is nothing if man is so taken with himself that he becomes short-sighted and does not recognize the great glory that is God's.

U. S. LAUNCHES
EXPLORER I;
OUR JOURNEY TO THE STARS BEGINS
Marty Watson

The Space Age began for the United States at exactly forty-eight minutes past 10 PM on Friday night Jan. 31, 1958.

At that precise moment, after months of frustration, the U.S. launched the first American satellite to go into orbit.

The launching took place at what was then called Cape Canaveral, Fla. The satellite was carried into the mid-winter, nighttime Florida skies by a Jupiter-C rocket as the moon looked down on America's first space success.

Weighing just 30.8 pounds, the satellite was a far cry from space vehicles capable of carrying man. But this successful orbiting that January night in 1958 paved the way for the first manned flight some three years hence.

This satellite was named, appropriately, Explorer I and it set the stage for all U.S. space exploration that was to follow.

Remedial Reading Progress Reported

Mrs. Maybelle Kincaid, head of remedial reading in Mount Prospect School District 57, reported on the progress of the remedial reading curriculum at the Nov. 22 meeting of the school board.

According to Mrs. Kincaid, the program now in progress at all district schools enrolling 122 children with a 55-child waiting list, helps the "underachievers"—children with high potential and low achievement scores. It reaches children in first, second, third and fourth grades.

Children are selected for the program by teacher referral in the spring, conferences with parents, and psychological reports. Oral and sight tests are given.

MRS. KINCAID said no one method is used in the curriculum. Some of the many techniques were the use of words in color, the phonics method, the "look say" method, motivational games, drills, homemade devices such as word wheels and even "nonsense words." She thanked the administration for supplying everything needed.

Mrs. Kincaid said she uses both oral and silent reading and had recently noticed that reading silently and whispering the words seemed to produce the best results.

The causes of reading problems are varied, according to Mrs. Kincaid, including physical defects, the adjustments required by moving, unsatisfactory beginning reading experiences, personality clashes with the teachers, and the fact that many children are being persuaded to read before they are ready to begin.

She said that some of the emotional problems which are present are physically caused, such as visual perceptual problems, auditory receptive problems; and association problems, which mean the children cannot put words and ideas together. Mrs. Kincaid said the question sometimes is: do these problems come at home or are they caused because the children don't learn to read? She said when emotional problems block learning totally there is sometimes a need for psychological therapy.

MRS. KINCAID noted that reading problems sometimes indicate a displacement of hostility in the child. As a reaction to parental pressure, the child "gets even" by refusing to read. She also noted that a child may be in fourth grade before he's ready to read.

The school board was concerned by the 55-child waiting list and by the children in fifth to eighth grade not included in the program. Mrs. Kincaid was asked if a third teacher to assist the present two, would help and she agreed it would.

She said that some openings would occur at the first of the year. Children are taken into the course on a basis of need. Some children stay in the program four months and others two years, although the average stay is one year. She felt there were some children not even on the waiting list because the course was so crowded.

Board president William Krampert asked for a count of eligible pupils in fifth through eighth grades. He said that as soon as the board receives a recommendation from the administration on the program it will take action. (M

Coffee to Honor Eugenia Chapman

Volunteers who worked for Mrs. Eugenia Chapman's reelection as state representative will host a coffee in her honor Thursday, Dec. 8, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

"Meet your representative even if it's between errands," is the invitation being passed out by Mrs. W. Eugene Harris and other members of the bipartisan committee in charge.

MRS. HARRIS said free babysitting would be provided during the coffee hour.

Mrs. Chapman, an Arlington Heights housewife and former District 214 school board member, was elected to the General Assembly in 1965 as a "blue ribbon" Democrat on the at-large ballot. She blocked out four-term incumbent Bernard Peskin of Northbrook Nov. 8 to win the Third District's "Democratic" seat.

The Mount Prospect residents hosting the coffee — Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse, Mrs. Harvey Baron, Mrs. Pat Conran, Mrs. George Larson and Cy Ondrey—were among doorbell ringers during the fall campaign.

Village States Policy On Gifts to Employes

The village board of Mount Prospect has reminded municipal employes and private industry that village employes are prohibited from accepting gifts or gratuities from private industry or private citizens.

A written statement of policy signed by Village Manager John C. Mongan, stated: ". . . All municipal employes are forbidden to accept gifts or gratuities of any kind from persons or firms, which gifts could be construed as being a result of their employment with the village. We request that any who are so inclined, not offer gifts, no matter how small, to employes of the village."

Mongan said that some 600 copies of the statement have been sent to local merchants and vendors with whom the village does business.

THE STATEMENT pointed out that many leading companies have adopted the policy of asking those with whom they do business not to offer gifts to company employes and have instructed their employes not to accept gifts.

The statement continued that if such a policy is regarded as proper for private industry, "it is doubly so with municipal government, where employes operate in a highly sensitive area of public trust."

If private industry and private citizens believe a city employe is deserving of special recognition for an act of good will during the past year, the statement suggests a note be sent to his or her superior expressing this opinion. The note would convey the spirit intended by the gift it replaces. (M

'Articulation' Trips Held For District 214 Faculty

High schools need to know if they've served their graduates well.

Colleges — despite appearances — need to check up, now and then, to see if their courses mesh with the high school background of their students.

To promote those goals, High School District 214 staff members have been taking trips to talk with both new college freshmen and members of the college staff.

"ARTICULATION Conference" is the slang expression for such a meeting, which took District 214 teachers a week ago to Northern Illinois University and will take some in the next couple weeks to the University of Illinois, Champaign and to Knox College.

Arlington High principal Bruno Waara says the main benefit for the high school is "feedback" on how well current freshmen have been prepared for college by their past high school years.

The high school staff is a bit amused to learn that the invitation has been broadened to other than guidance people so that college faculties can keep abreast of how the "new math," the "new biology" and "new physics" have changed the preparation high schoolers receive.

This year biologists and chemistry teachers from the local high schools will make the trip to the University of Illinois for the "Articulation Day." Last year invitations went to teachers in the area of Spanish.

A SOMEWHAT different conference arrangement — but with the same goal, that of improved communication — will take Donald Hruby of the Elk Grove High School science staff to Knox College, Galesburg, on Dec. 9-10.

Hruby, a resident of 1415 W. Grove Ave., Arlington Heights, is one of 10 counselors and 15 teachers invited to the conference.

Discussion topics will include whether the high school keeps up with college science and mathematics education changes and whether colleges are doing all they can to help high school science and mathematics teachers do their job.

Arlington Greens

Last call for the 12th annual Christmas dance, sponsored by the Arlington Greens Community Association, to be held Saturday, Dec. 3, at the VFW Hall, 811 N. Yale, Arlington Heights. Peter Petten and his orchestra will provide music for dancing, beginning at 9:30 p.m. A special table has been reserved for newcomers to the Greens, who are especially invited to come and get acquainted. Tickets are still available and a call to either of the residents listed below, will bring the right response: Bob Bright, Herb Weidinger, Terry Shannon, Bob Faulkner, Ken Jahnke, Angelo Pettenuzzo, Don McNamara or at the door.

Hosting men's and women's bridge the second and third Thursdays in November were the George Letts of N. Belmont Avenue. For the ladies, Marge Bengal topped the tally with 4720, Emily Coward, 3620, and Muriel Lett, 3380. Bill Carson's score of 3920 was first for the men, followed by Dick Sims, 3860, and Bill Heckendorf, 3610.

MRS. NORMA Wilkiewicz and children of N. Dryden Avenue joined their fifty-some relatives for an annual Thanksgiving family gathering at a hall in Cicero. On Sunday, Mrs. Wilkiewicz gave a dinner party for an uncle, Edward Fallion of Escanaba, on a vacation visit with relatives in the Chicago area. Other guests were her mother, Mrs. Romeo Hereau, and the Walter Stanis family of Chicago and Dryden Avenue neighbors, the Harold Heuer family.

A family birthday party on Monday evening for 2-year-old David Bengal in his N. Haddow Court home climaxed a busy weekend for the family. They served Thanksgiving dinner to grandparents and other relatives. On Sunday they attended the christening of niece, Patricia Ann Baier at St. Mathia Church, Mr. Bengal participating as godfather. Grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Bengal had a party after the ceremony in her Chicago home.

The Don McNamara family of E. Clarendon Avenue were Thanksgiving guests of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lukas Eisler in Morton Grove. A birthday cake was added to the holiday fare, observing Kent's 15th.

THE FOREST Saemrow family left their N. Hickory home last Wednesday morning for a Thanksgiving visit with grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ahlman in Morristown, Minn. During their five-day stay, they also visited other relatives and friends in New Ulm and Red Wing, before returning home Monday afternoon.

Thanksgiving dinner in the Shannon home on N. Hickory was postponed until Sunday, when Mr. Shannon, Kathy, home from classes at Western Illinois University, her roommate, Cherrie Williams of Canton, and a former neighbor, Erwin Dettloff, returned from a four-day holiday in northern Wisconsin's Springstead area.

Also home for the Thanksgiving weekend was Arlene Roby of N. Beverly Lane, a freshman at the University of Kentucky. A flight back to Lexington on Sunday ended her four-day visit.

Direct Group To Make Terms On Clarendon

A special committee of the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees was directed at the Nov. 22 meeting of the board to reach a solution on the vacating of Clarendon Street between Highland and Ridge Avenues.

Village manager L. A. Hansen said there were three possible solutions including joint ownership of the street by the residents, individual ownership of sections of the road, or a cul de sac arrangement by which the right of way would remain under public ownership.

Trustee Roy A. Bressler said that his committee would take action to see that the matter was settled by Jan. 15.

Village Pres. John Woods said that a special ordinance would be drawn up in case of vacation.

Hanson To Lead Loyola Seminar

Arlington Heights village manager L. A. Hanson has been invited to lead a seminar of municipal government students at Loyola University Jan. 27.

Hanson, who holds a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan will discuss the challenge of anticipating and meeting municipal parking needs.

Dist. 214 Growth Study:

Building May Mean Enrollment Slowdown

by MARY SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

After years of setting records, High School District 214's student enrollment may be slowing down.

That prediction was given the school board Monday by Dr. Frank S Endicott, Northwestern University professor asked to plot out the district's potential student population through 1975.

Dr. Endicott said his new figures show a "slight leveling off" in the rate of yearly increase.

The change will not mean, school officials agreed at the board meeting, that District 214 taxpayers can soon stop shelling out for buildings.

ASSUMING the predictions bear out and Dr. Endicott was careful to point out all the "ifs" —new school buildings might not be needed at such a rapid pace.

While pointing to the pitfalls in the statistical analysis, Dr. Endicott still predicted that the estimates in the next five years would be reliable. "I think these will prove to be at least 98 per cent accurate," he told the school board.

The district's seventh high school is planned for construction in 1970-71. If Endicott's predictions hold up, the building of the sixth school might be postponed until 1971-72.

Enrollment predictions are made by projecting present public and parochial elementary school enrollments into the high school years with increases for expected growth.

THE LAST TWO District 214 enrollment studies, done by Dr. Endicott in 1959 and 1963, showed high school population in the district climbing at a rapid rate.

The current study shows a smaller rate of increase than previously thought. With such a pattern it is harder to predict accurately what the final result will be, the professor explained.

New predictions estimate the high school district's student population at 13,287 in 1968, the year new Hersey High School will open; estimated 1969-1970 enrollment at 14,407, puts an 18,272 figure on the 1972-73 school year and estimates the 1974-75 enrollment throughout the district at 20,539.

The 1963 study made by Dr. Endicott estimated the 1969-70 enrollment throughout the district at 15,424 — 1,000 higher than the present prediction.

IN MAKING the survey Dr. Endicott and the two District 214 staff members who assisted him — Asst. Supt Roderick McLennan and Dr. Evan Shull — found that:

—The percentage of elementary school children enrolled in parochial schools is now 23 per cent, as compared to 26 per cent in 1951-52.

—The district-wide elementary population leveling off is noticeable in that the number in seventh grade in 1965-66 did not increase when that class was promoted to eighth grade. This was the first time in 12 or 15 years that there had not been a change in the class-by-class increase.

—There is a loss of 16 per cent in the number of total elementary pupils (public and private) that enroll in the five District 214 high schools as freshmen. The school officials assume — but have no proof — that this 16 per cent attends parochial or private high schools.

—TWO OF THE high schools' elementary feeder districts — Mount Prospect District 57 and District 214's share of Palatine District 15 — had no pupil increase at all between 1965-66 and the current year.

Dr. Endicott laid the change in pupil growth — a prediction which, if true, will ease the squeeze on local schools considerably — on a slowing in home construction as the area is developed.

He said a change in the home building market, currently depressed, could change the picture.

Predictions Basis Of New Boundaries

The impact of High School District 214's new enrollment predictions will come home to parents of most high schoolers at the school board's next meeting.

At that Dec. 12 meeting the board will hear recommendations for new high school boundaries based on the new enrollment figures.

The new boundaries will be those used when Hersey High School opens in northeast Arlington Heights in September 1968.

Dr. Frank S. Endicott, Northwestern University professor, discussed the over-all predictions at Monday's board meeting.

The within-the-district student flow will provide the basis for setting the new high school boundaries.

The new predictions will also have an effect on two pending school decisions:

—Whether to remodel Arlington High School and, if so, whether to increase its student capacity above the current 2,000 figure.

—Whether to plan to have a seventh high school ready for the 1970-71 school year.

It will take a few years, Dr. Endicott says, to tell if the "decrease in the increase" in student enrollment noted in the current study holds true. Much planning for the seventh high school must be made before that time.

Proposals for remodeling Arlington, to increase its physical education space and rearrange a poorly organized interior, have been under discussion for several months.

While increasing the physical education space would not be expensive, complete remodeling could come to $2 million or more, architects told the school district.

Dist. 214 Planning System-wide Testing

High School District 214 has begun preparations for system-wide exams that won't take place till April, 1968.

Dr. Gene Schwilck, regional coordinator for the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, was here Tuesday to help the local schools plan for the testing.

The testing itself, to be done by outside North Central inspection teams on four days the spring of 1968, will be preceeded by a self-evaluation that Schwilck and Dr. Edward H. Gilbert, District 214 superintendent, think is equally important.

DURING the self-evaluation, each District 214 high school — Arlington, Wheeling, Prospect, Forest View and Elk Grove — will examine its own program to see if it is doing what it should.

Department by department, operation by operation, will be scrutinized by committees in each school. This work will be done in great part this coming spring, Dr. Gilbert says.

"Whether we meet North Central Association minimum standards is not the question," Dr. Gilbert told Paddock Publications Tuesday. "We are confident that we do. But the evaluation will give each of our high schools a chance to examine itself to see if improvements are needed — and if so, when."

TUESDAY'S meeting was attended by a number of guest administrators — superintendents of other area high schools that are due for a North Central evaluation in 1968.

Among them were superintendents from Grayslake, Mundelein, Adlai Stevenson High School at Prairie View, Round Lake and the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Lake Forest.

Names of the North Central inspection team chairmen were also announced at the meeting. They will be Dr. Walter Cooper, superintendent of the Cicero and Morton schools; Dr. Donald Reber, LaGrange superintendent; Stuart Anderson, superintendent of Riverside-Brookfield; Paul Burke, Waukegan superintendent; and Clyde Parker, superintendent of Niles Township schools.

Permits Approved For 2 Well Sites

The Cook County Board of Commissioners Monday approved special use permits for two new well sites in unincorporated areas of Wheeling Township as proposed by Citizens Utility Co. of Illinois.

One site is approximately a quarter of an acre on the northeast corner of Euclid Avenue and the Soo Line Railroad right-of-way, north of Mount Prospect.

The second site is approximately a quarter of an acre on the northeast corner of Euclid Avenue and the Soo Line Railroad right-of-way, north of Mount Prospect.

The second site is approximately one acre on the southeast corner of Willow Road and Lee Street, and is to include a water reservoir and well. Both sites are in R-4 single family residence districts.

THE EUCLID-LAKE Association, a group of homeowners, had filed a formal objection to the Euclid-Soo Line well site.

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals had recommended that both special uses be granted subject to compliance with special conditions.

The new wells will add to the utility company's water supply as requested by the village of Mount Prospect. The company serves some 2,000 homes, including about 300 in the northern portion of Mount Prospect. Last July it experienced a severe water shortage and had to be supplied through a fire-hose hookup with the village's municipal water system.

Petitions requesting business and apartment zoning for a 38-acre planned development on the north side of Euclid Avenue west of Wolf Road in Wheeling Township were withdrawn by Patrick B. and Pearl M. McDonald of 401 E. Camp McDonald Road, Prospect Heights.

The village of Mount Prospect and homeowners in the vicinity of the planned project had filed objections against the development.

Two other petitions asking rezoning of two tracts at Elmhurst Road and Oakton Street in Elk Grove Township for business and apartment use also were withdrawn.

THE PETITIONS had been submitted by Otto C. Stephani of Lombard, owner of the property. He sought business zoning for approximately 8½ acres on the northwest corner of Elmhurst Road and Oakton, and R-5 multi-family zoning for nearly 32 acres on the west side of Elmhurst Road about 450 feet north of Oakton Street.

The county board sent two petitions to the zoning board of appeals for recommendation.

In one petition the Cities Service Oil Co. is seeking a special use to increase a sign height from the maximum 35 feet to about 68 feet at the southwest corner of Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road in Elk Grove Township.

The second one is from Joseph and Ursula Perschon of 143 Hill St., Mount Prospect. asking for a change from R-4 single family to B-3 general business zoning for three-quarters of an acre on the south side of Euclid Avenue about 325 feet west of River Road in Wheeling Township. (ACME

Village Draws a Bead On Solicitor Problem

by BETTY FORRESTER
Staff Writer

Does the suburban housewife have more of a weapon against solicitors than a polite "no" followed by a swift kick at the shin above the proverbial foot in the door?

The problem, a very real one for Arlington Heights, according to village officials, is under study by the village board's legal committee and the village attorney.

The committee plans to review the village ordinances on soliciting and trespassing.

COMMENTING ON the solicitation problem, Village Pres. John G. Woods said, "We are going to review the matter again, but we are pretty well restricted by a long line of court cases."

At the present time, the village has no ordinance calling for registration of solicitors. According to village clerk Mrs. Thomas Novotny, solicitors are asked to register at the village hall on a voluntary basis. Registered solicitors are fingerprinted and given identifying cards, she said.

She added that the village has no authority to force registration of solicitors under the present ordinances.

Harold P. Bell, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, said that book and magazine solicitation is a national problem as well as in Arlington Heights.

He said that even the Magazine Publishers Association (MPA) recognizes the problem and issues a description of known fraudulent solicitors. The bulletin is based on reports received by the association's circulation department.

One MPA description from the report states:

"Subject has issued a fake printed receipt National Literary Association, Inc., P.O. Box 1488, Cedar Rapids, Iowa (no longer in business). It was a very good copy and we have been advised that he was not an authorized agent for their agency. He issued receipts printed The National Circulation Co., Inc., 1855 Washington Ave., New York 12, N. Y. This agency is nonexistent. There is no 1855 Washington Ave. in Zone 12, New York City."

BELL SAID that the Chamber of Commerce had received five or six calls on the recent safety magazine solicitation.

"Our toughest problem is telephone solicitation," Bell said, adding that he could see no practical way to stop it.

Woods said that the solicitation problem was one of the reasons the Northwest Municipal Conference was supporting home rule. The solution, he said, could be state legislation.

Such legislation has been proposed by the Village of Wheeling. The Wheeling proposal, if enacted, would grant municipalities power to regulate, prohibit and license solicitors as long as this regulation did not interfere with freedom of the press.

Attempts to grant municipalities the power to regulate and license solicitors, however, failed at the last two sessions of the Illinois General Assembly.

In addition to its bid for state legislation, Wheeling has a local ordinance which prohibits uninvited door-to-door solicitation. It is currently defending its ordinance in court in a suit in which Field Enterprises, Inc., has challenged the local restriction.

According to a statement presented to the Illinois Municipal Problems Commission by Wheeling Village Atty. Paul Hamer, the Illinois Supreme Court has held that municipalities were without statutory authority to license solicitors.

Hamer, however, said the United States Supreme Court had upheld a municipal ordinance which prohibited uninvited door-to-door solicitation.

The passage of the bill proposed by Wheeling would, he said, preclude attacks stating that municipal prohibition of uninvited door-to-door solicitors had no statutory basis. (A

State Aide Sees Academys Program

A tentative curriculum for the proposed Northwest Police Academy in Arlington Heights will be reviewed by a state official tomorrow (Friday) at the Arlington Heights Municipal Hall.

At a meeting of police chiefs, Mervin G. O'Melia, executive director of the Illinois Law Enforcement Training Board in Springfield, will review a 160-hour program of course offerings.

According to Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood, an approval from O'Melia would get the academy off the ground. Calderwood hopes the police school will begin operation in January.

The curriculum, set up by local police chiefs, includes 10 hours of police public relations; 34 hours of legal subjects and criminal law; 21 hours of traffic and accident control; 16 hours of criminal investigation and handling crime scenes; 6 hours of writing reports and traffic records; 5 hours of patrol, and 61 hours for first aid, physical education, firearms training, juvenile matters, and crowd control.

POLICE RECRUITS would attend the school 40 hours for four weeks. Classroom and firing range facilities at the Arlington Heights Municipal Hall would be used.

Calderwood, who has spearheaded the formation of the academy, said he is now recruiting instructors for the school.

Lt. Jack Aldrich, a 14-year-member of the Arlington Heights police department, has been named director of the proposed school. Aldrich recently graduated from a 10-month course at Northwestern Traffic Institute which qualifies him for the post.

The proposed commuter school has been set up to alleviate expenses of transportation and housing.

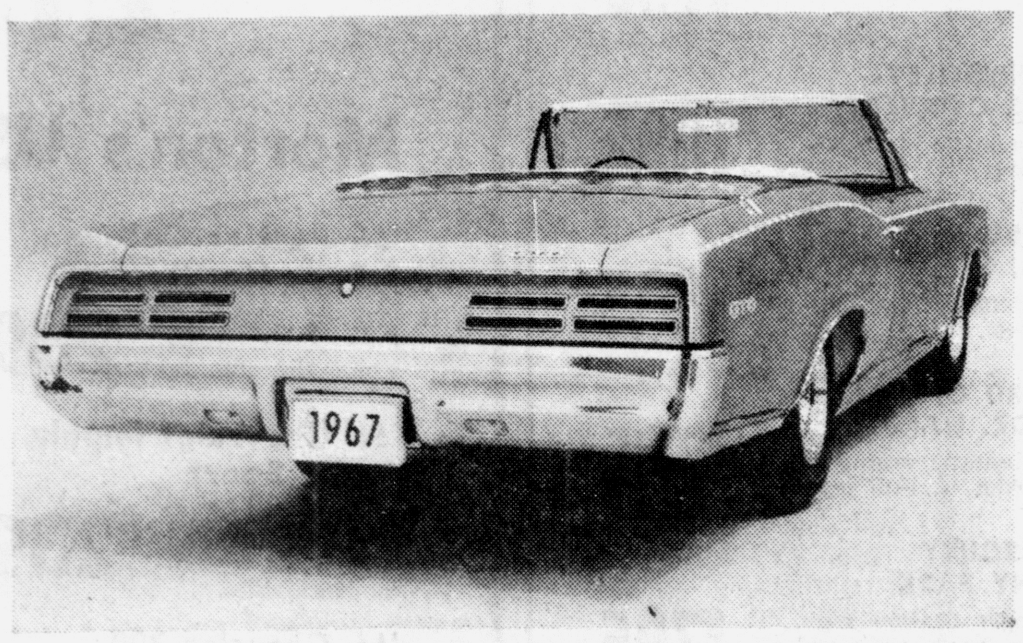
PRESENTING THE 1967

Pontiac GTO



The 1967 Pontiac GTO has its own distinctive appearance both front and rear. A diagonally woven aluminum mesh grille edged in aluminum frame presents an all new front-end look. Oval parking lamps float on this unique grille. The rear has four shaped ports, in banks of two, forming tail and stop lamps on either side. Appropriate GTO identification appears on the front, side and rear. The standard GTO is powered by a 400 cubic-inch engine and three-speed transmission. The Pontiac GTO is available in the convertible shown above and in a sports coupe and hardtop coupe.

The 1967 Pontiac interiors have been designed for improved quietness, safety and luxury. There are new colors, fabrics and increased quality throughout the entire line.

The body interior has been engineered to seal out engine and road noise by adding improved insulation and sound deadener material on the floor, headlining and behind the rear seat.

Of Pontiac's 15 exterior colors, 12 are new for 1967. Fabrics available are nylon blend cloth, jeweltone Morrokide and expanded Morrokide. Pontiac's Strato bench seat with free standing center arm rest is available along with bucket and bench seats. All floor carpeting is of loop pile nylon blend.

ST. VIATOR HIGH SCHOOL

Jr. Classical League

Sophomore Jim McDonough has been elected treasurer of the Junior Classical League of Illinois for 1966-67. The annual convention of this group will take place in the spring at Glenbard East High School. St. Viator students attended the last meeting at Ottawa High School this fall. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert S. McDonough, 233 S. Main Street, Mount Prospect. His faculty advisor is the Rev. Charles Maranto, C.S.V.

Food Drive Begins

St. Viator High School's fifth annual food drive will begin this week.

The drive, which is being sponsored by the freshman class, is designed to help the Little Brothers of the Poor and other Inner City parishes in Chicago. It will last until Christmas vacation begins.

FOREST VIEW HIGH SCHOOL

Donkey Basketball Results

Forest View's donkey basketball game, sponsored by the Forest View Lettermen, Saturday, was played before a full house in the boys' gym.

After the lettermen fell to the cheerleaders 16-12, the men's faculty team edged the women's outfit 12-10. In the Champion game the men ruled 6-4 over the women.

The Forest View Orchesis performed during halftime. After the game came to a close, many sides were hurting not to mention the seats!

Debate Results

Forest View High School's varsity debate team won two debate rounds and lost six Saturday at the debate tournaments at Evanston Township and Lyons Township high schools.

The beginners debate team results were four rounds won, four lost.

The next tournament is Nov. 24 at Hammond, Indiana.

ELK GROVE HIGH SCHOOL

Coke Dance

Elk Grove High School students, after the first varsity and junior-varsity games last Wednesday attended a coke dance immediately following the game. The Six Packs were featured.

Varsity fans were in good spirits because their team conquered the Addison Trail Blazers.

Debaters Get Experience

The Elk Grove High School Debate Team took seventh place in the practice debate tournament held Nov. 19 at Lyon Township High School and Junior College in Chicago.

Therese Harris and Peter Tullio, negative debaters, won four out of four debates. Barb Green, Andy Lesniack and Sue Warlund, affirmative debaters, won two out of four debates.

PROSPECT HIGH SCHOOL

New Rifle Club

A Rifle Club has been added to the list of extracurricular activities for Prospect High School students.

Made up of 35 members, the club meets every Thursday under the direction of American history teacher William Distel.

Its main objective is to eventually form a rifle team to compete in matches. They are presently using .22-caliber rifles for bore shooting and shotguns for trap shooting. They have made plans to begin shooting with pistols in December.

HUNTER'S HAVEN on Route 53 north of Itasca is used by the club for practice. Most members own rifles, but it is not a necessary requirement for membership. Also, shooting experience is not necessary.

Officers of the Rifle Club are president Chuck McClellan; vice-president, Bill Glasgow; treasurer, Mike Lackey; and secretary, Jeff Sauer.

CONANT HIGH SCHOOL

Exchange Program

The current project of the Conant Human Relations Club is an exchange program with Chicago city schools.

The club is corresponding with several schools and hopes to arrange an exchange in which a group from another high school will visit Conant for a day; in exchange, Conant would visit that school at a later date.

Miss Jill Dennington, club advisor, hopes the project will be completed in the near future.

Parents Invade Conant

Today Conant will hold its annual open-house for parents from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Each parent will follow his or her child's daily class schedule. Each teacher will be able to give a synopsis of their expectations for the school year.

However, parents are reminded that the open-house is not a time for individual conferences. All parents are invited to attend and see the rigors of school life that their children must go through.

Winter Concert

The 1966-1967 Conant Concert Choir will participate in the annual Winter Concert on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 2 p.m. in the gymnasium of Conant High School.

The Winter Concert, presented every year around Christmas, includes the Conant Concert Choir, the Advanced Girls Chorus, The Freshmen Girls Chorus, the Boys Chorus, and the Conant bands. No admission is charged.

Christmas Decorations

A Christmas Committee, established by the Conant High School Student Council is planning decorations for the school during the week before Christmas vacation.

The committee will decorate the cafeteria and main showcase area. Clubs and organizations will decorate other sections of the building.

Tentative plans for a Christmas tree and possibly a skit are being made.

Conant High School will present college night for parents of college-bound sophomores and juniors, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

M. M. Plate, principal, and Miss Lucille Berglund, head of the guidance department, will conduct the program for the evening. Specific details about particular colleges will not be discussed, but Miss Berglund will speak to parents on general topics such as college fees and student eligibility.

Students will not attend this evening, but they will have the opportunity to attend another college night at a later date when representatives from colleges will speak. The date of this event will be announced.

Big Trip In Their Future

SENIOR BILL BARNES practices on his trombone in preparation for the Canadian World Exposition.

by Carole Cameron and Nancy Pontoni

The most recent honor brought to Prospect High School's Symphonic Band was its selection to participate on June 20, 1967 at the Canadian World Exposition (EXPO 67) in Montreal. The band will perform, under the direction of Howard Sandlund, at the U.S. Pavilion as part of the Special Events Program.

Plans for the trip were discussed at a recent meeting of the parents of the band members. The band will travel by bus to the Exposition. Tentative plans include a stop-over concert, a sight-seeing trip at Niagara Falls, a ride through the Thousand Islands and another concert on the return trip.

The 65-piece band has been practicing every day on particular programs to be performed at the Illinois High School and Instrumental Concert to be held at Prospect March 11 and EXPO 67. Concerning the type of music to be performed at EXPO 67, Sandlund felt that since Prospect will be representing the United States, they should play the music of outstanding American composers.

Selections to be played for EXPO 67 are a John Philip Sousa march; "On The Trail" from Grand Canyon Suite by Ferde Grofa; selections from "West Side Story" by Leonard Bernstein; "Buglers Holiday" by Leroy Anderson; "Dixie" arranged by Morton Gould; and "America, The Beautiful" by Samuel Ward and Carmen Dragon.

Prospect Debaters In a Mixed Start

By NANCY PONTONI

Prospect High School's debate teams and individual speech events speakers opened their season by attending the first tournaments, which produced varying results.

The varsity debaters claimed six out of eight rounds at Carthage College. Seniors Dave Hunter and Greg Schmidt also were named as two of the top ten speakers selected by the college.

Varsity debaters juniors Dan Jackson, Dan O'Keefe, Gary Edwards and senior Dave Hunter took five out of eight rounds of speaking at Northern Illinois University and also did well on their trip to Evanston.

Bob Schmaus, Jacquie Luke, Don Valentine and Paul Lembesis of the junior varsity debate team took two of the eight rounds at their tournament at Niles West High School.

FOUR PROSPECT sophomores debated on the varsity level at Niles West High School and won five out of the eight rounds. Gaining experience on the varsity level were Chuck Hunter and Jim Hickey on the negative and John Wilkinson and Kevin Wandell on the affirmative.

On the novice level, Bob Karlicek, Dave Stitt, Ron Herman and Dan Ashley had two wins and suffered six losses at Niles West for their first tournament.

Individual speech events speakers attended their first tournament at Niles North High School and placed well in the standings.

Senior Joe Boerman was awarded three second places in his six rounds of speaking. Two were for his original oration, "Sexy Sixties," and the other was for his delivery of "The Return of the Square," by Charles Brower.

SOPHOMORE Lynn Hedke took two fourth places and one fifth place for participation in oratorical declamation with a speech by Martin Luther King entitled "I Have A Dream," Sophomore Mary Hutchings received one fourth place in three rounds of speaking for her original oration "Above All, Not Too Much Zeal."

Freshmen from Prospect speaking in the tournament were Chris Robinson in verse reading and Bev Bliege in radio speaking. Reading prose was junior Frank Psota.

Judges at the tournament from Prospect were speech coaches Miss Josephine Sims, Miss Karen Beckman and Ronald Sims. Forty schools took part in the tournament. (11Y

Conant Gets 2nd Exchange Student

By JOE MARQUART

Conant High School will welcome its second foreign exchange student, Rosa Sanchcz, on Dec. 20. Rosa, who is from Lima, Peru, will live for 3½ months with Sharron McJunkins, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Tracy McJunkins, 141 Ashland, Hoffman Estates. Sharron is a senior at Conant.

Correspondence between the two girls has prepared Rosa for her stay in the United States and has informed Sharron of what her guest will be like.

ROSA IS the oldest of four children in her family. She has a sister, 13, and two brothers, 11 and 9. Rosa's father is a merchant in the capital city of Lima and her mother is a housewife.

While in the United States, Rosa will celebrate Christmas, New Year's, and her 17th birthday. Sometime during her stay, she will join other members of International Fellowship, the sponsoring exchange organization, for a grand tour of New York City and Washington, D. C.

Expectations indicate that Rosa will bring with her an outgoing personality and a knowledge of America and our language which will allow her to "fit in" readily with her new community.

In exchange of Rosa's visit, Conant is allowed to send a student to a Latin American country during the summer months. The foreign exchange committee has announced that applications are now available to those students wishing to travel to South America through the exchange program.

It is hoped that the student will be selected before March 1 so that Rosa will be able to offer suggestions to the would-be traveler. (16Y

A Bob Richards Press Conference

He Fires Just One Question—And Scores

By JERRY JENKINS

I was excited, to say the least.

After hearing an inspiring speech by two-time Olympic champion Bob Richards, I was going to a press conference at Wheeling High School to talk to him. Well, that's what I thought.

My idea of a press conference is simple. I thought it would be five or six area high school sports editors and Bob Richards just sitting and chatting around a table. My idea was too simple.

Upon reaching Wheeling, where the director of the Wheaties Sports Federation had spoken on the third stop of his three-school journey which included Forest View and Prospect, I found that the little press conference was not so little.

I HANDED MY ticket to a lady at the entrance of the little theatre and noticed that she already had a stack of at least a hundred of them in her hand. When I walked in and saw all of the freshmen and sophomores, a few lettermen, and a couple of cheerleaders, I realized that I was the guest of Wheeling's career day.

As the room was filling up with loud underclassmen, I quickly erased almost all of the 20 questions I had jotted down and figured that I had better decide on just one question with hopes that it would be unique.

By the time Richards came onto the stage with a school official, the room had become fairly well filled and the noisy talking soon changed to enthusiastic cheers and clapping for the speaker, who had obviously inspired them in an earlier assembly as he had me and the others at Forest View.

Richards, who immediately opened the session to questions, refused to be addressed by anything but the name 'Bob.' The high schoolers began unabashedly to ask him questions the answers to which could have easily been found in any record book or olympic year book. I suppose, however, that there is nothing like telling your friends that Bob Richards told YOU just how high he pole vaulted and just how fast he ran the 100-meter dash.

As the time went on, the questions became more informative and we found that Bob is now a movie producer with his own studio, he still lifts weights to stay in shape, and that he has been with the "Wheaties People" as he calls them, for nine years.

ONE QUESTION was particularly funny, as the student thought he had better ask two at once, because he figured he would only have one chance. It came out like this, "Were you ordained and how did you get involved with Wheaties?" His answers were yes, he is an ordained minister and that the "Wheaties People" offered him a job after they had seen him on a TV show.

I was surprised at how interesting this "press conference" was becoming. When asked what he thought about and how he felt when he cleared the bar after two misses in the Olympic pole vault finals, he said, "Both times I had pulled muscles in my legs and I was concerned about that. I was on my last jump and I was concerned about that. I knew I had never vaulted that high before, and as I ran down the lane I kept thinking, 'Four years and one jump — four years of training for one jump.' As the pole went down into the box, everything in my body shouted, 'PUSH!' I had never pushed so hard in my whole life and it carried me almost a foot over the bar that I had missed twice before in the same meet."

With real enthusiasm he added, "You just cannot imagine the feeling when all those years of practicing and dreaming for this one moment pay off and 70,000 people start to scream before I even hit the ground."

WHEN ASKED about his training, he mentioned weightlifting and said that he had borrowed some bar bells from the school just before this conference and had worked out a little. He also added that he did some hand-stand pushups and the room was filled with cries for a demonstration.

He reminded them that less than 15 minutes before, he had worked out with weights, but that would not be taken as an excuse. So, in a dress suit, on the stage of the little theatre, he did five hand stand pushups and the crowd was wild with appreciation.

Bob finally recognized my hand and a roving microphone was brought over. At Forest View, he had ended his speech by saying that the greatest athlete of all had said that, if we wanted it bad enough, we could be like God. I was curious as to how much this great athlete meant to Bob Richards.

I said, "The last person you mentioned in your talk at Forest View, though you did not mention his name, was Jesus Christ. Could you tell us what he means to you right now?"

Richards grinned and tilted his head to the side before he said, "Well, young man, when I was 16 years old, I met Jesus Christ as a person. I would say that I did not really study or train until I was converted. Now, I'm not just saying this to be a witness. Christ is real to me and has been for a long time. He has given me the inspiration and the power and the desire to live for God.

"I'm not the only athlete that has a deep devotion to God. I belong to an organization called FCA - that's the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. There have been several athletes down through the years who have excelled out of a deep faith in God. He's the greatest to me. I'm just glad that someone introduced me to him when I was 16."

RICHARDS went on to mention many athletes who are members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He named several pro quarterbacks including Bill Wade, Frank Tarkenton, and Don Meredith. He talked of baseball players: Bobby Richardson, Al Worthington, Jim Kaat, Felipe Alou, Don Demeter, and J. C. Martin. Other sports figures included were Hoyt Wilhelm, Ray Berry and Don Shinnik. He said that if he had time he could name many more.

I was glad I had asked the question; happy also that more than just five or six sports editors were there to hear the answer. Now several underclassmen (boys and girls) know that for Bob Richards, and many other athletes, there is more to incentive and inspiration than the rewards of glory, the roar of the crowd, and money.

Bob Richards impressed me. He is a real man. (16Y

Hospital Gives Teens 'Tour' Of the Emergency Facilities

By BILL EVEN

"Action in the Emergency Room" was Dr. Robert Alfini's topic as he launched Northwest Community Hospital's teen-age lecture series, "A Firsthand Look at Medicine," last week.

Dr. Alfini's talk was the first in a series of seven to be given between now and May 14.

Dr. Alfini first acquainted the group of about 150 teen-agers with the modern concept of the emergency room as a functioning unit in the hospital. With the growth of the population, he said, people have less contact with a family doctor and have come to rely on an emergency room whenever something in the nature of a critical injury arises.

He pointed out that Northwest Community Hospital has done an excellent job of keeping up with the ever-inca sirgnu-enm with the ever-increasing number of people and their need for facilities.

SURPRISINGLY, only 15 per cent of the admittances arrive by ambulance and the vast majority arrive without professional help. Dr. Alfini mentioned that, with the advances of technology, the police and fire departments will probably be taking over ambulance services in the coming years due to the high cost of the equipment involved.

After giving a background of the emergency room as we know it today, he outlined the first steps which must be taken by a physician and his staff when attending the injured or sick patient.

First and foremost is the establishment of an airway, as the person, above all else, must be able to breathe. This is usually done by clearing any obstructions in the windpipe. Secondly, there is the problem of shock, and keeping the patient warm and calm is the key there. Bleeding, which usually looks worse than it is, he said, can then be cared for, whether it is external or internal.

With these preliminaries taken care of, the doctor can get down to the actual care of the patient and his specific injuries.

Handling the patient during and before medical attention is a major factor toward his safe recovery. Dr. Alfini pointed emphatically to the advances made in this regard.

He mentioned that much better care has been taken by the police and all those involved with helping an injured person, as patients now come into the emergency room with splints and pressure bandages, making the doctor's work easier and more successful.

ALONG WITH this, he stressed the work done by the nurses and volunteers, both in care of the patient while the doctor is working and in the building of the patient's morale and peace of mind during recovery.

After explaining the basic operations of the emergency room, Dr. Alfini projected a number of x-ray films and explained the various injuries shown, how they were caused, and the manner and success of the treatment.

Informally programmed, the rest of the period was open for questions. Areas touched upon during this time were child care when either sick or accidentally poisoned, legal influences on medicine, and general emergency room routine.

Perhaps the most interesting and informative part of the lecture, many questions and misunderstandings of those attending were cleared up during this time.

Following Dr. Alfini, Russell Brown, co-ordinator of the series, commented on the impressive number of students attending and invited all those interested to attend the next lecture on Dec. 11 when Dr. James Kane will appear and cover the details of "Wielding the Knife—In Surgery." (16Y

Safety Program Presented

To stress the importance of highway safety and driver education, an assembly was presented by Thurlow Spurr and the Spurrlows to Arlington High School students last week.

This is the third year that the "Music for Modern Americans" program has toured the country in the interest of highway safety. During the last two years, Spurr and his Spurrlows have performed at 1,000 different high schools before 2,000,000 students.

THE ASSEMBLY, sponsored by Chrysler Motors, included a safety skit and a safety song. Thurlow Spurr also delivered a speech on the proper attitudes of teen-age drivers.

Richard Eckert, Thomas Pitchford, Fran Somers, and Thomas Walthouse, Arlington's Driver Education instructors, were awarded special highway safety citations.

High School Highlights

Conant High Senior a Junior Miss

Kathy Molbeck, a Conant High School senior, was awarded the title of Hoffman Estates' Junior Miss.

Kathy and three other girls from the 19 finalists will go to the state competition for Junior Miss of Illinois. The three girls are Linda Marshalla, Addison; Susan Courtney, Mount Prospect; and Elizabeth Hughes, Arlington Heights.

These girls were selected on the basis of talent. Kathy sang "I Have Confidence" from "The Sound of Music." Other talent ranged from skits to an organ solo.

Kathy will go to the state contest at Mill Run Theater Dec. 26-30. There she will compete for the title of Junior Miss of Illinois and a $2,500 scholarship. (16Y

FOR THE FAMILY MANAGER

ITEM: Four major elements must be considered when decorating a room — walls, floor covering, draperies, and upholstery or slipcover fabrics for furniture. Wall decoration provides connecting link which ties together draperies and floor covering, also provides background for furnishings.

ITEM: Many new bathrooms are being installed with vanity lavatories in which the bowl is set into a wide countertop, with storage space beneath. Such "furniture" is also growing popular for the bedroom — a real boon to families in which several children or adults have to get ready for school and work at the same time.

ITEM: The soap industry invested over $150 million and three years of intensive research to develop the "soft" detergents. These detergents break down into harmless products when they go down the drain and enter the sewerage system.

Faculty Triumphs In Volleyball

by KATHY SIMONS

A week of victory yells, posters, and class rivalry, came to a head last week (Wednesday) in the annual Sacred Heart of Mary High School senior-faculty volleyball game.

For the first time in three years, the seniors were defeated by the faculty in two out of three games. The score for the first game, won by the faculty, was 15-13; the second, a senior victory, was 15-9, and the third game, the deciding factor, was a close 16-14.

The faculty team was cheered on to victory by freshman cheerleaders Carolyn Cantwell, Jan Cerni, Carol Cerrani, Gail Enderle, Sue Flynn, Dyane Fischer, Sue Kaminski, Gayle Konczyk, Mary Kay McDonough, Kathy Mokate, Judy Moore, Chris Pedersen, Maggye Dorsey, and Donna Zaborowski.

THE JUNIOR and senior classes were led in yells for the senior team which was made up of Pam Bailey, Mary Lee Barton, Anne DeFrere, Pat Driscoll, Jenny Frigo, Chris Gracyk, Maureen Gore, Kary Krusche, Carrie Michuda, Chris Neimec, Mary O'Keefe, Mary Peterhans, Rita Preston, Denise Van Huele, and Mary Anne Zeinz; by senior cheerleaders Kay Burns, Geri Clark, Christy Dawson, Donna Leeseley, Pat Malons, Mickey Pesche, Pam Ratajik, and Mariann Wiley.

Two referees were chosen from neutral classes. They were Chris LaMonoco, '68, and Debbie Locke, '69. Both are members of the SHM varsity team.

FTA Clubs Offer More Than Just Information

By JAN KLAS and BARBARA ROMANO

The Future Teachers of America clubs in area high schools not only provide information on the teaching profession, but also try to encourage potential teachers to prepare for this challenging career.

And the clubs — 305 in Illinois alone with 12,539 members — are engaged in many worthwhile and educational activities as evidenced by the three-year-old Forest View High School club with Miss Rosemary Chilstrom as advisor.

Some of the club's regular activities this year include the scheduling of a monthly speaker, the visiting of representatives of area colleges — one in the fall and one in the spring, the providing of guides for Teacher-Parent Conference night, acting as teacher aides in elementary as well as in high school, and sponsoring a tea for teachers during American Education Week.

"THERE MAY be teacher shortages in key areas across the country, but not much is gained by merely plugging up the gaps with anyone immediately available," Miss Chilstrom said.

"This country — indeed, mankind — needs people who are personally, as well as professionally, prepared to tackle the rapidly increasing and frustratingly confusing problems of educating 'everyone'," she added.

Because of Forest View's large number of members — approximately 80 — the chapter ranks in the upper quarter of all the clubs in Illinois.

The president of the club is senior Randi Hagen; vice president, senior Pat Murphy; secretary, senior Donna Becker; and historian, senior Charlotte Derwin.

IN THE PAST month, the club sponsored a baby picture contest. All students were eligible to participate. The student correctly naming the most teachers' baby pictures would win a prize.

There were co-winners last week; both correctly named the same number of teachers. The prize, a pen, was awarded to Meredyth Buckholz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buckholz of 2109 Robin Lane in Rolling Meadows and Barbara Romano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Romano of 2010 Golf Road in Arlington Heights.

THE TEACHERS whose baby pictures were used were Richard Carey, Miss Rosemary Chilstrom, Robert Foust, John Hangey, Mrs. Nancy Irvan, Miss Jane Mahin, Mrs. Pansy Porter, Miss Doral Rose, Burton Showers, John Soderstrom, Robert Stelk, Mrs. June Stevens and Miss Karen Sundberg.

Also, approximately 15 Forest View High School FTA students visited Englewood High School in Chicago recently. Englewood, an all-Negro school, is an old building with about 3,000 students.

"The purpose of the trip was to see an all-Negro school in action and see how students work under less favorable surroundings than ours," Miss Chilstrom said.

"The people were friendly and proud of their school. They were interested in our student representatives and what they had to say. They were very courteous," Randi Hagen, FTA president, said.

THE VISITING students witnessed a skit showing the advantages and disadvantages of being a teacher. They then visited some classes and met a number of the students.

MISS ROSEMARY CHILSTROM, faculty advisor for Forest View High School's FTA chapter, confers with senior Randi Hagin, chapter president, on various club projects.

(16Y

"Their choir and boys chorus were fabulous," Randi said. "It is somewhat like ours."

The students attending were Joy Wittrock, Joy Hermansen, Marcia Durham, Gayle Kukla, Georgia Fackler, Donna Quinn, Kathy Shafer, Linnea Bass, Randi Hagen, Linda Fergusen, Linda Zierfuss, Dawn Ragen, Sally Meyers, Chris Prentice and Sue Frankowski. (16Y

More Combos In Spotlight

By BARBARA ROMANO

Forest View High School combos are headed for the big time!

Four of these groups were covered last week. They are the "Reefers," "Unleashed," "Dynasty of Sound," and "Saten's Chyldrin."

Another group, not yet introduced, is the "Druids." Two of the "Druids" are sophomores at Forest View; two are sophomores at Elk Grove; and one is a senior at St. Viator.

The "Druids" consists of Vince Sebastian, rhythm guitar; Bill McDowell, harmonica, tambourine and lead vocal; Mike Byrnes, bass guitar; Jim Henry, drums, and Rick Ellingsworth, lead guitar.

They mainly play their own arrangements of other groups' songs.

THE "DRUIDS" have played at Forest View and Elk Grove high schools, the Hut, a teenage night club in Chicago, and private parties.

"We would like to become more popular and well-known in other areas of the state. We might someday like to cut a record," Bill added.

Another group is the "Renegades."

The "Renegades" are Don Hull, lead singer; John Hart, bass guitar; Butch Dickenson, rhythm guitar; Greg Neuman, drums; Jack Malo, organist and Link Echart, lead guitar.

They've played at the New Place, the Hut, the Cellar, the Other Place, the Green Gorilla, the Tiger's Tale and the Teen Fair at McCormick Place.

They have two original songs, "Do You Remember Me?" and "By Myself." They have arrangements of songs by other groups and have just cut a record by Bob Dylan called "Maggie's Farm."

"We play for fun and the money. We want to be known and become popular," John said.

The "Misfitts" all go to Forest View. Four are juniors and one is a sophomore.

The "Misfitts are Gary Fergusen, drums; Mike Higgins, rhythm guitar; Terry Garcia, lead guitar; Ray Slaninka, bass guitar and Gary Gathman, vocal.

THEY'VE PLAYED at the Hut, the Deep End, private parties and can be seen tonight in the Variety Show at Forest View.

The "Misfitts" don't really have any original compositions but they play a lot of Byrds, Shadows and Stones numbers.

Ray added, "To play music the best we know how and gain popularity is our main reason for existence."

Another combo group is "Nobody's Business." They are Tom Schoenfeld, drums; Neil Robinson, rhythm guitar; Gary Robottom, lead guitar; Jim Lafoom, bass guitar, and Fred Wood, vocal.

They have two originals, "I Can't Wait for Your Love" and "Revolutionary Tall."

"Nobody's Business" has played at the Hut, the Deep End and Elmhurst College.

"We are striving for popularity with a wide variety of young people. We would very much like to play at the Cellar," Tom added.

Senior Spotlight

A Column Honoring Seniors From Paddock Area Schools

(High School Highlights is resuming its column "Senior Spotlight," a personality column featuring two outstanding seniors from one of our area high schools. In this issue we spotlight two senior boys from St. Viator High School, Jim Dahl and Ed Erbach.)

by Jim Moran

The only proper way to describe St. Viator High School seniors Jim Dahl and Ed Erbach is active. These two students were chosen by the guidance department of St. Viator to represent the school in the Senior Spotlight section.

Ed Erbach is the executive president of the Student Council. Last year Ed headed the Active Four ticket, which based its campaign on the leadership and initiative that the members of the ticket had as proved by their participation in other extra-curricular activities.

ED'S TICKET promised continued student action, and has provided it so far. They organized St. Viator's third annual Homecoming, giving it a new theme and a different look. Ed sponsored a school flag contest in which various designs were submitted; one was eventually chosen as the flag. And the annual food and clothing drives are being expanded and improved this year.

But Ed's activities range far beyond the Student Council. Ed has been a member of the Young Christian Students for four years, and was the secretary for two years. He has been one of the guiding lights of the organization since its inception.

Ed also has been an artist on the newspaper for four years. He has done both serious work and cartoons. Any student at St. Viator can recognize an Erbach pep poster. But Ed's artistic talent is not limited to drawings and comics. Ed's oils have appeared frequently in St. Viator's literary publication, the Muse. They also have been used in the guidance offices, the organizations room and the paperback bookstore.

Athletically, Ed has been a member of the baseball team for four years. Last year he was a standout as a pitcher on the varsity. Ed is also respected as a hitter of no small merit.

Academically, Ed ranks second in his class of 213. He is a member of the National Honor Society, a National Merit Commended Student, and an ISSC semifinalist.

Ed feels that a student has as much of a responsibility to his school as the school has to him. "No school can be any better than its student body," he said. "The school is only as good as it students want it to be." Ed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Erbach of 513 S. Main Street in Mount Prospect.

JIM DAHL is no stranger to achievement either. For four years, Jim has been the starting center on the football team. He has been a standout in St. Viator's offensive line, and his collarbone injury a month ago was considered a serious blow to Lion title hopes.

"He will be very difficult to replace," said Joseph Gliwa, head football coach at St. Viator. Jim has won two major letters in football and has also participated in golf for three years.

But Jim's accomplishments don't stop with sports. He has been a member of the newspaper staff for four years and has written an award-winning article on St. Viator's image. He is also the business manager of the yearbook and an active member of the Student Council.

Jim has also been a member of the YCS for four years. He has attended several local planning sessions for interschool conferences sponsored by the organization. He has worked to write a suitable constitution for the YCS.

Jim has also been St. Viator's best representative at large for the past few years. He has attended the Illinois Association of Student Councils' convention twice, has been a delegate to the High School Conference on Intergroup Relations and has been St. Viator's representative to the Chicagoland Prep League's first annual Interschool Congress.

Jim ranks first in his class, and has been named a National Merit Commended Student. He has participated in the Illinois State Scholarship Commission's annual competition, and has been named a semifinalist in that, also.

Jim thinks that a student's main goal should be to improve himself and his school at the same time. "This can be done in several ways," he said. "But if a person tries to better himself in anything connected with the school—be it sports, journalism, or anything else—the results will reflect on the school as well as the student."

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Dahl of 416 Windsor Drive in Arlington Heights. (16Y

Students Reminded Of Essay Deadline

Illinois high school seniors are reminded today that little more than a month remains to submit entries in the 1966 traffic safety essay contest being sponsored by the Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar.

Willard S. Hansen, seminar president and editor of the Champaign News-Gazette, pointed to the Dec. 31 deadline.

Five $500 scholarship grants will be awarded to contest winners by the Chicago Motor Club.

Hansen said more than 500 requests have been received so far for entry blanks.

Following are the contest rules:

The essay length is limited to 1,000 words. It is to be mailed with entry blank, to seminar headquarters, 66 E. South Water St., Chicago, Ill. 60601. Essays must be received by Dec. 31.

A SEMINAR screening committee will pick the best essays to send to the students' local newspapers for publication. Contest rules require that an essay be published in the entrant's local newspaper to be eligible for final scholarship consideration.

The local newspaper returns a tearsheet of the published essay to seminar headquarters. To be eligible for scholarship and other awards, the published essays must be returned by March 1, 1967.

A special committee of educators to be named by the Seminar will select the five scholastic winners from all essays which have been published. All other published essays will earn special honorable mention awards.

Scholarship awards will be presented at the 10th annual Seminar meeting in Springfield, April 14, 1967. (16Y

PLACES TO GO

The Cellar, Of Course!

Loud—long—and 'lectrifying! That's the description of the special plans at the Cellar this weekend.

If you're planning to be there, be prepared to enjoy a unique experience. Friday and Saturday, Cellar Productions will present three fantastic groups.

Saturdays Children, The Mauds, and the fabulous new Electric Band will perform. What's unique about it? All three of these talented organizations will perform together on the same stage, at the same time! Fifteen musicians working together as one unit can only mean a night of completely overwhelming sound!

SUNDAY, THE CELLAR will hold auditions for new groups. The auditions will be open to the public from 12:30 p.m. until about 9:30 p.m. with an admission fee of 50 cents.

The Pink Panther, Green Gorilla, Purple Penguin, Crimson Cougar, and the New Place will be open as usual this weekend, but no list of featured entertainment is available.

BOOK REVIEWS

On Fydor Dostoevsky's THE IDIOT

No doubt many good books are being written today, but once in a while one should look back at one of the older classics to find a theme well worth reading and thinking about.

Once such novel, The Idiot by Fydor Dostoevsky, has a theme that many individuals have thought about—man's inability to come to moral perfection in an imperfect world.

"My intention is to portray a beautiful soul" said Dostoevsky —and what a man he creates! Prince Myshin, the main character, is a man of rare goodness, sincerity, and kindness whose goodness is mistrusted in the twisted world of a society preoccupied with wealth, power, and personal conquest.

Eventually, Prince Myshin crumbles in his ideals and beliefs as he becomes aware of all the human misery that exists around him. Here the main theme is produced—man has no possibility of coming to a flawless perfection in a scarred world.

Whether or not you agree with Dostoevsky's beliefs, the book still holds value in creating a timeless man. The greatest writer of Russian literature wrote novels of fantastic impact and psychological insight. His life, even though he was a very successful writer, was one of poverty and personal despair.

Banishment to Siberia (because he was thought to be involved in revolutionary activities) and frequent attacks of epilepsy played major roles in his life mixing his suffering and, leaving in its wake, a bitter and broken man.

But in Dostoevsky's worst despair, he wrote his most clever and moving novels, one of them being The Idiot . . . a very beautifully described book, intrinsic in its construction, and delicate in its characters. This novel certainly will capture the reader's mind and heart.

ON AYN RAND'S ANTHEM

"It is a sin to write this. It is a sin to think words no others think and to put them down upon a paper no others are to see." So begins a short novel with a great deal to say, Anthem, by Ayn Rand.

Set in the distant future, Anthem points out the inevitable outcome of socialism as Ayn Rand sees it.

The main character, Equality 7-2521, is a rebel in spite of his own efforts to conform. His restless mind asks questions he dare not speak. His hands seek to create, an unforgivable sin for a street sweeper.

The electric light bulb has not been discovered yet, and the vocabulary is lacking the most important word ever created. Equality's search for both is exciting, revealing, and thought-provoking.

RUDOLPH STARS!

Hey—Santa Claus fans . . .do you know the real story of Rudolf the Red Nosed Reindeer?

Rudolf didn't grow his nose; he was born that way! He had a very traumatic childhood due to his deformity, and he was a very sad and miserable introvert until he proved his worth one day.

THIS YEAR, General Electric is again presenting the animated story of Rudolf on television. If you consider yourself too old for cartoons, you are going to miss one of the most enjoyable programs of the holiday season.

The Story of Rudolf has all the elements of a typically bad TV show. It has violence, danger, excitement, and romance (Rudolf has a girlfriend). There is one more thing besides these elements . . . the show is fresh and delightfully entertaining. In fact, you probably won't even notice that it's animated.

Records

New records to watch for! Within the next few weeks, three of your favorite groups will release new single records.

The Mamas and the Papas will record a very good song, "Go Where You Wanna Go." It's kind of a folksy beat with love song lyrics. If you're a Mamas and Papas fan, you'll like it.

THE MONKEYS have released a new record that is at present being played on Arlington's local station exclusively. It's called "I'm a Believer" and it's even better than "Last Train to Clarksville."

Our own Saturdays Children are going to release a new single this week. The record is an original composition incorporating conventional Christmas Carols with a beat. The arbitrary title is "Christmas Song" and it really sounds like a smash!

By the way, did you know that Saturdays Children have made a Doctor Pepper commercial with Donna Loren?

Concert Review

Have you ever seen several thousand teenagers completely happy to have spent money? If not, you haven't seen an audience after a Lovin' Spoonful concert.

On the eve of Thanksgiving, and Thanksgiving Day, the Lovin' Spoonful performed along with the Association and the Blues Magoos at McCormick Place in Chicago. Both nights the groups played to capacity crowds.

The Association is one of the most versatile groups in the country. With no difficulty in transition, they switched from hard rock sounds to plaintive and thought-provoking ballads. Each number they did was completely enjoyable.

AS FOR STAGE presence, the Association's is a well put together act. There is a bit of comedy evident throughout their performance which is especially noticeable in two or three skits.

The group also has its serious side. Perhaps the highlight was a recitation of James Thurber's beautifully meaningful poem, "The Last Flower." Some of the members of the audience were not mentally mature enough to handle the situation, but the short moments devoted to the poem were enough to make even the most confirmed optimist think about his world.

The Blues Magoos, a new young group from New York, are concerned with the new concept of music commonly known as "freak out," but to which they refer as "psychedelic sound."

The total effect of their efforts is not unpleasant, but it could become monotonous if not broken up by some other type of sound. While it would be difficult to put a final judgment on the Blues Magoos because they did only three numbers at the concert, it is pretty safe to say that they are very talented and will be around for awhile.

The Lovin' Spoonful, headliners and most dynamic part of the program, were all that could have been expected of them. From "Jug Band Music" to "Summer in the City" with all its special effects, the songs were exciting and completely enthralling. With the more and more accepted audience attitude of "listen, don't scream" the Lovin' Spoonful's act was fantastic.

The group employed nearly every type of music imaginable including blues and soul. Their stage manner is one of relaxed "hominess" and the audience feels as though they are at home watching a jam session among some friends.

There is nothing stiff or phony about the Spoonful. They are good, they know they're good, and they convince their audience that they are one of the best acts in the music world.

Emcees of both shows were the WCFL disc jockeys, popularly known as the VIP's. Barny Pip played his trumpet, Dick Williamson played his harmonica, and the rest of them did an enjoyably nauseating rendition of "Winchester Cathedral" for about 30 minutes using the audience as a background choral group. Homemaking Competition

Senior class girls at Forest View and Arlington high schools will be among more than 500,000 throughout the nation who will take a written knowledge and attitude test dealing with homemaking Dec. 6.

One of these may go on to earn a $5,000 college scholarship from $110,000 in available scholarships. National runners-up will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

State winners will be awarded $1,500 grants with $500 awards going to state runners-up. Their schools will be presented sets of encyclopedias by Encyclopaedia Britannica. Local winners will be presented specially designed silver charms and will have their test papers entered in state competition.

The program is sponsored by General Mills, Inc.

A Volkswagen, obviously.

It's easy to spot a VW. Even with enough snow on it to hide the beetle shape.

It's the one that keeps moving.

A VW will go up icy hills when other cars won't go at all. The engine is in back, where it gives the rear wheels much better traction.

That's half the problem. The other half is to keep the engine working. So the VW engine is cooled with air, not water. There's no need for anti-freeze, no chance of the block cracking. (No boiling over in summer, either.) No draining. No flushing. No rust.

You can park a VW outdoors in sub-zero weather or dig it out of a snowbank; it's ready to roll as soon as you turn the key.

If there isn't any ice and snow around when you try a VW, don't think you can't judge the car's extraordinary abilities.

Just come in and take a VW for a run. Through some sand or mud.

Conant Ensembles Slate Performances

Two popular Conant High School singing ensembles, the Conettes and the Conaires, will present holiday programs for the Schaumburg Junior Women's Club, Dec. 5, and the Hanover Women's Club. Dec. 14.

In performing at the Village Hall for the Schaumburg women, the Conant Choral Department is repeating a holiday appearance by a madrigal group last year.

Selections to be performed by the two groups are "Carol of the Bells" and "Drummer Boy" by Conettes and "Medley of Carols" and a recent composition, "Do You Hear What I Hear" by Conaires.

CONETTE members include Debbie Rosenkrantz, Barb Knight, Sheila Raspberry, Charlene Miyashita, Sandy Schaefer, Denise Michels, Sandi Green, Michele Dean, and Sue Weinberg.

Conaires ensemble features Sam Culpepper, Brian Bethke, Kathy Clifford, Jon Ellithorpe, Frank Getz, Doug Griffin, Marshall Hjertstedt, Carole Kuk, Donald Kuk, Jeff Larson, Lisa Levin, Randy Lynch, Maureen Lux, Sharron McJunkins, Kathy Molbeck, Ruth Nicholson, Linda Oster, Earnie Sanders and Stephanie Simone.

'Kids' on Stage This Weekend

by DAVE VIRTA

The place to be this weekend, is Forest View High School's theater at 8 p.m. tonight or Saturday when "Kids," this year's variety show will be presented.

Price of admission is $1.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the show will feature appearances of faculty members and parents singing the opening number of the show, "Kids."

This number emphasizes how kids today are a bunch of lazy, longhaired bums, and wonders why the kids can't be as perfect as their parents were when they were young.

THE FACULTY also tells how the kids of today waste time in school chewing gum and always getting detentions.

The administration cast members are L. S. Jenness, principal; Robert Haskel, assistant principal for instructional services; and Burton Showers, director of student activities.

The teachers are Mrs. Sherry Adams, Mrs. Margaret Cadle, and Robert Staley, all English teachers.

But?? — How will the "Kids retaliate? Behind the swinging singing troubadors will be a row of school lockers; when the doors will pop open and out will fly — Kids! This will be their chance to show how good they really are.

The Variety Show also will have other acts, and dance will be one of them. Headed by Norma Eckert, dance choreographer, and Mrs. Patricia Kopp, advisor to the choreographer, this group will perform as its main number "Whipped Cream" by Herb Alpert and the Tiajuana Brass.

JUNIOR KIM Garrity, a semifinalist and 2nd runner-up in the Miss Teenage Chicago Contest, will be doing the dance she performed for the talent division of the contest.

Singing also will play a part this year's show. Chris Armstrong is in charge of the chorus and is advised by Vincent Ahnquist, choral director. Their main number will be "Clam Bake."

Also included in the show will be two combos. One will play rock and roll and the other, jazz.

Comedy routines and mimes (Acting without words as means of expression) also will be featured in the show.

This year's show will be different from past years in that shorter, topical scripts with continual blackouts will replace the continual script.

These blackouts are going to be take-offs on TV commercials. In one instance, the girl in the Brylcream ad will get stuck in the tube.

High School Highlights

IT IS THE AIM of Harold Petersen, director, to involve as many students as possible in this show. He estimates that there are over 200 now participating. Everyone will have his part; there will be no individual stars, he said.

The student director of the variety show is Dave Cook. Bart Tarman is in charge of the script and Terrie Hysell is in charge of the individual acts.

Dennis Koppo, advised by Charles Wilde, is in charge of the lighting. Tom Chilton, president of Student Council, heads the sound crew.

Also Linda Glass, publicity; Tom Byrd, business manager; and Frank Calvello, ticket sales.

Pat Ayres is the program manager and Debbie Jo Connley is the stage manager. Robert Stelk is technical director.

For extra incentive. Petersen says that there will be numerous surprises awaiting those who attend this year's show. For example, the Jolly Green Giant will make an appearance!!

REHEARSAL for Forest View High School's variety show "Kids" features these girls in a closing dance line. They are (l. to r.) Norma Eckert, Meredyth Buckholz and Debbie Dahlgren. The show opens tonight in the school theater at 7:30 p.m. The Saturday performance begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1. (16Y

Cheerleaders Get Their New Uniforms

by Nancy Pontoni

To start off the basketball season, Prospect High School's varsity cheerleaders have changed their uniforms.

In place of the familiar navy blue sweaters and skirts are white skirts, navy vests and white knit turtleneck shirts. The styling of the skirt is the same.

Instead of the navy skirt with pleats of Columbia blue, the new white skirt will have alternating pleats of navy and Columbia blue.

Navy blue vests will replace the sweater with a white megaphone and a Columbia blue block letter "P" emblazoned on the front.

IN ORDER TO raise the $198 to buy the seven uniforms, the cheerleaders sold mums during Homecoming Week recently.

Leading the cheers in their new uniforms will be senior Barb Kastning, captian; senior Charli Kreusch; junior Marty Beasley; junior Carol Lill; junior Linda Mossman; junior Bonnie Wurthmann, and alternate Debbie Travosek.

These new uniforms will be worn only during the basketball season. The JV squad received new skirts last year and they hope to provide new uniforms for the freshman squad next year. (11Y

Arlington Chooses Its Winter Play

"Light Up the Sky," a comedy by Moss Hart, has been selected for this year's winter play at Arlington High School by Miss Lyovonne Trad, who will direct the play.

A cast of 13 will be featured in a comedy about show business. The plot will concern itself with an opening night performance of a play which has been written by a "way-out" author.

"THIS IS the type of comedy which appeals to people who go to the theater and want to come out feeling good," Miss Trad commented.

She further explained, "I chose this play because it reflects a type of comedy that is no longer written today in the American theater."

Tryouts for the play will be Dec. 7 and 8, after school, in the Bristol Theatre.

The play will be presented Feb. 2. 3, and 4 in the Bristol Theatre. Sets and costumes for the play will be contemporary.

College Board Tests Saturday At Arlington

College Entrance Examination Board tests will be administered Saturday at Arlington High School.

Scholastic Aptitude tests will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Achievement testing will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Students should be prepared with three or four sharpened No. 2 pencils when they come to the testing center. For those who plan to take the writing sample, a pen is also required.

Marine Band To Play At Wheeling

The United States Marine Band of San Diego, California, will perform at Wheeling High School's commemoration of Military Day on Friday, Dec. 2.

THE BAND will play a 45-minute "patriotic flight pageant" before the first period, according to Valmer Erickson, counselor at Wheeling who is handling arrangements.

In addition to the band's performance, students will have the opportunity to visit various displays that will be set up in the main foyer by representative members of the armed forces.

THE UNCLUTTERED LOOK of the new unibody distinguishes Plymouth's '67 Sports Barracuda, shown here at Mark Motors, 2020 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. Other new features include the big tinted rear window, automatic air circulation system, pit-stop gas cap for quick refill, and an acrylic finish that comes in 19 colors. Barracuda is three cars in one: it's a four-passenger hardtop that converts to a two-passenger sports coupe by folding the rear seat forward (providing storage area in addition to the trunk), or becomes a station wagon by unlatching the security panel, which lies flat to make more than seven feet of cargo space. Safety built-ins are standard. The Barracuda also comes in hardtop and convertible models. ....

One 'Spy's' Views Of American Life

By SHARON ORCHARD

Chicagoland has many foreign "spies," eager to discover what America is really like. Inge Bremer is one of them.

Inge is Palatine High School's German foreign exchange student. She is 16, attending Palatine High as a senior, and will graduate with the class of '67. She is staying with the Read Q. Chalfant family until June, when she will return to Hanover, West Germany.

Inge's schedule this year is typically American: English III, American history, trigonometry, biology, and French.

Most Palatine students take only four subjects. Back home, however, Inge took 12 academic subjects, including chemistry, physics, Latin, English, and French.

When she returns to Germany, she will have one remaining year in the gymnasium, which is the equivalent of high school.

GERMAN SCHOOLS, according to Inge, are quite different from U. S. schools. Teachers, rather than students, change classes, so that the same students are together the entire day. Also, schools are strictly for learning; classmates rarely socialize outside of school.

After school, German teens are not too different from American teens. As often as possible, Inge went to teenage nightclubs, which are open all week until around midnight.

As school is out at 1 p.m., most students are able to finish their homework during the day and go out at night. They also enjoy "just fooling around," going downtown, or gathering at someone's house for a party.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

Guests of the Robert Lawlers at 1517 W. Brown for the holiday were Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Needrit of Milwaukee and Bob's sister, Mrs. Clifford Wiel of St. Petersburg, Fla., who has been visiting Jean and Bob.

The Eldon Robsons' son, David, was home at 927 N. Chicago for the holiday. He returned to Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo., on Sunday.

The Gary Entwistles' oldest daughter celebrated her sixth birthday Nov. 26. Guests invited to 928 N. Ridge for the occasion included Janice File, Linda Machas and Susan and Lisa Jordan.

Sunday afternoon at 1021 N. Yale, the Donald Minoques' son, Jeffrey, had a party to celebrate his seventh birthday. The guest list included his brother and sisters, Kathy, Maureen, Gregory and Karen, David Moore, Jeff Rickart, Greg Fuggiti, James Tappele and Beth and Tommy Heneghan.

The Ed Bakowskis, 716 N. Kennicott, spent the holiday in Chicago at the home of Claire's sister with the rest of her family. Before returning home, they also visited Ed's mother and brother.

THE ARTHUR WALL family, 1429 W. Brown entertained the Wall family and the Jim Halloran family of Hoffman Estates on Thanksgiving.

November has been busy for Dorothy and Newman Cryer of 1007 N. Kennicott. It started out with a surprise birthday and slumber party for their daughter, Kathy's 13th birthday, complete with pizza, pop and dancing. Keeping the secret were Darlene Strait, Pam Gaskell, Joan O'Brien, Pam Hearl, Joan Kieca, Marsha Bensinger, Kathy Lindmark, Dorothy Lee, Martha Cramer and Peggy Donahue. It was lucky for the girls Paul was away at school when nine of the girls decided to test his bed's strength. It wasn't as strong as they thought. Needless to say, no more bed for Paul.

The following evening the Cryers, along with Charley and Mattie Lou Britton of Nashville, Tenn., enjoyed dinner at the Little Corporal in Chicago. On Nov. 12, another friend from Nashville, Claude Ward was their guest for dinner and overnight.

To finish off the month, on Nov. 28 they greeted Dr. and Mrs. Le Cato Edwards here from Epworth, Doncaster, England, who are interrupting their tour of the United States to stay with the Cryers for a few days.

THE GARY BAKERS, 1011 N. Kennicott, spent Thanksgiving weekend on the road and visiting. In Peoria, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Baker and in Davenport they visited the Eugene McLeaneys.

A double birthday celebration was held at the Tom Tilly home, 1015 N. Kennicott, on Nov. 26 for their daughters. Coreen was 6 and Karen, 5. The guest list included Gail Remer, Susan Turlo, Heather Walsh, Susan Jordan, JoAnne and Mary Beth Muhr, Katherine Ragusa and Gayle Deeter.

The Al Klein family, 1003 N. Kennicott, spent Thanksgiving with Al's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Klein in Blue Island.

A change was made in the plans of the George Wojtkiewicz family. Instead of Joan making dinner and having her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Petersen of Chicago, and her brother and his family, the Ken Rhodes of Norridge, the Wojtkiewiczs were her brother's guests, as Joan's mother is staying there while recuperating from surgery.

Guests of the Richard Lanzons on Thanksgiving at 814 N. Patton were Phyllis Luce and her family of Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. David Lake of Rolling Meadows.

THE DUANE KROLL family of 918 N. Chicago took a weekend trip to Milwaukee, where they were guests of her sister, Mrs. Walter Sesing. They were joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dunisch of Fond du Lac.

Guests arrived at 943 N. Kennicott on Nov. 20 to help the Mike Pighinis' daughter, Cynthia, celebrate her fourth birthday. Doorbell ringers included Kimberly Jessen, Doug Baker, Carl Anderson, JoAnne and Mary Beth Muhr, her cousin, Lisa Foti and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foti, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jessen.

On Thanksgiving, grown-ups did their celebrating for Cynthia's birthday. Arriving with congratulations were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Foti of Villa Park and Mrs. Jenny Pighini of Chicago, great-grandmother, Mrs. Carrani of Chicago, plus aunts and uncles.

The A. C. Laws of 1021 N. Chicago joined her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Volwiler of Lake Forest, for Thanksgiving. They were her parents' guests for dinner at the Exmoor Country Club in Highland Park along with her sister, Marjorie and her husband, Joe Grinnell, and family, former Ridge Park residents now living in Minneapolis.

THE JOHN RAITTS celebrated the holiday at home at 928 N. Fernandez with her family. It was also a homecoming celebration for John who returned after being in the east on a two-week tour with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

The guests included Marge's mother, Mrs. Edna McLain of Joliet, and Marge's sister, Miss Jean McLain of Chicago whose birthday they were also celebrating.

The Jim Ringels of 722 N. Ridge joined a family get-together at the home of Gloria's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Dyke in Lake Geneva, for Thanksgiving. On Nov. 27, they traveled to Roanoke, Ill., to the home of the Robert Rissers, where they also celebrated the 79th birthday of Jim's grandmother, Mrs. Edna Hutcherson.

FROM SHERWOOD

A triple birthday celebration was held Nov. 26 at the Ted Carlsens, 1314 N. Harvard. Relatives and friends arrived for a dinner of muskie and duck supplied by their son, the hunter and fisherman, and to wish happy birthday to Ted, their granddaughter, Tammy Lyn, on her first birthday and to Bernie's mother, Mrs. Spurgeon, on her 81st.

Kalamazoo was the destination of the R. J. Ehrkes when they left 1006 N. Patton. They spent the holiday as the guests of Dorothy's sister, Miss Ruth Sawyer.

Doris and John Miller left 1221 Clarendon to spend Thanksgiving as the guests of their daughter, Molly, and her husband, Joe Maioriello. (A

Polluted Air Is Growing Danger

In a recent report to city council, Chicago's director of air pollution control complained that the city is receiving "very little cooperation" from surrounding suburbs in the fight against air pollution. He accused suburban communities of virtually ignoring the problem.

His charge was well-founded.

Air pollution, like the weather, knows no boundary. It is one of our most important public health problems and represents a growing threat to every individual who lives in the metropolitan area.

Polluted air has been known to kill, to sicken, and to destroy.

It dissolves clothing, corrodes metal, disintegrates stone, rots wood, discolors paint, stunts and blackens vegetation.

It causes airplane crashes and auto accidents.

Doctors have traced polluted air to cases of heart trouble, chronic bronchitis, asthma, emphysema, lung cancer, and eye, nose, and throat irritations.

Smoke and chemicals pouring forth from heating systems, industry, and transport threaten to change the air we breathe until it is unsuited for life.

The problem is becoming especially acute in suburbs, which previously contained little industry. But since 1953, more manufacturing has developed outside Chicago than has been built within the city in the past 25 years. Between 1957 and 1962 alone, a thousand industrial plants moved from city to suburb.

Unfortunately, local ordinances have not kept pace with suburban industrial growth. Too many local officials placed higher values upon specious arguments that air pollution can't be controlled or costs too much to control.

Chicago's strong anti-pollution ordinance applies only to city limits; Cook County's regulation is limited to unincorporated area. Of 145 suburbs, only six have anti-pollution ordinances and only one has a full-time air pollution inspector.

Although most northwest suburbs have some kind of "smoke" code, there is no technical staff to carry out a program of inspection and enforcement, scant provision for penalty, and little, if any, uniformity and cooperation between communities.

This is a problem no municipality can solve by itself. Corrective measures cannot be taken piecemeal.

When Congress and the state legislature reconvene next month, suburban representatives should give high priority to the problem of pollution. The most effective solution would be establishment of a regional control system equipped with adequate provison for inspection and enforcement as well as stringent penalties for violation.

Such a metropolitan authority must embrace the entire area—Chicago, six Illinois counties, two Indiana counties, and all 1,000 of their independent political jurisdictions.

Self pollution of his environment has been one of man's biggest unabated headaches, continually growing in magnitude. For too long, he has regarded the basic elements, air and water, as his personal garbage cans. We cannot afford further delays in conserving the only atmosphere we have; the health and welfare of more than seven million people are at stake.

A Start on Rebuilding

We suggested in an editorial three weeks ago that a state constitutional convention be called in the next few years to deal with the growing need for modernization of Illinois' governmental structure.

We have been pleased to note, since then, a growing number of responsible leaders of both parties adding their support to the calling of a constitutional convention. Among those reportedly now working actively for a constitutional convention are Gov. Otto Kerner, State Treasurer William J. Scott, and State Senate Majority Leader W. Russell Arrington.

Constitutional Study Commission, headed by State Rep. Marjorie Pebworth and stocked with some of Illinois' most respected citizens, voted unanimously a week ago to recommend to the 75th General Assembly that a constitutional convention be called in 1969.

These moves are heartening. The Illinois constitution is a cumbersome, detailed document designed to serve the needs of the state when it was written a century ago. It is not adequately serving present-day Illinois.

The failure of the current constitution to provide adequately for this populous, modern state is felt most painfully in the need for revenue. An attempt to change the revenue article was rejected by voters last month—wisely because the proposed article was unsatisfactory — and failure of that amendment has bolstered support for a new constitution.

The Constitutional Study Commission will ask the Legislature to appropriate $75,000 for the necessary preparatory research work; that seems modest when compared with the budgeting of similar studies in other large states. We hope the Legislature will see fit to provide the necessary money.

It has been estimated if a constitutional convention is approved by voters in 1968 a new constitution might not be in effect until 1970. This means groundwork for a constitutional convention must be started early in the next legislative session.

We remain convinced the time to begin rebuilding state government is now!

Tollway Resistance

A recent exchange of letters in the Fence Post underscores the continuing problem of inadequate planning for tollway access points serving the northwest suburbs.

An Arlington Heights resident wrote the Illinois Toll Highway Commission pointing to the ever more serious backup of cars leaving the tollway at Elmhurst Road to get to the Arlington Heights area. An entrance at Arlington Heights Road obviously would relieve the pressure that otherwise will continue to grow both at Elmhurst Road and at Highway 53.

The tollway commission replied that in a "recent" decision—which the local community was unapprised of—the commission decided against a new access "due to the costs involved and the fact that it would defeat the purpose of a limited access superhighway."

The answer indicates where commission stands on the principle of a new access: firmly against. We suggest tollway users and community leaders make a concerted effort to get the tollway commission to change its opposition and accept the need for this improvement.

'Instant' Managers?

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

I believe in managers.

In fact, I believe in instant managers.

It's nice when a manager is qualified, well-educated and an expert in his field.

But, the main thing—is he willing to serve as a diplomatic scapegoat?

I don't care if he's called an administrator, coordinator, superintendent or foreman.

In this chaotic world, if he can manage, he's a manager.

HENSEL

And, if he can manage in a sudden emergency, he's an instant manager.

The other night I was driving at the limit in a 55 mile speed zone when another car pulled out of a side street in front of me at 10 miles an hour.

An officer in a squad car happened to observe me almost going through the windshield, and he arrested the other driver on the spot.

NOW, THAT officer would make a perfect instant manager.

I wish the world was swarming with managers.

I want to walk into a shoe store and explain I bought a pair of shoes and wore them all day yesterday and my left foot is all full of blisters and I discovered the left shoe was size 5 instead of 6B over double A and May I PLEASE See The Manager.

I want a city manager who, in 10 seconds, can give me the name of the man who owns the empty lot across the street so I can call the man and — no, so the manager can call the man and tell him to cut down the weeds.

OR, WHEN MY village trustees say the public has to leave the meeting; they're going into "executive session," I could DEMAND To See The Manager.

School boards which seem to have an aversion to public scrutiny - not enough chairs for visitors, no place to write notes, etc. - often try to compensate by serving coffee and cake.

When they hand me my paper cup of hot coffee I yearn for an instant manager to find something for me to set it down on before it burns my fingers.

And, when I'm stuck at the grocery checkout counter with a rotten head of lettuce already rung up on the cash register and a long line of shoppers behind me, I'd give anything for an instant manager to render the verdict.

THERE'S A SECTION of road I travel every day that always has had a 65 mile speed limit. I didn't notice the day they changed it to 45 mph.

If things were the way I wanted, when I paid my fine, I could have asked politely if I please maybe do-you-mind would-it-be-too-much-trouble To See The MANAGER?

When a police chief hollers about not getting enough publicity about the police association dance I could smile sweetly and say listen, doll, tell your manager to get organized.

NOW, HERE'S something I'll bet a lot of county officials will wish I hadn't thought of - a county manager.

Just think.

An instant manager at the county level, strictly for emergencies:

—Someone to take the guff when the water pressure suddenly drops while I'm taking a shower.

A scapegoat when the petunias in the back yard are wallowing in six inches of standing water.

—A go-between when my house is invaded by box elder bugs from my neighbor's prolific box elder trees.

—An information center when I discover a public official's phone number is unlisted.

—A sympathetic ear when the garbage pickup is a day late, when the newspaper doesn't get delivered, when the road doesn't get oiled and the dust is blowing into the house, or when the guy down at the corner petitions for rezoning from residential to commercial for a gas station.

Oh, what I wouldn't give for an instant manager in local government to give me the real lowdown on a bond issue referendum.

AND, WHEN MY hometown school board tells me we're no longer in the eligible radius for bus transportation, I WANT TO TALK TO THE MANAGER.

I'll bet a psychoanalyst would say I'm trying to tell somebody something.

'Depth in Faith'

by MARY SCHLOTT
Staff Writer

Though some village clergymen would just as soon not admit it, no one person is more responsible for Arlington Heights' November series of inter-church programs than Mrs. Thomas Grisell of 620 N. Highland.

The first officially-sponsored ecumenical series—featuring youth and adult activities, films, speakers and a joint worship service—the programs are built on a groundwork of six years of interfaith dialogues planned largely by the soft-spoken but persistent First Presbyterian church lay leader.

MRS. THOMAS GRISELL

MRS. GRISELL, a white-haired woman whose interests extend to community and musical activities as well as the church, is a member of the lay-clergy committee that planned Arlington Heights' current AHEAD program under the sponsorship of the Clergy Fellowship.

The path the series has taken is not entirely of her choice. Mrs. Grisell would have preferred a broader approach that included Jews as well as Catholics and Protestants.

She does not admit to disappointment, however, that local clergy rejected that path in deciding to approve the current inter-church programs.

"I'm grateful for every step forward and this certainly is a step forward," Mrs. Grisell says. Another step in the same direction — in joint Catholic - Protestant understanding of each other's faith —would probably be the best approach for any Arlington Heights ecumenical dialogue to take next year, she believes.

AT THE SAME time Mrs. Grisell is planning to continue her own broader interest in Jewish - Protestant - Catholic "depth in faith" discussions. She and other interested local couples — many of whom have also been active in interfaith discussions during the past six years—have formed a "Living Room Dialogue" of their own.

And the First Presbyterian church member is one of two women on a 35-person committee planning a metropolitan - wide interfaith Chicago Dialogue for spring of 1968.

With this year's AHEAD program not entirely over, Mrs. Grisell is already thinking of what might be done next year. She believes area suburbanites should evaluate the St. James Catholic Church "Report on Renewal," the St. Viator High School "New Horizons" series and the Duluth, Minn., "Faith in Life" experiments in planning inter-church programs for another year.

THE DULUTH programs were particularly noteworthy, she says, for trying to reach the unaffiliated secular humanist through churches, community clubs, mass media and the theater. Arlington Heights' current AHEAD program, by contrast, has been promoted alost entirely among those already "churched," those worshipping in local congregations.

One of the most encouraging signs noted by Mrs. Grisell involves the increased acceptance by laity and clergymen alike of the interfaith dialogue movement.

Mrs. Grisell's early lecture series, she remembers, attracted notice of few clergymen and few conventional churchgoers. Those interested were primarily persons "ahead of their church to a point that their own church neither understood nor accepted them," she notes.

NOW THERE is greater acceptance of the lay participation in general—and of interfaith discussion in particular. The advance is seen locally, Mrs. Grisell says, in the joint lay-clergy planning of the AHEAD programs. And she was pleased to note that at a National Council of Churches "Ministry of the Laity in the World" conference in Evanston last year the council's Department of Laity was able to operate openly—and with acceptance —after almost 12 years of working behind the scenes.

This is not to say, Mrs. Grisell admits, that traditionalists have lost their fear of interfaith discussion or yielded to laymen an equal role within the church. Resistance still persists.

But, she says, joint lay-clergy planning of the AHEAD ecumenical series shows substantial layman gain.

And the pioneer in religious dialogue points with satisfaction at AHEAD's broad interdenominational participation as an indication that "depth in faith" discussion is being accepted by laymen and—equally important—being "accepted as valid" by ministers and priests.

Needled by Yule Spirit

by DAN BAUMANN
Managing Editor

I got hold of Christmas early this year.

Normally the spirit comes to me, like everyone else, the Friday after Thanksgiving and remains rather intense for one month. This year, however, most of the family shopping was done by Thanksgiving.

BAUMANN

Reason we warmed to the event early: we were in northern Wisconsin late in October. Nothing unusual about that. But on our trip, in mild, sunny weather, we discovered loads of Christmas trees neatly cut and stacked, ready for loading, and we saw several already-loaded trucks on their way south.

SINCE WE made the trip back to Illinois in eight hours that weekend, I wondered why it should take a Christmas tree truck two months. The question still plagues me.

The experience shocked us into an early Christmas shopping spree both through the newly-arrived Christmas toy catalogues and in personal trips to the stores. (Now that we've seen the struggle abuilding to get even near the stores, we're grateful for the early start.)

All of this has left me with a vague hangover about the event still three weeks away. How am I to fill this period of time usefully honing my Christmas spirit if not in the traditional manner, i.e., spending money?

PERHAPS THE answer is in what I saw in Wisconsin many weeks ago; perhaps I can substitute development of Christmas tree selection techniques for the usual Christmas buying activities.

I have been involved in the purchase of about 20 Christmas trees in my lifetime, and in each case the actual purchase of the tree was a hurried, unplanned thing. And I have never gotten just what I wanted.

Like the year I went out to buy a "traditional" (short needle) tree. I came back with a Norway pine and several bags of flocking compound.

OR THE TIME I went out for a small (two to three-foot-tall) table tree. I returned with a magnificent specimen at least eight feet tall.

Another year, I decided the tree would be away from the wall and therefore needed to be "perfect" (that is, artificially round). Well, it was dark in the tree lot, and the specimen I selected was imperfect (Christian charity dictates that mild assessment).

One year I went out Christmas Eve to get a tree cheap and got a cheap tree—cheap.

The easiest experience I ever had in buying a tree was last year. My wife and I were riding with some friends. It was early in the Christmas tree buying season, so the selection was good. As we passed a gas station, an unusually fine tree stood out from the rest and my wife casually commented, "That's the most beautiful tree I've ever seen."

THE FRIEND stopped his car, grabbed the tree and insisted the gas station operator was cheating himself by charging only $15 for the tree. It turned out to be our best Christmas tree, and we may try that buying technique again this year.

But regardless of what kind of tree we decide on, where we get it and whether we pay $5 or $35, our trip to Wisconsin last October reminds us of that old Christmas poem:

" 'Twas the night before Christmas, and under the tree, all the needles had fallen, except two or three."

Sees Civil Rights Progress 'In Spite of' Polls, Letters

Dave Hoyt's remarks last week were addressed to Dr. Paul Mundy, the sociologist who took a survey in Arlington. I'm sure Dr. Mundy, who's highly articulate, could comment more intelligently on how to construct survey questions and get meaningful answers than I can. I understand that opinion researchers and psychologists and others who make their livings off the interview business find it extremely complex figuring out what people mean from what they say.

But even a layman can appreciate a few points about Mr. Hoyt's remarks. His suggestion that two or three martinis, to relax the inhibitions, precede the interview is a delightful thought; but I assure you that civil rights are in enough trouble in suburbia without it!

AS TO WHETHER that survey showed that the respondents were or were not bigoted: it pretty much depends on what assumptions you looked at it from, doesn't it? Granted it was billed as showing "a surprising amount of tolerance," the "surprise" depends largely on what one expected to find. As a whole, the answers were hardly an advertisement for the Constitution, love-thy-neighbor, or the Golden Rule. More than 50 per cent of respondents calmly asserted that "white people" had special "rights" which Negroes should "respect," for instance. One question, deliberately inserted to evoke a nasty image of Negroes as "pushy," touched a responsive chord in nearly 80 per cent of the bosoms. There were, of course, the hard-core 7 per cent who didn't need a dram of encouragement to say that Negroes shouldn't have a chance at equal - basis jobs and education.

The "surprising" tolerance hinged largely on the fact that something like 32 per cent said they wouldn't mind a Negro family moving into their block. Deducting 32 from 100 seems to leave plenty of room for the responses Mr. Hoyt got from his informal, over-the-bar survey?

I COULDN'T agree more that answers to such survey questions are most difficult to interpret. For example, on the last-mentioned question, why doesn't anyone ever ask, "Which Negro family?" Neither questions nor answers ever seem to assume any individuality.

When you consider the fact that, in the segregated society we live in, a vast number of white people (I won't estimate a percentage, but it's high) don't know a single Negro of similar educational, economic and social status to their own — how can they intelligently answer such a question at all? (Do the 68 per cent have the janitor, or an ADC mother of 10, in mind? Who knows?)

As to Mr. Hoyt's remark about our electing David Regner, whom he calls "Mr. anti-open housing," it hardly seems germane; we also elected Gene Schlickman, who supported a weak open-housing bill, and Gene Chapman, who supported a strong one; and it's doubtful if in any of their cases, it made much difference to the electorate. We haven't had any housing marches in town lately.

Actually, such a survey is interesting (whatever Mr. Hoyt thinks about its accuracy), but also largely irrelevant. It's far more important to keep on presenting the issues involved; unless we amend the Constitution, rights remain rights whether it pleases 20 per cent, or 50 per cent or 80 per cent of the population in a given time or place.

Whatever we may say in answer to questionnaires, Gunnar Myrdahl summed up our deepest answers very astutely more than 25 years ago: "The white man can humiliate the Negro . . . but he does not have the stamina to make the Negro's subjugation legal and approved by society. Against that stands not only the Constitution and the laws, which could be changed, but also the American Creed, which is rooted firmly in the Americans' hearts. . . ." "The whites have all the power, but they are split in their moral personality. Their better selves are with the insurgents. The Negroes do not need any other allies." It's a terribly slow agonizing process, but the year's since only emphasize that he was right about the ultimate outcome.

ABOVE ALL: what matters most in the question of open housing, as in any other, is not what people say they might do but what they actually do. A great and growing body of evidence shows beyond doubt that what most white suburbanites do when a Negro family moves into their community or block is — nothing much. If you ask a resident of Highland Park about the dozen Negro families who have bought homes there, the most probable response is something like, "So what else is new?"

I would be the last to suggest that open-housing advocates in suburbia are anything but ardently dissatisfied with things-as-they-are; but, whatever the outcome of surveys and arm-chair debates, (and bigots in bars, and letters to the editor, for that matter), "things" — and people — are making progress. Slowly. But inevitably.

Appreciated Coverage of Youth Event

The Deb's Service League and the members of the Women's Board take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Clifford Rowe, and the two charming student reporters, Misses Nancy Pontoni, and Carol Cameron from Prospect High School, for their interest and cooperation in covering the Inner-City Suburban Youth Seminar held at the Leaning Tower YMCA, on Saturday Nov. 19.

WE WHO reside in the suburbs are too often oblivious to the achievements and accomplishments of the young adults of today, especially those who are less fortunate than ourselves.

In the feed-back at the seminar, many common thoughts and problems were revealed. It was agreed a barrier does exist, and there is a greater need for effective communication. Parental love, understanding and approval is needed. These are but a few significant items mentioned.

Since education is not a spontaneous process, it is my hope a greater insight toward our needs and the needs of others was gained by those in attendance.

Again — many thanks for your interest.

Help Cited in United Appeal

Without a climate of friendly public opinion, no community undertaking, regardless of the worthiness of the cause, can be successful.

Since its beginning, the United Settlement Appeal has been fortunate in having the co-operation of all Chicago media — the press, radio and television. As a result, the public has become well informed about settlement houses and the Appeal.

IN NO MEASURE, then, the Appeal's success in realizing its 1966 goal has been due to the contributions of Chicago media. In recognition of this service we wish to congratulate Paddock Publications.

Speaking for the settlement houses, their staffs, and the thousands of individuals — youngsters, teenagers, parents, senior citizens — we say —thank you for being a good neighbor.

Dixon School Help Needed at Holidays

We need help. Help in the form of publicity to solicit the generosity of your readers to make Christmas Day a little brighter day for the retarded people, both children and adults, who reside at the Dixon State School in Dixon, Ill.

Four years ago, one of our employees, Jim Kedzierski, became disgruntled with high operating costs of the local "funds" and "charities" that he decided to put his monies into his own fund (no overhead) and buy gifts for local orphanages.

HE WAS SO impressed by Mrs. Jean Slocum, director of Volunteer Services at Dixon, and more importantly by the starving need for recognition as an individual of the residents of Dixon, that all of Jim's efforts are now devoted to that institution.

This year Jim has a list of names that total 648 with requests ranging from a colorful rubber ball to a 26 inch bike. People at our company contribute perhaps 60 per cent of these gifts and friends, neighbors, relatives, etc., the remainder. The gifts are kept at Jim's parents' home (8452 Madison Drive, Niles) and on Dec. 17, we will use our company's trucks to deliver the gifts to Dixon.

Why do we need your help? Mrs. Slocum just sent us another list of names (copies of some typical requests are enclosed) and we must now seek outside help to obtain approximately 300 additional gifts. If you could ask people to call Jim (299-8244 after 6 p.m. or 825-5803) he could give them the person's name and request. We would also ask the person to deliver the gift to Jim's house or to our office. We will deliver to Dixon.

SHOPPER DROPPER?

Is your garbage can stuffed with unread "shoppers" . . . the kind that clutter your driveway and your lawn?

Is your wastebasket constantly packed with those shoppers that have been hanging on your doorknob for days . . . unused, unappreciated and unwanted?

Are you getting a little confused and perturbed at the dozens of rolled up, rubber banded, weather beaten announcements that make the front of your home look like a paper wasteland?

If so . . . you're a Shopper Dropper.

But don't feel bad . . . you're not alone. Thousands of suburban homemakers qualify as Shopper Droppers because they just don't want them around. They rely on their established newspapers to give them all the shopping news they want.

Newspapers are valuable . . . you never see them laying around cluttering up the doorway, lawn or driveway.

Newspapers are wanted . . . they contain news, local items, tips, photos plus ALL the selling news of the area . . . ads that are paid for by people who know you appreciate value and honest bargain with quality.

We at Paddock's spend a lot of time and effort to find out what you want . . . and we offer it in the form of 15 award winning newspapers, delivered by men who take pride in their service. After all, he knows the paper isn't going to immediately go into the garbage can, unread and unwanted.

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

DOROTHY MEYER - CL 3-2298
HOLIDAY NEWS

Having flubbed the announcement that should have forewarned of an early Thanksgiving deadline, we're taking care of coming holiday deadline information now. There will be no columns in Dec. 22 or Dec. 29 issues, and there will be a super early deadline, Thursday, Dec. 29, for the Jan. 5 issue.

Last column of the year will be Dec. 15 when we will remind everyone of remaining December dances, if any. We are assuming that no clubs are dancing Christmas Eve or New Year's Eve, but will correct that if we have assumed wrong. We'll have to be so informed, however, in time to make the Dec. 15 issue. Past experience prompts us to urge you to get news in the mail right now to ease your own personal holiday rush as well as the one in the post office.

SLOWPOKES

MOUNT Prospectors, seeking to dance off Thanksgiving-gained poundage, will try exercising tomorrow night in the new Square Dance Center, 1622 N. Rand Road in Arlington Heights. It will be the Slowpokes' regularly scheduled dance with everything as always except the location. Gene Tidwell will square 'em up at 8:30, and everyone's welcome to join the fun.

Club members are reminded that Slowpokes' Dec. 16 dance will be the annual holiday dinner dance and election of officers. Members not yet contacted are advised to call the Chuck Leveckes or Marion Duncans — quick.

Committee chairmen extend thanks to their workers who helped with the Frank Lane special, and a club spokesman thanks everyone who attended.

BRONCO SQUARES

Eight Chicagoland square dance clubs were represented at the November fun session of the Barrington Broncs, and every one of 'em is invited back for tomorrow night's get-together. So's anyone else who likes square dancing with congenial hosts.

Club maestro, Paul "Foggy" Thompson, will share the mike with guest caller, Ralph Wakefield of Chicago. The boys will square 'em up at 8:15, immediately following a half-hour round dance workshop with Bob and Grace Sanders. Refreshments are served throughout the evening. Grove Avenue Grade School in Barrington is the place, "everyone is welcome" is the word from the club. Be there?

ROUND HOUSE SQUARES

Bensenville is back to normal —but barely—after Badge Night held last month by the Round House rounders. With the cooperation of the local fire and police departments, lots of dancers earned firehat and jailbird badges by doing the do-ci-do in the fire hall and local pokey. A "resident" in the cell adjoining the one used by the club is reported to have cowered on his bunk with a blanket over his head— convinced, at last, that crime doesn't pay???

Banner - snatchers from Aurora were among the guests attending badge night and earned the right to walk off with the host club's pennant as well as sundry badges.

There's another Round House meeting Saturday night and everyone's welcome to sample the Bensenville brand of dance fun. Bob Kim will get things swinging at 3:30 in Fenton High School, located on Grove Street about two blocks east of Route 83. (A15

French Day Held Again At Hospital

French breads, russet pears, camembert cheeses, special French dressing, French onion soup, and cog au vin.

Saluting French cuisine, Forest Hospital in Des Plaines today (Thursday) holds its annual "French Day" for its patients.

"French Day," inaugurated in 1964, features a complete French dinner served in sit-down fashion to the patients, in a dining room festively decorated in Gallic style.

ORIGINATED by Morris B. Squire, administrator, the menu and foods were prepared under the supervision of the famed French chef, Ann of Au Maison Michelle.

"This year," says Squire, "the food is being prepared by our own gourmet chefs who have studied Ann's recipes and preparations through the years."

Additional dietary delights for patients lie ahead in the year-end holiday season, after which the hospital will inaugurate a "Chinese Day," featuring Cantonese foods. It is slated for Feb. 9, the date of the Chinese New Year. (B10

Lutheran General Staff Members Busy as Speakers

Five members of the medical staff at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, have recently presented papers and exhibits at medical conventions throughout the United States and abroad.

Dr. Donald Dwyer, member of the department of general practice, presented a scientific exhibit on small bowel biopsy for the annual Scientific Assembly of the American Academy of General Practice in Boston. It included photomcirographs showing case histories of biopsies.

Dr. Richard Marcus, department of otolaryngology, presented a paper entitled, "Medical Management of Hearing Loss in the Very Young Child" at the Scientific and Social Pre-Program of the 8th International Congress of Audiology at the National Medical Center in Mexico City.

DR. THERON Randolph, member of the department of medicine, spoke on the clinical work done on the relationship between the physical environment and the patient at a meeting of the Clinical Ecology Study Club on Grand Cayman Island, British West Indies.

Dr. Richard Schultz, department of plastic surgery, prepared an exhibit on "Facial Injuries in a Suburban General Hospital: A Five Year Study" for the annual convention of American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery in Las Vegas and the American College of Surgeons 52nd Annual Clinical Congress in San Francisco.

Dr. Jonas Valaitis, chief pathologist and medical director of clinical laboratories at Lutheran General, presented a paper entitled "Cancer Cells in the Blood: Incidents, Prognosis and Treatment" at the 9th International Cancer Congress in Tokyo. (B10

4-H Home Ec Winners Are Given Honor

State and national winners in the National 4-H Home Economics program were honored Sunday at a reception and dinner in Chicago.

Plans for urbanization of the home economics program were announced at that time. The city-oriented program will emphasize consumer education stressing how to stretch dollars, how to save time in shopping, how to check values and how to use credit wisely.

YOUNG MEN as well as girls will be eligible to win county, state, and national awards including expense-paid trips to the 4-H Club Congress and college scholarships.

Robert E. Brookers, chairman, Montgomery Ward and Co. which sponsors the program, said that both Wards and the Cooperative Extension Service believe 4-H can become a more vital force in the city, as well as in rural areas, if consumer education is stressed along with the other home arts taught in the 4-H Home Economics program.

Brooker and Norman C. Mindrum, director of the National 4-H Service Committee, said that teenagers spend more than $13 billion of their own money annually and represent 12 per cent of the nation's population.

The new program, which was under study for more than a year, received preliminary reviews and approvals from more than a dozen state extension offices as well as officials of the Federal Extension in Washington, D. C. (A15

Boy Battles Witches In Children's Play

Three monstrous witches are waiting to cast their spells and horrify a poor shepherd's apprentice. They are G'Tha, Gorina and Gertrude, the three witches in Scotland, and children will be able to see them live in "Witch's Lullaby" at Wheeling High School.

These fantastic creatures sport claws instead of fingers, long yellow teeth, hairy faces, and poor Gertrude even has a hump on her back.

When Malcolm Macbeth is told by his father that he must leave his home to learn the shepherd's trade under his Uncle Alex, he is very despondent indeed, for his sisters have been complaining of weird noises and strange happenings.

MALCOLM takes staunch heart, however, for he has his bagpipes, which all witches fear. What then, will happen when the witches get hold of Malcolm's precious bagpipes and cast a spell upon them so they will no longer play? And what will become of poor Gertrude who wishes only to be "dewitched," and is taunted and sneered upon by her sister witches?

"Witch's Lullaby" will be presented by Village Theatre, Inc. Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11. Two performances are scheduled each day. However there are no longer seats available for the 1:30 performance on Sunday, Dec. 11.

Best seats are for the 3:30 p.m. performance Saturday although there are seats remaining for both Saturday performances and the 3:30 performance on Sunday.

INFORMATION may be obtained by calling the VT box office, Mrs. Alice Linde, at CL 9-3200. Box office hours are from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and from 9 a.m. to noon Friday through Monday. (Bill

'Sound of Music' Coming to Golf Mill

The Golf Mill Theatre is one of the three Chicagoland theaters that will be showing the Academy Award-winning picture, "The Sound of Music."

Starting Dec. 30, the Golf Mill will have the exclusive engagement of "The Sound of Music" in the north and northwest side of Chicago and suburbs.

Tickets now are on sale for guaranteed seating although seats are not reserved, according to the Golf Mill management.

PERFORMANCES will be at 2 and 8 p.m. weekdays and at 1:30, 5 and 8:30 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Featured artist at the Golf Mill gallery during December will be Anita Louise Lindquist. While she works in several mediums, Miss Lindquist is noted especially for her oils.

Art League to See Oils Demonstration

La Grange artist Ed Shaver will give a demonstration in painting with oils using a palette knife at next Tuesday's meeting of the Mount Prospect Art League.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Mount Prospect Country Club, Shabonee Trail.

Shaver studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and the American Academy of Art.

He also studied privately with Martin Pribil and Gerald Hardy. He now has his own studio in La Grange.

SHAVER HAS exhibited widely and is represented now at the Fine Arts Gallery in Geneva, Ill., and is a three-year exhibitor at the Oak Promenade Gallery.

ROSALIND ELIAS

The young American mezzo-soprano, Rosalind Elias, will perform for the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association in a concert Monday, Dec. 5, at the Arlington Theatre.

Offered a contract with the Metropolitan Opera after one hearing as a contestant in the Auditions of the Air in 1955, Miss Elias is also known for her recordings. She has appeared with leading symphony orchestras as soloist and been on top TV music programs both in the United States and in England.

She is of Middle Eastern background and following a visit to her ancestral Lebanon in 1962 to visit relatives, she returned the following year to Israel to sing the role of Dorabella in "Cosi Fan Tutte" in 12 performances with the Israel Philharmonic.

MISS ELIAS is no ivory tower opera star. She paints, likes a good game of tennis, plays the guitar and enjoys entertaining. She is an excellent cook, particularly of those Middle Eastern dishes that are her culinary heritage.

A good singer, she believes, has three responsibilities. The first, to her own ability—to use the voice she has well and properly, which entails devoted study and good living habits.

Second, to the audience. She believes an artist should prepare as completely for a small audience as for a large one.

THE THIRD responsibility, she feels, "Is to give the occasion a quality of excitement and glamour."

Monday's concert, which begins at 8 p.m., is for members of the Community Concert Association only. There are no single admissions. (Bill

BOB's 'My Fair Lady' Is Pure Enjoyability

By JOAN REDDY
Paddock Drama Critic

Eliza Doolittle won her battle with the English language Saturday night even though her teacher kept forgetting his words. The scene was Best Off Broadway Players' production of "My Fair Lady." and it is a tribute to that young musical classic that not even a forgetful Professor Higgins could distract from its pure enjoyability.

In all fairness to Wally Williams, as Professor Higgins, it should be noted that his task of memorization was a prodigious one, and he did not allow the lapses to interfere with his characterization. And a good characterization it was.

Except for the first scene when he displayed some hesitancy and possible first night jitters, he was all insufferable self-assurance and arrogance, the embodiment of the kind of man who can honestly ask, "Why Can't a Woman Be More Like a Man?" But the lyrics of that song, "I'm an Ordinary Man," and "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face" are too delightfully biting not to be missed when they are passed over.

WHEN ON THE beam, Williams' delivery of the musical numbers was impeccable—so impeccable, in fact, that one might suspect that Williams spent long hours studying Rex Harrison's renditions on record. But who can quarrel with success? And certainly no better person could be emulated than the master.

BOB's Eliza, Sandra Grabowski, displayed a gamin quality that was particularly appealing in Eliza's cockney days. Her acting sometimes suffered from too much archness and posturing, but she remained a most likable person, one with whom the audience could empathize.

In the vocal department, however, Mrs. Grabowski often seemed to be straining. Some of the strain was apparent in the lyrical, "I Could Have Danced All Night," but her delivery conveyed such pure delight that it was a minor flaw. In the later numbers, however, where she was supposed to display anger, "Show Me" and "Without You," the strident quality was very apparent.

PERHAPS MRS. Grabowski's extra vocal effort was caused by worry over the volume of her rather small voice, but when she did relax, she displayed a clear quality quite strong enough to carry to the far corners of the theater.

No doubt all vocal honors went to Allen Johnson's rendition of "On the Street Where You Live." BOB is fortunate to be able to call on his strong, well trained tenor. And we hope that he will consider it a compliment when we note that as Freddy he acted like a perfect ass.

We were astounded by the beautiful English accent of Mike Woulds' Colonel Pickering until we looked into the program notes and discovered that he is a native of England. Although he cannot be praised for his own accent, he certainly can be praised for his characterization. He was the perfect picture of the fumbling English gentleman as we Americans and playwright Allan Jay Lerner conceived him. His understatement in the delivery of the comedy lines was delightful.

ANOTHER COMEDY coup was scored by Hank Vandenboom as Alfred P. Doolittle. Perhaps Vandenboom is himself a little too clean-cut to be as scroungy as Doolittle was meant to be. But the good natured rougery was all there. And his renditions of "With a Little Bit of Luck" and "Get Me To the Church on Time" made them into what they were intended, show stoppers.

In two non-musical roles, Dorothy Watkins, as Mrs. Higgins, and Charmaine Sayre, as the housekeeper, Mrs. Pearce, were definite assets. Mrs. Higgins is almost a cameo role, the kind that evokes applause after an exit, and Mrs. Watkins earned hers. In a quieter role, Mrs. Sayre displayed the stage presence that refused to allow her to fade into the background amid all the more flamboyant characters.

The BOB Players, accustomed to the vastness of Barrington High School's stage, must have found Wheeling High School's smaller quarters a bit confining for a musical. But director Richard Tyler and choreographer Richard Tarczynski did wonders with what pace they had.

TYLER'S DEVICE of carrying Doolittle off through the audience at the end of "Get Me to the Church on Time" was certainly the ultimate use of available space and always a sure-fire crowd pleaser, as well.

In spite of a large singing and dancing chorus, the shallow stage never seemed over crowded. And Tarczynski performed miracles in the ensemble dancing in front of the drawn curtains. It was unbelievable that so much movement could be achieved in this really narrow width.

In fact, all the choregraphy deserved cheers with the dancers taking particular honors in displaying happy abandonment as the cockney crew.

BUT GOOD choregraphy, ensemble singing and orchestra have always been strong points with BOB, and this production was no exception. Professional directors do make a difference.

All hail to Tyler, Tarczynski and music director Clem Fleming.

Wheeling's auditorium was crowded Saturday night and deservedly so. People have learned that in spite of flaws, Best Off Broadway always delivers an entertaining evening of musical theater, and "My Fair Lady" is practically indestructible in terms of enjoyment. For those who want to take advantage of a theater bargain, "My Fair Lady" will be presented again this Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3 and 4, at Wheeling High School. (Bill

Museum to Show Replica of Ships At Pearl Harbor

A special exhibit commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor will be shown at the Lizzadro Museum of Lapidary Art, 220 Cottage Hill Ave., Elmhurst.

A miniature replica of the United States Naval Fleet as it stood in 1941 will be on display Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11. The exhibit includes more than 400 handmade models. It was constructed by Wilbert A. Rath of the Museum staff and represents five years of work.

Hours the exhibit may be seen are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 10 and 1 to 5 p.m. Dec. 11.

The special educational program Saturday, Dec. 10, at 2 p.m. will be a 20-minute film on glaciers, "White Flood."

Campus Capers

At Elmhurst

Thomas Mattern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mattern, 126 S. Ashland, Palatine, was recently elected to the senate of the student government association of Elmhurst College, Elmhurst.

In addition to the normal legislative activities of the senate, the members are at present dealing with student responsibilities and privileges on campus.

Mattern, a junior philosophy major, is also vice chairman of the cultural and intellectual life committee and chaplain of Squires, a service fraternity.

At Illinois State

Shirley Elsner, 819 N. Kaspar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elsner, has been initiated into charter membership in the newly formed chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary society for freshman women at Illinois State University at Normal.

Candidates for membership were selected from freshman, sophomore and junior women students achieving a 3.5 average their first semester.

Shirley is a sophomore in elementary education. (10CC

Swedish Choral Club Will Sing 'Messiah' Dec. 15

The Swedish Choral Club begins its 51st season Friday, Dec. 16, at 8:15 p.m. with its traditional performance of Handel's "Messiah" at Orchestra Hall.

The chorus and soloists, under the baton of Dr. Robert Ekstrom, will be assisted by members of a local symphony orchestra.

This will be the Swedish Choral Club's second season under the direction of Dr. Ekstrom, music director of Lindbloom High School and director of music at the Community Presbyterian Church in Mount Prospect.

Dr. Ekstrom also directs the Lyran Swedish Male Chorus in Rockford and is actively associated with many other choral groups throughout the Midwest.

Tickets will be on sale at Orchestra Hall box office Dec. 6. Further information is available by calling 743-8796. (Bill

Let Gourds Help in Holiday Decorations

Do you have early American furnishings in your house? If you do, gourds can add a rustic theme that will heighten the Thanksgiving season. And with a little thought they can also be worked into useful center pieces throughout the entire year.

For the sake of brilliant variety, gourds come in many forms and colors. The more common ones may be as round as an orange and colored white, cream, yellow, green or orange. Others may be oval or egg-shaped and often white.

Several of the round gourds may be warty or striped in lighter and darker shades than the green base color.

THERE ARE also pear-shaped ones that may have long, thin straight or curved necks. Most of these are three to five inches in diameter and from five to eight inches long.

Regardless of the variety, gourds have to be properly dried before they can be successfully used in decorations. This means curing them in a cool, well ventilated garage, barn or basement. Place the gourds on screens, or hang them in mesh or cheesecloth bags.

The drying of larger or immature fruit may be speeded by drilling a one quarter inch hole through the blossom end of the gourd. If the hole is drilled well into the seed cavity, drying may take only two to four weeks.

Green immature gourds often last only a few weeks at normal house temperature.

Before and after curing, reduce spoilage by washing or wiping with a standard household disinfectant. They may be finished and polished with a good floor or furniture wax or varnish. Shellac on the other hand, may shorten the display life of your gourds.

Intelligent Care Needed For Resilient Flooring

Resilient floors have been made to simulate everything from cobblestones to weathered colonial brick. But all breeds of resilient flooring have one thing in common. According to local "Registered builders," they all require intelligent care to preserve their finishes.

Here are four tips on resilient flooring upkeep provided by this group of builders:

1. WASH FLOORS only as needed, not on a prescribed basis.

2. Use cleaners that contain no solvents or harmful abrasives.

3. When applying polish keep away from baseboards; little traffic occurs there. This will minimize buildup and extend periods between removal.

4. On moderately soiled floors where traffic is not excessive, cleaning and polishing can be done in one operation with the new clean-and-wax products. To use, remove black marks with dry steel wool, sweep to remove loose dirt, then apply the clean-and-wax product according to manufacturer's directions, rinsing the applicator in water to remove the soil.

"Registered builders" are home builders who voluntarily subscribe to a strictly enforced code of practice set by the National Association of Home Builders in Washington, D.C.

To find out if a builder is "registered," contact NAHB's local affiliate, the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland.

'Fabrique' Art to Be Described

A new art form called "fabrique" will be described at the next meeting of the Fifth Wheelers, scheduled for 8 p.m. this Sunday, Dec. 4, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Algonquin and Wolf Roads, Des Plaines.

"Fabrique" was developed by Peggy Hoskins of Morton Grove, whose hobby is creating an extensive wardrobe designed, sewn and accessorized to conform to specific themes such as the various holidays, the seasons, a special event or a mood. Her work attracted widespread attention and Mrs. Hoskins has been called upon by many organizations throughout the Midwest to display and talk about her creations, now so numerous they fill one entire room of her home.

Fifth Wheelers is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization devoted to the welfare of single parents and their children. Newcomers are invited to attend Sunday's meeting.

Gardening Doesn't End in the Winter

And so concludes the years gardening. In fact one studio Thanksgiving Day card said that the thing they were most thankful for was no more crabgrass until next summer. There are a few little things that you can do now that will be helpful next spring.

Let's consider the lawn. Give it a final clipping so that it doesn't go into winter without a "haircut." And after that final clipping winterize the lawn mower. This is a three step procedure that can be remembered by the three key words: gas, oil, and cylinder.

This means run the engine until all the gasoline is burned from the carburetor. Then while the engine is still hot, drain the oil and replace with new. As for the cylinder, remove the spark plug and add an eye dropper full of oil. Give the starter a few tugs (keeping your finger over the plug hole) to lubricate the cylinder walls and piston. Now replace the spark plug and your winterizing job is complete.

WINTERIZING ROSES however, is not quite so precise. Almost anything that you do will increase the rate of winter survival. Start by cutting back the twiggy growth to a foot or eighteen inches. Then put on a pair of gloves and pick off all the leaves. This will prevent them from harboring blackspot and mildew through the winter.

As for the actual protection, you can take your pick. You can use rose cones, tar paper, bands, vermiculite, mounds of soil straw and so forth. Just try to reduce heat build up on warm days and discourage mice nesting and feeding in the center of the canes.

Climbing roses are treated differently. Do not cut them down. Any pruning done now will reduce bloom for next spring. Just lay the canes down on the ground and protect them from extremes of temperature.

Most misunderstood of all winterizing practices is mulching. Do this after the ground is thoroughly frozen. During the warm months, mulch helps to keep down weeds and keep the soil moist. However, during the winter, mulch serves a much different function.

Mulch does not keep the soil warm as it is often thought. It works just the opposite. It helps to keep the ground frozen all winter. This is important since freezing and thawing causes the ground to split. Roots crossing the splits are severed or the entire plant may be thrust from the earth. The plant then dies from the drying exposure.

GOOD MULCHING materials include straw, certain leaves, peat moss, evergreen branches, vermiculite, and even old sawdust. A two-to-four-inch layer will do a good job for you.

Leaves of the maple, and others that turn soft and soggy when wet have a smothering effect on plants. Oak leaves remain crisp and do not mat and can be used in thicker layers.

Finally, don't discontinue your fall planting if the ground is not frozen. You can pick up some very good end-of-season bargains that less well informed gardeners may reject. As long as the ground can be dug there is no unusual risk to planting this late. (O

Here's Tips When Buying New Home

What should you look for in a new home?

Most people correctly consider cost a prime factor. In general, it is economically unwise to buy a house that costs more than two-and-a-half times your annual income.

It is not a good idea to put all your savings into the down payment. There should be enough money left over to cover such expenses as screens and storm windows, and to buy some new furniture or convenient extras, like a garbage disposal or a new washing machine.

Another important factor is the neighborhood. Before buying a home ask yourself these questions:

-Are there good schools in the vicinity?

-Are shopping, recreational and transportation facilities nearby?

-Are homes in the area well-kept and attractive?

These factors affect future resale value of your new home.

Be sure, also, that the house meets the requirements of your family. Is there enough privacy, storage area, space for study and hobbies, convenient traffic patterns, handy entrances, sufficient garage space?

What about building materials? Check guarantees to see if low-maintenance, quality materials were used.

Heavyweight asphalt shingle roofs, for example, carry a guarantee or warranty of up to 25 years of service. In addition, modern roofing materials offer color and design which add to the over-all appearance of a house.

A new home should also have adequate wiring, plumbing and heating, and good sound-control. (O

Fall Home Repair Time: Don't Forget Plumbing

Fall is traditionally the time to make needed home repairs. When you're taking stock of your doors, windows, wall plaster and so on, don't forget the plumbing.

Here are some things to consider:

Do you have any leaky faucets? Are some of your drains sluggish? Is your water closet noisy? Does the water in your shower suddenly turn from scalding to icy cold? Do you often run out of hot water? Is there a hammering or whistling sound when you turn on a faucet? Is your kitchen sink too small and hard to keep clean? Is your basement flooded every time there's a heavy rainfall?

IF YOU HAVE any of these problems, there's no better time to correct them than right now.

A leaky faucet, for example, is easily repaired. Better still, it may pay you to replace it with a single-handle model that responds to the slightest touch. It saves water too because you don't have to run it to get the temperature you want—the position of the handle tips you off.

Modern showerheads come with varied settings that control water flow and there are controls that assure even temperatures.

Noises in the plumbing usually can be corrected. The modern siphon jet water closet is quiet and easy to keep clean.

IF YOU OFTEN run out of hot water, you probably need a larger water heater of the fast recovery type. A two or three-bowl kitchen sink will multiply its convenience tenfold. A sump pump in your basement will prevent future flooding.

Any or all of these rennovations to your plumbing will add to your family's enjoyment of your home this winter and save you money too.

Once you've gotten your plumbing into tiptop shape, it's important to keep it that way.

A booklet that tells you how to practice preventive maintenance, how to make repairs yourself and what jobs should be left strictly to experienced plumbing contractors is available for 25 cents from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601. (O

GARDENING TIPS

FROM THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS GARDEN CLUB

Your Garden . . . Day by Day

by MARY B. GOOD

December 1

December's flower is the narcissus. Perhaps you've been confused between the terms narcissus and daffodil. Don't be—they're synonymous. Narcissus is the botannical name; daffodil, the common name. Jonquil, on the other hand, refers to one special group of narcissus. Jonquils are easily distinguished by their small, yellow, very fragrant flowers in clusters with tubular leaves.

December 2

Cover plants only when the ground finally freezes to a depth of 3 to 4 inches.

December 3

"Operation Sparkle," the Arlington Heights Christmas outdoor lighting and decorating contest, is seeing a lot of action around town. Apartment dwellers note: We have not forgotten you—there is a doorway category, as well as lawn and home exterior classes for homeowners.

December 4

The city of Chicago now has an official flower, the chrysanthemum, and a Chicago Beautiful Committee to perpetuate it. Why not take a tip from the windy city and get the wheels turning on a civic beautification project in your area?

December 5

The gang's getting together tonight (Monday) for a do-it-yourself wreath workshop. Evergreen boughs will be available for a nominal fee. You're all invited to Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights, at 7:30 p.m.

December 6

For every gardener there is a flower: Like Nero Wolfe and his orchids, many flower fans tend to specialize. If you're interested in learning more about a particular plant, write to Box 362, Arlington Heights, and we will do our best to supply you with further information.

Howlett Urges Repeal Of Cumulative Voting

Michael J Howlett, state auditor of public accounts, last week advocated a Constitutional amendment to eliminate cumulative voting for members of the House of Representatives in Illinois.

In a letter to Rep. Marjorie Pebworth, chairman of the Constitutional Study Commission, Howlett said the principle of minority representation could be better protected with a one-man, one-vote ballot.

As a substitute system, Howlett proposed that the political parties be empowered to nominate two candidates each, and no more than two, for the three legislative seats in each district.

The authority now given representative district committees to decide whether to nominate one, two or three candidates would be discontinued.

THE VOTER WOULD vote for one, two or three candidates, but no candidate could receive more than one vote from each voter.

"Illinois is the only state in the Union with cumulative voting, under which the voter may distribute his three votes as he chooses for members of the House," said Howlett.

"At the time the 1870 Constitution was adopted, southern Illinois was Democratic and northern Illinois was Republican. The proponents of cumulative voting wanted to make sure that some Democratic legislators would be elected in the North and some Republicans in the South.

"The proponents may have thought that the two dominant parties would have nominated three candidates each. As a practical matter the two parties monimated no more than two. In some cases, the minority party nominated only one, thereby depriving the electorate of any choice in the general election.

"WHERE THE two major parties each nominate two candidates, counting of the ballots becomes a terrible burden on the election judges, as there are so many ways to split the ballots.

"The cumulative voting system does not give us the best qualified candidates.

"We had better candidates in the 1964 at-large election than we ever had before. Cumulative voting encourages deals between the parties. In districts where one party predominates strongly, the candidates of the minority party have the incentive to go to the majority party for help against candidates of their own party.

"Cumulative voting has not worked out as its sponsors hoped a century ago. No other state would have it. We should get rid of it." (A15

Have Little Space But

How would you like to have an office in your home or study without increasing the floor space?

It can be done without magic if your house has a walk-in closet with contents that can be transferred elsewhere.

One busy newspaperwoman cleverly transformed—with just a few ingredients—the hall closet in her apartment into a cheerful office. The key items were two wallcovering patterns and furnishings scaled to the area.

She chose scrubbable and strippable wallcloth.

THE WALLCLOTHS are easy to hang (prepasted so they need only to be dipped in water then hung) easy to maintain (because they're completely scrubbable) and easy to remove should you want to change decor (because they are strippable).

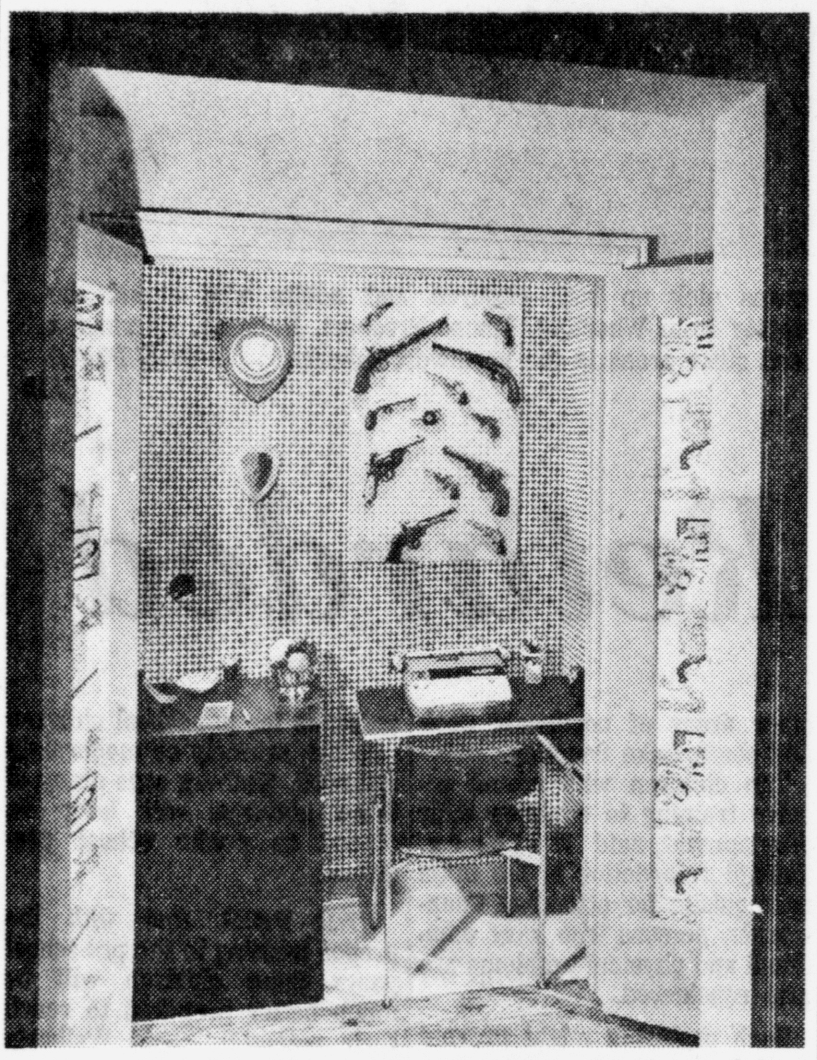
She accessorized the office by picking up the mood of the design. Thirteen antique pistols from her husband's collection of ancient firearms, which is valued in the thousands of dollars and dates back to American Revolutionary times, were decoratively arranged on the wall.

Her arrangements of furnishings are worth noting: a filing cabinet, a place for materials, a shelf large enough to hold an electric portable typewriter, and a chair scaled so as to be comfortable when in use, but small enough to close the door behind afterward—the whole effect is one of compactness and efficiency with records and writing tools at her fingertips.

"MY FRIENDS HAVE been amazed, when asking if they would like to see my new office, I throw open the closet doors and show them this attractive working area," she said.

Coral and flat black paint were used for accent in the study. The coral tone is predominant in the design.

"Putting up the wallcloth was a breeze," her husband reported. "I just followed the directions in the package. I had no idea that hanging wallcloth could be so easy." (O



JUST ABOUT EVERYONE needs a quiet corner or out-of-the way repository for bills and personal data of a less crucial nature than would be held in a safe deposit box. This little office suggestion was created by a newspaperwoman who found it ideal for doing her outside assignments such as writing magazine articles and keeping track of personal details like correspondence and charge accounts.

Consider Glass Windbreak for Your Yard

If you need a windbreak for the yard but don't want to shut off a view, consider a glass wall.

Double-strength glass can be mounted in heavy Douglas fir frames to do the job and, as long as the framing is well constructed, there's little danger of glass warping and breaking.

Around a pool or patio, the glass wall is a most attractive accessory, especially when used fence-style as a background for a bed of annuals or groundhugging greens.

If there's any worry about sun glare, use lightly tinted glass, a bronze or gray, staining the pressure-treated fir framing to complement the glass color. (O

Package Comes Back, Like Bouncing Check

Instant fraud now comes in packages — even gift-wrapped for the Christmas season.

Attorney General William G. Clark warned Illinoisans that the "bouncing box" hoax has reemerged and is leaving a trail of fraud victims at various points throughout the state.

THE SCHEME works this way: A messenger, often dressed in some type of uniform, arrives at your door and announces, "I have a package for you . . . sign here, please."

Too many people assume they are receiving a gift or store delivery and sign their names to acknowledge receipt of the package.

"Look at what you sign," Clark warned. "Our Consumer Fraud bureau has discovered that the 'receipt' may, in fact, be a sales contract, with the terms or conditions of the contract hidden beneath another piece of paper or folded so that the contract doesn't show."

The Attorney General cited the example of one Chicagoan whose doorbell rang at one o'clock in the morning as the resident was watching a late movie on TV. When he opened the door, a "messenger" at his doorstep announced, "Parcel post. Sign here for your package."

HE SIGNED readily, accepted the package and thanked the messenger. Back in front of his TV set, the man opened the box and found it contained a ladies wig. He was a bachelor.

He contacted the wig company the following day, advised them they had made a mistake in delivery and that he would return the wig.

"There was no mistake," the wig agent growled. "You signed a contract for the wig and you owe us $176."

Investigation showed that the man had, indeed, signed a contract that he thought was merely a parcel post receipt. He thus became one more consumer fraud statistic.

Though Attorney General Clark's Consumer Fraud division eventually nullified the "contract" the victim of this doorstep "banditry" underwent many grueling moments of rage and frustration.

CLARK SAID the racket is called the "bouncing box" fraud because, like a "rubber check," it is a hoax that flies in the face of the victim in an unguarded moment.

The attorney general advised that, under a new Illinois statute, people simply do not have to pay for unsolicited merchandise delivered to their doorstep, but if you sign a hidden contract . . . that's trouble. (A15

Pluckers Special Awards Told

Special awards, medals and certificates were presented to members of the Plum Grove Plum Pluckers 4-H Club of Palatine at an Achievement Night Program held Nov. 14 in Miner Junior High School, Arlington Heights.

Merlyn Heyer, agriculture division, and Jean Rushton, home economics division, presented awards to the following members: Tom Frey, public speaking; Margaret Huff, poultry; Laura Graf, horses; Paul Broadwater, dog care and training, and Hugh Frey, conservation.

The 1966 county project honors certificates went to Kathy Senne, Steve Kearns, Laura Graf, and Phyllis Frey. State and county project honors certificates and medals were awarded to Margaret Huff, Chuck Huff, Tom Frey, Ted Frey, Hugh Frey, Wendy Broadwater, Paul Broadwater, and Fritzie Broadwater. Tom Frey and Margaret Huff also were presented with the 1966 4-H outstanding county awards.

Christmas activities and possible community service projects were discussed at the November meeting. (B10

Name 10 Area Women As Palsy Chairmen

Ten women from this area have been named chairmen in their communities for the "53 Minute March" on cerebral palsy. The march is scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 15.

Heading the drive in Arlington Heights is Mrs. Elbert Kamp, 1119 N Drury Lane. Mrs. Don Pollitz, 526 Thorndale, is Elk Grove Village chairman; Mrs. William Gresher, 1735 Evergreen, is chairman for Hanover Park; Mrs. Edward Lewis, 150 Jamison St., for Hoffman Estates; and Mrs. Nicholos Herman, 1950 Tweed Road, for Inverness Countryside.

Mrs. William Bradish, 342 S. Maple St., will supervise the march in Mount Prospect; Mrs. Richard Burger, 1059 Flake Drive East, in Palatine; Mrs. Richard Smith, 2200 Hawk Lane, in Rolling Meadows; Mrs. Erwin Tuma, 734 Crest Ave., in Schaumburg; and Mrs. James C. Hayden, 1011 Stratford Circle. in Streamwood.

A goal of $500,000 has been set for Cook, Lake, DuPage and Kane Counties, where there are now approximately 21,000 children and adults with cerebral palsy.

The funds collected will support the United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Chicago program of direct services—including a child developmental center, summer camp programs, adult activity groups and family counseling plus research and education. (B10 YOUNGSTERS WHO attend the Countryside Center for the Retarded near Barrington, get on the bus to attend the school. The buses are the newest part of the center's program said Ralph E. Walburg, executive director. The buses pick up both children and adults who attend the center from Wheeling, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Barrington and other areas in the northwest suburbs. (Staff Photo) (A15

FOR THE RE
BARRING

Center for Retarded Has New Name, Buses

by DAVID J. HANKS
Staff Writer

Countryside Center for the Retarded, near Palatine, has a new name and some new buses to carry children and adults to the 12-year-old institution.

Formerly called Countryside Farm School for the Retarded, the center is primarily a place where retarded children and young adults have a chance to better develop their potential.

Ralph E. Walberg, executive director, said the name change was necessary because of the "wider range of services performed at the center." The center is not a "farm," he said, and those attending are outside the legal framework of programs offered by the public schools.

NEWEST IN the center's program is the purchase of two buses which haul youngsters and adults to Countryside from Wheeling, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Barrington, Fox River Grove and other areas of northwest Cook and south Lake counties.

The children who attend receive training to continue their development, said Walberg. Though retardation is the main prerequisite for attending Countryside, persons who have emotional and physical problems are also considered.

Such problems might prevent their acceptance in public school programs, according to Walberg.

One important program at the center is for pre-school children who are severely or moderately retarded. Walberg says many of these children will later be placed in public school programs.

"WE FEEL that with the proper training in the pre-school years these children will be much better prepared to reach their potential," said Walberg.

In the sheltered workshop at Countryside young adults 16 years and older work and are trained. Nine are presently in the workshop, according to Mrs. Margery Branch, director. The people in the workshop do assembling and packaging, mainly, and are paid on a "per-piece" basis.

Presently they are assembling tags for the International Tag and Business Form Co., of Chicago, and boxes for Berkey Photo Service of Des Plaines. For years the workshop has been assembling "dust masks" and "sweat bands" for Sellstrom Manufacturing Co. in Palatine.

This week they started packaging bicycle parts for Excel, Inc. of Franklin Park.

Also a part of the workshop project is a craft's program. Once a week the workers weave various things, Mrs. Branch said. This program is supervised by a volunteer group, she added.

A church program of singing story telling and various other things is offered. This is also supervised by a volunteer group and the theme "Gods' World" is emphasized.

Recreation is an important element in the over-all program at Countryside, said Walberg. Presently the center is working on an agreement so that those in the workshop may go swimming twice a month at the Des Plaines YMCA.

IN THE SUMMER they go swimming twice a week. Once at Hawthorne Woods Lake and the other time at Barrington Pool, according to Mrs. Branch. They also go on picnics.

"Our purpose is to make them more self-sufficient," she said. "You have to treat them as adults as much as possible," she explained.

The 24 in the Day Program, pre-schoolers, and those in the workshop do various things in the Center's kitchen.

Mrs. Margaret Mundstock, principal and program coordinator, says the main thing that's emphasized in the kitchen for pre-school children is "safety." They are taught "how not to get burned," she added. Manners are also demonstrated during the lunch hour, she said.

They are taught how to make certain types of foods, such as salads, "and quite frankly they get enjoyment out of doing it," added Mrs. Mundstock.

Center personnel feel that the training in the kitchen helps the child or adult and tends to make him useful at home.

The goal or purpose of the Day Program for pre-schoolers is to enhance their social development, said Mrs. Mundstock. It is important that they learn how to get along with others.

They are also able to develop physical and mental disciplines. One example would be learning to sit and another would be to play games.

The day for the children is separated in two parts. In the morning they learn painting, coloring, and other things in small groups or classes.

In the afternoon they participate in "large group activities," such as singing, other games, watching films, and listening to stories. Occasionally they have parties, near holidays like Halloween. Or sometimes they celebrate a birthday of someone in the group, according to Mrs. Mundstock.

Countryside's two buildings have been refurbished since Walberg came to the center in February. Painting and some room remodeling were completed. The center has five classrooms, a conference room, the sheltered workshop and a gymnasium.

The refurbishing was paid for by the Women's Auxiliary for the Countryside Center, Walberg said. They held various drives and fund-raising events to get the money, he added.

A building program is planned for the future, said Walberg. He said there were 35 attending the center now and "I would take on eight more tomorrow if we had room for them." (A15

Self-Service Postal Unit Dedication Slated Dec. 3

Dedication ceremonies for the new self-service postal unit in Randhurst Shopping Center of Mount Prospect will be held at 10 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 3, opening day.

The self-service installation is one of the first to be opened in an expansion program of 100 such constructions in major shopping centers throughout the nation this year at a cost of approximately $15,000 each.

The red, white, and blue self-service unit is located on property donated by Randhurst. Two drive-up mail boxes and a special parcel post deposit will provide 24-hour-a-day postal service seven days a week. Vending machines will offer stamps, postal cards, envelopes and minimum insurance. Letter and parcel scales indicating postage and bill and coin changers also will be available.

A free direct telephone line to the post office will assist customers in obtaining additional information throughout the day and night.

DURING THE last two years the U. S. Post Office Department has been testing experimental units similar to the one in Mount Prospect, in an expansion program to use modern techniques, designed to improve the nation's postal system by increasing service and customer convenience.

Mount Prospect Postmaster Theodore C. Geocaris invited postal patrons, their families and friends to attend the dedication. He said invitations have been sent to community and civic leaders and Post Office Department dignitaries. (RH

School Plans Draw Interest

A "pleasantly surprising" amount of interest in bidding the Hersey High School construction project is being exhibited by contractors, the High School District 214 board was told Monday.

Wayne Fritch of Berger, Kelley, Unteed and Associates, architects for the projects, had another cheering tidbit for them too.

HE SAID A school building that their firm planned at Cary had been bid out within $1,000 of the architects' estimates of cost.

District 214's board, which has watched area construction costs soar 25 per cent in the 11 months since the Hersey bond issue was approved, looked relieved.

"You do that with Hersey and I'll buy you a cigar," said Dr. Frank Smith.

"I DON'T LIKE cigars, but if we do, I'll smoke it," Fritch promised.

Fritch said that his firm had been encouraged by the action shown regarding the Hersey High plans. Six quite good general contractors, eight heating contractors and six electrical contractors have taken out sets of the plans so far, he said.

BIDS FOR THE new building will be opened Jan. 10 at 2 p.m. at Prospect High School.

Voters have approved a $6.5 million bond issue for the Hersey, the sixth District 214 school.

Projected to open in the fall of 1968, it will house 2,750 students including 250 in an expanded vocational education program.

SITE OF THE new building will be a 40-acre site north of Thomas Road or Willow Road (both names are commonly used) a quarter mile east of Rand Road.

Named for author John Hersey, the new school will serve primarily the Prospect Heights and the north Arlington Heights areas. (ACME

Polk Marks 30th Year As Dealer

Polk Bros. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. have launched a celebration of their 30th anniversary as "partners" in the appliance business.

Sol Polk, president of Polk Bros., said the celebration is of special personal significance because it marks an event that was a major turning point early in his business career. When Westinghouse awarded him a franchise and extended him credit 30 years ago, Polk had just started in business in a small store on N. Central Ave., Chicago.

"WESTINGHOUSE'S decision to award us a franchise was of importance because it not only allowed us to expand our lines but also paved the way for franchises from other leading manufacturers," Polk pointed out.

Today Polk Bros. has 15 stores in the Chicago area, including one in Arlington Heights.

The anniversary celebration, which runs through Christmas, is featuring displays of all 1967 models in the Westinghouse lines as well as special sale prices. Highlighted are Westinghouse color TV, new stereo models and kitchen and laundry appliances. (B10

THE UNIQUE Expo/Rama aerosphere "bubble" opens today (Thursday) at Randhurst shopping center to preview Expo 67, the largest international exhibition ever to be held in North America which will open in Montreal in April, 1967. Co-sponsored by the Governments of Canada, the Province of Quebec and the city of Montreal, the exposition will mark the 100th birthday of Canada as a nation.

EXPO 67 Preview Opens at Randhurst

Randhurst shopping center will host an old-fashioned roadshow dressed up in a futuristic setting Dec. 1 through Dec. 4, to generate interest in EXPO 67, the world exposition to open in Montreal in April, 1967.

The Randhurst show, called Expo/Rama, actually is a sneak preview—open to the public free of charge—of the 1,000-acre exposition now taking shape on two islands in the St. Lawrence River.

The preview is being housed in a giant aerosphere bubble, a dome-shaped nylon "building" 44 feet high that is supported by air. Participating in the show will be French-Canadian singers and actors and pretty hostesses. Special features include puppet shows and motion pictures.

EXPO 67, THE first universal and international exhibition in the Western hemisphere ever given a "first category" rating by the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris, is Expo/-Rama's prime attraction. With more than 70 nations participating EXPO 67 will be the largest world exhibition ever held.

The local show, presented in the spirit of hands-across-the-border neighborliness, will inform local residents about what their neighbors to the north are planning for next year.

Expo/Rama has three phases. Upon entering the giant bubble visitors will be greeted by a singing hostess who will reveal interesting facts about Montreal, "the Paris of the West." Color films of the city then will be shown. A puppet show previewing highlights of EXPO 67 follows, with emphasis on the United States' 20-story domed pavilion, and a $15-million Soviet Union pavilion.

THE GIANT U. S. exhibit sphere of steel and acrylic plastic, underwritten by an appropriation of $9,300,000 from Congress, will dwell on American accomplishments and dramatic breakthroughs in the arts, space and technology. One of the major features of the Soviets' 172,000-square-foot pavilion will be "Cosmos Hall," where the latest in technology will be displayed. Also covered will be the fields of Russian industry, the arts, science and economics.

The final phase of the Randhurst show, especially appealing to children, will present highlights of La Ronde, the exposition's 135-acre amusement complex designed to be a combination of Copenhagen's Tivoli Gardens and Disneyland.

Decorated Tower Brightens Up Sky

by MAGGIE IRWIN

Towering over the Randhurst complex at Route 12 and Route 83 is our beautifully decorated water tower, an outstanding landmark in the Village of Mount Prospect. It can be seen for many miles and is a welcome beacon guiding all to a pleasant shopping experience in the 70 shops at Randhurst. We hope everyone will get to see the tower at night; it's a sight you will long remember.

Randhurst is bursting at the seams with the Christmas Spirit. Our old-fashioned decorations have an eye-appealing gaiety and warmth that will brighten your spirits. The mall is filled with shoppers ladened down with Christmas packages and occasionally you'll hear one humming a Christmas carol along with the music that is piped in throughout the mall and stores.

AFTER YOUR children have visited Santa and received their animal balloon as a memento of their visit with him, we suggest you take them down to the lower level to see the beautifully crafted miniature Old World Village that is on display. While you are there stop in the charming shops where you will find that special "something different" gift that is sure to please.

Dec. 1, 2, 3 and 4 Randhurst will host a show called Expo-Rama '67. It is a sneak preview of the World's Fair being held in Montreal next year.

There are three stages housed in a dome-shaped 44' air structure, and the show is free of charge, you and your family will be most welcome.

Your children are invited to see a free movie "Misty" at the Randhurst Cinema on Dec. 17. There will be two shows; one at 9 a.m. and another at 11 a. m. They can see a nice movie while you do Christmas shopping without worry. (Rh

Minnesota 'Fats' to Appear at Randhurst

Minnesota "Fats," self-admittedly the world's greatest pool player, will make a personal appearance and give a demonstration of his prowess with a pool cue, at the Montgomery Ward store, Randhurst Shopping Center, on Friday, Dec. 2 from 7 to 9 p.m.

"We are very pleased to have Minnesota 'Fats' visit our store and give a demonstration of his unusual abilities," the Wards manager stated. "Anyone who has seen 'Fats' work knows what a treat it is, and those who have never had the pleasure of his company are in for a thrill."

MINNESOTA "Fats," who was born Rudolf Walter Wanderone in New York City 54 years ago, has been a pool player nearly all his life. A recent movie, "The Hustlers" with Jackie Gleason, was based on his playing years. He is known in the sports world as the original "Hustler."

One of his claims to fame is the fact that until very recently, when he joined a billiard table company as vice president in charge of public relations, he had never worked a day in his life. His entire livelihood came from his ability with the pool cue.

His greatest love next to pool, is eating. "Fats" was once challenged to an eating contest and accepted immediately, even allowing the challenger to pick the weapons. The unfortunate man decided on bananas, and "Fats" ate him to defeat by running through an entire bunch of bananas. "And I don't even like the fruit," "Fats" claimed.

During his appearance in the Montgomery Ward store "Fats" will give a demonstration of several of his better known trick pool shots, explain the complex "Diamond system" of playing pool, which is using the diamonds on the rail of the table to line up shots, and answer questions about his unusual career and the game. Gift Certificate Use on Increase

Lee Freedman, manager of Lane Bryant Randhurst store, reported there is a growing preferance for gift certificates from customers during the holiday season.

He said that because Lane Bryant customers wear special sizes, they find they often have to return gifts more often than their slimmer or shorter sisters do.

He added that although the store assists all holiday gift buyers in making their selections, men, especially, are discovering the many advantages of gift certificates.

ACCESSORIES COME in other than average sizes at Lane Bryant—designed for their special customers. They are proportioned for the tall as well as the fuller figures.

Nationally, Lane Bryant has noted a 500 per cent increase in the sale of Christmas gift certificates over the past four years.

In addition to eliminating special size problems, they also eliminate duplication and are like two gifts in one—when the certificate is received and later, when it is redeemed.

Levan Attends Illinois 4-H Honor Banquet

Ed Levan, 24W021 Mensching Road, Roselle, was among 500 Illinois 4-H club leaders who attended the 21st annual state 4-H club leaders recognition banquet held in Springfield Nov. 22.

Levan and three others from North Cook County represented this area at the day-long program. Merlyn Heyen of Arlington Heights, associate farm adviser, was in charge of the group.

Levan is now serving his sixth year as volunteer leader for the Hanover Hawks 4-H club. The club has nearly 30 members who participate in a variety of projects. They have been particularly active in North Cook County 4-H activities and several have received state and national honors. (B10

The Law Serves You

A Public Service of the ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

Joint tenancy is a common way for two or more people to hold legal title to property but it is not always the best way, the Illinois State Bar Association states in a newly revised pamphlet entitled "Joint Ownership—Its Meaning and Effect."

In the pamphlet, the ISBA defines joint tenancy, with right of survivorship, as a form of ownership which provides that upon the death of one of the joint tenants, or owners, his interest or share immediately becomes the property of the surviving joint tenant or tenants.

The transfer of ownership upon death occurs automatically, without any legal proceeding or action by the decedent's estate or by the survivors.

THE PAMPHLET weighs the advantages and disadvantages of joint tenancy arrangements.

A possible advantage of joint tenancy, it states, is the saving of probate costs if the property held in joint tenancy is the only property which otherwise would come under the jurisdiction of the probate court. For example, there would be no estate to probate if a man and wife owned a home, automobile and bank account in joint tenancy and this constituted their entire estate.

However, the pamphlet warns, a disadvantage of joint tenancy is that it may create an unfavorable tax situation in which surviving joint tenants are subjected to additional death or gift taxes.

Another disadvantage is that the person who places property in joint tenancy loses the benefits of sole ownership and control. That person may not regain exclusive control of the property, or add new joint tenants or subtract old ones, without the consent of all the tenants, and this consent may be difficult to obtain.

PERSONS SHOULD examine the consequences carefully before placing their property under this form of joint ownership, the pamphlet states.

"Joint Tenancy—Its Meaning and Effect" is available without charge on request to the Illinois State Bar Association, Illinois Bar Center, Springfield, Illinois 62701. (RE

Presto! Slum Tenement Is Refurbished in 48 Hours

THE WORLD ... of Real Estate

Well, not instant exactly, but would you believe 48 hours?

Just imagine removing tanants from an occupied five-story tenement and returning them two days later to a building that's ben rebuilt with with new floors, walls and ceilings, and even new kitchens and bath rooms!

Only 48 hours later! Repeat: 48 Hours!

Science fiction? A dream of the future? Not at all! It's being attempted this vear in an experiment that mav revolutionize ideas about slum rehabilitation. This fascinating story dwarfs the stories of dream houses that appear in slick magazines.

UNDER TEST IS a new construction system designed to accelerate low-cost modernization of occupied slum buildings. The experiment will involve improved techniques in material-handling, and the use of pre-assembled and factory-fabricated building components.

Once the people are moved out, the entire building is to be quickly gutted and a large hole cut in the roof, to the basement. Cranes will then lower all the components needed for rehabilitation, including kitchens and bathrooms already finished, down through the hole into place, quickly and systematically. Presto! Two days later the entire building has a completely new interior, and the people can move back in!

Up to now, a big problem has been what to do with people while their apartments are being done over. Months can pass, and costs soar. Thanks to completely packaged kitchens and baths, it's quick and feasible.

This core is a steel box containing a utilities center for plumbing and electrical services. They stack, filling the hole chopped through all floors!

UNDER THE sponsorship of the Institute of Public Administration, a private New York non-profit group acquired three five-story 'old law' tenements on the lower east side of Manhattan for the experiment. Two of the buildings were condemned by the city and unoccupied, the third fully occupied. The first empty building was used to test the practicability of the designs and to experiment with alternate procedures. This work started last Spring. Activities then shifted to the second empty building for dress rehearsal and dry run.

Soon, the approved procedures from the second building will be used in the occupied building, with tenants being relocated for a 48-hour period while the work is under way. All work will be done with union help and local contractors.

Many famous architects and engineers are working on this project. So are many large corporations which produce the special building materials required.

THE PROJECT IS exciting, for this experiment can affect real estate all over the world. Until now, many people have thought we were stuck with ratty old slums that even rich America could never get rid of. Maybe we can't, but we can make them more livable if these pioneers are successful, and benefits will fan out to all of us.

Q.—Our house needs new gutters and leaders, an outside paint job, and a new roof. We're tempted to put it off because of the high cost. Is this wise?—Mrs. T. J.

A.—The longer you put if off the more it will cost, and the more you will need to have done as damage spreads. If our Vietnam situation continues, you may run into a problem getting 'strategic' materials, and have to make further delays. Remember World War II, when you couldn't get metal gutters for love or money? If you can possibly afford it, do it! You'll enjoy an immediate benefit of the improvements. Believe me, if the roof leaks through and ruins your ceilings you'll wish you had. If you can do only one thing at a time, do the roof first, then paint, then gutters. Inquire about home improvement loans and give yourself a pleasant surprise when you discover how reasonable they are!

Realtors To Install Officers at Dinner

Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors Christmas dinner-dance and installation of officers will be held Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Post & Paddock Club, Arlington Park.

First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Chicago will host the cocktail party from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., prior to the dinner at 7:30 p.m.

For the first time the Northwest Suburban Board is combining its annual Christmas party and installation of officers and directors into one big affair. M. Edward Smith, president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, will install the new officers and directors.

The brief installation ceremonies will immediately follow dinner.

Dancing to the music of the Bill Russell Orchestra will commence at 10 p.m. Tickets for this affair are available at the Board office, 1032 Lee Street, Des Plaines, Illinois. (RE

Bruning Co. Tells 'Copycorder' Uses

A device to enable users of Bruning 2000 electrostatic copying machines to control and accurately allocate copying costs has been announced by the Charles Bruning Company.

The device, called a Copycorder kit, serves both as a circuit breaker on the machine and as a numerical accumulator to register the number of copies made on the machine. The Bruning Company of Mount Prospect, a division of Addressograph Multigraph Corporation, is a leading maker of electrostatic and diazo copying equipment and supplies.

The kit consists of the Copycorder which is wired into any of the Bruning 2000 series of machines and a Keycounter, a pocket-size unit that acts as a key to make the copier operable and a recorder to accumulate the number of copies made. The kit will be sold outright or rented by Bruning.

The device is ideal for multiple department companies, libraries, professional groups, office buildings and copy centers as a means of accurately allocating costs among users of a copying machine, the company stated.

C&NW Names Kraegel A Vice President

The election of Norbert E. Kraegel, vice president-accounting of the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., to the newly created position of vice president-systems and information services has been announced.

NORBERT E. KRAEGEL

With his election, which will become effective Jan. 1, Kraegel will assume responsibility of a new department concerned with the operation of the system and data processing activities of the railroad as well as for the research, development and installation of all future computer applications on the North Western.

The new department will function as a service organization to all departments of the railroad and will include, among its objectives, the extension of computer applications to various areas of railroad operations.

Kraegel, who lives at 1202 W. Milburn, Mount Prospect, came to the North Western in 1959 from the accounting firm of Arthur Andersen & Co. (BB

PENNEY'S SLEEPWEAR fashion this Christmas features Santa Mouse, a new Christmas character. He will be featured on children's wearing apparel, a recording and in a book.

Penney's 'Santa Mouse' in Season

The familiar Christmas poem reads: "'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring not even a mouse . . ."

Penny's has served notice at least one mouse will be stirring. He's Penney's new Christmas character "Santa Mouse," who'll be present in the company's stores coast to coast this year.

The tiny Christmas character will be featured at Penney's on wearing apparel for children, on a Columbia 45 rpm recording and in a book. There will also be stuffed toy versions of the "mouse who remembered." Santa Mouse will appear in his bright red fur-trimmed suit or his red and white striped nightshirt on infants' and little girls' and boys' pajamas, playwear, robes and other apparel.

Bob Morrison Columbia Records vocalist ("Hey! Mr. Puppet Man" and "Wait"), has recorded the lilting "Santa Mouse" song. The "Santa Mouse" book published by Grosset & Dunlap has been colorfully illustrated and features an appealing festive theme. Teamed with the record and clothing, it makes for lots of fun at holiday time. (BB

PENNEY'S SLEEPWEAR fashion this Christmas features Santa Mouse, a new Christmas character. He will be featured on children's wearing apparel, a recording and in a book.

Penney's 'Santa Mouse' in Season

The familiar Christmas poem reads: "'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring not even a mouse . . ."

Penny's has served notice at least one mouse will be stirring. He's Penney's new Christmas character "Santa Mouse," who'll be present in the company's stores coast to coast this year.

The tiny Christmas character will be featured at Penney's on wearing apparel for children, on a Columbia 45 rpm recording and in a book. There will also be stuffed toy versions of the "mouse who remembered." Santa Mouse will appear in his bright red fur-trimmed suit or his red and white striped nightshirt on infants' and little girls' and boys' pajamas, playwear, robes and other apparel.

Bob Morrison Columbia Records vocalist ("Hey! Mr. Puppet Man" and "Wait"), has recorded the lilting "Santa Mouse" song. The "Santa Mouse" book published by Grosset & Dunlap has been colorfully illustrated and features an appealing festive theme. Teamed with the record and clothing, it makes for lots of fun at holiday time. (BB

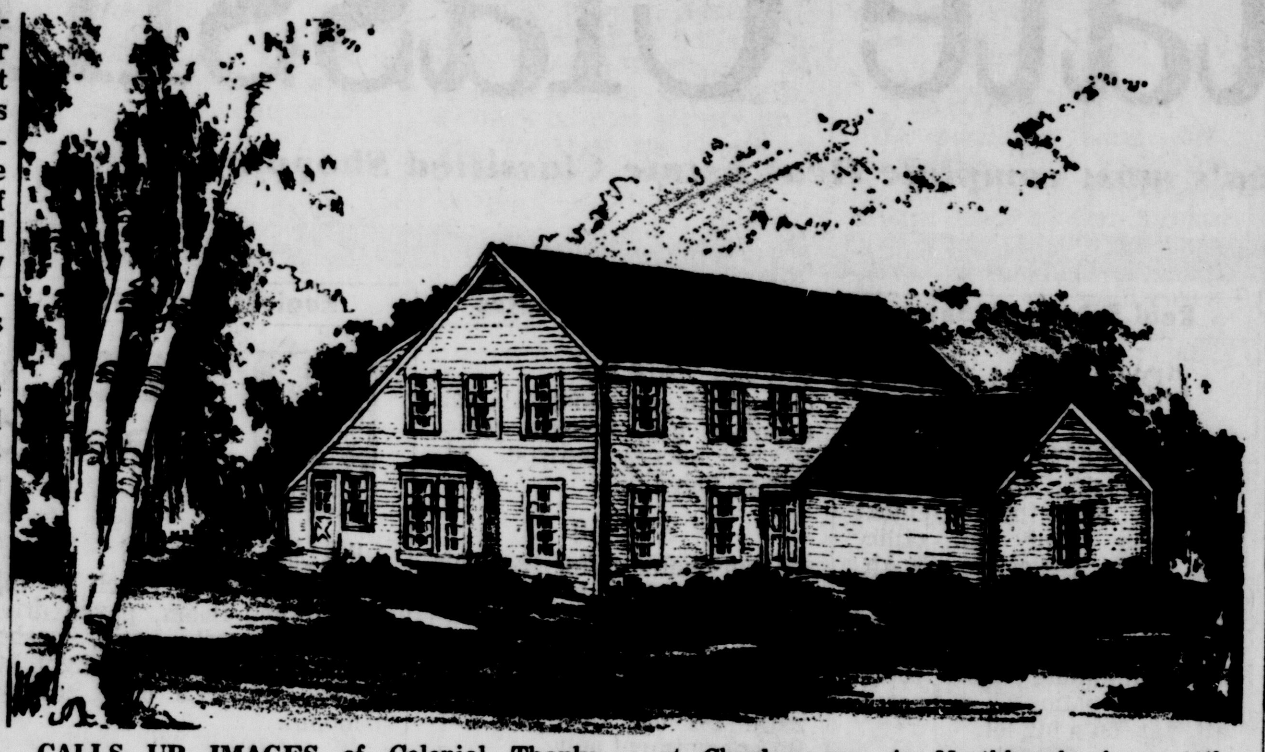
'Saltbox' Conjures Image Of Days of Miles Standish



CALLS UP IMAGES of Colonial Thanksgivings—an early New England house in the traditional Cape Cod "saltbox" style. This 10-room, four-bedroom home can be visited at Charlemagne, in Northbrook, in a 19th Century English Regency exterior, one of four optional architectural styles.

(RE

"We call it a 'saltbox,' although it resembles a pioneer New England candle box just as much, and after 300 years it is probably the most evocative of our Colonial home styles," the vice president of Kennedy Development Co. said this week of a 17th Century traditional American home design now available in his firm's three communities.

"It calls up images of the days of Miles Standish and Priscilla Alden," said Robert N. Kennedy. "Better yet, the saltbox or Cape Codder is an all-American style created for comfort in our northern climate."

It is one of 18 home plans, each of which can be built in as many as four different architectural styles, that the Kennedy firm is offering at Charlemagne in Northbrook, Fox Point in Barrington, and Tanglewood in Lake Forest.

"THE SALTBOX house," Kennedy noted, "is an evolutionary house, and maybe that explains some of its enduring appeal. It began as one room and grew as the family prospered. Its final enlargement was the adding of a lean-to at the back. This produced the long pitched roof that plunges almost to the ground—and the likeness to an antique saltbox."

As adapted by Kennedy architects for modern living, the saltbox is a spacious two-story, 10-room house with four bedrooms. The largest bedroom, the master suite, includes a dressing room with custom vanity, a private bath, and a room-size walk-in closet. A hall bath with a twin-bowl custom vanity serves the other bedrooms.

"Aside from bathrooms and heating, probably the greatest difference between our modern house and the New England originals," Kennedy remarked, "is in the closets.

"The early builders often had none at all. We have put really large closets in every bedroom, and have also added a roomy linen closet in the second-floor hall, a reception-hall coat closet adjoining the powder room, and one more for work and play clothes in the laundry near the back door."

The living room has built-in bookcases and a ceiling framed in crown molding. There is molding in the ceiling cove of the adjoining private dining room, too, and chair rails on the walls.

"THE FLAT ORIEL bay window at one end of the dining room," Kennedy said, "is a conceit that would most likely have been frowned on in Puritan days. Like today's necessary garage (for two cars), it is our addition to this evolutionary home. It is also a boon to the person who makes a hobby of house plants."

The family room at the rear of the house, which opens through double sliding doors onto a patio, has a brick fireplace and hearth with plank trim. The built-in bar is equipped with a wet sink.

The kitchen, furnished with double oven, dishwasher, disposer, island cooking top with chuckwagon hood, custom cabinets, and pantry, is complemented with a family eating room that faces the patio through double glass doors.

Other major features include a 1,130 square foot basement and a finished and painted garage interior.

THE IDENTICAL floor plan of this house can be seen in the model home at Charlemagne named "Kenton," which is an English Regency version of the same plan. A third exterior style is half-timbered English Tudor.

Charlemagne is located on Dundee Road, opposite Sportsman Country Club, 4-½ miles west of Edens Expressway.

Builder George Wallach has recently opened Park Manor, an attractive community of imaginatively designed, custom-built homes priced from $25,960 to $32,500.

Park Manor was planned for and built on the last piece of unimproved property in Arlington Heights. The entire area, which Wallach has owned for the past six years, is now fully improved. Every home in Park Manor's Presidential Series includes paved streets, public walks, separate storm and sanitary sewers, and curbs.

Five tastefully furnished models done by the decorating firm of Gene Dreyfus and Associates are open daily from 9 a.m. till dark. The homes feature distinctive motifs ranging from authentic adaptations of traditional American to informal contemporary styling.

ALL HOMES provide appliances by Tappan, which include a dishwasher, eyelevel double oven range, disposal. and stainless steel sink. Other attractions include select oak floors throughout, removable wood windows, large closets with mirrored doors, built in vanities by Schrierech, American Standard plumbing fixtures, with their finest contour bath tub, Moen faucets, copper piping, and complete selections of brick and sidings.

The first certificate of compliance and occupancy with building permit No. 66-410 for the Washington Colonial model at 834 S. Roosevelt Ave. was issued recently to the first family to move into to a George Wallach's home. (RE

IN REGENT PARK this sunken dining room and versitile fireplace are dramatic features of the two bedroom townhouse which sells for $28,400.

2-Bedroom Townhouse In Regent Described

A home of carefree living, expertly blended with custom designing and aimed primarily at the "small family," is the trademark of the two bedroom town-and-garden home in United Development Company's Regent Park subdivision of Arlington Heights.

Since most residences today have three or more bedrooms, United's two-bedroom townhouse is somewhat of a rarity.

Fred Peterman, the company's sales director, says it is "one of our best sellers, especially attractive to the husband and wife who live alone or have just one child."

ADDING TO THE lure of this unit, says Peterman, is the elegance of its design in which some features, not even found in custom homes, are incorporated.

The model is entered through a huge Vermont-slate entry which permits access to any part of the house without going through the living room. The entry hall, which is 12 feet long, is large enough so that several guests may enter at one time and be comfortably greeted without congestion.

The dramatic center of attention is the huge fireplace separating the sunken dining room from the living room area. Insulated glass sliding doors lead from the dining room to the patio area, and a massive picture window brightens the living room.

Just off the dining room is an ideal kitchen working area, and adjacent to it is a combination breakfast-eating center and family room featuring a solid brick wall. A powder room is tucked away, unobtrusively, at the foot of the entry hall and to one side of the family room.

UPSTAIRS ARE THE two large bedrooms served by a large, common bath. Each bedroom has huge floor-to-ceiling closets.

Real Estate Section

THURS., DEC. 1, 1966

The two bedroom model also has a partial basement, with crawlspace, and an attached garage which conveniently opens into the family kitchen.

For families needing more space, United's Regent Park also includes three bedroom townhouses, two and three bedroom condominiums, and four bedroom executive type homes, all with attached garages.

Residents of the town-and-garden and condominiums participate in a low cost maintenance-free service which includes lawn care, exterior painting and snow removal.

PROFESSIONALLY landscaped at a cost of more than $125,000, the development has its own seven-acre springfed lake, swiming pool, tennis courts and shaded malls, and is readily accessible to outstanding shopping facilities, schools, churches and public transportation.

Regent Park is situated one-half mile west of the Randhurst shopping center on Kensington road. (RE

THAN ANY OTHER KIND OF ADVERTISING

Classified advertising now appearing in Thursday editions can also be scheduled in Sunday Suburbanite at the same time at advantageous discount. Or the ad may start Sunday and run in combination with the following Thursday. No classified advertising will be accepted for just the Sunday Suburbanite, without also appearing in the Thursday editions.

DEADLINES

TUESDAY AT 3 P.M. for Thursday editions, and for Thursday-Sunday combination. Ads received until 10 a.m. Wednesday will appear in "Too Late to Classify" section of Thursday edition.
THURSDAY AT NOON deadline for Sunday Suburbanite for Sunday-Thursday insertions.

RATES

Reader classified rates: 20c a word first insertion, 17c a word repeated consecutive insertions. Minimum charge for any ad $2.00.
Sunday Suburbanite — reader classified, IN COMBINATION WITH THURSDAY ONLY, 8½ cents a word. $1 minimum.
Display classified rates: $4.90 per col. inch first insertion, $4.20 per col. inch repeated consecutive insertions.
Sunday Suburbanite display classified IN COMBINATION WITH THURSDAY ONLY, $2.10 per column inch. One inch minimum.
If it should be necessary to cancel a Sunday-Thursday combination ad, the Thursday rate will be charged.
We also offer a Contract rate to display classified advertisers. Call the classified department for more information.

BLIND ADS

A $1 service charge will be made for all ads when replies are to be received through this newspaper.

ADJUSTMENTS

If your ad appears incorrectly, notify us immediately. We accept responsibility for the first incorrect insertion only. Such responsibility is limited to such a proportion of the entire cost of the advertisement as the space occupied by the error bears to the entire space of the advertisement.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Ads will be taken over the telephone on a charge basis if the advertiser is listed in the phone book, or a subscriber to one of our newspapers. All ads appearing under "Situations Wanted" and "Wanted to Rent" classifications must be paid in advance.

'Non-Partisan' Election Of Judges Urged by LWV

The League of Women Voters of Illinois believes that voter complaints about the green ballot for retention of judges at the Nov. 8 election emphasize the necessity to develop a non-partisan selection of judges, the unfinished business of the Judicial Amendment passed in 1962.

Candidates to fill vacancies appeared on their party ballots, and many voters who voted straight tickets may hardly have been aware that they were selecting new judges.

For retention of sitting judges, voters faced a long list of unfamiliar names and many encountered difficulty in obtaining information on each judge's ability or record.

The League's conclusion is that the defect of the system lies in having the judges run on party ballots in the first place.

THE BAR associations and other organizations have pointed out the difficulty of evaluating a judge's performance, partly because he does not usually work in a spotlight and partly because the nature of his work is not easily understood by laymen. Many voters have been accustomed to following bar association listings in casting their ballots, but even informed lawyers admit difficulty in making recommendations except where they have extensive experience with particular judges.

The difficulty of finding and using criteria by which to recommend the retention of a judge prompts the League to restate its position that judges should be selected in the first place not by political nomination but by a non-partisan method.

The exact form of non-partisan selection varies in the 10 states which now use it.

Generally, a nominating board composed of laymen and attorneys is appointed by the governor from names submitted to him by the bar and the legislature.

Frequently, lawyer members of the nominating board are elected by the bar. Geographical balance is sought.

This nominating board seeks out, evaluates and recommends candidates for appointment to the bench, submitting to the governor a list of names exceeding the number to be appointed so that the governor has a choice.

THE EXPERIENCE of Missouri with a non-partisan selection plan in some of its courts could be applied to Illinois.

Loyd E. Roberts, president of the Missouri Bar in 1965, writing on "Twenty-Five Years Under the Missouri Plan" in the Texas Bar Journal, lists these advantages to the non-partisan plan of selection:

"1) Excellent lawyers now agree to serve who would not submit themselves to the ordeals of the old political system.

"2) The courts have been completely removed from politics. Today our judges devote their time to their courts and their business, free of political pressure or loss of time.

"3) The independent judiciary resulting from the non-partisan selection of judges has freed the judges of fear of reprisal from lawyers.

"4) Judges appointed under the non-partisan court plan cannot campaign for office."

MISSOURI VOTERS have on occasion rejected a judge who should not be returned to office, Roberts says, adding, "the very nature of the selection process under the non-partisan court plan insures the choice of a high-caliber and well-qualified judge."

Where judges are elected after expensive, time-consuming, occasionally misleading campaigns, quality often suffers.

The League of Women Voters of the City of New York conducted a survey of 3,367 persons after an election in New York. Eighty-eight per cent said they had voted for judges on the ballot, but only half could remember the name of even one judge; 1,215 voters couldn't remember a single name.

More than any other position in government, the bench becomes a career. It is therefore vital, says the Leagues, that judges reach the bench through their ability and judicial temperament and retain their positions on the basis of performance. The non-partisan selection system results in finding high caliber judges.

The Illinois Constitution provides that the people may vote on a non-partisan plan submitted by the General Assembly.

The League of Women Voters of Illinois urges the 1967 legislature to develop such a plan and submit it to the people. (A15

Illinois Is Sending 4 to Education Meet

Four Illinois legislators and an Elk Grove Village industrialist will join with other state leaders who will assemble in Washington in early December to discuss educational policy-making at the state level.

The Illinois delegation will include State Rep. Anthony Scariano of Park Forest, Senator-elect Cecil A. Partee (Chicago), Sen. Harris W. Fawell (Naperville), and Sen. W. Russell Arrington (Evanston).

Also attending will be John H. Connolly, staff advisor to the legislature, and Lynn A. Williams, Elk Grove Village industrialist, state representative of the National Committee for Support of the Public Schools.

THE NATIONAL Committee for Support of the Public Schools (NCSPS), a national citizens committee concerned with quality of public education, will host the conference. The National Conference of State Legislators, funded by a grant from the Ford Foundation, will be held in Washington, D.C., next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Nearly 400 legislative leaders are expected to attend. The conferees will discuss problems of allocating state resources, the politics of education, and long-term planning for education.

They will also meet with specialists to discuss means of solving problems in urban schools, planning higher education, community colleges, state educational programs, and other areas of critical concern.

The keynote address of the conference will be given by Peter G. Peterson, President of Bell and Howell Company. The opening address of the Monday morning session will be delivered by Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the California Assembly and president of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders.

SEN. GAYLORD Nelson (D-Wis.), who served in the Wisconsin legislature and was governor of Wisconsin prior to his election to the U.S. Senate, will discuss "Good Education is Good Politics."

Terry Sanford, governor of North Carolina from 1960-1964, will discuss "What Are We Educating For?" (A15

Our revolutionary 165-hp OHC 6 is so revolutionary we had to do something special with it. So we made it standard in all Tempests and Le Mans.

You see, it was inspired by those famous overhead cam engines in expensive European sports cars. With a few Pontiac refinements, of course. And with a power reserve for expressway passing you'd normally expect from a V-8.

We even offer a 215-hp version that makes a lot of big V-8s seem awfully extravagant. Which is why we say, with a six like this who needs an eight?

Incidentally, a four-way hazard warning flasher, backup lights, and GM's energy absorbing steering column are some of the safety features also standard in Tempests and Le Mans. How can you resist seeing your Pontiac dealer today?

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF FIRE EQUIPMENT

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village have determined that it is both necessary and in the best interest of the Village of Elk Grove Village that it acquire certain fire equipment hereinafter more particularly described, commonly known as a "snorkel," through an installment contract which is fully set forth herein;

WHEREAS, the Illinois FWD Truck & Equipment Company represents that it will construct said equipment in a good and workmanlike manner and it will convey good and merchantable title to the village for the sum of $65,223.00 payable $15,000 ninety days after the effective date of this ordinance and the balance upon delivery but in no event one year after the effective date of this ordinance; and

WHEREAS, the Village of Elk Grove Village has power pursuant to Chapter 24, Article 11-76.1-1 of the Illinois Revised Statutes (1965 Edition) to enter into said installment contract for the purchase of said fire equipment and is desirous of acquiring said property for public purposes.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois;

Section 1. That the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village has determined that acquiring the fire equipment hereinafter described for a public purpose pursuant to an installment contract set forth in Section 2 hereof is necessary and in the best interest of the Village of Elk Grove Village.

Section 2. That the contract between the Village of Elk Grove Village, and the Illinois FWD Truck & Equipment Company, a corporation, for the purchase, on an installment basis, of the hereinafter described fire equipment is as follows:

Installment Contract to Purchase Fire Equipment

WHEREAS, ILLINOIS FWD TRUCK & EQUIP. CO. is a corporation duly organized under the State of Illinois, is in the business of constructing fire equipment and pursuant to a solicitation for bids, did submit a bid for and awarded a contract to construct certain fire equipment for the Village of Elk Grove Village; and

WHEREAS, the Village of Elk Grove Village is desirous of purchasing said fire equipment for a public purpose and pursuant to the provisions of Section 11, Division 76.1 Chapter 24 of the Illinois Revised Statutes (1965 Edition), and to pay for same in installments as provided for herein:

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS AGREED by and between the parties hereto as follows:

1. The Village of Elk Grove Village agrees to purchase from ILLINOIS FWD TRUCK & EQUIP. CO., a corporation, certain fire equipment duly described and set forth on Exhibit "A" attached, which exhibit is labeled "Specifications for a 1,000 gallon Pumper and a 75 foot Elevating Platform Truck dated October 1, 1966," for the sum of $65,223.00 payable as hereinafter provided.

2. The ILLINOIS FWD TRUCK & EQUIP. CO., a corporation, agrees to cause to be constructed the aforedescribed fire equipment and to sell same to the Village of Elk Grove Village for the sum stated and payable as hereinafter set forth.

3. The Village of Elk Grove Village agrees to make the aforementioned payments to ILLINOIS FWD TRUCK & EQUIP. CO., a corporation, as follows: $15,000 ninety days after effective date of an ordinance authorizing this contract, passed pursuant to Section 11, Division 76.1 Chapter 24 of the Illinois Revised Statutes (1965 Edition), and the remaining balance after the effective date of this ordinance and upon delivery of said equipment, but in no event later than one year after the effective date of the ordinance.

The effective date to be determbined in accordance with Section 11, Division 76.1 Chapter 24 of the Illinois Revised Statutes (1965 Edition).

4. The Village of Elk Grove Village, through its corporate authorities, promises and agrees to do all things necessary and to pass all ordinances necessary to provide the necessary funds to pay the obligations hereunder assumed and warrants that same constitute a general obligation of the Village of Elk Grove Village.

5. The ILLINOIS FWD TRUCK & EQUIP. CO., a corporation, agrees to faithfully cause to be delivered the aforementioned fire equipment to the Village of Elk Grove Village on the dates specified in accordance with the specifications set forth on Exhibit "A" attached which is hereto made a part of this contract, and upon the warranties and conditions thereon specified and deliver to the Village said equipment on the date specified for delivery together with all title papers deemed necessary to transfer good and clear title to said Village for said equipment.

6. This Contract shall not be effective until and unless the ordinance authorizing same shall become effective in accordance with the provisions of the State Statute aforementioned.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties have set their hands and affixed their seals this 31st day of October, 1966.

AN ORDINANCE

PROVIDING FOR BORROWING MONEY AND ISSUING BONDS OF THE PALATINE PARK DISTRICT, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE AMOUNT OF $205,000 FOR PARK ACQUISITION AND IMPROVEMENT PURPOSES AND PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF A DIRECT ANNUAL TAX FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID BONDS

WHEREAS the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, is a duly organized Park District created under and operating in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the State of Illinois known as "The Park District Code" of the State of Illinois, approved July 8, 1947, as amended; and

WHEREAS at a special election duly and properly called and held in and for said Park District on the 25th day of September, 1965, there was submitted to the legal voters of said Park District the following proposition:

> Shall bonds of the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, to the amount of One Million Thirty Thousand Dollars ($1,030,000) be issued for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protection of the land to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park," and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto?

WHEREAS the Board of Park Commissioners did cause proper notice to be given of said special election by publishing the same once in the Palatine Enterprise, the same being a newspaper published in and having a general circulation within said Park District, the date of such publication of said notice being not less than ten (10) days prior to the date set for said election, which said notice did specify the places where such election was to be held, the date thereof, the time of opening and closing the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS the proposition submitted at said election was submitted upon proper ballots and such proposition was approved by a majority of the legal voters of said Park District voting upon said proposition and was fully and properly carried and the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District is now authorized to borrow the sum of One Million Thirty Thousand Dollars ($1,030,000) upon the credit of said Park District and issue bonds of the Park District therefor for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto; and

WHEREAS of said bonds in the aggregate amount of $1,030,000 so authorized to be issued, as above referred to, bonds in the aggregate amount of $825,000 have heretofore been issued for the purpose of applying the same for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks and for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting the same for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the lands to be so acquired and the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to; and

WHEREAS the needs of said Park District require the expenditure at this time of not less than the additional sum of $205,000 for the purpose of applying the same for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, and for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting the same for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the lands to be so acquired and the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and all in accordance with the detailed plans and estimates of the cost of such improvements as heretofore approved by the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District and now on file in the office of the Secretary of said Park District; and

WHEREAS this Board of Park Commissioners finds that it does not have sufficient funds on hand for the purposes aforesaid, and that the cost thereof will be not less than $1,030,000 and that it is necessary and for the best interests of said Park District that it borrow at this time the additional sum of $205,000 and issue bonds of the said Park District therefore:

NOW THEREFORE, Be It Ordained by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1. That there be borrowed by and for and on behalf of the Palatine Park District the sum of Two Hundred Five Thousand Dollars ($205,000) for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, all as referred to and described hereinabove in the preambles of this ordinance. That to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of this Park District be issued. That said bonds shall be designated "Park Acquisition and Improvement Bonds," be forty-one (41) in number, be numbered consecutively from 1 to 41, inclusive, be of the denomination of $5,000 each, be dated November 1, 1966, and become due and payable serially $25,000 on November 1 of each of the years 1978 to 1984, inclusive, and $30,000 on November 1, 1985, and that said bonds shall bear interest from date until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4-1/2%) per annum, such interest to be payable on November 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of May and November in each year, until said bonds are paid, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Central National Bank in Chicago, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, and said bonds shall be signed by the President and by the Secretary of said Board of Park Commissioners and be countersigned by the Treasurer thereof and the seal of said Park District shall be affixed thereto, and said interest coupons shall be signed by the President and Secretary, respectively, by their respective facsimile signatures, and said officers, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 2. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Board of Park Commissioners, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back of the bond so registered, unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 3. That each of said bonds and each of the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF ILLINOIS COUNTY OF COOK
PALATINE PARK DISTRICT
PARK ACQUISITION AND IMPROVEMENT BOND

Number $5,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that the Palatine Park District, in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe and for value received hereby promises to pay to bearer or, if registered, to the registered owner hereof, the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) in lawful money of the United States of America on the first day of November, 19...., together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4-1/2%) per annum, payable on November 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of May and November in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable. Both principal hereof and interest hereon are payable at the Central National Bank in Chicago, in the City of Chicago, Illinois. For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, the full faith, credit and resources of said Park District are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds aggregating the principal sum of Two Hundred Five Thousand Dollars ($205,000) issued by said Park District for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the provisions of An Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, entitled "An Act concerning Park Districts of less than 500,000 inhabitants and to repeal certain acts herein named," approved July 8, 1947, and all laws amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and was authorized by a majority of all votes cast on the proposition at an election duly called and held for that purpose in said Park District, and by an ordinance duly and properly passed by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Palatine Park District and published, in all respects, as by law required.

And it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist, or to be done, precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said Park District, including this bond, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation; and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all the taxable property in said Park District, sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder upon the books of the Treasurer of the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District, such registration being noted hereon by said Treasurer, after which no transfer hereon, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration of this bond shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached, which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, by its Board of Park Commissioners, has caused this bond to be signed by the President and the Secretary of said Board of Park Commissioners and countersigned by the Treasurer thereof and has caused the corporate seal of said District to be affixed hereto, and the coupons hereto attached to be signed by said President and Secretary by their respective facsimile signatures, and said officers, by the execution hereof, do adopt as and for their respective proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of November, 1966.

An Ordinance

GRANTING A SPECIAL USE PERMIT

WHEREAS, after due notice and public hearing in the manner provided by law, the Plan Commission of the Village of Arlington Heights has recommended that a special use permit be granted for the erection of a gasoline filling station for the property hereinafter described subject to certain terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, said property is to be reclassified to the B-2 General Business District under the zoning ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights wherein gasoline filling stations are permitted as special uses; and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees have considered the report and recommendations of the Plan Commission and have determined that the granting of a special use permit for a gasoline filling station subject to certain terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth is in the public interest of the Village of Arlington Heights;

NOW. THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

SECTION ONE: That a special use permit be and it is hereby granted for the erection of a gasoline filling station on the property legally described as:

> The Northeast 150 feet of the Northwest 150 feet of Lot 524 as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly and Northwesterly lines respectively of said Lot 524 in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, which property is located at the southeast corner of Rand Road and Kennicott, subject to the terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth.

SECTION TWO: That the special use permit granted herein is subject to the following conditions:

(a) That the gasoline filling station shall be constructed substantially in accordance with the plans and elevations heretofore submitted to and approved by the President and Board of Trustees, subject to the approval by the Building Commissioner of the plans and elevations and landscaping as provided by said plan.

(b) That the owner agrees that the gasoline filling station erected under the terms of the special use permit herein granted shall continue in operation without abandonment, unless permission for the suspension of such operation shall be granted by the Village Board. It is further agreed that if said gasoline filling station shall cease operation for more than sixty days, the Village may enter upon the premises and demolish the said station at the owner's cost which may be recoverable as a lien against said property owner. In case said filling station shall cease operation, the Village will give ten days written notice to the owner of record to resume operations. Upon failure to resume operations, the Village may enter upon the premises for the purposes of demolition without further notice.

(c) That the masonry fence is to be extended all the way across the back lot line parallel to Rand Road.

SECTION THREE: The Building Commissioner of the Village of Arlington Heights is hereby directed to issue a building permit for said gasoline filling station upon presentation of proper application in accordance with the codes and ordinances of the Village, and the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION FOUR: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

PASSED & APPROVED this 22nd day of November, 1966.

AN ORDINANCE

PROVIDING FOR BORROWING MONEY AND ISSUING BONDS OF THE PALATINE PARK DISTRICT, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE AMOUNT OF $205,000 FOR PARK ACQUISITION AND IMPROVEMENT PURPOSES AND PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF A DIRECT ANNUAL TAX FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF SAID BONDS

WHEREAS the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, is a duly organized Park District created under and operating in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the State of Illinois known as "The Park District Code" of the State of Illinois, approved July 8, 1947, as amended; and

WHEREAS at a special election duly and properly called and held in and for said Park District on the 25th day of September, 1965, there was submitted to the legal voters of said Park District the following proposition:

> Shall bonds of the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, to the amount of One Million Thirty Thousand Dollars ($1,030,000) be issued for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protection of the land to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park," and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto?

WHEREAS the Board of Park Commissioners did cause proper notice to be given of said special election by publishing the same once in the Palatine Enterprise, the same being a newspaper published in and having a general circulation within said Park District, the date of such publication of said notice being not less than ten (10) days prior to the date set for said election, which said notice did specify the places where such election was to be held, the date thereof, the time of opening and closing the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS the proposition submitted at said election was submitted upon proper ballots and such proposition was approved by a majority of the legal voters of said Park District voting upon said proposition and was fully and properly carried and the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District is now authorized to borrow the sum of One Million Thirty Thousand Dollars ($1,030,000) upon the credit of said Park District and issue bonds of the Park District therefor for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto; and

WHEREAS of said bonds in the aggregate amount of $1,030,000 so authorized to be issued, as above referred to, bonds in the aggregate amount of $825,000 have heretofore been issued for the purpose of applying the same for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks and for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting the same for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the lands to be so acquired and the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to; and

WHEREAS the needs of said Park District require the expenditure at this time of not less than the additional sum of $205,000 for the purpose of applying the same for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, and for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting the same for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the lands to be so acquired and the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, the improvements to be made thereto being as above referred to, and all in accordance with the detailed plans and estimates of the cost of such improvements as heretofore approved by the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District and now on file in the office of the Secretary of said Park District; and

WHEREAS this Board of Park Commissioners finds that it does not have sufficient funds on hand for the purposes aforesaid, and that the cost thereof will be not less than $1,030,000 and that it is necessary and for the best interests of said Park District that it borrow at this time the additional sum of $205,000 and issue bonds of the said Park District therefore:

NOW THEREFORE, Be It Ordained by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, as follows:

Section 1. That there be borrowed by and for and on behalf of the Palatine Park District the sum of Two Hundred Five Thousand Dollars ($205,000) for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, all as referred to and described hereinabove in the preambles of this ordinance. That to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of this Park District be issued. That said bonds shall be designated "Park Acquisition and Improvement Bonds," be forty-one (41) in number, be numbered consecutively from 1 to 41, inclusive, be of the denomination of $5,000 each, be dated November 1, 1966, and become due and payable serially $25,000 on November 1 of each of the years 1978 to 1984, inclusive, and $30,000 on November 1, 1985, and that said bonds shall bear interest from date until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4-1/2%) per annum, such interest to be payable on November 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of May and November in each year, until said bonds are paid, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Central National Bank in Chicago, in the City of Chicago, Illinois, and said bonds shall be signed by the President and by the Secretary of said Board of Park Commissioners and be countersigned by the Treasurer thereof and the seal of said Park District shall be affixed thereto, and said interest coupons shall be signed by the President and Secretary, respectively, by their respective facsimile signatures, and said officers, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 2. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said Board of Park Commissioners, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back of the bond so registered, unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 3. That each of said bonds and each of the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF ILLINOIS COUNTY OF COOK
PALATINE PARK DISTRICT
PARK ACQUISITION AND IMPROVEMENT BOND

Number $5,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that the Palatine Park District, in the County of Cook and State of Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe and for value received hereby promises to pay to bearer or, if registered, to the registered owner hereof, the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) in lawful money of the United States of America on the first day of November, 19...., together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4-1/2%) per annum, payable on November 1, 1967, and semiannually thereafter on the first days of May and November in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable. Both principal hereof and interest hereon are payable at the Central National Bank in Chicago, in the City of Chicago, Illinois. For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, the full faith, credit and resources of said Park District are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds aggregating the principal sum of Two Hundred Five Thousand Dollars ($205,000) issued by said Park District for the purpose of paying for land to be condemned or purchased for parks, for the building, maintaining, improving and protecting of the land to be so acquired for park purposes, the lands to be so acquired consisting of two separate areas, one area being irregular in shape located on the south side of Dundee Road and on the west side of Smith Street, and northwesterly of the northerly boundaries of the District, consisting of approximately 154 acres and to be used as a winter recreation area and as a future golf course and the other area being located south of Illinois Avenue, in the Village of Palatine, Illinois, consisting of approximately 14 acres, to serve the southern portion of the District, and to be thereafter improved by necessary grading, landscaping and planting and erecting thereon baseball diamonds, and for the purpose of building, maintaining, improving and protecting of certain of the existing parks of the District now used for park purposes and commonly known as "Community Park," "Maple Park," "Oakwood Park," "Ashwood Park," "Willow Park" and "Cedar Park" by necessary grading, landscaping and planting, and installing therein recreation areas and including expanding the swimming pool and adding a wading pool, improving the lighting system and erecting a shelter house in Community Park, the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting, backstops and erection of a shelter house in Maple Park, and the construction of roads, walks, fencing, lighting and backstops in Oakwood Park, Ashwood Park and Willow Park, and for the payment of the expenses incident thereto, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the provisions of An Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, entitled "An Act concerning Park Districts of less than 500,000 inhabitants and to repeal certain acts herein named," approved July 8, 1947, and all laws amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto and was authorized by a majority of all votes cast on the proposition at an election duly called and held for that purpose in said Park District, and by an ordinance duly and properly passed by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Palatine Park District and published, in all respects, as by law required.

And it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist, or to be done, precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said Park District, including this bond, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation; and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all the taxable property in said Park District, sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same fails due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder upon the books of the Treasurer of the Board of Park Commissioners of said Park District, such registration being noted hereon by said Treasurer, after which no transfer hereon, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration of this bond shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached, which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said Palatine Park District, Cook County, Illinois, by its Board of Park Commissioners, has caused this bond to be signed by the President and the Secretary of said Board of Park Commissioners and countersigned by the Treasurer thereof and has caused the corporate seal of said District to be affixed hereto, and the coupons hereto attached to be signed by said President and Secretary by their respective facsimile signatures, and said officers, by the execution hereof, do adopt as and for their respective proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of November, 1966.

An Ordinance

GRANTING A SPECIAL USE PERMIT

WHEREAS, after due notice and public hearing in the manner provided by law, the Plan Commission of the Village of Arlington Heights has recommended that a special use permit be granted for the erection of a gasoline filling station for the property hereinafter described subject to certain terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, said property is to be reclassified to the B-2 General Business District under the zoning ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights wherein gasoline filling stations are permitted as special uses; and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees have considered the report and recommendations of the Plan Commission and have determined that the granting of a special use permit for a gasoline filling station subject to certain terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth is in the public interest of the Village of Arlington Heights;

NOW. THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

SECTION ONE: That a special use permit be and it is hereby granted for the erection of a gasoline filling station on the property legally described as:

The Northeast 150 feet of the Northwest 150 feet of Lot 524 as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly and Northwesterly lines respectively of said Lot 524 in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, which property is located at the southeast corner of Rand Road and Kennicott, subject to the terms and conditions as hereinafter set forth.

SECTION TWO: That the special use permit granted herein is subject to the following conditions:

(a) That the gasoline filling station shall be constructed substantially in accordance with the plans and elevations heretofore submitted to and approved by the President and Board of Trustees, subject to the approval by the Building Commissioner of the plans and elevations and landscaping as provided by said plan.

(b) That the owner agrees that the gasoline filling station erected under the terms of the special use permit herein granted shall continue in operation without abandonment, unless permission for the suspension of such operation shall be granted by the Village Board. It is further agreed that if said gasoline filling station shall cease operation for more than sixty days, the Village may enter upon the premises and demolish the said station at the owner's cost which may be recoverable as a lien against said property owner. In case said filling station shall cease operation, the Village will give ten days written notice to the owner of record to resume operations. Upon failure to resume operations, the Village may enter upon the premises for the purposes of demolition without further notice.

(c) That the masonry fence is to be extended all the way across the back lot line parallel to Rand Road.

SECTION THREE: The Building Commissioner of the Village of Arlington Heights is hereby directed to issue a building permit for said gasoline filling station upon presentation of proper application in accordance with the codes and ordinances of the Village, and the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION FOUR: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

Ordinance No. 393

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR BORROWING MONEY AND ISSUING BONDS OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE AMOUNT OF $255,000 FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING THE COST OF PURCHASING A SITE FOR LIBRARY PURPOSES, CONSTRUCTING THEREON A BUILDING TO BE USED AS A LIBRARY AND PURCHASING NECESSARY EQUIPMENT FOR SAID LIBRARY BUILDING AND PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF A DIRECT ANNUAL TAX FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST MATURING ON SAID BONDS

WHEREAS for many years a free public library has been maintained and operated in and for the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, under the direction of a duly appointed and qualified Board of Library Directors and annually, taxes have been duly levied and extended against all taxable property within the City for the purpose of maintaining and operating such public library; and

WHEREAS the Board of Library Directors of the public library of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, by proper proceedings has heretofore determined that it is necessary to purchase a site for library purposes, to erect thereon a building to be used as a library building and to furnish equipment for said building and said Board of Library Directors has heretofore submitted to the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows plans and an estimate of the cost of so improving the library facilities of the city; and

WHEREAS the said Board of Library Directors of the public library of the City of Rolling Meadows has estimated the the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building to be Two Hundred Fifty-five Thousand Dollars ($255,000); and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City has heretofore approved and does now hereby approve the said plans for the new building to be constructed on property to be acquired, such new building to be used for library purposes, and the equipment to be purchased and installed therein and the estimated cost thereof including the estimated cost of purchasing and furnishing necessary equipment for said new building and including the cost of purchasing the site on which said new building is to be erected, as said plans and estimate of cost were heretofore submitted to this City Council by said Board of Library Directors; and

WHEREAS it is deemed advisable and necessary and for the best interest of the City of Rolling Meadows that such new building be erected and that necessary equipment for said new building be purchased and furnished and that property be acquired as a site on which the new library building may be erected, all as above referred to; and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City has estimated that the cost of the making of the improvements to the existing library facilities of the City, as above referred to and described, will be not less than Two Hundred Fifty-five Thousand Dollars ($255,000); and

WHEREAS funds are not available for the purpose of paying the cost of so improving the exsisting library facilities of the City, as hereinabove referred to and described, and it will therefore be necessary to borrow money and in evidence thereof issue bonds of said City for the purpose of paying the cost thereof; and

WHEREAS the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, did by an ordinance adopted on April 12, 1966, call a special election to be held in and for said City on May 17, 1966, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City the following question:

> Shall bonds in the amount of $255,000 be issued by the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site located within the City of Rolling Meadows, Illinois, and erecting thereon a building to be used as a library and equipping such building, maturing serially $10,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1968 to 1974, inclusive, $15,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1975 to 1981, inclusive, and $20,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1982 to 1985, inclusive, and bearing interest at the rate of not to exceed five per cent (5%) per annum?

WHEREAS the City Council of said City did cause to be given proper notice of said election by publishing notice thereof once in the Rolling Meadows Herald, the same being a newspaper published in said City, said publication of said notice being made not more than thirty (30) nor less than fifteen days prior to the date of said election, which said notice did specify the places where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing of the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City by proper proceedings adopted and spread upon its records, found that all legal requirements in connection with said election were duly complied with and that a majority of the electors of said City voting at said election on said question above referred to, voted in favor thereof:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, as follows:

Section 1. That it is hereby found and determined that all of the action referred to in the preamble of this ordinance has been properly taken as referred to and set forth in said preamble and that the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows has been authorized by a majority of the electors of said City voting on the question at said special election, duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose, to issue bonds of said City in the amount of $255,000 for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment.

Section 2. That it is hereby found and determined that it is for the best interests of the City of Rolling Meadows that money be borrowed by said City for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, all as hereinabove referred to and described in the preamble hereof and that to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said City be issued.

Section 3. That in order to raise the sum of $255,000 needed for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, there be borrowed by, for and on behalf of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, the sum of $255,000 and to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said City be issued. Said bonds shall be designated "Public Library Bonds," be dated December 1, 1966, be fifty-one (51) in number, numbered consecutively from 1 to 51, inclusive, be of the denomination of $5,000 each and become due serially on December 1 of each of the years and in the amounts and shall bear interest from date until paid at the rates as follows:

Year	Amount	Bond Numbers (All Numbers Inclusive)	Interest Rate
1968	$10,000	1 and 2	4½%
1969	10,000	3 and 4	4½%
1970	10,000	5 and 6	4½%
1971	10,000	7 and 8	4½%
1972	10,000	9 and 10	4½%
1973	10,000	11 and 12	4½%
1974	10,000	13 and 14	4½%
1975	15,000	15 to 17	4½%
1976	15,000	18 to 20	4½%
1977	15,000	21 to 23	4½%
1978	15,000	24 to 26	4½%
1979	15,000	27 to 29	4½%
1980	15,000	30 to 32	4½%

1984	20,000	44 to 47	4½%
1985	20,000	48 to 51	4½%

That the interest becoming due on said bonds shall be payable on December 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of December and June in each year, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Northern Trust Company, in the City of Chicago, Illinois. The seal of said City shall be affixed to each of said bonds and said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and be attested by the Clerk of the City, and said coupons shall be signed and attested by said officials, respectively, by their facsimile signatures, and said officials, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 4. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be payable to bearer, provided, however, that such bonds may be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said City, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back thereof unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 5. That each of said bonds and the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that the City of Rolling Meadows, in Cook County, Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received promises to pay to bearer, or if this bond be registered, then to the registered holder hereof, the sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($5,000) on the first day of December, 19........, together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4½%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the respective interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable.

Both principal and interest are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Northern Trust Company, in the City of Chicago, Illinois.

For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, and the levy of taxes sufficient for that purpose, the full faith, credit and resources of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds issued by said City for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the applicable provisions of the Illinois Municipal Code, approved May 29, 1961, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and including the applicable provisions of the Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, entitled "AN ACT in relation to free public libraries for cities, villages, incorporated towns and townships and to repeal Acts and parts of Acts therein named," approved July 12, 1965, and all acts amendatory of the Acts above referred to and supplementary thereto, and was authorized by a majority of the electors of said City voting upon the question at an election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose in and for said City, and in compliance with the provisions of said ordinance duly passed by the City Council of said City, approved by the Mayor and published, in all respects as required by law.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist or to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said City of Rolling Meadows, represented by this bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and including all other indebtedness of said city howsoever evidenced and incurred, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation, and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all of the taxable property in said City sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the City Treasurer, such registration to be evidenced by notation of such Treasurer on the back hereof, and after such registration no transfer hereof, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration hereof shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, by its City Council, has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and this bond to be signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by its City Clerk and the coupons hereto attached to be signed and attested by said officials, respectively, by their facsimile signatures, and said officials do, by the execution hereof, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of December, 1966.

Ordinance No. 393

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR BORROWING MONEY AND ISSUING BONDS OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, TO THE AMOUNT OF $255,000 FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING THE COST OF PURCHASING A SITE FOR LIBRARY PURPOSES, CONSTRUCTING THEREON A BUILDING TO BE USED AS A LIBRARY AND PURCHASING NECESSARY EQUIPMENT FOR SAID LIBRARY BUILDING AND PROVIDING FOR THE LEVY AND COLLECTION OF A DIRECT ANNUAL TAX FOR THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST MATURING ON SAID BONDS

WHEREAS for many years a free public library has been maintained and operated in and for the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, under the direction of a duly appointed and qualified Board of Library Directors and annually, taxes have been duly levied and extended against all taxable property within the City for the purpose of maintaining and operating such public library; and

WHEREAS the Board of Library Directors of the public library of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, by proper proceedings has heretofore determined that it is necessary to purchase a site for library purposes, to erect thereon a building to be used as a library building and to furnish equipment for said building and said Board of Library Directors has heretofore submitted to the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows plans and an estimate of the cost of so improving the library facilities of the city; and

WHEREAS the said Board of Library Directors of the public library of the City of Rolling Meadows has estimated the the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building to be Two Hundred Fifty-five Thousand Dollars ($255,000); and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City has heretofore approved and does now hereby approve the said plans for the new building to be constructed on property to be acquired, such new building to be used for library purposes, and the equipment to be purchased and installed therein and the estimated cost thereof including the estimated cost of purchasing and furnishing necessary equipment for said new building and including the cost of purchasing the site on which said new building is to be erected, as said plans and estimate of cost were heretofore submitted to this City Council by said Board of Library Directors; and

WHEREAS it is deemed advisable and necessary and for the best interest of the City of Rolling Meadows that such new building be erected and that necessary equipment for said new building be purchased and furnished and that property be acquired as a site on which the new library building may be erected, all as above referred to; and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City has estimated that the cost of the making of the improvements to the existing library facilities of the City, as above referred to and described, will be not less than Two Hundred Fifty-five Thousand Dollars ($255,000); and

WHEREAS funds are not available for the purpose of paying the cost of so improving the exsisting library facilities of the City, as hereinabove referred to and described, and it will therefore be necessary to borrow money and in evidence thereof issue bonds of said City for the purpose of paying the cost thereof; and

WHEREAS the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, did by an ordinance adopted on April 12, 1966, call a special election to be held in and for said City on May 17, 1966, for the purpose of submitting to the electors of said City the following question:

> Shall bonds in the amount of $255,000 be issued by the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site located within the City of Rolling Meadows, Illinois, and erecting thereon a building to be used as a library and equipping such building, maturing serially $10,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1968 to 1974, inclusive, $15,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1975 to 1981, inclusive, and $20,000 on December 1 of each of the years 1982 to 1985, inclusive, and bearing interest at the rate of not to exceed five per cent (5%) per annum?

WHEREAS the City Council of said City did cause to be given proper notice of said election by publishing notice thereof once in the Rolling Meadows Herald, the same being a newspaper published in said City, said publication of said notice being made not more than thirty (30) nor less than fifteen days prior to the date of said election, which said notice did specify the places where such election was to be held, the time of opening and closing of the polls and the question to be voted upon; and

WHEREAS the City Council of said City by proper proceedings adopted and spread upon its records, found that all legal requirements in connection with said election were duly complied with and that a majority of the electors of said City voting at said election on said question above referred to, voted in favor thereof:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS, COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS, as follows:

Section 1. That it is hereby found and determined that all of the action referred to in the preamble of this ordinance has been properly taken as referred to and set forth in said preamble and that the City Council of the City of Rolling Meadows has been authorized by a majority of the electors of said City voting on the question at said special election, duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose, to issue bonds of said City in the amount of $255,000 for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment.

Section 2. That it is hereby found and determined that it is for the best interests of the City of Rolling Meadows that money be borrowed by said City for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, all as hereinabove referred to and described in the preamble hereof and that to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said City be issued.

Section 3. That in order to raise the sum of $255,000 needed for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, there be borrowed by, for and on behalf of the City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, the sum of $255,000 and to evidence said loan negotiable coupon bonds of said City be issued. Said bonds shall be designated "Public Library Bonds," be dated December 1, 1966, be fifty-one (51) in number, numbered consecutively from 1 to 51, inclusive, be of the denomination of $5,000 each and become due serially on December 1 of each of the years and in the amounts and shall bear interest from date until paid at the rates as follows:

Year	Amount	Bond Numbers (All Numbers Inclusive)	Interest Rate
1968	$10,000	1 and 2	4½%
1969	10,000	3 and 4	4½%
1970	10,000	5 and 6	4½%

1984	20,000	44 to 47	4½%
1985	20,000	48 to 51	4½%

That the interest becoming due on said bonds shall be payable on December 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of December and June in each year, which said interest payments to date of maturity of principal shall be evidenced by proper interest coupons attached to each bond and maturing on the dates herein provided, and both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Northern Trust Company, in the City of Chicago, Illinois. The seal of said City shall be affixed to each of said bonds and said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and be attested by the Clerk of the City, and said coupons shall be signed and attested by said officials, respectively, by their facsimile signatures, and said officials, by the execution of said bonds, shall adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons.

Section 4. That the bonds hereby authorized shall be payable to bearer, provided, however, that such bonds may be subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the Treasurer of said City, such registration to be evidenced by notation of said Treasurer upon the back of such bonds so registered. No bond so registered shall be subject to transfer except upon such books and similarly noted on the back thereof unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Such registration of any of said bonds shall not, however, affect the negotiability of the coupons attached to said bonds, but such coupons shall continue transferable by delivery merely.

Section 5. That each of said bonds and the interest coupons to be thereto attached shall be in substantially the following form:

(Form of Bond)
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF ILLINOIS COUNTY OF COOK
CITY OF ROLLING MEADOWS PUBLIC LIBRARY BOND

Number $5,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that the City of Rolling Meadows, in Cook County, Illinois, hereby acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received promises to pay to bearer, or if this bond be registered, then to the registered holder hereof, the sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($5,000) on the first day of December, 19........, together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of four and one-half per cent (4½%) per annum, payable on December 1, 1967 and semiannually thereafter on the first days of June and December in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the respective interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due and payable.

Both principal and interest are hereby made payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the Northern Trust Company, in the City of Chicago, Illinois.

For the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, as aforesaid, at maturity, and the levy of taxes sufficient for that purpose, the full faith, credit and resources of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of bonds issued by said City for the purpose of paying the cost of purchasing a site for library purposes, constructing thereon a building to be used as a library and purchasing necessary equipment for said library building, pursuant to and in all respects in compliance with the applicable provisions of the Illinois Municipal Code, approved May 29, 1961, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and including the applicable provisions of the Act of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, entitled "AN ACT in relation to free public libraries for cities, villages, incorporated towns and townships and to repeal Acts and parts of Acts therein named," approved July 12, 1965, and all acts amendatory of the Acts above referred to and supplementary thereto, and was authorized by a majority of the electors of said City voting upon the question at an election duly called, noticed, held and canvassed for that purpose in and for said City, and in compliance with the provisions of said ordinance duly passed by the City Council of said City, approved by the Mayor and published, in all respects as required by law.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Illinois, to exist or to be done precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, have existed and have been properly done, happened and been performed in regular and due form and time as required by law; that the indebtedness of said City of Rolling Meadows, represented by this bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and including all other indebtedness of said city howsoever evidenced and incurred, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation, and that provision has been made for the collection of a direct annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, on all of the taxable property in said City sufficient to pay the interest hereon as the same falls due and also to pay and discharge the principal hereof at maturity.

This bond is subject to registration as to principal in the name of the holder on the books of the City Treasurer, such registration to be evidenced by notation of such Treasurer on the back hereof, and after such registration no transfer hereof, except upon such books and similarly noted hereon, shall be valid unless the last registration shall have been to bearer. Registration hereof shall not affect the negotiability of the coupons hereto attached which shall continue negotiable by delivery merely, notwithstanding registration hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said City of Rolling Meadows, Cook County, Illinois, by its City Council, has caused its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed and this bond to be signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by its City Clerk and the coupons hereto attached to be signed and attested by said officials, respectively, by their facsimile signatures, and said officials do, by the execution hereof, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures appearing on said coupons, all as of the first day of December, 1966.

Notice of Hearing

BEFORE MOUNT PROSPECT PLAN COMMISSION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 16th day of December, 1966 at the hour of 8:00 PM there will be a public hearing at the Village Hall, 112 E. Northwest Highway, concerning a petition for a change to the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Mount Prospect as follows:

CASE NO. 6630P: Request is for an amendment to Section 20 of the Zoning Ordinance relating to off-street minimum parking requirements - Business District, to read as follows:

A. General:

1. No building shall hereafter be erected, altered or extended for use for any of the business uses permitted in the various B Use Districts except after establishing off-street parking and loading facilities pertaining to the new or additional structure (s), as set forth herein.

2. Required parking and loading areas shall not be used for the sale, repair, dismantling or servicing of any vehicle, conveyance, material or supplies except as may be temporarily provided for under the Zoning Ordinance or granted by the President and/or Board of Trustees.

3. All buildings and uses which generate truck traffic shall be provided with sufficient off-street loading space on the premises so that they will generate no loading or unloading activity on their required parking spaces or on any street.

B. Business and professional offices and financial institutions:

One (1) parking space for every two hundred fifty (250) square feet of floor space used in the building in relation to that office use, except for medical and dental offices which shall provide one (1) parking space for each one hundred (100) square feet of office area.

C. Retail Businesses:

One (1) parking space for every two hundred (200) square feet of floor space intended to be used for sales or services to the public as customers, patrons or clients, including areas occupied by fixtures and equipment, but not including areas used principally for non-public purposes such as storage, uncrating and/or assembling merchandise to be sold, show windows, utilities, and other areas of like intent where the public does not have free access. Excepted are restaurants and taverns which shall provide one (1) parking space for every one hundred (100) square feet of floor space devoted to sales area, or one (1) parking space for each four (4) seats of maximum seating capacity, whichever is greater.

An Ordinance

AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

SECTION ONE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from B-1 Business District, Limited Retail, to B-2 General Business District, the following described territory:

All of Lot 523 together with the Northeasterly 150 feet of Lot 524 (as measured perpendicular to the Northeasterly line of said Lot 524 being the Southerly line of Rand Road) all in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, being a subdivision of part of the East ½ of the Northwest ¼ and part of the West ½ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 18, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois

AND

The Northeasterly 150 feet of Lot 524 as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly line of said Lot 524 (excepting the Northwesterly 150 feet thereof as measured perpendicular to the most Northwesterly line of said Lot 524) in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Wheeling Township, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION TWO: The reclassification of the above described property for B-2 purposes is conditioned upon the execution of a covenant running with the land whereby the owners and their successors in title agree that there would be excluded from permitted uses on the subject property amusement establishments, exterminating shops, feed and seed stores, frozen food lockers, hotel and motel, pawn shop, pet shop, second hand stores and taxidermy shops.

SECTION THREE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from B-1 Business District, Limited Retail, to R-5 Multiple-Family Dwelling District, the following described territory:

Lot 524 (excepting the Northeasterly 150 feet thereof as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly line of said Lot 524) in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION FOUR: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from R-3 One-Family Dwelling District to R-5 Multiple-Family Dwelling District, the following described territory:

Lot 521 in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, being a subdivision of part of the East ½ of the Northwest ¼ and part of the West ½ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 18, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION FIVE: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

PASSED & APPROVED this 14 day of November, 1966.

Notice to Bidders

BOARD OF LIBRARY DIRECTORS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS CONSTRUCTION OF NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, will receive sealed proposals for the construction of the proposed new Arlington Heights Memorial Library to be constructed on the site bounded by Euclid, Dunton, Vail and Fremont Streets in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, until 8:00 p.m. (Central Standard Time) on the 20th day of December, 1966, at the office of the Village Clerk in the Village Hall, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

All proposals received will be publicly opened and read aloud at a meeting of the Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights at the Arlington Heights Village Hall at 8:00 p.m. (Central Standard Time) on December 20, 1966.

The contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file and available for inspection at the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights in the Village Hall and at the office of Nicol & Nicol, Inc., architects for the project, at 23 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois.

Copies of the contract documents, including plans and specifications required for review or bidding purposes, may be obtained from the Village Clerk or from Nicol & Nicol, Inc., by depositing the sum of $50 with the Village Clerk for each set of documents so obtained.

The full amount of the deposit for each set of documents, and one-half of the deposit for each additional set of documents will be refunded to each bidder who submits a formal proposal to the Board of Library Directors and who also returns the plans (and specifications on additional sets) in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids.

A certified check or cashier's check drawn on a solvent bank in the State of Illinois, payable without condition to the Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, or a bidder's bond in a form satisfactory to the said Board, in a amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the bid shall be submitted with each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Board of Library Directors for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time for closing bids.

A contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board of Library Directors reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive any informalities in bidding. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond in the full amount of the contract and a labor and material payment bond.

The successful bidder will be required to comply with all applicable federal regulations and executive orders pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act and the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and with all other federal statutes, regulations and executive orders.

No proposal will be considered unless the party making it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the Board of Library Directors of his ability to do the work and that he has the necessary pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract provided such contract shall be awarded him.

Prospective bidders may submit a statement of their intent to bid on or before the 23rd day of November, 1966. All such statements shall be submitted on the letterhead of the interested person or firm, shall evidence an intent to submit a formal proposal for the construction of the new public library building described herein, shall indicate the experience of the person or firm in similar types of construction, and shall include the most recent financial statement of the firm. Statements of intent to bid should be addressed to the Village Clerk at the Village Hall, 33 South Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois. Upon receipt of any such statements of intent, the Board of Library Directors will notify such persons or firms not later than November 28, 1966, as to whether they will be considered qualified, responsible bidders.

In general, the improvements upon which proposals are requested are: A one-story public library building with a partial basement and parking underneath, consisting of approximately 39,000 square feet of floor space.

Plans and specifications for this project were prepared by Nicol & Nicol, Inc., 23 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois.

Dated at Arlington Heights this 18th day of November, 1966.

An Ordinance

AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

SECTION ONE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from B-1 Business District, Limited Retail, to B-2 General Business District, the following described territory:

All of Lot 523 together with the Northeasterly 150 feet of Lot 524 (as measured perpendicular to the Northeasterly line of said Lot 524 being the Southerly line of Rand Road) all in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, being a subdivision of part of the East ½ of the Northwest ¼ and part of the West ½ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 18, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois

AND

The Northeasterly 150 feet of Lot 524 as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly line of said Lot 524 (excepting the Northwesterly 150 feet thereof as measured perpendicular to the most Northwesterly line of said Lot 524) in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Wheeling Township, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION TWO: The reclassification of the above described property for B-2 purposes is conditioned upon the execution of a covenant running with the land whereby the owners and their successors in title agree that there would be excluded from permitted uses on the subject property amusement establishments, exterminating shops, feed and seed stores, frozen food lockers, hotel and motel, pawn shop, pet shop, second hand stores and taxidermy shops.

SECTION THREE: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from B-1 Business District, Limited Retail, to R-5 Multiple-Family Dwelling District, the following described territory:

Lot 524 (excepting the Northeasterly 150 feet thereof as measured perpendicular to the most Northeasterly line of said Lot 524) in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION FOUR: The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, as amended, is hereby further amended by reclassifying from R-3 One-Family Dwelling District to R-5 Multiple-Family Dwelling District, the following described territory:

Lot 521 in Greenbrier in the Village Green, Unit Number 12, being a subdivision of part of the East ½ of the Northwest ¼ and part of the West ½ of the Northeast ¼ of Section 18, Township 42 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian in the Village of Arlington Heights, Wheeling Township, Cook County, Illinois, and the corresponding changes in designation on the zoning district map are hereby made.

SECTION FIVE: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

PASSED & APPROVED this 14 day of November, 1966.

JOHN G. WOODS
Village President

ATTEST: JEANNE NOVOTNY Village Clerk

Notice to Bidders

BOARD OF LIBRARY DIRECTORS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS CONSTRUCTION OF NEW PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, will receive sealed proposals for the construction of the proposed new Arlington Heights Memorial Library to be constructed on the site bounded by Euclid, Dunton, Vail and Fremont Streets in the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, until 8:00 p.m. (Central Standard Time) on the 20th day of December, 1966, at the office of the Village Clerk in the Village Hall, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

All proposals received will be publicly opened and read aloud at a meeting of the Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights at the Arlington Heights Village Hall at 8:00 p.m. (Central Standard Time) on December 20, 1966.

The contract documents, including plans and specifications, are on file and available for inspection at the office of the Village Clerk of the Village of Arlington Heights in the Village Hall and at the office of Nicol & Nicol, Inc., architects for the project, at 23 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois.

Copies of the contract documents, including plans and specifications required for review or bidding purposes, may be obtained from the Village Clerk or from Nicol & Nicol, Inc., by depositing the sum of $50 with the Village Clerk for each set of documents so obtained.

The full amount of the deposit for each set of documents, and one-half of the deposit for each additional set of documents will be refunded to each bidder who submits a formal proposal to the Board of Library Directors and who also returns the plans (and specifications on additional sets) in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids.

A certified check or cashier's check drawn on a solvent bank in the State of Illinois, payable without condition to the Board of Library Directors of the Village of Arlington Heights, Illinois, or a bidder's bond in a form satisfactory to the said Board, in a amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the bid shall be submitted with each proposal.

No bid shall be withdrawn after the opening of proposals without the consent of the Board of Library Directors for a period of thirty (30) days after the scheduled time for closing bids.

A contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. The Board of Library Directors reserves the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive any informalities in bidding. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance bond in the full amount of the contract and a labor and material payment bond.

The successful bidder will be required to comply with all applicable federal regulations and executive orders pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act and the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and with all other federal statutes, regulations and executive orders.

No proposal will be considered unless the party making it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the Board of Library Directors of his ability to do the work and that he has the necessary pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract provided such contract shall be awarded him.

Prospective bidders may submit a statement of their intent to bid on or before the 23rd day of November, 1966. All such statements shall be submitted on the letterhead of the interested person or firm, shall evidence an intent to submit a formal proposal for the construction of the new public library building described herein, shall indicate the experience of the person or firm in similar types of construction, and shall include the most recent financial statement of the firm. Statements of intent to bid should be addressed to the Village Clerk at the Village Hall, 33 South Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois. Upon receipt of any such statements of intent, the Board of Library Directors will notify such persons or firms not later than November 28, 1966, as to whether they will be considered qualified, responsible bidders.

In general, the improvements upon which proposals are requested are: A one-story public library building with a partial basement and parking underneath, consisting of approximately 39,000 square feet of floor space.

Plans and specifications for this project were prepared by Nicol & Nicol, Inc., 23 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois.

Dated at Arlington Heights this 18th day of November, 1966.

The Stagestruck Housewife

A Star Was Born—Almost

by MARY B. GOOD

I dreamed I swept through the supermarket with my grocery shopping cart. As the audience applauded, I dreamed I crashed into television via the quiz program route. Visions of becoming rich and famous as a TV star crossed my mind's eye.

There were illusions of invading the tube like Alexander the Great sweeping the ancient world. Who knows the heights I could attain. . .maybe taking over the Lee Phillip program, the Arlene Francis spot on "What's My Line" or the Ed Sullivan Show. I'd be the toast of the town!

When I got to be a household word, I could do cameo acting shots on all the "in" shows. I'd be deluged with offers. I visualized my dressing room—overflowing with flowers and wires, as stage door Johnnys banged impetuously outside.

ALREADY MY husband was instructed to look for a cook, housekeeper and bottle washer to replace the "star." I was all set to buy a pair of rhinestone dark glasses and some "Inga" eyelashes in keeping with my new status.

But the bubble suddenly burst and my image faded. I was a reject from the TV program, "Supermarket Sweep."

It all began on my weekly shopping trip. A store poster announced the arrival of a camera crew and network personnel to film "Supermarket Sweep." For a lark I filled out an application and deposited it in one of two large cartons overflowing with entries from other stage-struck housewives like myself.

SEVERAL DAYS later when I had forgotten about my frivolity, I received a call to report for an interview. I arrived only to find that instead of Darryl Zanuck, Mike Nichols or Otto Preminger to receive me, I was just another body awaiting my turn to audition.

When given the "go" sign, each woman of the 15 or so hopefuls was expected to gab effervescently about everything interesting and exciting in her life to the others. The idea was that if one could stand up before this small group and chat about nothing, chances were she could do it in front of a national TV and studio audience.

The "casting director" was a glib personality capable of bringing out the best in the shrinking violets, calming those with nervous twitches and squelching the biggest ham.

THE LIKELY prospects were sent to see the other half of the team of interviewers. Again a talk session took place. Most of the women were caught unprepared, and only the really spontaneous ones could think fast enough under the pressure of scrutiny to recall amusing incidents and unusual stories. Further interviews would follow, we were told, if we passed this "inquisition." The whole thing took on the aura of a contest—political, beauty or otherwise.

I used to wonder where those long-since cancelled quiz shows came up with some of their contestants. I never dreamed the networks go to such energy-exerting lengths for contestant material. I was surprised to learn how involved the whole bit really is! From an original group of 1,000 entrants, the field was narrowed down to less than a score.

AS ONE OF the 16 finalists I was invited with my "manager" and "agent" for further screening. The next afternoon we were off to the "studio" to meet the producer.

That's when daddy's little moneymaker must have bombed, for I never heard from the never, never land of "Supermarket Sweep" again.

Maybe it's just as well. It would kill me to join ASCAP and pay my hubby a 10 per cent agent's fee. Then, too, who wants to grapple with autograph hounds, photographers and the like?

I'm going to bed now, but before I do, I think I'll have a couple of dill pickles and a pastrami sandwich with a side order of strawberry shortcake. That ought to be real dream inducing! Wonder what my subconscious will come up with this time?

Fenton Class Dines Medieval Style

Looking for a holiday menu idea? How about a 13th Century dinner complete with cedar gravy?

Members of the Combined Studies classes at Fenton High School, Bensenville, researched a medieval dinner and, with the cooperation of homemaking classes, recently dined on Chicken Rosee with spice glaze, potatoes, squash and raw cabbage.

The authentic 13th Century recipe was discovered by the class instructor, Dwight Link, and was adapted for 20th century dining by Mrs. Madelyn Walch, home economics instructor.

Biggest surprise in the menu was the one-inch cedar cubes used as a spice in the gravy.

"SOME OF THE students complained that the gravy was a little spicy; however, most felt the cedar gave a pleasant taste and aroma to the dish," Mrs. Walch said. "Not all of the dinner was completely authentic. We used margerine instead of butter and added milk and coffee as the beverage rather than wine."

Some of the guests "went medieval" by using their fingers instead of silverware, and most of them broke the bread with their fingers. Squash and potatoes were added to provide a better balanced meal, explained Mrs. Walch, and in keeping with today's nutritional ideas, sugar in the original recipe was cut from "plenty" to one-half cup.

THE ORIGINAL recipe calls for young rabbits, larks and small birds: "Let the rabbits be skinned, cut up, parboiled, done again in cold water, and larded; let the chickens be scalded for plucking, then done again, cut up and larded, and let larks and little birds be plucked only for parboiling in sewe of meat; then have bacon lard cut up into little squares and put them into a frying pan and take away the lumps but leave the fat, and therein fry the meat, or set your meat to boil on the coal, often turning it, in a pot with fat.

"And while you do this, have peeled almonds and moisten them with beef broth and run through the strainer, then have ginger, a head of clove, cedar otherwise hight alexander (red cedar), make some gravy and strain it and when the meat is cooked, set it in a pot with the broth and plenty of sugar; then serve in bowls with glazed spices thereon."

MRS. WALCH'S recipe for Six persons is as follows:
Six strips of bacon
10 pounds of cut-up chicken
Shortening.

Lightly grease individual pieces of chicken. Fry the bacon in half-strip sizes. Remove bacon from pan and set aside. Fry chicken in a pan on top of the range until it is tender (about 50 minutes). While frying chicken, prepare broth and glaze.

SPICE GLAZE

2 Tbsp. fat
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
2 cups water
2 1-in. cubes of cedar wood
½ tsp. ginger
2 chicken bouillon cubes
2 cloves.

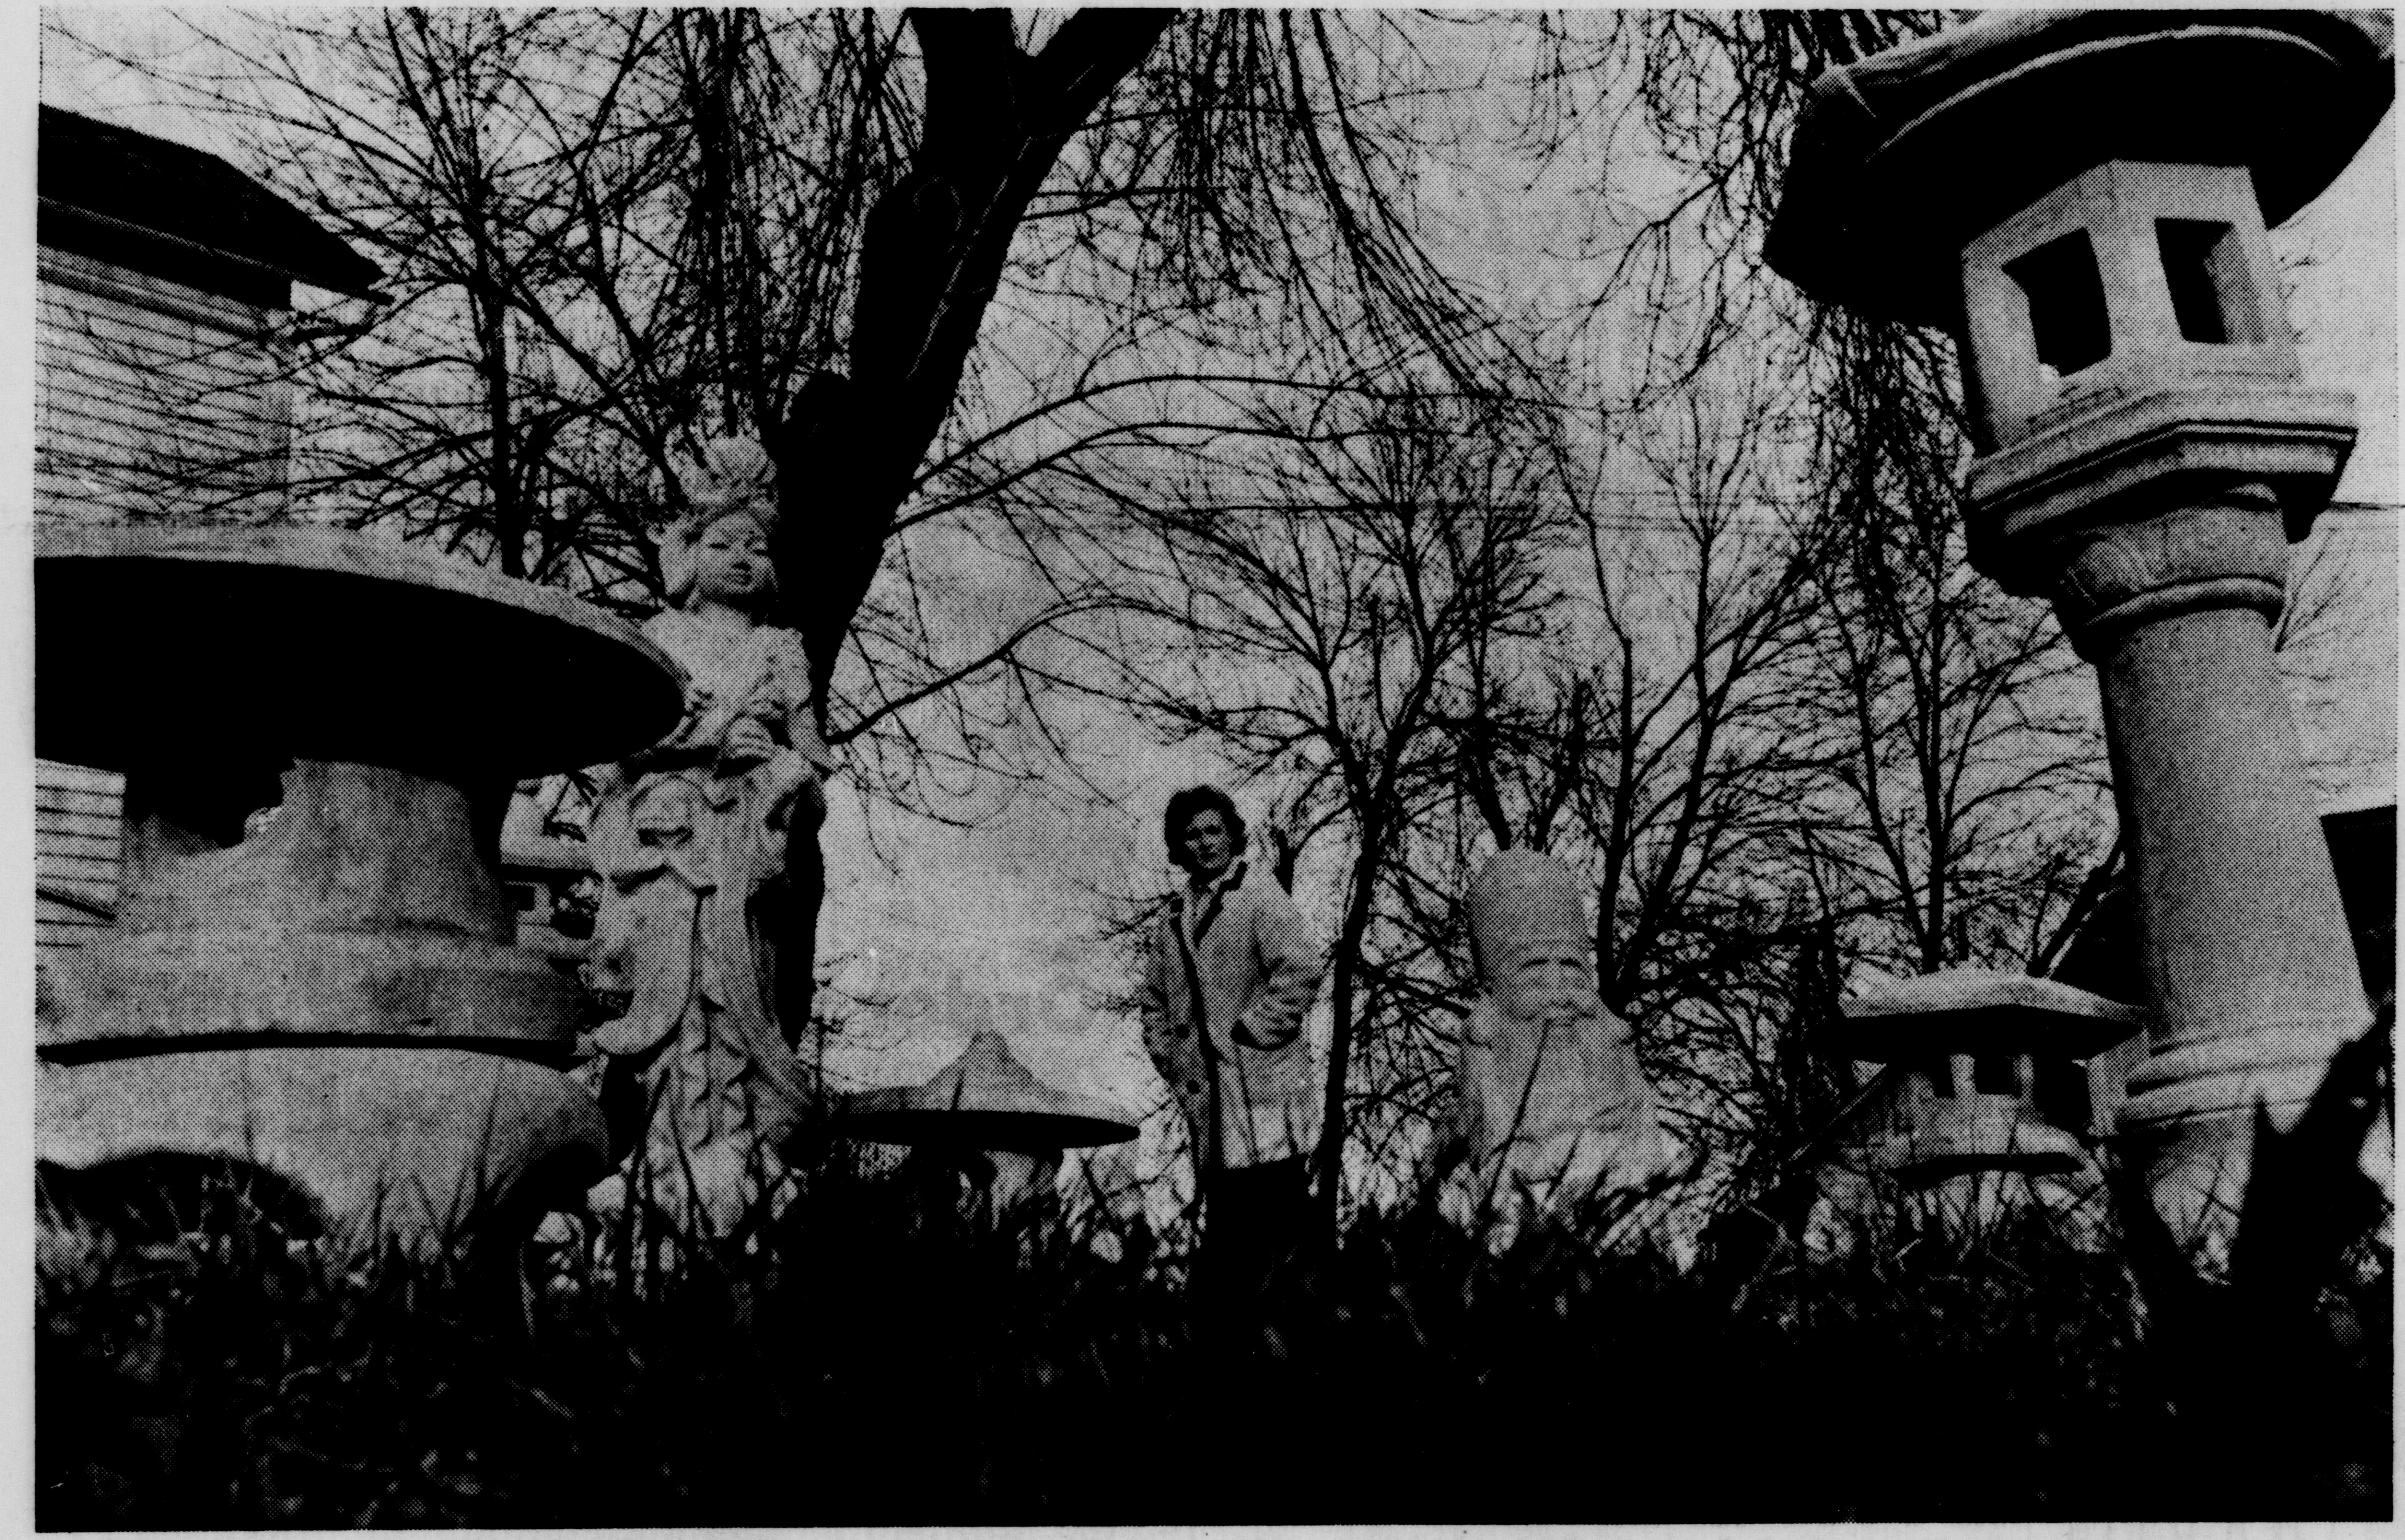
Melt fat in pan. Mix cornstarch and water in bowl; add to fat. (use only 1 cup of the water). Add the remainder of the water, cedar cubes, ginger, chicken bouillon cubes and cloves to fat, corn starch and water mixture. Cook over low heat until thick. Simmer and strain and serve.

BEEF BROTH

10 beef bouillon cubes
10 cups of water
½ cup of almonds
½ cup of sugar

Heat water and bouillon cubes. Add almonds and sugar and cook about 20 minutes longer and serve.

To serve: Place the hot beef broth in a shallow bowl and add fried chicken—don't cover chicken with broth. When served with a large spoon, broth and chicken are placed in individual bowls. Place about 2 tablespoons of spiced glaze on the chicken. Serve heated bacon strips separately.



DOROTHY BRAY stands amidst some of her decorative cement yard creations just outside the old farmhouse at Quentin and Rand Roads that is site for her newly acquired business. Lanterns such as those in the foreground require separate molds for each of the various parts, while statuary like the Oriental woman and bearded gentleman are cast from a single mold. First a hobby with Mrs. Bray, making these decorative pieces now is a business venture that she is pursuing strictly on her own but with encouragement from her husband and four children. She's an Artisan in Cement

by PAT ADAM
Suburban Living Editor

Life has a new dimension for Mrs. Dorothy Bray of Long Grove. She's gone into business, turning a hobby into what she hopes will be a paying venture.

Dorothy, the mother of four children ranging in age from 10 to 16, creates decorative garden, yard and patio pieces from cement.

Her interest in making these items began several years ago when she became acquainted with Ed and Bessie Sawkins, whose business at Quentin and Rand Roads now is Dorothy's.

THE LONG Grove homemaker used to buy plaster of paris figures to paint at the Sawkins' place. Intrigued with how Sawkins made his statuary and other ornaments from cement, Dorothy started asking questions, and soon he was teaching her the business.

Later Dorothy helped out in the business, and when Ed and Bessie decided to retire to Florida this year, they sold their business and leased the property to Dorothy.

Except for the cement Buddhas, Oriental lanterns and other figures standing in the grass before the old frame farmhouse at Quentin and Rand, a passerby might not guess the house and nearby barn are home for a thriving business.

Inside the house, Dorothy has set up crude tables on which she is making the molds for the cement bird baths, lanterns and statues, many of them Oriental, that she will sell. Since April she has made 20 molds and she's hoping to have 30, plus those she inherited from Sawkins, when she's ready for business next spring.

The barn is used for pouring cement into the molds. During chilly weather, the doors can be closed and a furnace makes the place quite cozy, Dorothy says.

Since the Brays live only about three miles away, Dorothy also uses her basement at home and the family garage for her work.

In the farmhouse where she has her tables set up for making the molds, Dorothy usually has several going at one time since it requires more than three weeks before the mold is ready for use. The process starts with successive coats of a latex rubber liquid brushed over a model of the figure she intends to cast. Dorothy applies about 18 coats of this latex, each being allowed to dry a day before the next is put on. She buys the liquid in five-gallon jars.

Once she has finished applying the latex, she transports the molds to a closed-off room in the Bray basement which can be heated to 160 degrees. The temperature is kept at 160 for five days so the molds can dry thoroughly.

"Baking the mold this way strengthens it and makes it last longer," the homemaker-artisan explains.

After the molds are dried, Dorothy applies a casing of a plaster-like substance. This is done in halves or thirds so it later can be removed easily.

When Dorothy is ready to cast some figures, she mixes and pours her own cement. The casing on the filled molds is tightened with special clamps, and the cement figure left to set.

If the temperature is 40 degrees or colder, this will take two days, according to Mrs. Bray. In warm weather, hardening requires only one day.

When the cement has set, the casing is removed, the mold peeled off and the item is ready for finishing. Dorothy uses a special mixture to fill in small pits and give the entire piece a smooth finish. Then the residue is brushed off with a small brush.

The finished figure can be painted, antiqued or treated with copper sulfate for a greenish cast, says Dorothy, but she prefers the natural cement look.

It's keeping Dorothy hopping to get her molds and a backlog of ornaments ready for spring business. From Sawkins she got a list of his wholesale customers and she hopes they will continue as hers.

Eyes sparkling as she talks about her new venture, Dorothy says she wants to attract retail trade, too, by building an Oriental garden outside the farmhouse so those driving by can see her products in an appealing setting.

"Oriental gardens are growing in popularity," says Dorothy. "Men in particular seem to appreciate the easy maintenance of this kind of garden."

While this undertaking is strictly Dorothy's, she gets encouragement and assistance from her family. Husband Jim is an experienced bricklayer so he can counsel her as well as lend a strong arm when needed.

Dorothy's sons, Brad, 11, and Brian, 10, help clean the molds and the garage; they paint items that need painting, such as swans; they set up equipment for their mother, and they often brush the finished pieces for her.

From her eldest, Cynthia, 16, Dorothy expects help in planning and building the contemplated Oriental garden. A junior at Adlai Stevenson High School, Cynthia is studying art this year and doing "very well," her mother proudly reports.

Claudia, 13, is Dorothy's other helper. Claudia and the boys attend Kildeer School in Long Grove.

Madame President

Nurse's Club Helps Her Keep In Touch with Her Profession

By JUDY TREMORE

Charter member of Mount Prospect Nurse's Club, Mrs. Carl Frans is president of the organization she has been active in for 10 years.

Mrs. Frans has been lending closet chairman three years, vice president a couple times, ways and means committee chairman and historian of the group. This is her first term as president.

The nurse studied at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich., but has not worked since she and her family moved to Mount Prospect 12 years ago. Mrs. Frans admits she would love to go back to nursing, but she thinks it more important to be home for her children's needs now. Susan is 16; Martha, 14, and Charles, 9.

SHE HAS TAUGHT the girls to sew, one of her own favorite activities. Mrs. Frans said she also enjoys golfing, bridge, baking, antiquing flower arrangements and currently is working on Christmas angels made of old sheets.

Other activities include teaching fifth and sixth grade Sunday School and helping in the summer Spanish-American program of the Frist Congregational Church, Des Plaines.

Mrs. Frans is also a volunteer in the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary which is being organized in the Northwest suburbs and is a volunteer driver for Northwest Council for Migrant Aid.

Mount Prospect Nurse's Club has three activities it is planning. Next year members will help test the eyes of pre-school children, ages 3 to 5, in cooperation with Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness.

IN JANUARY they will give 11 classes for Mount Prospect residents on civil defense procedures and general emergency first aid.

April 9 the women will sponsor a concert by the Veteran's Chorus from Maywood. The fund-raising concert will provide the nurses with funds for nursing scholarships awarded each spring to a Mount Prospect resident who will enter nursing school.

Mrs. Frans plans to stay active in the nursing group after her term of president. She wants to keep in touch with her profession while she is unable to work and she enjoys the work the nurse's club does. (SSD

AN INTEREST IN TROPICAL fish is one that Mrs. Carl Frans of Mount Prospect shares with her husband and their three children. They have between eight and ten varieties of tropical fish in their aquarium, says the president of the Mount Prospect Nurse's Club. While the club is her major outside-the-home activity, Mrs. Frans also enjoys golfing, bridge and antiquing flower arrangements. (Staff Photo)

Prepare Christmas Toy List Carefully

Christmas is the time for merriment.

It's also the time for an alarming increase in children's accidents, frequently resulting from Santa's toys.

To help prevent these needless accidents, the Illinois Medical Society suggests you prepare Santa's list with care.

WHEN SELECTING electrical toys, for example, the Society advises:

Be sure all electric toys have the label of the Underwriters' Laboratories on the cord and toy itself to assure safe construction.

Since most electric toys are constructed to operate on 6 to 12 volts, make sure they include a transformer to reduce the regular 110-volt house current to this level.

Once you have selected an electric toy, be sure your child understands the potential danger of electric shock. Teach him never to handle an electric toy with wet hands or in wet clothing if he's been playing in the snow.

Inspect the toy periodically for frayed cords or other defects. If you discover one, make the necessary repairs or discard the toy immediately.

HERE'S WHAT the Society says in picking out construction toys:

If your child is too young to handle tools, purchase construction toys that are glued or fitted together.

If he's old enough to handle tools, be sure they're strong and durable.

Check the heads of striking tools, such as hammers and mallets, to be sure they're securely fastened.

IN BUYING toys for a baby or toddler, the Medical Society advises:

Keep in mind that babies and toddlers follow the "hand to mouth" rule. So make sure all parts of the toy can withstand your child's curious investigation. The eyes of a teddy bear, for example, should be made of cloth sewn onto the toy — not fastened with pins.

Make sure the toy is lightweight to prevent possible injury.

Buy toys made of non-brittle material — never glass. Toys made of celluloid are also unsuitable for if they're broken, the edges are extremely sharp.

If you choose a metal toy, be sure edges are rolled in or rounded.

Some toys may be covered with lead-base paints that could cause serious poisoning. So check the label to see if vegetable dye or other non-poisonous paint was used. (S

AAUW Study Groups Combine in Program

The literature, music and art study groups of the Arlington Branch of the American Association of University Women will entertain members with a Christmas program on Thursday, Dec. 8, at 8:30 p.m. in Pioneer Park. The Christmas symbol of angels will be explored through a collection of literature, music and art selections.

Under direction of the literature study group chairman, Mrs. Donald Boos, selections of prose and poetry will be read by Mrs. R. Murray Campbell, Mrs. Edward Fenimore, Mrs. Robert Kocher and Mrs. Clayton Sivertsen.

Mrs. Robert Long, chairman of the music study group, will provide recorded musical background. Three members of the study group will play selections of Christmas music on a recorder. Mrs. Ted Meyer and Mrs. David Stueckemann will play the soprano, and Mrs. William Dillon will play the alto recorder.

A HIGHLIGHT of the program will be a ballet dance performed by Mrs. Harvey Locker. Mrs. Locker has had professional experience and is a member of the Best-Off-Broadway Players. She is director of the Plaza School of Dance in Mount Prospect.

Mrs. John Parsons, art study group chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Lewis Ross in presenting original paintings of angels.

A SILENT auction will be held after the program, and members are urged to bring gifts for the sale.

Refreshments are in charge of Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. Arthur Kent, Mrs. Kenneth Koenig, Mrs. Loren Korte, Mrs. George Morpurgo and Mrs. John Rebel. (S

Hello Hostess

Traditionally, "luminarios" (from a Spanish word for "light") were small fires set to guide the Infant Jesus to each home at Christmas. The modern version, used widely throughout the Southwest, is just a candle bedded in sand inside a perforated paper sack.

Multiplied from house to house and block to block, luminarios provide a happy way for you and your neighbors to say "Merry Christmas" to your entire community.

To make your luminarios, fold down the top edge of a perforated paper sack about an inch for greater stability. Put about three inches of sand in the bottom of the sack, to weight it down and to anchor the candle.

PLACE YOUR luminarios about ten feet apart along your sidewalk and driveway. Then light them at dusk each night the week before Christmas. Barring rain or snow or a high wind, you'll have yourself a fairyland effect with a minimum of cost and effort.

If you'd like to make this a neighborhood project enlist yourself a co-chairman to help organize plans and coordinate the ordering of sacks, sand and candles. Appoint block captains to contact individual families and to provide the necessary help and information.

Your local youngsters will be delighted to deliver supplies and help assemble the luminarios. And you and your neighbors will be delighted with the that result when you set your streets aglow with these twinkling little lights.

EVEN MORE weather - proof is the "White Christmas" observed by several communities in Virginia. For this traditional white lighting, all you do is place a white electric candle in every window. Nothing could be simpler or easier. Yet nothing could be more charming than to drive past block after block of windows, each gleaming with a gentle white welcome to all the joys of the season.

Your community Christmas greeting needn't, of course, require lighting. You and your neighbors could transform your block into a happy Candy Cane Lane, just by placing a plywood cane gaily striped in red and white plastic at each front curb or doorway.

Or you might start an annual project of decorating mailboxes for the holidays, especially if you're on a rural route.

PERHAPS YOU could persuade the men in the neighborhood to make letters, one for each house, to spell out "Merry Christmas" all along your street. If you live in an apartment, join with your neighbors to put letters in the windows, spelling out your Christmas greeting across the front of the entire building.

Wherever you live, do brighten up your community—and your Christmas—with the fun and fellowship of a cooperative christmas decorating project.

This year, ask a few nearby friends to join you in luminarios, or some other easy and inexpensive effort. Then next year—or the next—don't be a bit surprised if your project grows until it's an annual tradition: a citywide source of pride, to you and all your neighbors. (SSD

Mrs. Fraas Is Holiday Hostess

Mrs. Walter Fraas, Irving Park Road, Roselle, will be a busy woman this Christmas season. Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 9 a.m. she will hostess the Hanover-Schaumburg Homemaker's Extension Unit while they make Christmas decorations. The ladies will bring their lunch, Mrs. Fraas will serve coffee.

Friday evening, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Fraas will also be hostess when the Unit holds its annual Christmas party.

Grab-bag gifts will be exchanged, and the game committee will plan the evening's entertainment.

Guests are welcome and anyone wishing more information about the group may call the publicity chairman, Mrs. Melvin Helsper, 894-6127. (SSD

Holiday Buffet For Newcomers

"Santa is Coming" is the theme planned for a Christmas buffet for members of Arlington Heights Newcomers' Club on Wednesday, Dec. 14. The early bird closes at 12:30 p.m., with luncheon at 1 o'clock in Old Orchard Country Club.

Reservations or cancellations must be made before 6 p.m. on Dec. 12 by calling Mrs. Samuel Shutt, 259-5451, or Mrs. Paul M. Griffin, 358-1306.

The next evening meeting is slated Jan. 11 at Pioneer Park.

Madame President

Nurse's Club Helps Her Keep In Touch with Her Profession

By JUDY TREMORE

Charter member of Mount Prospect Nurse's Club, Mrs. Carl Frans is president of the organization she has been active in for 10 years.

Mrs. Frans has been lending closet chairman three years, vice president a couple times, ways and means committee chairman and historian of the group. This is her first term as president.

The nurse studied at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich., but has not worked since she and her family moved to Mount Prospect 12 years ago. Mrs. Frans admits she would love to go back to nursing, but she thinks it more important to be home for her children's needs now. Susan is 16; Martha, 14, and Charles, 9.

SHE HAS TAUGHT the girls to sew, one of her own favorite activities. Mrs. Frans said she also enjoys golfing, bridge, baking, antiquing flower arrangements and currently is working on Christmas angels made of old sheets.

Other activities include teaching fifth and sixth grade Sunday School and helping in the summer Spanish-American program of the Frist Congregational Church, Des Plaines.

Mrs. Frans is also a volunteer in the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary which is being organized in the Northwest suburbs and is a volunteer driver for Northwest Council for Migrant Aid.

Mount Prospect Nurse's Club has three activities it is planning. Next year members will help test the eyes of pre-school children, ages 3 to 5, in cooperation with Illinois Society for Prevention of Blindness.

IN JANUARY they will give 11 classes for Mount Prospect residents on civil defense procedures and general emergency first aid.

Holiday Bazaars Will End Next Week

This is the last week of the holiday bazaars and your last chance to shop for the unique, handmade items that set a bazaar apart from other shops selling gifts. Dozens of church and club groups have already held bazaars and those to be held this weekend and next week offer no less of the unusual than did the earlier sales.

Most of the items are handmade and all of the bakery goods offered will be home baked. Christmas cards, designed by a student at Little City, will be offered for sale in Inverness.

At a Palatine bazaar, a Christmas tree skirt, reported to be exceptionally beautiful, will be for sale. White elephants will be featured at several of the up-coming sales, and a celebrity booth featuring contributions from celebrities all over the country will be a feature at another bazaar. Along this same line will be a post office booth featuring packages mailed from various parts of the United States and several foreign cities by vacationing guild members. Santa, himself. will be present at a bazaar in Elk Grove Village.

PALATINE

A white felt Christmas tree skirt, children's items, Christmas aprons, wall plaques and many other items, all handmade, will be displayed and sold this weekend on the first floor and downstairs of the First State Bank of Palatine during "Holly Bazaar."

The tree skirt has been made and donated by Mrs. Henry Wood, president of The Woman's Club of Palatine, sponsors of the bazaar. The sale will begin Friday, Dec. 2, at noon and will continue to 2 p.m., re-opening at 5 and closing at 8:30. Saturday, the bazaar will continue, opening at 9 a.m. and closing at noon.

The bazaar is the club's fund-raising project of the year and proceeds will go to local philanthropies and Federation projects. Chairman of the bazaar is Mrs. Carroll Ball, 20 S. Forest, Palatine, and co-chairman is Mrs. Hal Lauger, 2608 Bel-Aire Drive, Arlington Heights. Tickets and further information about the bazaar may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ball at 358-1422 or Mrs. Lauger at 392-5290.

SCHAUMBURG

Final preparations are now being made by the membership of the St. Marcelline Organization of Catholic Women for their Christmas Bazaar to be held Sunday, Dec. 4 at 10 a.m. at the Schaumburg Fire Station.

Guild and Booth Chairmen are: religious goods, Mrs. Frank Mustari; white elephant booth, Mrs. Wayne Lesley and Mrs. Vince Amato; jewelry booth, Mrs. Floyd Ruble and Mrs. Frank Kennedy; house decorations, Mrs. John Neuzil and Mrs. James Catoor; toys and dolls, Mrs. Robert Kathe; children only booth, Mrs. Ed Boggio; and country kitchen, Mrs. Richard Goberville and Mrs. William Wimmer.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

The women of St. John United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights, will hold a Christmas sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7, in the Fellowship Hall, 310 N. Evergreen.

Featured items for sale will be handmade gifts, Christmas decorations, baked goods and candies and white elephant treasures.

A salad bar luncheon will be served between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

ROLLING MEADOWS

Many hours of work will come to fruition Saturday and Sunday for the women of St. Colette Church of Rolling Meadows as they stage their "Christmas Frolics" bazaar.

Those in charge of the affair promise there will be something at the bazaar for every member of the family.

PRICING ITEMS that will be for sale at the "Christmas Frolics" bazaar at St. Colette Church in Rolling Meadows are Mrs. Richard Curtis, right, the bazaar chairman, and some of her helpers. Helping Mrs. Curtis to get ready for the Dec. 3 and 4 affair are Mrs. John May, left; Mrs. Elwood Berg, and Mrs. Richard O'Donnell. The bazaar has been planned with all the family in mind.

(S

Serving as chairman has been Mrs. Richard Curtis assisted by her co-chairman, Mrs. Thomas Pearson. Mrs. Walter Krupa is acting as treasurer.

The celebrity booth, featuring contributions from celebrities all over the country, will be handled by Mrs. Alex Semple Jr. Children's games are in charge of Mrs. Ronald Adams. Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. George Thoma are responsible for the Christmas decorations booth.

The gift shop is supervised by Mrs. Wendell Smith and Mrs. John Connor while Mrs. Richard Sweeney has charge of doll clothes. Hobbies booth and refreshments will be handled by Elwood Berg, and the international pantry by Mrs. John Thoresdale.

Mrs. Jack Harris and Mrs. Thomas Rowe share responsibility for the medical mission booth, and Mrs. P. Sarich and Mrs. James Niesen for the prizes. Religious articles will be sold by Mrs. John Cullen. Stuffed toys booth is in charge of Mrs. Elwood Berg. Mrs. Robert Kobiella is chairman of the used toys booth.

Hall decorations are in the hands of Mrs. Robert Lindquist, Mrs. K. Schroeder and Mrs. Norbert Donarski.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

Santa Claus himself will be the highlight of the Snowflake Bazaar to be held Saturday, Dec. 3, at the Ridge School in Elk Grove Village. The jolly red-suited fellow will grant interviews with all the children and will also pose with them for pictures.

Sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Prince of Peace Methodist Church of Elk Grove, the bazaar hours will be from 1:30 to 5 p.m., with proceeds going to the church building fund.

Booths will offer for sale handmade items, candles (handmade), live and artificial plants and flowers, holiday decorations, baked goods, aprons and children's items.

Refreshments will be available throughout the bazaar hours.

PALATINE

Palatine Fire House will be glowing with holiday ornaments Saturday, Dec. 3 when Palatine Nurses' Club holds its bazaar, "Bells Are Ringing." Opening at 1 p.m., bazaar booths will feature baked goods, handmade articles, bargains and decorations. Closing hour will be 4 p.m.

"BELLS ARE RINGING" for Mrs. Russell Strandberg, Mrs. Jack Knotek and Mrs. William Arras of Palatine Nurses Club and for shoppers at the club's bazaar to be held Saturday, Dec. 3, in Palatine Fire House. Proceeds will go to the club's lending closet, toward a scholarship for a student entering nurses' training and toward dental aid for the needy.

PALATINE

A Christmas and bake sale takes place Dec. 1 in Inverness Community House, sponsored by the Suburban Service League of Little City. Chairman of the event is Mrs. Thomas Morgan of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Merton F. Postle of Inverness is supervising the workshops which are turning out Christmas gift items, and Mrs. W. E. Moorman and Mrs. Robert Elfrick, both of Inverness, are in charge of the baked goods.

Christmas cards designed by one of the Little City students will also be sold. Mrs. Earl Ogier of Plum Grove Estates heads the card sales, assisted by Mrs. Robert B. Dewey of Inverness.

PALATINE

Santa's workshop will be open for shoppers Friday and Saturday, Dec. 2 and 3, under the sponsorship of the Weleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in Palatine. Hours for the Guild's ninth holiday fair have been set for 5:30 to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Santa's Sweet Shop will be featured, as well as a post office booth at which shoppers may select an unidentified gift by the postmark on the package. These packages were mailed home from various parts of the country and several foreign cities by vacationing guild members.

Dinner, by reservations only, will be served Friday from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Mrs. Charles Abbott is in charge of tickets.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served Saturday. (S

Simple 'First Aid'

This is the time of year when a homemaker's fancy turns to the way her house looks. Is it ready for a winter of indoors-living? Quite often the bathroom is not. Rust stains, plaster spots and loosened tiles make even the chicest bathroom loo kaged and ugly.

The services of a professional bathroom beautician are not required, however. Here are some simple first aid tips to restore this room to its former good looks.

THERE ARE many products on the market to remove rust stains from tile, and most times these will do the job handsomely. But for stickier problems you might want to try something more unusual—kerosene. No elbow grease required; even the most persistent stains succumb to a two-hour soak in kerosene. Then just wash with soap and hot water.

For stained marble, work in powdered marble with a brush. Most tile, marble and granite surfaces should be cleaned only with soap and water, reserving the use of mild abrasisve for problem stains. Don't let water remain on tiles, as it may loosen them.

IF CRACKS are forming around the rim of your tub, use a paint spatula to clean away the loosened cement. The Metal Tube Packaging Council recommends tub caulk to fill in these cracks. Merely squeeze the caulk into the crack around the tub, level off with the paint spatula, and let dry.

The metal tube makes application so easy that homemakers will have no trouble doing a job that looks as it if calls for a professional repairman. That's how easy does it. (S

Little League Mom Shares Recipes

Teenagers Love Her Special Hamburgers

by LOIS SEILER

A tasty treat for teenagers is the delicious "hamburger" devised by Mrs. Roger Hull of 1423 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

This mother of four (two of them teenagers) often has young folks stop by for snacks after football games or other social events. Her clever idea for making a variety of tasty sandwiches using packaged buttermilk biscuits and ground beef has made a big hit with hungry teens.

She flattens the biscuits by patting and stretching them and then places the biscuits on a cookie sheet. A tablespoon of browned hamburger is placed on each, and from here a variety of seasonings and toppings can be used depending on your own ingenuity.

THE MEAT can be seasoned with Italian seasonings, a dab of catsup and pizza cheese to make a pizza-flavored burger.

Or hickory-flavored barbecue sauce can be spooned over the meat to make barbecued beef.

The meat may be topped with fresh tomato and onion, or with cheese to make cheeseburgers.

Then Mrs. Hull tops the sandwich with another flattened biscuit and seals the edges together.

"It is surprising how these sandwiches puff up when they are baked, and how filling they are to eat," Mrs. Hull commented.

The basic recipe is so versatile that it will adapt to any number of variations, and Ann Hull has even used leftover chicken with a dab of cream of mushroom soup, and she has also made miniature meat and vegetable pasties.

"THESE HAMBURGERS are so easy and economical to prepare," Ann said, "and a pound of ground beef will stretch a long way with this recipe."

If you are not fussy about messes in your kitchen, you might even let the teenagers make the burgers themselves. Just imagine the creations they might concoct!

Another appealing recipe which this clever homemaker originated is for a creamy garlic dressing.

Having tasted good garlic dressings in restaurants, Ann experimented and devised her own simple yet delicious dressing. It consists of only three ingredients: sour cream, sugar and garlic juice.

"The sugar softens the garlic flavor and eliminates the sour taste of the cream," she explained.

THE INGREDIENTS must be mixed together at least a half hour before serving to make sure that the sugar is completely dissolved. The dressing is delicious over salad greens or baked potatoes.

For the holidays Mrs. Hull has a favorite recipe which she received from her mother-in-law. It is for a carrot casserole that is similar in flavor to creamed carrots.

She arranges cooked carrot strips in a casserole and covers them with a sauce which utilizes the water in which the carrots were cooked. The sauce is also well-flavored with onion and celery. Buttered bread crumbs are sprinkled on top.

The baked carrots hold together well and make an ideal accompaniment for a roast turkey or beef dinner.

THE MOTHER of three boys, Ron, 17; Don, 15; Bob, 12, and a girl Jean, 8, it's not surprising that Mrs. Hull is active in Little League, but she also holds the office of president of the organization. She is a former vice-president of the Wheeling Township Democratic Women's Organization.

HULL'S HAMBURGERS

4 packages Ballard or Pillsbury Buttermilk Biscuits
1 pound ground beef
Bottled Italian seasonings
Catsup
Pizza cheese and cheddar cheese
Hickory-smoked Open Pit Barbecue Sauce
Fresh tomatoes
Onion

Flatten each biscuit with the hands, pulling gently to stretch dough. Place half of the biscuits on a ungreased cookie sheet.

Brown ground beef in a skillet and cook thoroughly. Spoon one tablespoon of the meat on each biscuit.

Sprinkle some of the sandwiches with Italian seasonings, top with a dab of catsup and a piece of pizza cheese.

On other sandwiches place cheddar cheese or onions and tomatoes or a combination of these ingredients.

Use barbecue sauce on some of the sandwiches to make barbecued beef.

Top each sandwich with another flattened biscuit and seal the edges together.

Bake according to directions on biscuit package. Makes 20 hamburgers.

GARLIC DRESSING

½ pint commercial sour cream
2 heaping tablespoons granulated sugar
4 to 5 shakes garlic juice or to taste

Mix ingredients together. Taste and add more sugar, if desired. Let set in refrigerator at least a half hour to allow sugar to dissolve.

Spoon over salad greens or baked potatoes.

CARROT CASSEROLE

1 large package fresh carrots
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely-diced celery
1/8 to ¼ cup finely-diced onion
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
Approximately ¾ cup fine bread crumbs

Peel and cut carrots in thirds. Cook until tender. Remove from heat and let cool a few minutes. Measure out at least 2 cups of the carrot water and set aside.

Cut the cooled carrots in strips and place into a greased casserole.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a frying pan. Add celery and onion and saute until tender. Then add flour and stir well. Add carrot juice slowly and cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Pour over carrots in casserole.

Melt the remaining butter in a clean skillet. Add bread crumbs. When well-coated, spread over top of carrot casserole. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 to 30 minutes. This can be made ahead and reheated before serving. Serves 8 to 10.

Oriental Chicken Different

Chicken is one of the best buys in meat. Certainly there is no more popular dish than fried chicken. Why not give it a different twist and try frying it the Oriental way? It is ever so light and delicate. Use corn starch for coating the chicken pieces, after a quick dip in a mixture of egg and water. Fry in corn oil for the most delicate browning and flavor.

ORIENTAL FRIED CHICKEN

2 eggs
1 tablespoon water
1 cup corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
Corn oil for frying

Beat eggs well; mix in water. Combine corn starch and salt. Dip chicken pieces into egg mixture, then into corn starch and salt, then into egg mixture, coating chicken well with each. Pour corn oil into skillet to depth of 1 inch. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F., or until 1 inch cube of bread turns brown in 40 seconds. Carefully put chicken into hot oil. Fry, turning once, until light golden brown and tender, about 15 minutes. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Punch Bowl Tip

Naturally sweet canned pineapple juice is the ideal base for the most popular punches. Make a ring or block of ice with golden pineapple juice for an attractive punch bowl floater. It will chill the refreshing punch and keep the delicious flavor of pineapple juice down to the last cupful.

Lunchbox Treat

Ripe olive salads-on-a-stick are great for lunchbox toters. Simply string canned pitted ripe olives from California on carrot or celery sticks. Wrap in saran, foil or waxed paper and pack.

Little League Mom Shares Recipes

Teenagers Love Her Special Hamburgers

by LOIS SEILER

A tasty treat for teenagers is the delicious "hamburger" devised by Mrs. Roger Hull of 1423 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

This mother of four (two of them teenagers) often has young folks stop by for snacks after football games or other social events. Her clever idea for making a variety of tasty sandwiches using packaged buttermilk biscuits and ground beef has made a big hit with hungry teens.

She flattens the biscuits by patting and stretching them and then places the biscuits on a cookie sheet. A tablespoon of browned hamburger is placed on each, and from here a variety of seasonings and toppings can be used depending on your own ingenuity.

THE MEAT can be seasoned with Italian seasonings, a dab of catsup and pizza cheese to make a pizza-flavored burger.

Or hickory-flavored barbecue sauce can be spooned over the meat to make barbecued beef.

The meat may be topped with fresh tomato and onion, or with cheese to make cheeseburgers.

Then Mrs. Hull tops the sandwich with another flattened biscuit and seals the edges together.

"It is surprising how these sandwiches puff up when they are baked, and how filling they are to eat," Mrs. Hull commented.

The basic recipe is so versatile that it will adapt to any number of variations, and Ann Hull has even used leftover chicken with a dab of cream of mushroom soup, and she has also made miniature meat and vegetable pasties.

"THESE HAMBURGERS are so easy and economical to prepare," Ann said, "and a pound of ground beef will stretch a long way with this recipe."

If you are not fussy about messes in your kitchen, you might even let the teenagers make the burgers themselves. Just imagine the creations they might concoct!

Another appealing recipe which this clever homemaker originated is for a creamy garlic dressing.

Having tasted good garlic dressings in restaurants, Ann experimented and devised her own simple yet delicious dressing. It consists of only three ingredients: sour cream, sugar and garlic juice.

"The sugar softens the garlic flavor and eliminates the sour taste of the cream," she explained.

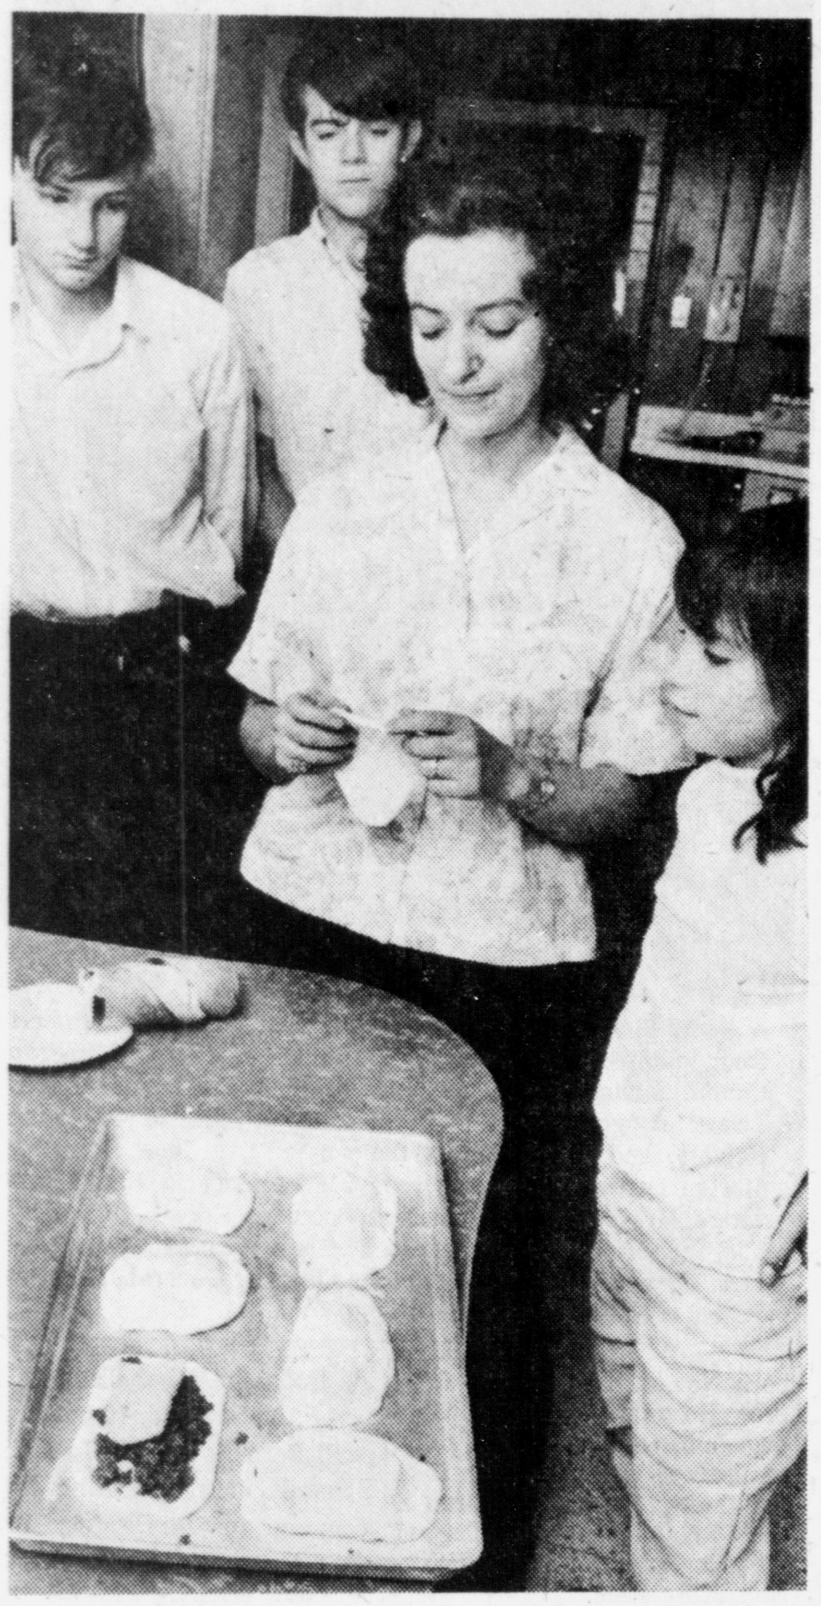
THE INGREDIENTS must be mixed together at least a half hour before serving to make sure that the sugar is completely dissolved. The dressing is delicious over salad greens or baked potatoes.

For the holidays Mrs. Hull has a favorite recipe which she received from her mother-in-law. It is for a carrot casserole that is similar in flavor to creamed carrots.

She arranges cooked carrot strips in a casserole and covers them with a sauce which utilizes the water in which the carrots were cooked. The sauce is also well-flavored with onion and celery. Buttered bread crumbs are sprinkled on top.

The baked carrots hold together well and make an ideal accompaniment for a roast turkey or beef dinner.

THE MOTHER of three boys, Ron, 17; Don, 15; Bob, 12, and a girl Jean, 8, it's not surprising that Mrs. Hull is active in Little League, but she also holds the office of president of the organization. She is a former vice-president of the Wheeling Township Democratic Women's Organization.



TOPS FOR TEENS are the delicious and unique "hamburgers" devised by Mrs. Roger Hull of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Hull uses packaged biscuits then with ground beef and a variety of toppings to make everything from pizza burgers to barbecued beef sandwiches. Watching their mother prepare these tasty snacks are her children, Ron, Don and Jean.

HULL'S HAMBURGERS

4 packages Ballard or Pillsbury Buttermilk Biscuits
1 pound ground beef
Bottled Italian seasonings
Catsup
Pizza cheese and cheddar cheese
Hickory-smoked Open Pit Barbecue Sauce
Fresh tomatoes
Onion

Flatten each biscuit with the hands, pulling gently to stretch dough. Place half of the biscuits on a ungreased cookie sheet.

Brown ground beef in a skillet and cook thoroughly. Spoon one tablespoon of the meat on each biscuit.

Sprinkle some of the sandwiches with Italian seasonings, top with a dab of catsup and a piece of pizza cheese.

On other sandwiches place cheddar cheese or onions and tomatoes or a combination of these ingredients.

Use barbecue sauce on some of the sandwiches to make barbecued beef.

Top each sandwich with another flattened biscuit and seal the edges together.

Bake according to directions on biscuit package. Makes 20 hamburgers.

GARLIC DRESSING

½ pint commercial sour cream
2 heaping tablespoons granulated sugar
4 to 5 shakes garlic juice or to taste

Mix ingredients together. Taste and add more sugar, if desired. Let set in refrigerator at least a half hour to allow sugar to dissolve.

Spoon over salad greens or baked potatoes.

CARROT CASSEROLE

1 large package fresh carrots
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely-diced celery
1/8 to ¼ cup finely-diced onion
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
Approximately ¾ cup fine bread crumbs

Peel and cut carrots in thirds. Cook until tender. Remove from heat and let cool a few minutes. Measure out at least 2 cups of the carrot water and set aside.

Cut the cooled carrots in strips and place into a greased casserole.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a frying pan. Add celery and onion and saute until tender. Then add flour and stir well. Add carrot juice slowly and cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Pour over carrots in casserole.

Melt the remaining butter in a clean skillet. Add bread crumbs. When well-coated, spread over top of carrot casserole. Bake at 350 degrees about 25 to 30 minutes. This can be made ahead and reheated before serving. Serves 8 to 10.

Oriental Chicken Different

Chicken is one of the best buys in meat. Certainly there is no more popular dish than fried chicken. Why not give it a different twist and try frying it the Oriental way? It is ever so light and delicate. Use corn starch for coating the chicken pieces, after a quick dip in a mixture of egg and water. Fry in corn oil for the most delicate browning and flavor.

ORIENTAL FRIED CHICKEN

2 eggs
1 tablespoon water
1 cup corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
Corn oil for frying

Beat eggs well; mix in water. Combine corn starch and salt. Dip chicken pieces into egg mixture, then into corn starch and salt, then into egg mixture, coating chicken well with each. Pour corn oil into skillet to depth of 1 inch. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F., or until 1 inch cube of bread turns brown in 40 seconds. Carefully put chicken into hot oil. Fry, turning once, until light golden brown and tender, about 15 minutes. Makes 2 to 4 servings.

Punch Bowl Tip

Naturally sweet canned pineapple juice is the ideal base for the most popular punches. Make a ring or block of ice with golden pineapple juice for an attractive punch bowl floater. It will chill the refreshing punch and keep the delicious flavor of pineapple juice down to the last cupful.

Lunchbox Treat

Ripe olive salads-on-a-stick are great for lunchbox toters. Simply string canned pitted ripe olives from California on carrot or celery sticks. Wrap in saran, foil or waxed paper and pack.

Don't be a conversation dropout.
Graduate to the News.

Remember conversation? The way grownups used to communicate before diapers, dishes and runny noses took over the world?

Grownups are still at it, you know. Care to rejoin them? It's easy to do through the pages of the Daily News.

If the only "pop art" you've seen lately is what the kids splash on the kitchen walls, brush up with art critic Franz Schulze.

If "current events" sounds too much like last month's light bill, switch on Keyes Beech, David M. Nichol and our other overseas correspondents.

And if you're having trouble telling the "doves" from the "hawks", flock to Peter Lisagor, our chief bird-watcher in Washington.

Grownup talk? The Daily News has got it. So get it.

And welcome back to the world.

Half the world is hungry—
Will you help, for today and tomorrow?

Unless we help the hungry feed and support themselves, their need can never end. CARE does more than feed people. It also uses food to help educate children, to nourish preschool youngsters to full growth, or as pay while villagers build schools, roads, water systems. It adds self-help seeds and farm tools, trade tools, construction materials, school supplies. It sends doctors and nurses to heal the sick and train medical personnel. In all these ways, the money you give saves lives and makes those lives worth living. Mail your check.

Harry Beiles Wed 55 Years

Ice skating wasn't one of Mary Hajek's accomplishments. She tried it only once, using a pair of borrowed skates, and spent most of her time "skating on the wrong end."

Likely it was one of the many spills that caught the attention of Harry Beile, one of the better skaters who skated regularly at Lincoln Park in Chicago. That was a good many years ago, but Harry and Mary, now married 55 years, can well remember their first meeting.

Both Harry and Mary were born in Chicago. Harry was the son of Anna and Gus Beile, who in their later years, made their home with their son and daughter-in-law in the Beile home at 1501 W. Kirchoff Road, Arlington Heights. Mary was orphaned at the age of 7 and was reared by an aunt along with three younger cousins.

THE COUPLE became engaged in 1908, just before Harry and his family moved to Florida. Their romance flourished through the mails and three years later, Harry returned to Chicago to claim Mary as his bride on Nov. 28, 1911.

A meat salesman, Harry soon opened his own wholesale meat business. "It's not like it used to be," commented Mary. "Today's meat in the chain stores is cut differently. They cut with electric machines and don't follow the ribs. And then sugar was 5 cents a pound, two for 9 cents," she added.

Mr. Beile is now retired and can no longer choose choice cuts of meat to bring home. But he and Mary can choose their own vegetables, for since moving to Arlington Heights in 1940, they have raised their own. On their acreage they also raise apples, pears and many kinds of berries, and can enough to last them through each year.

THE BEILES ALSO do all their own landscaping and keep busy visiting family and friends in Chicago and suburbs. During the colder weather, Mrs. Beile, now 76, enjoys knitting and needlework, and Mr. Beile, 77, does a lot of reading. "We love small dinner parties with our daughter and old friends," said Mrs. Beile. Their only child, Helen, and their son-in-law, Henry Valerius, live in Chicago near Swedish Covenant Hospital.

It was Helen who planned the anniversary open house for last Sunday and invited the 60 guests to the Beile home. "We had a big, beautiful cake that was out of this world, "Mrs. Beile said. Friends greeted and congratulated the Beiles from 2 o'clock on. "It was wonderful," agreed the Beiles.

CANNED GOODS for holiday dinners at the American Indian Center in Chicago are sorted by Mrs. Ken Buck, American citizenship chairman of the Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club. "Sharing with others through this annual project makes the holiday season more meaningful for all of us," said Mrs. Buck.

Golf Won't Help Trim Waistline

If you play golf because you enjoy the game, because it gets you away from everyday tensions, because you like the out-of-doors — keep playing.

But if you play golf because you hope it'll slim your middle and keep you fit, listen to the sad news from Prof. Leroy Getchell, Ph.D.

According to a study reported recently by the Ball State University professor, "Golf when played by sedentary middle-aged men (and women, too, he feels), is not a suitable activity for improving physical fitness to any great extent."

THE PROFESSOR said that tests of golfers before and after a season of play showed that they scored below average on various physical fitness tests for flexibility, strength, endurance and the efficiency of heart and lungs.

"Golf is wholesome for women," Prof. Getchell remarked, "but swimming, cycling and calisthenics will do more for them." (S

GAMMA PHI BETA

Gamma Phi Beta alums will usher in the yuletide season at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7, with a holiday party in the Park Ridge home of Mrs. Walter Christopher, 433 N. Prospect. Mrs. James Milburn and Mrs. Robert Berg of Park Ridge will be co-hostesses.

Traditionally held in the Christopher home, the December meeting of the Northwest Suburban alumnae group features a white elephant sale and a "Holiday Boutique" of homemade items, edible, wearable or decorative.

White elephants, new and used, brought to the sale often are enhanced in value by beautiful wrapping. Sure to be found among the wrapped treasures will be a pair of blue crocheted gloves which the purchaser mus promise to return the following year as the gloves have been part of the party for the past 10 years.

A portion of the evening's proceeds are donated to the Gamma Phi Beta national camps for underprivileged children.

Those planning to attend should notify Mrs. Page Engelkle, 437-4391.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

"Make it and Take it" is the theme for the Tuesday, Dec. 6 meeting of Zeta Tau Alpha. Members will bring Christmas homemade articles, such as fods, clothing or a child's toy, which will be auctioned. This is one of the "fun" money projects for the group during the year. Mrs. Rose Beshk, 48 W. Jeffrey, Des Plaines, will be hostess for the 7:45 p.m. meeting.

A representative of the Easter Seal Center in Elgin will be present to receive a check derived from ZTA's bridge benefit of Oct. 18.

President Mrs. Evelyn Richers is moving to Detroit, and Mrs. Kikki Moriconi will preside for the remaining meetings.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

Miss Marilyn Kanwischer, 1830 Knight Bridge Drive, Mount Prospect, will be among the Alpha Sigma Alpha alumnae attending a Christmas party to be held Dec. 28 in the Glen Ellyn home of Mrs. Fred Ducey. Hostess for the party will be the West Suburban Alumnae chapter and guests will include alumnae from Western Illinois, Northern Illinois, Loyola and Western Michigan universities.

Frequent Fainting? See Doctor

The woman who faints when her husband unexpectedly presents her with a mink coat probably has nothing to worry about except what to wear with the coat. But people who faint frequently should not ignore their condition. Fainting can be a symptom of a serious problem, according to the nurses' magazine, "RN."

Usually a benign and transitory condition, fainting is brought on by an insufficient supply of blood to the vital centers of the brain, causing rapid, temporary disturbance in consciousness. If fainting happens only occasionally, there's little need for concern. But if it recurs, it should be investigated by a physician.

Frequent Fainting? See Doctor

The woman who faints when her husband unexpectedly presents her with a mink coat probably has nothing to worry about except what to wear with the coat. But people who faint frequently should not ignore their condition. Fainting can be a symptom of a serious problem, according to the nurses' magazine, "RN."

Usually a benign and transitory condition, fainting is brought on by an insufficient supply of blood to the vital centers of the brain, causing rapid, temporary disturbance in consciousness. If fainting happens only occasionally, there's little need for concern. But if it recurs, it should be investigated by a physician.

The article notes that fainting can sometimes be triggered by strenuous laughing, coughing, straining at stool, vomiting, sneezing, lifting or crying. (S

Luncheon Feature, Christmas in Song

"Christmas in Song" will highlight the Christmas luncheon of the Lutheran Church Women of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Saturday, Dec. 10, at 12:30 p.m., at the church.

Mrs. Charles Macaluso is in charge of the smorgasbord-style luncheon which will be prepared by members of the church.

The program, planned by Mrs. Edward Petersen, will begin with a reading, "The Word Was Made Flesh," by Mrs. Adolph Johnson, Mrs. Donald Pritz, Mrs. James Garrison and Mrs. David Birkness. Solos by Mrs. William Coffman and Mrs. Petersen and caroling by the ladies attending will accent the reading. A piano duet of "March of the Toys" by Miss Sandy Ohman and Mrs. Petersen, and singing by the Arlington High School Choral Group will complete the program.

Tickets may be obtained from the LCW membership chairman, Mrs. Richard Overfield, from Circle chairmen, or at the church Sunday morning, Dec. 4.

Pastor Reviews For Plum Grove

One of the Plum Grove Women's Auxiliary's favorite reviewers will return to the clubhouse at one o'clock Tuesday Dec. 6. He is Rev. Herbert Duenow, pastor of the Washburn Congregational Church in Half Day, who has chosen to review "The Detective," by Richard Thorp. This best selling novel is scheduled to be a major motion picture starring Frank Sinatra.

Rev. Duenow is a graduate of Kansas State Teachers College, Washington University, and Eden Theological Seminary in St. Louis. He also did graduate work in the department of speech, art, and drama at St. Louis University.

"His appeal for his audiences is based on his ability to appear before them without notes and to 'dramatize' his reviews," commented the program chairman.

Refreshments will be served prior to the review. Hostesses will be Mrs. Roger Quarnstrom and Mrs. John Yuccas. (S

There'll be Holiday Fun at B&PW Party

Next Thursday evening, Dec. 8, is the date set for the annual Christmas party of the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Arlington Carousel is the place. Members and guests will arrive around 6 o'clock for the social hour preceding dinner.

Traditionally, this is an evening devoted to having a good time. Games, grab bag gifts and community singing are all on the program. Table decorations and entertainment are being arranged by Mrs. Ruth Avalon, hospitality chairman, assisted Mrs. Eleanor Linehan, Mrs. Norma Damm, Mrs. Joanne Mortensen and Miss Marian Baesel. It is expected that Santa Claus will be on hand to assist with the gifts.

EVEN THOUGH most club business will be put aside, there will be a report on one of the current projects by Mrs. Bernice Bosma, vice president. She will tell members of the progress being made in the formation of the new Elk Grove Village B and PW Club being sponsored by the Mount Prospect Club.

Although next Thursday evening is a departure from the usual B and PW Club meeting, it is open to prospective members who would like to come and get acquainted. Reservations and inquiries may be telephoned to the membership chairman, Mrs. Jayne Shutt, 392-1717. (S

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

There'll be Holiday Fun at B&PW Party

Next Thursday evening, Dec. 8, is the date set for the annual Christmas party of the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Arlington Carousel is the place. Members and guests will arrive around 6 o'clock for the social hour preceding dinner.

Traditionally, this is an evening devoted to having a good time. Games, grab bag gifts and community singing are all on the program. Table decorations and entertainment are being arranged by Mrs. Ruth Avalon, hospitality chairman, assisted Mrs. Eleanor Linehan, Mrs. Norma Damm, Mrs. Joanne Mortensen and Miss Marian Baesel. It is expected that Santa Claus will be on hand to assist with the gifts.

EVEN THOUGH most club business will be put aside, there will be a report on one of the current projects by Mrs. Bernice Bosma, vice president. She will tell members of the progress being made in the formation of the new Elk Grove Village B and PW Club being sponsored by the Mount Prospect Club.

Although next Thursday evening is a departure from the usual B and PW Club meeting, it is open to prospective members who would like to come and get acquainted. Reservations and inquiries may be telephoned to the membership chairman, Mrs. Jayne Shutt, 392-1717. (S

Elk Grove Newcomers Set Installation for Dec. 7

New officers for the coming year will be installed on Wednesday, Dec. 7, by Elk Grove Village Newcomers' Club.

Newly-elected officers are: Mrs. Edmund Sargent, president; Mrs. Michael Van Zant, vice president; Mrs. Donald Weis, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Simpson, recording secretary; Mrs. Laurence Smith, corresponding secretary.

FOLLOWING the general meeting, the newcomers will hold a work session to make Christmas gifts for the children of Little City.

A coffee for new residents was held last Monday in the home of Mrs. Leonard Vanderweel.

The Elk Grove Village Newcomers welcome all women who live in the area, regardless of length of residency. Membership details are available from Mrs. William Nelson, 439-8492.

Symphony Group Plans Luncheon

The holiday season will begin for the Women's Association of the Northwest Symphony Orchestra with a combination luncheon-boutique Dec. 5 at the home of the new president, Mrs. Warren W. Kreft, 2300 Mayfield Drive, Des Plaines.

The luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Members may bring guests.

Money from the luncheon and boutique will go to the association's orchestra fund. Reservations should be made by today (Thursday) with Mrs. Kreft, 823-0588, or Mrs. Frank T. Kriegel, 698-5786. (S

KC Wives Lunch, View Fashions at Carousel

A pint-sized Santa was the surprise feature of a luncheon-fashion show staged Thursday, Nov. 17, in the Arlington Carousel. Sponsored by the Holy Ghost Council, Knights of Columbus, for members' wives and their friends, the affair preceded another event, the KC Christmas dance to be held Dec. 10 at the Barrington Knights of Columbus Lodge.

The junior-sized Santa was played by 4-year-old Matthew Luhr, son of the Robert Luhrs of Palatine. From his Santa pack Matthew drew surprises for the audience.

Modesl for the show were Mrs. Rudolph Kandlbinder, Thomas Petersen and Mrs. Richard Meagher of Palatine, Mrs. Julian Garcia of Arlington Heights and Mrs. James Callahan of Schaumburg. Cochairmen were KC members, Charles Lavin and Donald McNett, both of Palatine. (S

RED VELVET LOUNGE SUIT for evenings at home and striped robe for morning coffee were modeled by Mrs. Rudolph Kandlbinder and Mrs. Thomas Neubauer of Palatine at the recent luncheon-fashion show presented by the Holy Ghost Council, Knights of Columbus. Fashions were from Rothschilds of Randhurst.

THE VOCALES ENSEMBLE of Forest View High School will be on the program of Mount Prospect Woman's Club Dec. 6. Members of the group are Susan Rhead, Kathi Dorosh, Cari Stahl, Cindy Green, Mary Carol Wenstrom, Linda Humphrey, Jan Kratky, Mary Bowen and Linnea Bass.

Forest View Students Will Entertain Woman's Club

Representatives of the Forest View High School Music Department will present a program for the Mount Prospect Woman's Club next Tuesday.

One of the highlights of this program will be Christine Elliot, violinist, who will perform the Second Movement of the Tchaikowsky Violin Concerto. She will be accompanied by a group of members of the Forest View Concert Band.

CHRISTINE WAS the recipient of the Summer Music Camp scholarship given by the Mount Prospect Woman's Club last summer. She spent two weeks at the University of Illinois in intensive music study.

The Forest View Choir also will appear on the program. The group will sing several Christmas selections including two from the "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten and Randall Thompson's "Glory to God."

The Vocales, a small girls ensemble, will sing. They will share music of the lighter vain, including "Matchmaker" from "Fiddler on the Roof," "Let It Snow" and "Jingle Bells."

A FLUTE trio will represent the instrumental department. Members of this group include Maureen Karras, Pat Moore and Pat Sullivan.

These groups will be under the direction of their instructors, Fred Elliot, instrumental director, and Vincent Ahnquist, vocal director. (S

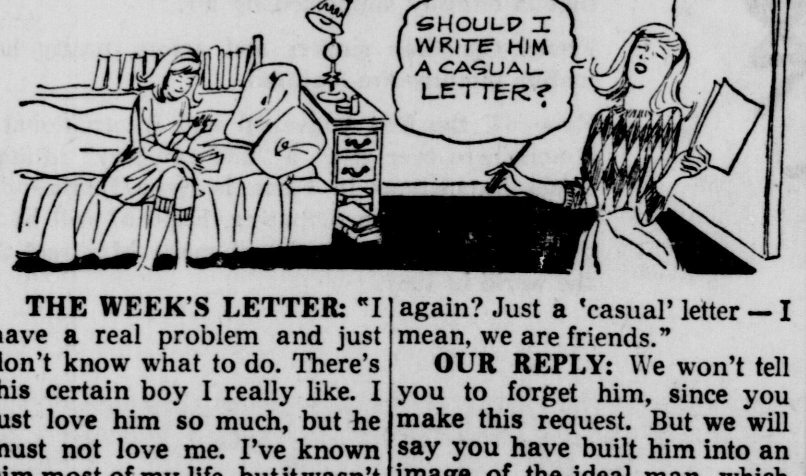
For And About Teenagers



SHOULD I WRITE HIM A CASUAL LETTER?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a real problem and just don't know what to do. There's this certain boy I really like. I just love him so much, but he must not love me. I've known him most of my life, but it wasn't until just last summer we became real good friends.

He's such a great guy. He's just the greatest thing on earth. He was so nice to me and acted like he really liked me. This fall he went away to school and I'm lost without him. His birthday was a few weeks after he left, so I sent him a birthday card and a letter. He didn't write back. Does this mean he doesn't love me? It's been two weeks since his birthday. What can I do? Don't tell me to forget him, because it's next to impossible. My friends tell me he'll write, but I am beginning to doubt it. Help me, please! Should I write to him again? Just a 'casual' letter — I mean, we are friends."

OUR REPLY: We won't tell you to forget him, since you make this request. But we will say you have built him into an image of the ideal man, which he probably is not. A gentleman would at least thank you for remembering his birthday. Give him time. Maybe, he will. If he doesn't, write another casual letter, giving him "news" about the hometown. If he doesn't reply, you may be sure he is too busy with other things and you'll probably not hear from him until he comes home on vacation. Our bet is that then he will want to be friends again and will be as nice as if he had never been away.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address you letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS.. COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE. FRANKFORT, KY.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED USERS

Before you call an ad-visor to place your

PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS AD

consider this:

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS

Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. DON'T OMIT IMPORTANT WORDS TO SAVE MONEY

Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and amount to much less in the long run.

7. DON'T OVERLOOK OUR LOWER RATE FOR CONSECUTIVE INSERTIONS

You'll get the biggest parade of readers at the lowest price. Your Needs Satisfied thru Paddock Publications Classified.

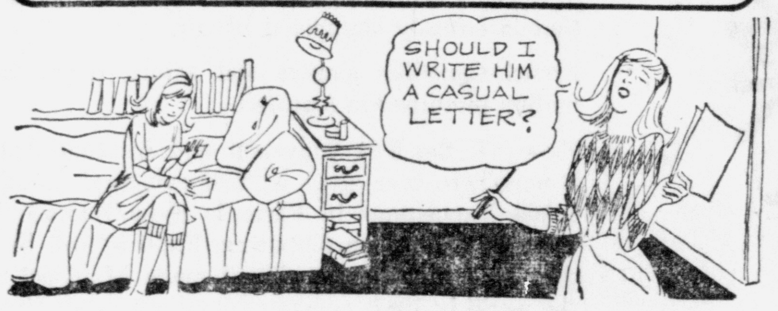
For And About Teenagers



SHOULD I WRITE HIM A CASUAL LETTER?

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have a real problem and just don't know what to do. There's this certain boy I really like. I just love him so much, but he must not love me. I've known him most of my life, but it wasn't until just last summer we became real good friends.

He's such a great guy. He's just the greatest thing on earth. He was so nice to me and acted like he really liked me. This fall he went away to school and I'm lost without him. His birthday was a few weeks after he left, so I sent him a birthday card and a letter. He didn't write back. Does this mean he doesn't love me? It's been two weeks since his birthday. What can I do? Don't tell me to forget him, because it's next to impossible. My friends tell me he'll write, but I am beginning to doubt it. Help me, please! Should I write to him again? Just a 'casual' letter — I mean, we are friends."

OUR REPLY: We won't tell you to forget him, since you make this request. But we will say you have built him into an image of the ideal man, which he probably is not. A gentleman would at least thank you for remembering his birthday. Give him time. Maybe, he will. If he doesn't, write another casual letter, giving him "news" about the hometown. If he doesn't reply, you may be sure he is too busy with other things and you'll probably not hear from him until he comes home on vacation. Our bet is that then he will want to be friends again and will be as nice as if he had never been away.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address you letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS.. COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE. FRANKFORT, KY.

consider this:

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS

Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. DON'T OMIT IMPORTANT WORDS TO SAVE MONEY

Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and amount to much less in the long run.

7. DON'T OVERLOOK OUR LOWER RATE FOR CONSECUTIVE INSERTIONS

UNIQUE AEROSPHERE PREVIEWS EXPO 67

The unique EXPO/RAMA "bubble" opened today at Randhurst. For the next four days, the public is invited to preview EXPO 67, the largest international exhibition ever to be held in North America which will open in Montreal on April 28. EXPO/RAMA's twenty minute show tells the EXPO 67 story of "Man and His World" through the combined talents of singers and actors, plus films and slides. The show will run continuously from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. through Sunday.

SEE THIS FABULOUS EXPOSITION OF ACTIVITY, ENTERTAINMENT AND WORLD WIDE TALENT!

In the spirit of hands-across-the-border neighborliness, Randhurst is playing host to an old-fashioned road show dress-up in a futuristic setting to generate interest in Expo 67, the world exposition in Montreal next year.

The show is called Expo/Rama and it is actually a sneak preview — open to the public at no charge — of the 1,000-acre exposition that is now taking shape on two islands in the St. Lawrence river.

The show is being staged at Randhurst on December 1 thru 4. It is housed in a giant aerosphere bubble, a dome-shaped nylon "building" 44 feet high that is entirely supported by air.

French-Canadian singers and actors, pretty hostesses, puppet shows and motion pictures are featured.

Expo 67, the first Universal and International Exhibition in the Western Hemisphere ever given a "first category" rating by the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris, is Expo/Rama's prime attraction. With more than 70 nations participating, Expo 67 will be the largest world exhibition ever held anywhere and will make Montreal the entertainment capital of the world in 1967.

Expo/Rama represents a dramatic way to let the people of the United States know just what their neighbors to the north are planning for next year.

The Expo/Rama show has three phases. Upon entering the giant bubble visitors are greeted by an attractive, singing hostess. She reveals interesting facts about Montreal, "the Paris of the West." Color films of the World's second-largest French-speaking city are also shown.

A puppet show previewing the highlights of Expo 67 follow, with emphasis on the Soviet Union's massive $15 million pavilion, the United States' domed pavilion rising 20 stories into the sky and many others.

The final phase of Expo/Rama appeals especially to children. Highlights of La Ronde, Expo 67's 135-acre amusement complex, are shown. La Ronde is designed to be a combination of Copenhagen's Tivoli Gardens and Disneyland. In fact, Walt Disney is a special consultant to Expo 67 and the Disney touch is apparent throughout.

FOR SPECTATOR SPORTS OR SHOPPING Mrs. Richard Meagher modeled a full-length cordurory stadium coat and for active sports, Mrs. Thomas Petersen modeled a ski ensemble with jacket of cut velvet pile. The women were among models in the Knights of Columbus luncheon-fashion show held recently at the Arlington Carousel.

Week's Best Buys

Red meats continue as a market value. Post-holiday livestock market is amply supplied. Wholesale meat costs are lower for most prime cuts of beef, pork and lamb. Fryers are only fractionally cheaper as the government buying is heavy.

Retail buys continue at feature level. There is no change in general price tags. Bacon lows are anticipated at 59 to 69 cents a pound; center cut pork chops range at 69 to 98 cents a pound; beef pot roasts, 39 to 59 cents; round steak quotes at 75 to 89 cents; sirloin steak, 85 to 98 cents a pound; lamb leg roasts are 69 cents to general 85-cent levels. Fryers are mostly 39 to 43 cents a pound.

Eggs unchanged are competitive at 63 to 65 cents a dozen for Grade A large. Produce bargains are rare even on December produce values.

DECEMBER calendar of produce values:

Fruit: apples, bananas, coconuts, cranberries, grapes, grapefruit, oranges, tangelos and tangerines.

Vegetables: anise, broccoli, brussel sprouts, celery, Chinese cabbage, chives, collards, endive, kale, leeks, mushrooms, shallots, spinach and turnips.

Chicago area food values:

Meats: beef round and sirloin steaks, potroasts, ground beef, rib and chuck steaks; bacon, center cut pork chops, pork end roasts; lamb leg roasts.

Produce: celery, lettuce, cucumbers, peppers, radishes, onions; grapes, pears, grapefruit and tangerines. (SH

Hospital Featured In Magazine

Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, is featured in the current issue of "The Lutheran Brotherhood Bond."

The Bond is the monthly publication of Lutheran Brotherhood, fraternal insurance society. It is circulated to more than 300,000 subscribers in the United States and Canada.

The article traces the history of the hospital and describes many of the programs being carried on there. It was written by Richard Philbrick, religion editor of the Chicago Tribune.

'Single' Parent Club Meeting

"Learning to Live With Yourself" is the title of the talk to be given by Tom Maurer of the Community Church of Park Ridge at the next meeting of Northwest Suburban Chapter 168 Parents Without Partners, Inc. The meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 9, in the community room of the Bank of Rolling Meadows, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

A question-and-answer period will follow Mauer's tlak.

Widowed, separated or divorced parents, both men and women, are invited to attend this meeting and to join PWP. For further information write PWP, Inc., P.O. Box 472, Palatine, or call 392-8664. (B10

7-Year-Old Hospital Cites 10-Year Employe

A ten-year hospital employe will be saluted tomorrow (Friday) by 7-year-old Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Loretta Bauer, director of purchasing, will be among 17 hospital employes honored at the annual Employe Service Awards Luncheon.

Mrs. Bauer began her work in 1956 with the initial fund-raising campaign to build Northwest Community Hospital. When the hospital opened its doors in December, 1959, Mrs. Bauer worked with the business office, handling accounting, admitting, interviewing, purchasing and storeroom functions.

THE FOLLOWING year, she set up the current inventory system for the storeroom, which then consisted of 500 items. Since then, the number of items has risen to 2,500.

In October, 1962, Mrs. Bauer was promoted to her present position, in which she handles purchasing for and supplying of 37 separate areas within the hospital.

Five-year employes who will be honored at the luncheon are:

Clareta Abaire, nursing; Frances Bilko, nursing; Phyllis Bredthauer, laboratory; Janet Clark, laboratory; Edith Doole, dietary; David English, nursing; Melvin Heiden, comptroller; Florence Kirby, nursing; Anne Kushner, nursing; Jacqueline Pearlson, nursing; Alice Potter, nursing; Marjorie Rightmore, x-ray; Joan Van Delinder, nursing; Onlie Walmsley, nursing, Adeline Zeidler, nursing; Roberta Rogers, business office.

"The Vocalles" a girls' vocal group from Forest View High School, will sing. Father Edward Laramie, pastor of St. James Catholic Church, will lead the devotions.

'Hire Handicapped' Session on Dec. 14

More than 150 employers and industrial leaders in the Northwest Suburbs will receive a practical demonstration of why it's good business to hire the handicapped at a luncheon meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14, at the Elk's Club, 495 Lee Street, Des Plaines.

The meeting — conducted by the newly formed Northwest Municipal Council on Employment of the Handicapped — will feature case histories from local industrialists illustrating the high performance of physically and mentally handicapped workers. In addition, representatives of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and Illinois State Employment Service will outline state-federal programs available for training a force of handicapped workers at little or no cost to the employer.

"Many employers fail to recognize the rich, untapped source of labor power available in the ranks of the disabled," stated Mayor Herbert H. Behrel of Des Plaines, luncheon chairman and honorary chairman of the Northwest Municipal Council on Employment of the Handicapped. "This meeting will show them how to utilize this force to the fullest and reap the benefits of higher productivity, better work attitude, lower turnover and less absenteeism."

Tickets can be obtained by calling Behrel's secretary at 824-7366. (B10

Hospital Featured In Magazine

Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, is featured in the current issue of "The Lutheran Brotherhood Bond."

The Bond is the monthly publication of Lutheran Brotherhood, fraternal insurance society. It is circulated to more than 300,000 subscribers in the United States and Canada.

The article traces the history of the hospital and describes many of the programs being carried on there. It was written by Richard Philbrick, religion editor of the Chicago Tribune.

'Single' Parent Club Meeting

"Learning to Live With Yourself" is the title of the talk to be given by Tom Maurer of the Community Church of Park Ridge at the next meeting of Northwest Suburban Chapter 168 Parents Without Partners, Inc. The meeting will be held Friday, Dec. 9, in the community room of the Bank of Rolling Meadows, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

A question-and-answer period will follow Mauer's tlak.

Widowed, separated or divorced parents, both men and women, are invited to attend this meeting and to join PWP. For further information write PWP, Inc., P.O. Box 472, Palatine, or call 392-8664. (B10

7-Year-Old Hospital Cites 10-Year Employe

A ten-year hospital employe will be saluted tomorrow (Friday) by 7-year-old Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Loretta Bauer, director of purchasing, will be among 17 hospital employes honored at the annual Employe Service Awards Luncheon.

Mrs. Bauer began her work in 1956 with the initial fund-raising campaign to build Northwest Community Hospital. When the hospital opened its doors in December, 1959, Mrs. Bauer worked with the business office, handling accounting, admitting, interviewing, purchasing and storeroom functions.

THE FOLLOWING year, she set up the current inventory system for the storeroom, which then consisted of 500 items. Since then, the number of items has risen to 2,500.

In October, 1962, Mrs. Bauer was promoted to her present position, in which she handles purchasing for and supplying of 37 separate areas within the hospital.

Five-year employes who will be honored at the luncheon are:

Clareta Abaire, nursing; Frances Bilko, nursing; Phyllis Bredthauer, laboratory; Janet Clark, laboratory; Edith Doole, dietary; David English, nursing; Melvin Heiden, comptroller; Florence Kirby, nursing; Anne Kushner, nursing; Jacqueline Pearlson, nursing; Alice Potter, nursing; Marjorie Rightmore, x-ray; Joan Van Delinder, nursing; Onlie Walmsley, nursing, Adeline Zeidler, nursing; Roberta Rogers, business office.

"The Vocalles" a girls' vocal group from Forest View High School, will sing. Father Edward Laramie, pastor of St. James Catholic Church, will lead the devotions.

'Hire Handicapped' Session on Dec. 14

More than 150 employers and industrial leaders in the Northwest Suburbs will receive a practical demonstration of why it's good business to hire the handicapped at a luncheon meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14, at the Elk's Club, 495 Lee Street, Des Plaines.

The meeting — conducted by the newly formed Northwest Municipal Council on Employment of the Handicapped — will feature case histories from local industrialists illustrating the high performance of physically and mentally handicapped workers. In addition, representatives of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and Illinois State Employment Service will outline state-federal programs available for training a force of handicapped workers at little or no cost to the employer.

"Many employers fail to recognize the rich, untapped source of labor power available in the ranks of the disabled," stated Mayor Herbert H. Behrel of Des Plaines, luncheon chairman and honorary chairman of the Northwest Municipal Council on Employment of the Handicapped. "This meeting will show them how to utilize this force to the fullest and reap the benefits of higher productivity, better work attitude, lower turnover and less absenteeism."

Tickets can be obtained by calling Behrel's secretary at 824-7366. (B10

The Secular vs. the Spiritual

How Churches Mind Their Business

by PAT HENSEL
Staff Writer

Church ministers in the Northwest suburbs run from cool to lukewarm about the bright new trend of hiring church administrators.

But, no doubt about it—it's on their minds.

They don't oppose the idea of a newcomer to the ministerial staff—the administrator, business manager, administrative assistant or coordinator—the guy who eases the burden of administrative work.

They do mind, however, that there is so thin a line between secular and spiritual affairs.

And they wonder how much their congregations would mind.

Would an administrator be able, or even willing, to limit his duties to raising and spending money, and overseeing the strictly business affairs of the church?

PROTESTANT churches leaning toward hiring full-time administrators usually have congregations of 1,000 or more members.

Smaller churches often have assistant pastors, depleting the market where preachers are hard to find.

Still smaller churches have at least a financial secretary or church clerk.

In a Catholic or Episcopal Diocese, administrative knowhow is offered proportionately to all underlying churches, where business is sharply distinct from pastoral affairs.

Roman Catholic churches often assign one priest to handle business affairs of a parish.

There is a National Association of Temple Administrators, indicating the strong trend by Jewish synagogues to hire business managers.

IT'S IN THE Protestant churches where ministers are going to have to face up to their expanding role as employer, property owner, investor and fund raiser.

Most pastors have a lot more to worry about than the burden of administrative work.

They worry about the budget.

"Nice as it would be, we have other needs right now," says the secretary to the Rev. Michael Green of Meadows Baptist Church, Kirchoff and Oriole Roads, Rolling Meadows.

With an approximately 400-member congregation to keep track of, she says wistfully, "It's a nice thought, but . . ."

She knows the "pastor could use more help," and a board of trustees must handle much of the business, but a business manager is not in the church's immediate planning.

AN ITASCA church with an approximately 400-member congregation has the same problem. The Rev. Paul Farley, of the Bethany Evangelical United Brethren Church, Division and Walnut, says he can foresee the need for an administrative assistant sometime in the future.

"As we grow larger, we'll need one, I suppose. But, everything now depends on the budget."

He says office help—part-time clerical—relieves the administrative load, but he "would welcome" full time help.

THE IMPENDING ratification of a merger of the EUB and Methodist churches may solve some administrative problems, though the Rev. Claude Dotson of Mount Prospect is not impatient for such an innovation.

His Trinity Methodist Church, at 605 W. Golf Road, is doing just fine.

"Our trend is to ask lay people to do these things," he says. "We give each (volunteer) one responsibility, and my personal feeling is that they're doing a fine job."

With a congregation of about 800, he feels he has "as good a lay leadership as you'll find anywhere. In our community we have a great many civic-minded people—people who have administrative training in the business world.

"Many have talent and experience—and the retired people have time."

With a part-time custodian and part-time secretary, Rev. Dotson comes close to opposing the hiring of a business manager.

Another minister who will have to be convinced is the Rev. J. L. Olson, of the Bethel Lutheran Church, Rohlwing Road and Briarwood Lane near Palatine.

He admits "administrative work is the bane of a pastor's existence," but he strongly feels he would "want to be closely tied to most church functions."

According to Rev. Olson, "There are some administrative details that particularly belong to a pastor."

With about 350 families in his congregation, he feels the division of labor is "working well" on a volunteer basis.

He has a secretary and a student pastor, all his church council laymen, and standing committees to carry the administrative load.

He is most concerned that it would be "kind of hard to determine what jobs are pastoral and what administrative."

THE REV. Edward Goltz, of the Peace United Church of Christ, Center and Wood Streets, Bensenville, offers another problem which could arise in the hiring of an administrative assistant.

"It would require a certain personality," he believes.

"You can't run a church completely businesslike. It couldn't be just a businessman, per se, but someone who is familiar with church life, if he is to be effective."

And, says Rev. Goltz, "You would have to educate your congregation to accept a business manager."

In short, with a 600-member congregation, he knows it's "hard to find pastors," a business manager is "a good idea," but "our church just isn't large enough yet to justify a full time manager."

A MINISTER who is "up to the ears right now in a fund-raising campaign" has a compromise idea to relieve pastors of administrative work (such as fund-raising).

The Rev. George Ekstrom, Presbyterian Church, 196 E. Highland, Wheeling, could get excited about a business manager shared by several Presbyterian churches on a regional basis.

"A multiple staff of ministers could hire a manager," he says, warming to the idea.

"Of course," he says, cooling slightly, "it's often hard to find a qualified man. He would have to have a personal history of church interest.

"He would need a great deal of diplomacy and patience."

But, Rev. Ekstrom, with a congregation of about 400, feels "it would be a very great boon to a minister if he didn't have to take care of administrative matters."

"We don't get that kind of training in a seminary," he adds, acknowledging that many ministers fall short of crackerjack administrative abilities.

ONE OF THE largest congregations in the northwest suburbs—about 3,600 churchgoers—attend the St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive, Arlington Heights.

The Rev. Robert Bartz heads up the administrative leadership, and the Rev. L. Martin is in charge of the education side of church life.

They have, as salaried help, a full-time lay evangelist, a full-time youth director, a full-time secretary who works almost exclusively in finance, two part-time secretaries, and a non-salaried volunteer finance board.

"We've thought about this (administrative) problem," says Rev. Martin.

"We attended a conference a few weeks ago, of large churches in the Missouri Synod. Many had reported hiring business managers."

HE FEELS the main advantage of having an administrative assistant would be to "partly fill in for preachers—who are in a shortage—who are spending too much time on administrative matters.

"Sometimes these matters are better handled by lay people. Our operation, for instance, is very workable right now.

"But, a big church is big business. It needs a man trained in financial and business matters."

No, even with a congregation of 3,600, the proposal is not in the immediate future. (A15

Driver License Is Reinstated

Secretary of State Paul Powel announced recently that the drivers license division of his office has rescinded the revocation of the license of Darrell D. Bender, stationed at the Nike base in Arlington Heights.

Powell's report stated that revocation was rescinded following receipt of information from the Municipal Court of Chicago that a previous report of bond forfeiture on a charge of drag racing was in error, and that Bender was found not guilty of the offense. (A15

Proposed Traffic Safety Legislation Unveiled

Mandatory auto inspections and an increase in the driver licensing age to 18 will be recommended to the next General Assembly by Gov. Kerner and his Traffic Safety Committee.

Mrs. Ethel Kolerus of Mount Prospect, attending a traffic safety meeting at Springfield Monday at the governor's invitation, said those at the meeting were virtually unanimous in approving these two recommendations.

A huge chunk of federal road money is riding on the legislature's decision regarding the auto inspection system, she said.

FEDERAL regulations require that states must have mandatory auto inspection by January, 1969, or lose 10 per cent of their federal road grants.

Road grants to states now amount to up to 90 per cent of highway construction costs, depending on the type of project.

Mrs. Kolerus said that there was no decision stated at the meeting as to which state agency — the state police, the secretary of state or the traffic committee, for example — should have jurisdiction over the inspection system.

Of the 23 states that now require auto inspections, only three do it directly through state agencies. The rest depend upon licensing arrangements with private garages.

A bill asking mandatory auto inspection was introduced into the 1965 General Assembly but failed to make it through. Opponents cited scandals in a Chicago auto inspection some years ago.

Mrs. Kolerus, invited in her capacity as secretary of the auditors division of the state Township Officials Association, said there was also emphasis on the need for motorcycle regulation.

SUGGESTIONS were made that instruction in handling motorcycles be made a part of high school driver education.

Considered — but likely not ready for action by the 1967 legislation the meeting was told — is a law requiring safety helmets for both motorcycle drivers and their passengers.

The catch here, Mrs. Kolerus explained, is the question of what kind of helmet should be required. The one recommended by the American Standards Association, she said, is priced at $40.

Mrs. Kolerus said legislation will be introduced to raise the driving age to 18. Students completing an approved driver education course could get their operator's license at 16, however, she said.

OTHER recommendations discussed at the governor's traffic committee meeting, Mrs. Kolerus said, included:

—Increasing the size of the state police force, which has been held at 1,200 since 1957.

—Use of a team approach to auto accident investigations.

—Need for medical experts to rule on whether a person should have his license witheld for health reasons.

—The necessity for an "implied consent" law, requiring alcohol tests of persons involved in auto accidents.

—A law making it mandatory for persons driving farm vehicles on public roads to hold a driver's license.

3 Children Die of Pneumonia; Area Hospitals Warn Parents

The report of three child deaths in the Northwest suburbs from pneumonia indicates to local medical authorities a need for increased awareness by parents during this season of the year.

Medical statistics almost always point to an upsurge of this serious and sometimes fatal illness during the fall and winter.

The three area children who died of pneumonia were Alice Kerns, 3 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerns, 15 W Jeffery, Wheeling; Donald A Frank, 11 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Frank of Rolling Meadows, and 9-year old Ted Arthur Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith, 949 Hartford Lane, Elk Grove Village.

DR. JOHN B. HALL, medical director, Cook County Department of Public Health, said that pneumonia is considered one of the major causes of death among both infants and senior citizens.

While there are no specific steps to prevent the disease, according to Dr. Hall, he advised parents to observe the general preventative measures for good health for their children such as proper immunization, diet, and periodic checkups by their physicians.

He explained there are two types of pneumonia, bacterial and virus. Virus pneumonia is the more difficult to treat, and the one to which infants are most susceptible. Lobar pneumonia can be treated with antibiotics.

A sopkesman for Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge said that during November the incidence of pneumonia usually is high. At present between six and eight children are pneumonia patients at the hospital, of a total of 36 pediatric patients.

He noted that despite improved medication and diagnosis, parents are urged to watch their children closely for signs of any respiratory illness, as often the symptoms of what may appear to be a common cold actually can be far more serious.

A staff pediatrician of Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village pointed out that infants one year old and under frequently die from acute pneumonia infection within 24 hours, without the disease ever having been diagnosed, because their lungs have filled with mucus.

PARENTS, THE doctor advised. should be alerted to the fact that fever is not necessarily a manifestation of pneumonia in a child a year old or under, that a baby can be suffering from an acute case of the illness without fever. In the case of fever, if it is over 101 degrees, it should not be attributed to teething.

Other signs in an infant that could mean pneumonia, she said, are a runny nose, accelerated breathing, sneezing, or a slight cough, all symptoms that also could be attributed to the common cold. Because of the low resistance of infants, the pediatrician continued, if any of these symptoms persist more than a day or two a visit to the doctor is in order. Because infants have not yet developed their maximum of strength and protection against disease, she added, they are very susceptible to extremes of temperature changes and must be carefully guarded against undue exposure.

A staff member and spokesman for Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines reported that 19 patients are pediatric cases at the hospital, with seven of this number suffering from upper respiratory illness.

Only a small percentage of children with upper respiratory illness actually develop pneumonia, according to the doctor. However, the spokesman advised that "Parents of any child who have a persistent cough or respiratory infection of unusually long duration should contact their doctor."

BROTHER FERDINAND, director of nursing at St. Alexius Hospital in Elk Grove Village, in commenting on the deaths of the three area children and on the general problems of children's diseases, said he believed medical institutions can do more to alert parents on causes and prevention of children's diseases.

He strongly advocates the expansion of programs designed to educate the public to increase the general knowledge of various facts of medicine, especially in the field of pediatrics.

FEDERAL regulations require that states must have mandatory auto inspection by January, 1969, or lose 10 per cent of their federal road grants.

Road grants to states now amount to up to 90 per cent of highway construction costs, depending on the type of project.

Mrs. Kolerus said that there was no decision stated at the meeting as to which state agency — the state police, the secretary of state or the traffic committee, for example — should have jurisdiction over the inspection system.

Of the 23 states that now require auto inspections, only three do it directly through state agencies. The rest depend upon licensing arrangements with private garages.

A bill asking mandatory auto inspection was introduced into the 1965 General Assembly but failed to make it through. Opponents cited scandals in a Chicago auto inspection some years ago.

Mrs. Kolerus, invited in her capacity as secretary of the auditors division of the state Township Officials Association, said there was also emphasis on the need for motorcycle regulation.

SUGGESTIONS were made that instruction in handling motorcycles be made a part of high school driver education.

Considered — but likely not ready for action by the 1967 legislation the meeting was told — is a law requiring safety helmets for both motorcycle drivers and their passengers.

The catch here, Mrs. Kolerus explained, is the question of what kind of helmet should be required. The one recommended by the American Standards Association, she said, is priced at $40.

Mrs. Kolerus said legislation will be introduced to raise the driving age to 18. Students completing an approved driver education course could get their operator's license at 16, however, she said.

OTHER recommendations discussed at the governor's traffic committee meeting, Mrs. Kolerus said, included:

—Increasing the size of the state police force, which has been held at 1,200 since 1957.

—Use of a team approach to auto accident investigations.

—Need for medical experts to rule on whether a person should have his license witheld for health reasons.

—The necessity for an "implied consent" law, requiring alcohol tests of persons involved in auto accidents.

—A law making it mandatory for persons driving farm vehicles on public roads to hold a driver's license.

3 Children Die of Pneumonia; Area Hospitals Warn Parents

The report of three child deaths in the Northwest suburbs from pneumonia indicates to local medical authorities a need for increased awareness by parents during this season of the year.

Medical statistics almost always point to an upsurge of this serious and sometimes fatal illness during the fall and winter.

The three area children who died of pneumonia were Alice Kerns, 3 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerns, 15 W Jeffery, Wheeling; Donald A Frank, 11 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Frank of Rolling Meadows, and 9-year old Ted Arthur Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith, 949 Hartford Lane, Elk Grove Village.

DR. JOHN B. HALL, medical director, Cook County Department of Public Health, said that pneumonia is considered one of the major causes of death among both infants and senior citizens.

While there are no specific steps to prevent the disease, according to Dr. Hall, he advised parents to observe the general preventative measures for good health for their children such as proper immunization, diet, and periodic checkups by their physicians.

He explained there are two types of pneumonia, bacterial and virus. Virus pneumonia is the more difficult to treat, and the one to which infants are most susceptible. Lobar pneumonia can be treated with antibiotics.

A sopkesman for Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge said that during November the incidence of pneumonia usually is high. At present between six and eight children are pneumonia patients at the hospital, of a total of 36 pediatric patients.

He noted that despite improved medication and diagnosis, parents are urged to watch their children closely for signs of any respiratory illness, as often the symptoms of what may appear to be a common cold actually can be far more serious.

A staff pediatrician of Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village pointed out that infants one year old and under frequently die from acute pneumonia infection within 24 hours, without the disease ever having been diagnosed, because their lungs have filled with mucus.

PARENTS, THE doctor advised. should be alerted to the fact that fever is not necessarily a manifestation of pneumonia in a child a year old or under, that a baby can be suffering from an acute case of the illness without fever. In the case of fever, if it is over 101 degrees, it should not be attributed to teething.

Other signs in an infant that could mean pneumonia, she said, are a runny nose, accelerated breathing, sneezing, or a slight cough, all symptoms that also could be attributed to the common cold. Because of the low resistance of infants, the pediatrician continued, if any of these symptoms persist more than a day or two a visit to the doctor is in order. Because infants have not yet developed their maximum of strength and protection against disease, she added, they are very susceptible to extremes of temperature changes and must be carefully guarded against undue exposure.

A staff member and spokesman for Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines reported that 19 patients are pediatric cases at the hospital, with seven of this number suffering from upper respiratory illness.

Only a small percentage of children with upper respiratory illness actually develop pneumonia, according to the doctor. However, the spokesman advised that "Parents of any child who have a persistent cough or respiratory infection of unusually long duration should contact their doctor."

BROTHER FERDINAND, director of nursing at St. Alexius Hospital in Elk Grove Village, in commenting on the deaths of the three area children and on the general problems of children's diseases, said he believed medical institutions can do more to alert parents on causes and prevention of children's diseases.

He strongly advocates the expansion of programs designed to educate the public to increase the general knowledge of various facts of medicine, especially in the field of pediatrics.
